REGINA, June 17 (Canadian Press)—Premier James G. Gardiner will not accede to the ultimatum of the Opposition members-elect that he resign, and will "carry on" with his Liberal administration until the Legislature meets, when the "will of elected representatives as to who is in a position to carry on the Government" can be obtained.

Mr. Gardiner's announcement is contained in a statement issued last night. It followed a Liberal caucus held here Saturday.

"I have taken the responsibility," added Mr. Gardiner, "of advising His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor to summon the Legislature at as early a date as possible after the elections are completed, in accordance with the Saskatchewan Election Act. This will be as soon as possible after the 12th of August, when the Cumberland election will be held."

ZION LEAGUE MEETING.

PETHERICKS CORNERS, June 17.—(Examiner Correspondence). — The Reo group again had a slight advantage in the attendance records of Wednesday evening's Zion league meeting, but the Packards still have a solid lead. Gladys Petherick, missionary convenor, presented a good program with Cora Irwin as leader. A devotional talk was given by Rev. F. G. MacTavish; guitar music and encore, Cora Petherick; reading Nellie Bennett; violin selection and encore, Evelyn Barnum, accompanied by Fred Barnum; reading, L. Anderson.

George Brinton has charge of the next meeting on June 19 when the members of the Menie ball team and visiting spectators will be the guests of the league after the softball game.

BEASTS OF JUNGLE PERFORM IN ARENA

Sparks Circus This Season Has Added Many New Wild Animal Acts.

Convinced of the circus-goers' demand for biggest things in trained animal acts, the Sparks Circus management has imported many additional European displays of this character for its already large animal exhibits. These splendid importations have been added to the maintent program of Sparks Circus, and constitute the greatest aggregation of educated jungle beasts ever offered the American show-going public.

The displays include entire troupes of Polar bears, black-maned African lions, Bengal tigers, leopards, and jaguars. All the above acts are shown in the steel arena. Outside of the steel arena will be presented such novelties as trained zebras that have been taught to do many of the tricks performed by horses. A troupe of seals is included in the dumb animal acts. Ponies, horses, monkeys, pigs, dogs and other domestic animals are trained to perfection. Three herds of elephants are shown by this wonderful circus, and are handled by dainty women trainers under the watchful eye of Walter McLain, the master elephant trainer of Sparks Circus.

To-day the Sparks Circus is the largest in the world still giving a street parade.

Many dens are open, giving the public a free chance to see plenty of these wonderful animal importations.

Tickets both general admission and reserved, may be secured Circus Day at Bond's Drug Store, same price as at the ticket wagons on the show grounds.

BIGGER DEMAND FOR DIAMONDS

Prices Have Advanced 150 Per Cent. Since Great War.

OUTPUT CONTROLLED

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, June 17 (C. P.). — About 80 per cent of the world's diamond production is bought annually by the United States says John F. Sinclair, in the Cape Argus, writing about the diamond industry. He states that the prices for the medium grade and the smaller gems are from 30 to 60 per cent above pre-war value, but the phenomenal demand for the larger and finer stones has sent prices away up from 100 to 150 per cent. higher than they were before the war.

"Probably no industry in the world is more highly concentrated and closely controlled than is that dealing with the production and distribution of diamonds," Mr. Sinclair adds. "The first syndicate of diamond producers was formed in 1888. This controlled the production effectively until 1925; then the London Syndicate was formed to carry on.

"It has had its troubles. In 1926 the Lichtenburg diamond fields were discovered and the world market was threatened by too many diamonds. The South African Government realizing the danger, enacted the Precious Stones Act in 1927, to limit and control the output. Since then a new district, the Namaqualand, south of the Orange River, and near Alexander Bay in South Africa, has opened up one of the finest alluvial diamond fields ever discovered, but as it is entirely on government land, it is controlled adequately by the Government. And profitably, too, it may be added.

"The National Bank of Commerce says the diamond trade in the United States is working for a reduction of duty on unset cut stones to ten per cent., and the placing of rough stones on the free list, thus making smuggling unprofitable. If this is done and the generally prosperous condition of this country continues, there is every reason to believe that the diamond business will show a healthy growth, and that the price of gem diamonds will continue to advance, the bank says."

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

CAN AND CAN'T

When a child keeps reiterating, "I can't, I can't," try to find out why he does so. The normal healthy child thinks he can do everything and does not change his mind until he has tried to take the moon down from the treetop night after night and finds his hands remain empty.

If this difficulty arises over some simple everyday matter like eating his spinach or drinking his milk, one can skip the meal and wait for another occasion. Or substitute something just as good in the diet list. But if it is going to the living room and saying how-do-you-do to the minister,—stop right there. If he can't, he can't.

Do not expect little children to acquire adult manners and attitudes. When they show fear when confronted by some social situation smooth it over and register in your mind that this child is to be trained to know no fear of people or of strange situations. Then gradually educate him to the place where he can control himself and the circumstances. That will take time, but there is plenty of time. He doesn't HAVE to greet the minister just now.

Perhaps it is a lesson, or some school subject that he fails in and begins crying, "I can't, I can't." Before saying you MUST, study him to make sure that he can. Is he sufficiently developed mentally, or physically, or both, to take the work? One such child was five years old and his people were very much excited because he said he couldn't read. It wasn't his reading time. A year later would find him able and willing to read. To force him would be disastrous.

Again it may be that the child balks at trying to meet a standard or follow a course that reflects the desires of his parents rather than his own. We are all guilty here. We are sure within ourselves that OUR children can do about anything they wish to do. They can be great masters of art of science, of leadership IF they would only think they could.

Let us be sane about it. There are very few artists, real ones, in this world. The powers that order life are very chary of bestowing genius. The millions of men are ordinary useful citizens. The genius stands alone. He comes one at a time with plenty of time between coming.

Because you wanted to be a great writer does not say your child can be one. He may be a good carpenter. Because you liked to paint pictures but never arrived as an artist, because you had to earn your living does not say that you could have been a great artist. Nor that your child can be one. No one knows where genius will fall, but it is likely NOT to fall on the usual child. And should you train the usual child to his full capacity, and he evolve as a genius, you gave him the very best start imaginable.

Study this can't and can. Know this child you are urging ahead. Let him disclose his gifts, his powers, his talents whatever he has, and follow his lead in attempting to help him. Maybe he can; maybe he can't. If you study him you will know.

THE HOUSEHOLD.

There is a zest about unexpected pleasures that increases their enjoyment two fold.

This does not mean that surprise parties are the most enjoyable. Indeed many persons have a decided dislike for a party that takes them entirely unawares, and for which they are not suitably dressed nor the house in the order one would wish.

The sort of unexpected pleasures that are meant are those that arise during the day or evening with just enough announcement to suit the mood of the moment.

For instance what wife is not thrilled when the telephone rings and the man of the house says, "I feel just like going to the theatre to-night, could you manage to meet me and have dinner and then go to the show?"

* * *

The wife would have to be terribly tired, or in a tangle of housework, who would not jump at the chance of such a treat. The rest of the day would be full of happy preparations.

Failure to enter into the spirit of such a thing would mean lack of comprehension on the wife's part. A barrier, infinitesmal, but real, could scarcely fail to spring up between the man and wife and it would probably mean a lack of such invitations for sometime. But why consider the possibility of not accepting, it is scarcely possible.

Or it may be that there comes a day when you feel just like doing something 'different'. No apparent likelihood of anything happening on that day. Yet just as you were beginning to get a bit disgruntled, and very uneasy, someone calls and takes you for an auto ride. The day is glorious without, and your find the sunshine of happiness sets you aglow also.

Or it may be that a friend drops in to spend the evening when you otherwise would be all alone, and the evening had promised to be long because you were lonely.

Or perhaps the telephone serves you again pleasantly, and you are invited out for supper by a neighbor.

Sometimes it is the happiness that you enter into with a child who has had some good fortune, that turns the day into one of unexpected pleasure.

It may be some joy that has come to a friend, that brings its reflected joy to you.

From whatever source it comes, the unexpected pleasures certainly add zess to life. There are few days that do not bring some need of this sort of happinest if we are on the alert to recognize the pleasures and rejoice in them.

As Douglas Malloch writes:

A rocky road one often goes,
But even then perhaps a rose
Lies right ahead—one never knows.

Horoscope

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

Tuesday, June 18, 1929.

(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syn.)

For most persons this may be rather a trying and baffling day, astrologers predict. The horoscope reveals strong adverse aspects.

While this configuration prevails there may be uncertainty in one's decisions and prejudice may be strong.

It is an especially unfavorable sway for women who should devote themselves to routine matters and avoid any public activities.

Theatres and those who contribute to their success are under rather an adverse rule at this time when new plays may be unlucky.

Special care to avoid accidents should be exercised to-day when railways, automobiles and airplanes may offer unusual dangers.

From the point of view of bankers and creditors this should be a profitable day, but for those who must meet indebtedness the sway is likely to be depressing.

It is an auspicious planetray sway for newspapers and magazines. Matters of world importance will interest readers especially at this time, astrologers predict.

For months before the happening of storms, cyclones and floods, the seers foretold loss of life through these malefic causes. They warn of summer perils, for in certain places earthquakes and winds will do great damage.

Lovers of sailing should be cautious all through the summer when accidents may be numerous.

Both men and women should remember that "a soft answer turneth away wrath", for the rule is likely to make quarrels probably on small provocation.

Writers of every class apparently are to enjoy a period of much prosperity. Many will travel to far places, it is prognosticated.

All the signs appear to presage a development of armaments rather than their abolition in this country as well as Europe.

Persons whose birthdate it is, have the augury of a year of extraordinary experiences. They should not take any unnecessary risks in financial matters.

Children born on this day probably will have varied and interesting careers. Both boys and girls have the possibility of attaining fame. Romance always accompanies them. Many scientists are born under this sign.

Franklin Fairbanks, inventor, was born on this date 1828. Others who have claimed it as a birthday are Edward S. Morse, zoologist, 1838; Jesse Lee Reno, soldier, 1823; and Lochlan Taylor, Canadian clergyman and traveler.

That Body of Yours

(By Jas. W. Barton, M.D.)

MEASURING THE HEART'S ABILITY

You may sometimes wonder why so many people die of heart ailments; in fact more than ever before in history.

You may also sometimes wonder why this is true with the medical profession so much better equipped than ever before.

It is not the fault of the profession that there are so many cases, because all over the world there are organizations whose sole object is the study of the cause and treatment of heart ailments.

And they are putting the heart ailments into certain different classes so that physicians everywhere will be working from the same standpoints.

Your family doctor will tell you that in his days at college (that is if he has been practising a few years), all that was expected of him was to be able to tell which valve of the heart was affected. The treatment was always about the same.

First, what is actually causing the heart ailment. Isn't it rheumatic fever, tonsillitis, thyroid condition, poison from organisms, or from mineral or vegetable matter?

Second, what has happened or is happening to the structure of the heart. Is it enlarged, muscularly dilated, any obstruction in the vessels; any inflammation of the muscle walls; any inflammation of the lining, are the valves inflamed?

Third, as to the regularity of the beat. Is it fast or slow all the time or just at times; does it skip beats; how are the valves doing their work?

Fourth, even if it has an acute or chronic infection, its structure affected, and its beat slow, fast, or irregular, how is it doing its work?

Now you can see how sensible all this is, and I've only outlined it briefly.

It means that heart organizations and doctors everywhere are doing everything in their power to prevent the acute ailments that affect the heart; rheumatism, tonsillitis, and other throat ailments, correction of thryoid conditions and avoidance of harmful organisms of all kinds. Second, where the damage is already done, they can estimate more correctly its possible outcome and be able to advise the patient as to the correct manner of living his everyday life.

W.M.S. MEETING AT SPRINGVILLE

Mrs. A. H. McConnachie Presented With Life Membership Certificate and Pin.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

SPRINGVILLE, June 17.—Mrs. A. H. McConnachie was guest of honor at the monthly meeting of the Springville W.M.S. held on Wednesday in the basement of the church, when she was presented with a life membership certificate and pin. The presentation was made by Mrs. William Whitfield, and the address was read by Mrs. A. Hunter.

A splendid address was given at this meeting by Miss Peel of Saskatchewan, on "Home Missions." Miss Peel, who in 1919, assisted Miss Forman in her work in Regina, told of the interesting work among the children of the Sunday school classes so well attended, of the housekeeping and sewing classes every Friday afternoon and the work of the Mission Band, which at that time was led by Mrs. Palmer, formerly of Belleville.

Miss Peel described the excitement created by the Christmas season. She told of the class rooms used for numerous purposes, such as a gymnasium for boys, the babies' clinic, and on Sunday for Sunday school.

A beautiful duet was sung by Mrs. J. Grandy and Miss Southam, and a clipping giving further information on Home Missions was read by Mrs. M. Johnston.

Towards the close of the meeting the presentation to Mrs. McConnachie was made and the following address read:

"Dear Mrs. McConnachie: We, the members of the Women's Missionary Society of Springville United Church, are assembled for the purpose of bidding farewell to you, one of our most esteemed members. It was with much regret that we learned of your approaching departure and we realize that your absence will prove that your merit has been, as has always been the case even in the lives of the great.

"You have been an ever-ready helper, a willing and proficient laborer in the work of the congregation. We as your friends of Springville, wish to take this opportunity of expressing in a very tangible way our gratitude for what you have meant to us. We ask you to accept with our best wishes this life membership in the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada.

"We soothe our regret at your departure by trusting you may find it convenient to be with us on various occasions and will look forward with pleasure to those times when you will be with us. Be assured, dear friend, that in the future you will always be as welcome in our midst as you have been in the past.

"As you go to your new home may you enjoy peace and happiness and may you make many warm friends there as you have done in Springville.

"May God's blessing be ever with you."

Following this address, the members who had formed in a circle with the guest of honor in the centre, joined hands and sang the hymn, "Blest be the Tie that Binds."

Rev. Mr. McConnachie replied in a suitable manner, thanking the ladies for the honor bestowed upon Mrs. McConnachie and himself. He expressed an earnest hope and desire for the advancement and success of the Missionary Society.

A delightful lunch was served after which the Ladies' Aid Society of the Church met and made further arrangement for the garden party to be held on the evening of June 24.

Some Housecleaning Helps

Housecleaning even at its best is exceedingly wearisome and nerve-racking. You discover so many things which must be done that you didn't anticipate.

You may find, for instance, some of your picture frames have become discoloured. Gilt frames can be restored by rubbing lightly with a sponge dipped in turpentine. For other types of picture frames I use Princess suds, squeezing out as much of the water from the sponge as I can.

Perhaps you will find that your window blinds are badly in need of attention. If the bottom shows signs of wear, remove the blind from the roller and reverse it, tacking the worn end to the roller.

Window shades that are soiled may be easily and safely cleaned with Princess Soap Flakes. Spread the shades out flat, and, if they are of the modern type, clean gently with warm Princess suds, using a soft brush. Rinse off the soap suds, and dry with a clean cloth.

In washing old-fashioned shades, one must be careful not to use too much water. You will find Princess Flakes especially good for this purpose because they make "dry" suds—by "dry" suds I mean that you can wring as much of the water as possible from your cloth without sacrificing the cleaning effect of the Princess suds. So, for old-fashioned types of shades, instead of a brush, use a soft cloth saturated in Princess suds and wrung almost dry. Then wipe the blind off with a cloth dampened in clear water, and dry.

After the window blinds have been washed, re-hang them, leaving them pulled down for a few minutes to ensure that they are perfectly dry.

Hints on Window-Washing

Before washing my windows, I wipe all the dust off the frames, using a cloth soaked in Princess suds. For the corners and grooves I use a wooden skewer. I wash my windows with Princess Soap Flakes, too, but I never clean them when the sun is shining on them, as it makes them streaked.

I use Princess Soap Flakes a lot when I am housecleaning. They are such an efficient cleaner; yet they leave no unpleasant odour, and they will not harm anything which will stand the touch of plain, tepid water. And in all the years I have been using them, they have never given me red hands. I wish every housewife in Canada knew what a good household soap Princess Flakes are.

Write to me at 64 Natalie Street, Toronto 9, Ontario, enclosing 4c in stamps and I will be glad to see that you receive a free trial package, and when you are writing, tell me about any of your washing problems. I will be happy to give you all the assistance I can.

Olive oil restores the polish to tables which have been marked by hot dishes. First paint the marks with spirit of nitre and then polish with olive oil.

A cloth moistened with camphor will remove white spots from furniture.

HUSKY HAS GIVEN ME THE HEALTH I WAS WANTING

"This Medicine Has Made Me Feel Strong and Well and I Never Have a Pain," Says Well-Known Woman.

MRS. HELEN M. WHEELER

"Ever since I started the Husky treatment my stomach hasn't given me one bit of trouble," said Mrs. Helen M. Wheeler, of 57 Chestnut St., Stratford, Ont., as she told of the most wonderful results she is getting from this medicine.

Mrs. Wheeler, who has been a well-known resident of Stratford for years, went on to tell of her case as follows:

"I was suffering so much with my stomach and, in fact, I had been a sufferer from stomach trouble for three years. My stomach would hurt me severely after I ate a meal and so often I would vomit. My back was weak and achey and the pains were so bad at times I could not do anything.

"I had been using Husky only a day or two when my stomach stopped hurting and I felt more like eating. Now I don't know what it is to have a pain in my stomach or any of the old trouble. And my back is as supple and free from pain as can be. Husky has just given me back my health and I am glad to tell others that it is the very best medicine I have ever used. It is so efficient and helps so quickly."

Begin using Husky to-day and note how soon you get relief, how food tastes better, sleep is sounder and more restful, you feel stronger and better in every way. It is marvelous what this medicine will do for you in a few days. Husky can always be obtained at Bond's Drug Store and at other good drug stores everywhere.

OLD SONGS

THAT PIECE OF SONG, That old and antique song we heard, last night.

HOME

(Contributed by "Leatherhead")

Home, dear home, we never can forget—
Friends, dear friends, we often there have met.
Pressed by care or pierced by grief,
Home has afforded us a sweet relief.

Chorus

Tender memories, how they twine,
Like the ivy green round the pine;
Over land and sea we may roam,
Still will we cherish thee, our own dear home.

On the gilded page of earthly fame
Some may strive to register their name
Round our name no wreath may be,
But you may read them on the old home tree.

Lure'd by game we seek a foreign shore,
Worn and weary, reap the golden ore,
Till our yearning hearts demand,
Rest in the homestead of our native land.

TEN THOUSAND SERVANTS.

"Nora's in town," I said to a friend early one morning this week. "She'd love to see you. Come over and lunch with A. and B." The answer was typical of so many women that I am going to preach on the subject.

"If I had two servants like A. and B. each have I should be glad to come," she answered, "but with my house on my mind, food and clothing and the children to look after, I have no time for my own fun." What a commentary on the mind of the speaker.

The average woman to-day has more servants at her call than Cleopatra ever had, or Solomon, or the wife of Midas. They clothe you, they feed you, they furnish your house for you, they slip up to the front door for you at the wheel of a luxurious chariot such as ancient queens never commanded; they offer you a thousand pleasures; you have only to reach your hand for the telephone and an army is alert in your behalf. The advertisements in your newspaper to-day are a register of the servants who attend you on every side. They save you time, they save you annoyance, they bring you comfort. The modern woman is the one who habitually makes daily use of this modern service bureau.

FAIR FLIER GIVEN FOWLS.

Lady Bailey, the English aviatrix who recently made a flight all round Africa, is glad that a certain native chief 100 miles from Mopti, does not run an ostrich farm. When she alighted at the village to ask her way the chief lent her a horse to go to the nearest center, and she brought back a present of dress material as well as a mechanic for her plane. In his gratitude the chief presented six eggs and two live chickens to her. Politeness compelled her to take them and there was no room for a hen coop in the plane, so she stowed the clucking fowls in the luggage locker behind the cockpit. When she arrived at Mopti she tried to eject the feathered fliers, but they had enjoyed the ride so much that they did not want to leave their new home.

MANY FLY TO "SHADE PARTY".

In the search of novelties on the Riviera, in France, a "shade party" proved such an attraction that many flew from Paris and France specially for the event. It was given by William Burton in his beautiful home near Cannes. The invitations were issued on Roman parchment, and guests were requested to appear as the former "shade" of themselves; in some character in history they might have been before the Christian era. The host appeared as Nero, and most of the characters were Roman. The Aga Khan appeared in a mysterious costume of black and red covered with jewels. One couple represented a venetian doge and donna. Lady Pat Russell seemed somewhat out of the "period" as an American sailor. Supper was served in a huge cave in the gardens.

CAT GREENS.

If you cannot get grass for your pet house cat, plant some oats in a flower pot and let the cat nibble as soon as the blades grow a few inches. Grass, catnip or some other green is essential to a cat's health and happiness.

SUMMER CARE.

Draperies and rugs should be carefully cleaned now and put away until autumn. Slip covers for furniture can be made inexpensively. Patterns nowadays fit practically all kinds of chairs and davenports.

TASTY BOUILLON.

Water in which spring vegetables have been cooked is valuable in mineral. If you use some beef cubes or other meat extract for a little body, you can have as tasty a bouillon as the family ever enjoyed.

RUG CUSHIONS.

There are on the market rather inexpensive rug cushions to place under small Orientals to give them that luxurious deep carpet feeling.

CHURCH TAKES ON NEW LIFE

Thirty-two Unite With St. James at Recent Communion.

PLANS MADE FOR SUMMER.

Church going people in Peterborough and outside towns and cities, including Kingston and Toronto, have been sufficiently interested in the outcome and results of the great Dibble revival, which was held in St. James' United Church here for two weeks in April, that numberless queries have some to hand regarding them.

One of the answers to the question as to whether the results have been lasting was the beautiful reception service held on Sunday morning last, when thirty-two persons were received into membership in this church. Another reception service will also be held on Sunday evening, June 30. A second answer is the newly organized Young People's Society which is looking after a much needed phase in the young life in the church. These meetings are conducted by the young people themselves, who give a Bible talk, and a good program every Tuesday evening with an average attendance of twenty-five and thirty. One night a month is devoted entirely to missionary work in which all are taking a great interest.

All church services have taken on new life, a deeper interest, and are better attended since the Dibble meetings. Especially is this true of the mid-week prayer service, which is indeed a real prayer service. The pastor's address at these meetings is never longer than ten minutes. Last Sunday's communion service was the largest in the history of the church.

This year St. James is departing from its usual holiday custom of uniting with Knox United Church. While the best feeling exists and St. James has greatly appreciated the services of the past year with the Rev. Mr. McDonald, it has been thought wise to continue both Sunday school and church services in St. James throughout the summer. The reason is quite evident and is another result of the revival. It is hoped that this plan will in a measure stop the drift away from church and Sunday school during the summer months.

In this connection the official board appointed a committee to arrange an order of Sunday services for July and August, and the following program has been submitted:

On the first Sunday in July a union service for Sunday school and church. At 10.45 o'clock all will gather in the auditorium of the church, where seats will be assigned the various classes: Beginners, Primary, Junior, Intermediate, Seniors and the Brotherhood, as well as the congregation.

The superintendents and president of Brotherhood will be on the platform. The opening service will be suitable for all—from the youngest to the oldest—primary to adults.

At 11.15, all closes up to and including the Junior department will retire to the Sunday school hall, marching out according to order of their classes. At 11.20 there will be special music, solo, duet or chorus, while the records are being marked, and the offering received. The church offering will be received at the same time. 11.30, singing a hymn, and immediately after at 11.35 there will be given the study of the life of one of the apostles each Sunday, instead of the regular International Sunday school lesson.

The closing hymn will be sung at 11.55 and at 12 o'clock the benediction will be pronounced. The combined services will occupy only one hour and a quarter, as the classes held in Sunday school hall will be dismissed at the same time.

We trust that through this change many children will get a little church life and that many of the adults will get a little of the Sunday school as they could not otherwise do.

When weather conditions are favorable it is proposed to hold open air services on Sunday evenings during July and August, and to make these services as brief and interesting as possible.

The following program has been outlined for the study to be taken up at the Sunday morning services:

July 7—The life of Andrew.
July 14—The life of Judas.
July 21—The life of James
July 28—The life of Thomas.
August 4—The life of John.
August 11—The life of Philip.
August 18—the life of Peter.
August 25—The lives of Judas, James the less, Simon, Zealotes and Matthew.
Sept. 1—The life of St. Paul, will be a twenty minute story.

W. I. Meets.

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Wednesday afternoon in the town hall with the president, Mrs. A. Davis, in the chair.

Following the regular business, Mrs. John Blakeley gave an excellent paper on "Salads and their value in the menu for hot weather." The combinations are numerous and some are simple and easy of preparation and with practice one can concoct a very appetizing diet very quickly.

Miss B. Graham gave a short paper on cool drinks which are so much in demand at this season.

The July meeting, which will be held on July 15, will be on specially Canadian topics, "Buy Made in Canada Goods," "Canadian Industry," "Great Men and Women of Canadian History."

Petes Drop 5-3 Decision To Oshawa Crew

MOTORISTS PULL PETES OUT OF FIRST PLACE BY CLEVER WIN; MATTHEWS A GAIN SUCCESSFUL

Oshawa Club Makes Its Hits Count, While Petes Fail to Come Through in Pinches.

Red Hollingsworth Shares Fielding Honors With Sutton, the Oshawa Manager.

By F. D. C.

The Petes tenacy of first place in the Central Ontario League race terminated for the time being on Saturday afternoon when Manager Sutton's Oshawa crew, playing clever ball behind a nice pitching effort by big Matty Matthews, defeated the Swanston entry 5 runs to 3 and climbed back to top position.

The General Motors machine was the smarter ball club on the day's play and deserved the win.

The Petes presented them with a run in the first inning and they did the rest themselves by bunching six out of their nine hits into the fifth and sixth frames to score a pair of runs in each session. Clever ball they played too to get those counters for in both frames after the first man up had led off with a single the second batter set for a sacrifice caught Hardill running in to field a bunt and pushed the ball past the Petes pitcher for a safe hit. And these two safe bunts made a difference of three runs and represented the margin between victory and defeat.

Matthews, who beat the Petes on Victoria Day, pitched steadily and effectively to turn in his second win. The Oshawa right-hander had nice speed and a puzzling change of pace, and although the losers managed to nick his delivery for nine hits they never got more than two in an inning and only twice did that well. Besides his good pitching, Matthews drove in two of his team's runs and fielded his position smartly.

Jeff Hardill, after two weeks' absence from the firing line, was the Petes' pitching selection and outside of the two innings mentioned was on top of the visitors who, in five of the nine frames, were set down in order. The two bunts that dribbled past him were the biggest factor in the defeat of the Petes' pitcher and at that the first base decision on the second these plays looked like a decided break for Oshawa. Hardill didn't walk a man and allowed nine hits, the identical number the Petes secured off his rival.

The difference was that in two frames the Motorists punched safeties when they would do the most harm to the home cause while on the other hand the Swanston talent found it difficult to produce a blow when it meant a run. Hap Harrison, for instance, came up three times in succession with men on the sack and two out and failed to knock the ball out of the infield.

Fielding honors were carried off by Red Hollingsworth, the Petes' young shortstop, and Mat Sutton, the Motorists' manager and second baseman. Hollingsworth handled ten chances perfectly in a de luxe exhibition of shortstopping, in which he threw out at least one batter in every inning, but his play in the seventh when he tore over back of second and scooped up Elliott's roller on the run with his gloved hand was a feature even if there was no chance to nip the runner at first. Sutton, who accepted eleven chances without a skip at Oshawa on Wednesday, came back with another sparkling performance, covering acres of ground took care of eight fielding opportunities.

Scored In First.

Oshawa got a soft one in the first. After Carver and McCallum had struck out, Elliott got a life when Rose lost his roller, went to second on a passed ball and scored when Matthews cracked a single over second. Rowden was safe on Sweetman's fumble and Young scratched a hit on a slow roller to fill the bases. Sutton forced him with a tap to Hollingsworth.

For the Petes, Red Hollingsworth's liner to left was right at Rowden. Rose singled to centre. Matthews knocked down Hall's roller and tossed him out. Harrison fanned.

Lack of punch showed in the Petes' half. Ash opened with a single to left, was sacrificed to second to Swanston and slid into third after a short passed ball. Hardill and Legon fanned in succession.

In the third Hollingsworth made two smart plays to toss out McCallum and Elliott and Hall camped under Matthews' long fly.

Again the Petes had a chance. Sweetman fanned and Hollingsworth was thrown out by Matthews, but Rose got his second hit, a long single to centre and stole second. Hall drew a pass. Harrison's best was a weak tap to McCallum, to retire the side.

In the fourth Hollingsworth threw out Rowden. Young flied to Ash. Sutton was safe on Sweetman's fumble, and Little got a life on a similar miss. Sutton overran second on this play and a quick peg by Hollingsworth to Rose picked him off.

The Petes were easy. Ash rolled to Sutton and after Little had tossed out Swanston Hardill also was retired by the Oshawa manager and second baseman.

Oshawa increased their lead to three in the fifth. Gray opened with a single to right. Carver's intended sacrifice was turned into a hit when the batter pushed his bunt past Hardill. McCallum sacrificed, Sweetman to Harrison. Elliot rolled out to Harrison, Gray scoring on the play. Matthews single which Sweetman couldn't hold scored Carver. Rowden forced Matthews, Hollingsworth to Rose.

The Petes got one back. After Legon had rolled to Sutton, Heckman batted for Sweetman and drew a pass. Beavis ran for Heckman. Hollingsworth struck out. Beavis stole second and after Rose had been passed purposely, Jimmy Hall upset the strategy by ripping a single past third to score Beavis. Harrison rolled to Matthews for the third out.

Another pair for the evening in the sixth. Young opened with a silod single to left and Sutton bunted safely, the decision at first being doubtful. Little struck out. Gray forced Sutton, a slow roller to Hollingsworth. Gray stole second and came home with Young on Carver's short single into left centre. McCallum fanned.

The home talent could only collect one. Ash got a lucky single on a ball that hopped over Young's head. He was forced on Swanston's drive right at Matthews. Hardill rolled to Sutton, Swanston going to second. Legon singled over second to score Swanston, but Matthews cut off the throw in and got the hitter trying to go down to second.

Elliott singled over second, Hollingsworth making a great play on the hopper back of the bag. Matthews sacrificed. Rowden flied to Ash. Hardill and Ash picked Elliott off second.

Johnston, who had replaced Sweetman at third was tossed out by Matthews. Hollingsworth's hard smash was handled by Sutton for an out. Rose got his third hit, a fly badly played by Rowden, and stole second. Hall hoisted one to Sutton.

Opening the eight Young was thrown out by Hollingsworth. Sutton fanned and Little flied to Hall.

In the ninth Gray fouled to Harrison. Carveth gave Hollingsworth another assist and Johnston made a nice catch of McCallum's foul.

The Petes made a belated roll Hardill rolled to Sutton but Legon belted a long one over Rowden's head and turned it into a triple by daring base running. Len Hollingsworth batted for Johnston and rolled to Sutton, Legon scoring. Red Hollingsworth started it all over again with a single to right, but Rose fouled to Elliott for the final out.

The defeat was only the fourth for the Athletics in their last 29 games.

SOFTBALL.

The Teco and C.G.E. will be the opposing teams in to-night's softball game at the Central School grounds. The Teco aggregation lost their first game to the Bridgenorth Wildcats, but have since strengthened adding Freddie Jones, Jake Hall and Walter Crary to ther lineup This will give them a strong team and make them troublesome for the rest of the teams.

The C.G.E. won their first game and are out to get their second. Ace Powell or Robinson will likely do the twirling for them, with the former likely to get the assignment. Carruthers will dish them up for the Big Store.

What promises to be one of the best games of the softball season will be played Tuesday night at Central School grounds when Bridgenorth and Harrisons meet. Both teams are strong and should give the fans a great battle.

Harrisons has last year's champion of the P.S.A., while the Bridgenorth team are winners of the Lakefield League, beating Harrisons out by the odd game in that series.

Harrison has last years champion team intact and has such well known players as Dundas, Dobson, Smith, Ross, Ward, Dorrington, Montgomery, Clarke, Vinette and Calladine. The Bridgenorth team have also a good line up of players including Forsythe, Connors, H. Dormer, G. Dormer, Weese, Bradshaw, Baker, Gillespie, Galbraith, Baird and Jopling.

This game will also afford the fans an opportunity of seeing two good pitchers in action, Len Forsythe and Ira Dundas, both of whom are twirling great ball.

The game is called for 6.15 at Central School grounds and should draw the bumper crowd of the season.

C.G.E. IN DRAW WITH SMELTERS

DISTRICT SOCCER LEAGUE.

MARMORA, June 17.—C. G. E. retained their unbeaten record in the Peterborough and District Football League on Saturday afternoon in drawing with Deloro on the latter's ground the score being 1-1. The homesters had a re-arranged forward line, Brooks going to centre, Gresham taking outside right and Wallace filling inside left.

At the start C.G.E. pressed without advantage. Cousins for Deloro took a long shot which glanced over the cross bar. A nice centre by Burgess was well cleared by Hart. W. Brown had the misfortune to miss an easy chance at the other end. Scoring opened with Mitchell sending in a shot which gave Green no chance. For quite a while C.G.E. continued to have the best of play. Brooks however, tested Bolton with several shots, a particularly hot one just missing the mark. A corner conceded to the visitors was nicely cleared by Deloro's latest recruit, Wallace. B. McMaster also made a very fine effort to score. At half time the score was unchanged. C. G.E. 1, Deloro 0.

The second half opened with Deloro doing the pressing and soon the Blue and Whites were rewarded with a goal. Brooks shot and Bolton cleared but the ball rebounded from a C.G.E. back into the net. Shortly afterwards Mann got hurt and on resuming took the right half position. Deloro pressed for the remainder of the game and almost took the lead when Brooks in the last seconds hit the upright with a lovely shot. A draw was the fitting result to a well contested game.

J. Clark refereed very satisfactorily. The teams:—

C. G. E.—Goal, Bolton; backs, Figg, Wade; half backs, Robb, Mann, Blowers; forwards, Hutton, J. McMaster, B. McMaster, A. Mitchell, A. Burgess.

BELL HOLDS LOCAL TEAM

HEAVY SLUGGING.

The remarkable pitching of Bell for the C.G.E. Toronto Head Office smothered the ability of the local plant softballers at James Stevenson Park Saturday night and resulted in a 15-2 win for the Torontonians.

Bell is a right hander, and has a peculiar twisting delivery that had the Peterborough players bewildered. He combined some fancy upshoots and curves with plenty of speed and as a result fanned eight of the first nine batters to face him. He retired from the box in favor of Devana at the end of the fourth after striking out nine and allowing only two men to reach first base.

Heavy Sluggers

The Toronto batters had no difficulty hitting Powell and at the end of the third had stretched seven safe hits into six runs. Powell secured one strikeout and issued one walk, being replaced at the end of the seventh by Robinson who walked one and was hit freely. The infielders played erratic ball during most of the game, and lacked the snap and pep which they exhibited in former battles.

Price was the outstanding slugger for the winners, collecting two singles, a double and a triple in four times up. Bell slammed out a long drive that was good for three bases also.

The teams:—

Toronto Head Office—Mooney c.f., McCan 1b., McMillan s.s., Carr c., Bell p., Bertram 2b., Price l.f., Cameron c.f., Radburne r.f., Towne 3b.; Devana p.

Peterborough C.G.E.— Calladine 2b., Weir 3b., Playford s.s., H. Palmer 1b., G. Palmer r.f., Wilson l.f., Grant c.; Powell p., Robinson p.

Umpires Ivill and Bennett.

High scores have been the rule rather than the exception in most of the battles, which were usually featured by heavy slugging.

WILL GIVE TRIAL TO ONSIDE PASS

BALL TO BE SMALLER.

TORONTO, Ont., June 17.—(Canadian Press). — Canadian Rugby Union Rules Commissioners decided to give the onside pass a trial next fall at their meeting here Saturday. This play will be used by all Western Canada senior and junior teams and by junior intercollegiate teams in the East and will be permitted in the senior final between east and West.

Moved by Dave McCann, Ottawa and seconded by Major Stuart Forbes, McGill University, Montreal the proposition was accepted after considerable discussion. Among the clubs known to have opposed the innovation as were Hamilton Tigers, Dominion champions last year. The definition governing the new play is stated thus, "A completed onside or modified pass is one that having crossed the line of scrimmage, is cleanly caught by one of the eligible men on the attacking side without having touched the ground or an ineligible player." Further rules provide that the pass must be thrown from a point at least 5 yards behind line of scrimmage, that is must not be thrown on the third down and that the pass must be completed before crossing the offending side's 25 yard line. The pass may be thrown by anyone on the offensive wings who must be occupying the extreme flanks of the wing line and four backs who must be one yard back of the line of scrimmage at the time that the ball is put in play. A pass thrown into touch without having touched any player is penalized by being brought back and rescrimmaged with the loss of one down.

In addition to passing the above motion the commissioner decided to decrease the ball to make it uniform with that used in the United States. In future also touchdowns will be converted from the 25 yard line instead of the 35 yard line.

score rose to 26 before Wade was magnificently caught in the outfield by Hamilton. Binks left shortly after, Dyer finally getting through his defence, the retiring batsman deserved great credit for his careful batting when things were going badly for his side. Chambers, Wallis and Julian all made useful runs. The score finally reached 59 when the last wicket fell. Dyer took 4 wickets for 18 runs, Mitchell 3 for 17 and Elliot 2 for 11. The Peterborough fielding was excellent with a few exceptions. Hamilton made two brilliant catches in the outfield.

The Peterborough team opened their innings with Stuart and Gore and the score slowly mounted to 19 before Stuart was bowled by a beautiful ball from Wade. Mitchell joined Gore and these two batsmen defied the bowling for a considerable time bringing the score to 52 before Mitchell was bowled by Leach, the returning batsman having scored 24 by attractive cricket. Dyer, the next man in, started hitting the bowling in great style and scored 17 in quick time, before falling to a nice catch by Wade in the long field. In the meantime Gore had been batting confidently and punishing any loose balls sent to him. Thorpe was out after scoring 7 to a particularly fine catch by Chambers, the fieldsman rolling over in taking the ball. Hamilton reached double fixtures with some nice strokes before being finely caught out by Leach. Gore and Sutcliffe were together with the score at 131 for 6 wickets when stumps were drawn at 6.30 Gore was deservedly applauded for his brilliant contribution of 54 not out. This being the highest individual score of any Peterborough batsman this season.

Brilliant Fielding

The C.G.E. fielding was brilliant and had it been anything different the score against them would have been much heavier. Although runs were being scored against them at a fairly good rate, the fieldmen never gave a run away. Chambers being brilliant, his running and throwing in the field being superb. The C.G.E. boys although defeated were by no means disgraced. Their battery was good but their attack was the weak spot. Although the rivalry between the above two clubs is keen the best of sportsmanship was evident throughout the traditions of the good old game upheld.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

"The Singing Fool" Al Jolson's wonderful all talking and singing picture opened at the Capitol today. Here for four days.

Al Jolson, famed as a blackface comedian, lays aside burnt cork for the greater part of his new Warner Bros. super special, "The Singing Fool," and to a great extent plays his role straight. And he plays it not as a clowning, wise-cracking comedian, but with an emotional power and depth of feeling that are remarkable.

Thus the screen production presents a new Al Jolson— a finished, dramatic actor who in his new medium exercises an even greater sway over the hearts of his audience than before.

As a singing waiter in a New York night club, and later as master of ceremonies in the gayest of the city's cabarets, Jolson is seen as a man almost beaten down by the heavy hand of tragedy, following a beginning that seemed to promise him every human joy.

Heading the star's supporting company are two leading ladies in the persons of Betty Bronson and Josephine Dunn, and a host of other players, including Reed Howes, Arthur Housman, David Lee, Edward Martindel and Robert Emmett O'Connor.

"The Singing Fool" was directed by Lloyd Bacon, one of Warner Bros.' directorial aces, and the scenario was written by C. Graham Baker from the play by Leslie S. Barrows.

Al Jolson in "The Singing Fool" all talking and singing opens a four-day engagement at the Capitol today.

BRINTONS GAIN LEAGUE POINTS

BRINTONS 7, QUAKERS 3.

The Brinton team gained two points at the Quaker Oats expenses on Saturday afternoon in a league match on King Edward Park by the score of seven to three. The fans witnessed a real encounter until the injury to Honour took place, which disorganized the team, making a shuffle necessary in the defence. Bob Willshaw put up a good display at left full back. A one goal lead would have been the suffcient account on the run of play.

A Late Start

The Quakers won the toss and the ball was set a-rolling fifteen minutes late. In the early stages, Robertson for Brintons was conspicuous through his accurate passing and aggressive tactics that found a stalwart defence in Cross and Willshaw. The defence replied with long punts to keep their wing men on the move.

Snappy Goal by Jones.

After five minues of end-to-end playing, the Brinton halves responded with close tackling to nullify the Quakers' attacks. Hawthorne sending the ball forward to Jones, who accepted the opening cleverly by banging the ball into the net while on the run.

Galloway Equalized

McPhate, late of the C.G.E., playing at inside right to Williams, formed a nice wing that harassed the winner's defence in every attack they made. The two of them produced a combination that had the defence guessing in all the visits to their opponents' goal area. McPhate trapped the ball nicely, feinted an attack to draw the defence away and finally letting his outside man the chance to score. It was from one of his solo efforts that brought success to the Quakers when Galloway tapped the sphere into the rigging. Within the next minute, the Brinton forwards tore down to the other end to get the leading goal again when Jones headed past the custodian. For the next 15 minutes, both citadels were visited in rotation without anything interesting transpiring, until a midfield tackle found the Quakers unprepared to offset the fast movement. Jones repeated the same performance.

Dyer Reduced the Lead

Before the interval, McPhate and Williams' wing had the opposition halves and full backs in a quandary time and again. Eventually a timely pass from the former enabled Dyer to reduce the lead. Half time—Brintons, 3; Quakers, 2.

Half Time

On resuming, the Quakers led the attack in real earnest to keep the Brintons confined to their own territory in front of goal. Curtis saved three times in succession and finally went out of his goal to clear the ball but he was about caught napping and Lucas saved the tally to clear.

Poor Clearance by Defence

Dilatory play by the Quakers' right full back in front of the goal allowed Jones time to swing his leg around him to kick the sphere into the far corner of the net. An unfortunate accident occurred to Honour of the Quakers, after fifteen minutes play. When he was clearing from an attack; one of his own men accidently kicked him on the muscle of the leg. He was rushed to the doctor, where an examination revealed nothing broken.

Ten Against Eleven

The loss of this player caused the Quakers to slump immediately and the Brinton boys went ahead and scored two more goals before the finish, through Robertson and Darling, twice.

Brintons, 7; Quakers, 3.

Goal scorers—Brintons, Jones (3), Darling (2), Hawthorne and Robertson. Quakers—Galloway, Dyer and Budworth.

Quakers.—Fowler, goal; Cross and Willshaw, full backs; Budworth, Honour and Hodson, halves; Watkins, Dyer, Galloway, McPhate and Williams, forwards.

Brintons—W. Curtiss, goal; H. Curtis and Lucas, full backs; Cherrill, Bayliss and Creighton, halves; Robertson, Hawthorne, Jones, Sharman and Darling, forwards.

Referee—A. Aitkenhead.

RAY KEECH KILLED AT ALTOONA TRACK

RAY KEECH

ALTOONA, June 17.—Ray Keech, who flashed suddenly from comparative obscurity as a dirt track racing driver to fame as holder of the American automobile speed record, met death on the Altoona speedway at Tipton Saturday.

Driving a brilliant race as he led the field through three-quarters of the 200-mile event the Philadelphian, winner of the Indianapolis grind this year, was killed instantly in a four-cornered smashup.

Cliff Woodbury, California racing veteran, was injured seriously, while Ernest Triplett of Indianopolis and Bob. Robinson of Los Angeles, the other drivers injured in the accident, escaped injury. Woodbury is expected to recover.

South African Scores 234 Runs For 7 Wickets

BIRMINGHAM, England, June 17. (C.P.) — South Africa crept close to England's first innings score in the cricket test match here to-day. England compiled 245 in their first visit to the wicket, and at tea time to-day South Africa was 234 for seven wickets. The South Africans suffered a bad spell just before lunch when three wickets fell for only eight runs, but recovered after the adjournment.

ELECTRIC TEAM DROPS DECISION

Defeated By Cricket Club For 4 Wickets and 72 Runs.

BRILLIANT FIELDING.

The Peterborough C.C. easily defeated the C.G.E. club at the Oval on Saturday afternoon by 4 wickets and 72 runs. The C.G.E. batted first and lost the first three wickets for 7 runs. Binks and Wade however played brilliant cricket the former playing very steadily while the latter hit clean and often. The Auction: South, although holding three Aces and a double stopper in three suits, makes an introductory Club bid in preference to No Trump because of the menace of the singleton Spade. When his partner has bid Spades as an improving bid, indicating a double stopper in that suit also, South bids two No Trumps over East's bid of two Hearts. North, holding a semi-two-suiter, one of the two suits being the Club suit bid by partner, feels that greater game possibility should exist with Clubs the trump than with No Trump. His Spade suit in view of his partner's denial is not of sufficient top strength to be of good support for a No Trump; whereas, with Clubs as trump, the distributional combination of the two hands should produce game, if game is at all possible.

Salient Points of Bidding

Contract: The same reasoning as at Auction should dictate North's bidding at Contract, except that instead of taking out the two No Trump bid with three Clubs he should jump to four to show his strong support and invite his partner to bid for game. South able to accept the invitation, bids five Clubs.

The Play

West opens the four of Hearts. East playing the King, South takes the trick with the Ace and plans the play of the hand. His probable losers are one Spade, one Diamond and one Club. One of these must be avoided to go game. A Spade loser cannot be avoided nor a Club loser if the King is held by West. South's obvious plan is therefore to avoid a Diamond loser if possible. If not possible, then the hope for game must rest with a Club finesse. To avoid the loss of a Diamond trick, sufficient Spades must be established in Dummy to provide two discards of Diamonds. South therefore starts the establishment of the Spade suit. He leads the 7 of Spades and finesses the 10 since, from the bidding, the Ace is almost surely in East's hand.

East wins with the Ace of Spades. Rather than return a Heart for Dummy to ruff, East leads a trump as his only alternative. South finessing, West's King wins. West leads a Diamond through Dummy's King. South wins with his own Ace and plays a Heart which Dummy ruffs. On Dummy's King of Spades, South discards a Diamond. A low Spade is led from Dummy and trumped by South with the Queen of Clubs. South ruffs his remaining Heart with Dummy's 9 of Clubs, and leads another Spade from Dummy, trumping it with the 6 of Clubs and drawing West's Queen of Spades.

South now leads the Ace of Clubs, prepared to follow with the 10 should the two Clubs outstanding not fall. The Clubs proving to be split, South puts Dummy in with the King of Diamonds and then discards his own losing Diamond on Dummy's good Jack of Spades. Thus game is made at Clubs.

OLD BOYS' MEMORIES GO BACK A LONG WAY

Toronto Committee Opens Old Home Week in Conference on Saturday.

Peterborough's re-union has started!

In the Empress Hotel on Saturday four of the Toronto committee met members of the Peterborough committee, and could scarce talk business because every few minutes someone would mention a ball game or a lacrosse game or a river trip of the long ago—and everyone dropped the immediate interest to reminiscence.

And it is for such memories that they are coming back to Peterborough.

LIQUOR PLANT SEIZED.

BUFFALO, N.Y., June 17.—A big liquor plant, valued at $200,000 was raided here Friday by Federal dry agents under the leadership of prohibition administrator Andrew McCampbell. Three men were arrested, agents saying they would demand that bail be set at $25,000 each.

Another Triumph!

History of Peterborough

Written by Thomas W. Poole, M.D., and Published in Peterborough 1867

CHAPTER X

On the 14th day of October, 1841, the proclamation formally establishing the Colborne District, was issued, by command of Sir Richard Downes Jackson, K.C.B., who was for a time Administrator of the Government after the death of Lord Sydenham. The following townships were embraced in the new District, the first eleven of which are included in the County of Peterborough.

Belmont, Methuen Burleigh, Dummer, Asphodel, Otonabee, Douro, North Monaghan, Smith, Ennismore, Harvey, Verulam, Emily, Ops, Fenelon, Mariposa, Eldon, Bexley, Somerville.

Early in the following year (1842) one or more District Councillors were elected from each township, and these met at the Court House in Peterborough, for their first session, on Tuesday, February 8th, 1842.

George Arundel Hill, Esquire, of Dummer, was appointed by the Government to preside as Warden over the deliberations of the new Council; and continued to act in that capacity up till the close of the year 1846.

The following are the names of the gentlemen composing this first council and the townships from which they were elected:

George A. Hill, Esq., Warden. Councillors—Thomas Harper, Esq., Monaghan; Stephen Nichols, Esq., Smith; Smithin D. Gibbs, Esqq., Douro; Thomas Carr and James Doris, Esq'rs., Otonabee; Richard Birdsall, Esq., Asphodel; Josias L. Hughes, Wm. Cottingham, Esq'rs., Emily; Francis Kelly, Esq., Ops; John Langton, Esq., Fenelon; Thomas Need, Esq., Verulam and Harvey; Daniel Costello, Esq., Ennismore; Samuel Davidson, Esq., Mariposa; Alex Campbell, Esq., Eldon; Alex. Kidd, Esq., Dummer.

At the end of one year, one-third of these councillors retired by ballot, and another third at the end of the second year, their places being supplied by a new election. At the end of the third year the third first elected retired, and in each subsequent year the third then longest in office withdrew; so that one-third of the councillors only were elected each year. The machinery of the District Council thus organized continued in force until 1850, in the beginning of which year the basis of the present Municipal System was laid, which, with various trifling modifications still continues in force. It was then, (in 1850,) that township councils were instituted, and the management of local affairs placed entirely in the hands of the people in each township, who have since had entire control, through their local councillors, of the levying of taxes, the improvement of roads, and all other necessary expenditure. The County Council is composed of the Reeves or presiding officers of the several township councils, and is empowered to levy certain taxes for county purposes. Thus the entire taxation of the country is levied by the country and township councils, and expended under their auspices; statements in reference to the receipts and disbursements of which are published annually, so that whatever taxation exists is levied directly by the people through their representatives, chosen yearly to manage their affairs.

In connection with each township will be found a list of the gentlemen who have been successively District Councillors for that township, and also the names of those who by virtue of their position as Reeve or head of each Township Council, have had seats in the County Council, and collectively formed that Council during the same period.

UNDERWRITERS HOLD PICNIC AT MT. JULIAN

SOFTBALL GAMES.

The Life Underwriters' Association of Peterborough held their annual picnic at Mount Julian last Saturday. Approximately fifty members of the organization motored from Peterborough to this beautiful resort to enjoy the wonderful dinner that was waiting for them, as prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Thompson.

The day was perfect and each member was attired in his old clothes prepared for a real outing. All formalities were dispensed with, with the exception of two regulations which had to be obeyed or the option of paying a fine could be taken. The first clause was not so hard and that was, "Old clothes must be worn," but the second, "Not a word of insurance must be spoken during the outing or even the word insurance mentioned during the day," was the stumbling block for some of the more enthusiastice salesmen. There was a constable appointed in each car, so even there the go-getter was under the eyes of the law.

Fine Meal Served

The accommodation at the hotel was limited, so two sittings at the dinner table were necessary. The meal for most of the members was the feature attraction of the day, and won many friends for Host Thompson. Fish and chicken were heartily disposed of by the men, whose appetites had been sharpened by the drive to the summer resort. Everything at the luncheon in the way of a routine meeting was absolutely dispensed with and each member lost himself in the art of eating.

Struggling to their feeting after the eating, some of the life underwriters who felt more energetic than the rest attempted to pitch horseshoes, some who were not quite so energetic fished off the wharf and those who were the least lively slept for a while.

Then E. L. Sackville rounded up the members and a challenge at softball was issued by the sellers of ordinary insurance against the sellers of industrial insurance. This annual battle was waged on a pastoral diamond at the rear of the hotel where the contented cow was rudely awakened from her afternoon siesta and the chickens were chased into the woods. The game was a nip and tuck affair with the umpire coming in for his share of the argument and was featured by the phenomena of two men safe at the same base time after time. The Industrials won by a 7 to 5 score, and the line-ups were as follows:

Ordinary—Anderson, Killaly, Jones, Thompson, Marshall, Morrison and Wallace.

Score by innings:—

Industrials .. .. .4 0 1 0 2—7
Ordinary.. .. .. .3 2 0 0 0—5

San Life Loses Out

Then J. Wallace challenged the world at softball and said that he had a team from the Sun Life that could beat any champion team fielded. D. M. Bissel said that he believed in the law of gravity and what goes up must come down, so rounded up a team that brought the challenger's down, to the tune of 9 to 4 even after the umpire, F. Sedgwick allowed Cameron to have six strikes before he called him out in the last innings. If the Sun Life had a stronger outfield, the story might have had a different ending, but the gardeners took buck fever being so near the woods and couldn't hang on to the sphere.

The line-ups were:—

Sun Life—Killaly, Taylor, Cook, Hickey, Cameron, Anderson, Wray, Thompson, and Wallace.

Advanced Payments — Doughty, Wright, McGerrigle, Parrington, Dawson, Anderson, Jones, Widdis, Bissel, Sackville.

Score by innings:—

Sun Life .. .. .0 0 0 0 2 0 2—4
A. P. .. .. .0 2 0 3 1 3 x—9

Then came the blue ribbon feature of the day. It was the balloon blowing race. The entrants had to run up hill around the flag pole, come back to the starting point and blow up the balloon until it burst. H. Dodson was the first to score; J. Wallace was a close second, while J. Hoyland took third prize. The rewards for the winners were dolls and rattles, while J. Wallace treated the softball champions to cigars.

After the day was over the men still hated to leave the lakes and some remained for supper while the greater part of the crowd turned homeward about five-thirty.

MENIE WINS FROM HOARDS

FINAL COUNT 12-2.

BURNBRAE, June 17.—(Examiner Correspondence).—In spite of the one-sided 12-2 score in Thursday evening's Hoards-Menie game at Menie, play was very even and there were many good plays to interest the spectators. Hoards' downfall can only be explained by their failure to hit Eagleson's offerings consistently. The Menie hurler was in wonderful form and pitched perhaps the best game of his career. The two Hoards' tallies were the direct result of errors by Shillinglaw and Eagleson. In the fifth frame with one out and the bases full, Hoards had a wonderful chance to take the lead but Hume and Heagle two of the heaviest hitters, were out via the foul tip route. Jeffs was the only Hoards batter able to make much impression on Eagleson's pitching. In the fields K. Oddie again was outstanding with several sparkling plays. For Menie Shillinglaw looked good in the field while the Little Brothers pulled off some good catches. Lew Little got the longest hit of the night a triple to deep centre but was out by inches trying to stretch it to a homer. Rannie, the leading batter of the Menie team got three safeties in five trips to the plate while Shillinglaw and Maybee each had perfect averages, getting three and four hits respectively in the same number of times to bat.

Menie—E. Eagleson, p.; S. Little, c.;L. Shillinglaw, 1st b.; L. Little, 2nd b.; J. Rannies 3rd b.; B. Maybee s.s.; R. Hay l.f.; R. Walker, c.f.; F. Little, r.f.; A. Linn sub.

Hoards—B. Pierce p.; W. Jeffs, c.; W. Hume, 1st b.; C. Hoard, 2nd b.; F. Heagle, 3rd b.; K. Oddie s.s.; J. Thompson, l.f.; A. Jones c.f.; C. Gunning r.f.

Score by innings:—

Menie .... 0 3 1 0 3 5 x—12 17 3
Hoards .... 0 0 0 2 0 0 0— 2 6 3

Umpires—Donald and Clancy.

WHAT OLD HOME WEEK MEANS IN THIS HOME

A Discussion Overheard On George Street Saturday Night.

"Say, Jack, who is responsible for this Old Home Week affair any way? I don't know, why? Well, I have missed the ball game again today. My wife has had me cutting and trimming, raking and painting up ever since the weather became warm enough to do anything outdoors, and for a while I was all fed up on it, but I have got into the habit of it now, and I rather like it. I know this, too, that our street never looked better than it does this year, and everyone sees eager to have his lawn and home looking as it never did before. I was kind of sore at the start, but now I feel that Old Home Week will have accomplished something in improving the appearance of the city the committee had not thought of."

This man had sized it up correctly; there is no doubt but the city has had a dressing up that might not have been accomplished in any other way.

Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam,
Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home.

Bring back the old Peterborough boys and girls for Old Home Week. Now is a good time to write your invitations.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter

SPEAKING OF SPEEDING

When it takes a man one hour to travel three city blocks in a car, he cannot be accused of speeding. Such was the experience of a local man on Saturday night. Starting at Charlotte street at a quarter to twelve he arrived at the post office at exactly a quarter to one. The solution of the slow progress is not one of locomotion but of different times. The clock at the market square was on daylight saving time.

HIGHWAY TRAFFIC HEAVY

The usual Sunday crowds travelled the highways yesterday and continued to use the road far into the night. The traffic on the Port Hope highway long after midnight last evening was quite heavy.

PREPARING FOR VACATION

Stoney Lake was the scene of a great deal of activity over the week-end. While there are not many cottagers settled in their summer homes as yet, there were numerous summer dwellers getting things in shape for the vacation time. Outboard motors were humming on the lake making things lively, while canoes and row boats dotting the waters all gave signs of life to the summer resort.

ENJOY BAND CONCERT

The warm evening on Sunday attracted many people to Chemong who stayed to enjoy the evening concert given by Ken Morris and His Playing Parsons.

VIAMEDE HOTEL RE-DECORATED

Workmen were busy on Saturday whipping Viamede Hotel at Mount Julian in shape for the summer trade. Painters have repainted the building and carpenters were busy in and out of the hotel, while a couple of workers were erecting the sign at the entrance.

ACCIDENT ON WARSAW ROAD

An accident occurred yesterday on the Warsaw road about three miles from Peterborough. A car driven by Asa Donner, 642 Armour road collided with a touring car driven by R. R. Harran. Both cars were damaged to a great extent and Donner was arrested by the police on the charge of driving a car while in an intoxicated condition. He will appear for trial on June 21st.

FRANCE PLANS NEW SCHEME OF INSURANCE

workers, farmers of small holdings who do not receive a wage, small employers, artisans, brain workers not wage earners and generally those living on their labor whose families do not exceed the maximum for those compulsory insured.

(2) Those coming in the compulsory insured class but whose earnings exceed by not more than 1,000 francs the fixed maximum.

(3 Wives, not wage earners, of those compulsorily or voluntarily insured.

The age limit for voluntary insurance is fixed at 30 years. The worker voluntarily insured fixes the rate of his contribution which must not be less than five per cent. of his wages or 300 francs per year more than 10 percent.

Follow Definite Scale

The various benefits follow a definite scale: the invalidity pension for instance is payable to a worker, insured for at least two years, whose ability to work has been reduced by two-thirds. If the worker was insured under the age of 30, the pension is 40 per cent. of the average wage plus 100 frans a year for each child. This rate is increased by one per cent. per year of insurance up to a maximum of 50 percent.

The old age pension is payable at the age of 60. It may be postponed to 65 or advanced to 55. The pension is at least 40 per cent of the average wage for the insured between 60 and 65 years who can show 30 years of payments on the basis of 240 days a year. If the pension is paid between 55 and 60, there is a proportionate reduction.

Objections to the scheme are raised among the small peasant proprietors who are complaining of the rate of premiums for voluntary insurance. Suggestions are made that the small farmers affected should be exempted from the act but objection is raised to this course that it would tend still further to increase the drift towards the towns.

An amending bill will probably be introduced to meet the objections from rural districts.

Wedding Bells

FOWLER—LITTLE.

On Wednesday morning, June 12, at half past ten, the marriage was solemnized at Knox church manse of Ethel May, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Little, Park street, to Mr. Cecil G. Fowler, only son of Mr. and Mrs. George Fowler, North Monaghan. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William McDonald.

The bride was becomingly attired in a dress of French beige with hat, hose and shoes to match. She wore a fox fur and carried a bouquet of butterfly roses, lily of the valley and maiden hair fern.

Mr. and Mrs. Fowler then left for the Kawartha Lakes by motor, the bride travelling in rose coat and hat.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Fowler, who received many beautiful girfts on the occasion of their marriage, will reside in North Monaghan.

OLD HOME WEEK PROGRAMS ON SALE

Book Stores of the City Have Kindly Consented To Sell Them For Committee.

The official program for Old Home Week has been issued by the Publicity Committee, and out of courtesy to the guests that are expected, a copy has been mailed to some eight thousand names of old boys and girl listed in Secretary Dobbin's office. It would be financially impossible to supply every one in the city and county with a program. Thus a further supply has been printed, and parties desiring programs will find them on sale in all Peterborough bookstores and at LeBarr's news stand, at the price of 15c each.

BRIGADE CALLS.

At 1.30 p.m. Saturday, the fire department was called to 591 Bolivar Street, where a roof had been ignited by sparks from a burning rubbish heap. The fire was put out before much damage was done.

The Chief of the fire department wishes to warn again all citizens that permission to have such rubbish fires must be secured on the same day they intend to do the burning.

At 10.20 a.m. Sunday a short-circuited wire on an electric iron at 611 Stewart Street caused another run. No damage was done.

JOHNNY SALO IS WINNER OF BUNION DERBY

15 In Money Ranks

Nineteen runners completed the coast to coast journey, but only 15 of them came in for prize money. Other winners, and the amounts they will receive, are: Seventh, M. B. McNamara, Australia, $2,000; eighth, Herbert Hedeman, New York, $1,750; ninth, Harry Abramowitz, New York, $1,500; tenth, Mike Joyce, Cleveland, Ohio, $1,250; eleventh, Guy Shields, Picher, Okla, $1,000; twelfth, Elwin Harbine, Santa Rosa, Cal., $900; thirteenth, Elmer Cowley, Clifton, N. J., $850; fourteenth, Pat Harrison, Miami, Ariz., $800; fifteenth, Joe Spangler, New York, $700.

The plodding pilgrims this year took seventy-eight days to span the continent, six less than were required in last year's jaunt over west to east course. The time made by the runners was approximately 50 hours faster than the elapsed time of Andy Payne, Claremore, Okla., who captured the first Transcontinental jog. This year's renewal of the Derby started from New York March 31.

ARMY TRADITION FOLLOWED IN BOOTH'S DEATH

into unconsciousness. What his words were, however, have not been revealed to the public, but one who was near to him said to-day, "He didn't know the end was so near."

The peace of the tree-shaded street in Hadley Wood where he lived was broken to-day only by the opening and shutting of the gate as messenger boys brought cables with messages of sympathy and condolence, to Mrs. Booth and her children, from all parts of the world. With the exception of Colonel Mary Booth, who is returning from Germany, all members of the family are here and were at the bedside when he died.

Remained Conscious to the Last

Throughout yesterday the General remained conscious and was able to recognize his wife, his daughters Dora and Olive, and his two sons as they stood at his bedside; it was only just before the end that he lapsed into unconsciousness. One of his family said: "Death came very suddenly, but perfectly peaceful." Those by the bedside were praying for him. At the end of their prayers they looked at him and saw he had ceased to breathe. His face wore a complete calm.

Dr. John Weir and Dr. Milne attended him on the last day of his illness, although neither was present when the end came.

Mrs. Booth received a message of sympathy from the King, reading as follows:

regret of the death of General Bram-

"The Queen and I have heard with well Booth and we offer you our sincere sympathy in your bereavement. With his father, he will always be gratefully remembered as the promoter of the widespread and beneficient activities of the Salvation Army."

A great funeral service before General Booth's burial will be held in Albert Hall Sunday night. General Higgins will conduct the service.

General Booth will be buried in the family vault at Abney Park cemetery beside his father and mother.

PRESIDENT IS IMPRESSED BY BIG CONVENTION

The spread of Rotary round the world and the evident anxiety of its members to arrive at a better understanding among the peoples of the various countries were bound to have results.

Rotarian W. R. Widdess expressed the thanks of the club to President Morris for his splendid report.

At to-day's meeting, Rotarian Fred L. Roy, for the boys' camp committee, reported that Camp Skookum would open this year on July 8th, and urged the co-operation of all club members in ensuring a large attendance of boys. Rotarian Roy reported new equipment this year, the digging of a well, the gift of a radio from Messrs. Grant and Thorpe, and the purchase of a new outboard motor engine. He also referred to the splendid service last year of Rotarians Jack Seels, Doug. Loomis and Vanstone.

John Krough, one of the camp boys, gave a splendid report of the camping activities, outlining the doings of an average day in camp, and describing the trips taken by the boys of Camp Skookum to Indian River, Blue Mountains, Eel's Creek and other points of interest. On behalf of the boys, the young speaker expressed the hearty thanks of all to the Rotary Club for making this splendid outing possible for the boys of Peterborough.

TORONTO, Ont., June 17.—Fire of unknown origin gutted a factory building on Parliament street early to-day with a loss of $30,000. The building was formerly a Presbyterian Church.

MARRIED.

In Forest City, Arkansas, on June 16, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. E. Wideman Connaway, Mary Bernadine, to Doctor Donald McNevin Carmichael, son of Dr. D. N. Carmichael, Peterborough.

BIG CANAL PROJECT IS BEING PLANNED

be used. The second section of the proposed canal would leave the St. Lawrence at a point near Farran Point and proceed on the north-west side of the river, rejoining the St. Lawrence at Cornwall.

"From the south-east corner of Lake St. Francis, near Hungry Bay, the proposed canal would be located in Quebec province, running almost directly east, then inclining northerly to the Chateauguay River. From this point a reservoir would be created by building embankments, 54 feet high, bringing the reservoir level to that of Lake St. Francis. From this reservoir, three locks would place a vessel in La Prairie Basin, which is the Montreal Harbor level.

Incorporate At Once.

"If given Government assurance of fair consideration, the company will be incorporated at once. It is also prepared to proceed with surveys and borings during the present year if the Dominion Government, provided the required act is not passed by Parliament, will undertake to refund the company the money spent on such surveys and investigations to an amount not exceeding $25,000.

"On all power developed in the first two sections the company would pay the Province of Ontario one dollar per horse power per annum, and on the third section a similar amount to the Province of Quebec. The company proposes to offer the Ontario Hydro Commission one-half of the power and the other half would be used for new industries or sold to existing power distributors in the Province of Quebec. If the cost of development does not exceed $110 per horse power, the price to be charged for power will be $15 per horse power. If the cost exceeds $110 the selling price of power will be in proportion.

"The company is willing to undertake that the Ontario sections will be completed in five years and the whole plan by 1940."

detail, when Cox shot and killed Archibald Eugster, 21, a suspected rum runner, was reported to-day by the acting customs collector.

Petty, however, described as a "line of blah" the reputed explanation of Jacques' resignation that he had refused to serve longer with the border patrol under the "shoot to kill" edict from Washington.

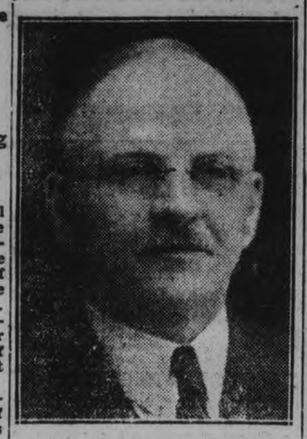
LIQUOR CONTROL ACT FAILS WHERE THE O.T.A. SUCCEEDED LEADER TELLS PROGRESSIVES

J. G. Lethbridge Fails To See Where Sinclair Disowned Temperance Policy.

SEEKS DRY CONTINENT.

Expresses Approval of Linking With United States To Stamp Out Drinking.



LONDON, Ont., June 13.—(Special to The Examiner).—The Progressive party in Ontario still stands committed to the total abolition of the manufacture, sale and importation of liquor in the province. Its attitude was restated this afternoon by J. G. Lethbridge, member of the legislature for West Middlesex and leader of the Progressives at a meeting of the West Middlesex Progressives last night at Delaware.

Mr. Lethbridge said that a statement of his attitude and that of his party on the liquor question was agreeably forced upon him by recent events. He referred more particularly to the statement by W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., with reference to the Liquor Control Act, and to an editorial in the Farmers' Sun which called upon Mr. Lethbridge to make clear to the whole province the stand of the Progressives. This, Mr. Lethbidge said, he was glad to do and he wanted the whole province to know it.

Mr. Lethbridge turned to the liquor question. He said that if Mr. Sinclair had gone back on the temperance policy of his party then it was plainly up to him (Mr. Lethbridge) to speak. But he did not believe that Mr. Sinclair had done that.

"I am not criticizing Mr. Sinclair. I read his speech and from what I could gather he said that he found great fault with the administration of the act but did not see where he said one word about the principle of the act, whether it was good or bad" said Mr. Lethbridge. He went on to say that he knew that the press had taken Mr. Sinclair as indorsing the principle of the act, and that the Liberal party to some extent had interpreted its leader's words in the same way. Personally, Mr. Lethbridge could not agree with this interpretation of Mr. Sinclair's speech.

Mr. Lethbridge said that after two years of the present liquor sale system he was absolutely convinced of the merits of the Ontario Temperance Act as it was administered by the Drury government. The act had been properly enforced prior to the rejection of that government, said Mr. Lethbridge.

"I have come to the conclusion that the Liquor Control Act is not the best thing for sobriety or temperance, he said. I know two boys who live along No. 2 highway. They gather bottles for the three cents apiece they get. In two months, over three miles of highway, they collected 280 empty beer bottles and liquor bottles. I am not quarreling with the man who wants a drink, but I don't believe that the present law where a man can buy from a dozen to a thousand bottles a month is a good one" said Mr. Lethbridge.

The speaker said that he was in favor of Canada joining hands with the United States in an effort to make the continent dry. He declared himself as in favor of a federal ban on the export of liquor to the United States.

HIGHER TARIFFS IS THE KEYNOTE OF TORY LEADER

Hon. R. B. Bennett Characterizes Policy of King Government As Short-sighted.

TO SPEAK AT SIMCOE.

In All Addresses Conservative Chieftain Has Discussed Fiscal Matters.

SARNIA, Ont., June 18 (C.P.).—Fruit, butter, meat, vegetables, shoes, wool, sugar, all these and other products were being produced in Canada in ever decreasing quantities because of "the short sighted policy of the King government in the matter of tariffs," declared Hon. R. B. Bennett, Federal Conservative leader in the course of two addresses in Lambton County, yesterday, one in Sarnia in the evening, and the other in Petrolia.

To-day he is taking things easy; that is easy compared with the other days of this week. He has only one meeting, an evening affair in Simcoe; the scene of the memorable dispute over the postmastership which provoked the attacks on Hon. P. J. Veniot, Postmaster General in the House of Commons.

Discusses Fiscal matters

In all his speeches so far, the Conservative leader has confined himself to fiscal matters and he did so again yesterday, concentrating on his appeal for more protection for Canadian industry. He made much of the Australian and New Zealand trade treaties and charge that under them butter was being imported into this country in such quantities as to almost ruin the Canadian dairying industry.

Compared with this policy which permitted butter made in a country where the cows could pasture the year round to come in here the Conservative leader cited the policy of the United States. President Hoover, by his own executive power, had increased the duty on milk and cream coming from Canada. The result was the United States was buying up the dairy cows in this country and starting herds, while Canada was losing her dairying industry. There were 101,000 fewer cows in Canada now than there were a year ago.

"We have lost our cows," said Mr. Bennett. "We have lost our markets and now we are buying butter—we with one of the richest agricultural countries in the world."

SPEEDBOAT FAILED TO STOP UNTIL BLANK SHOT WARNED OF COASTGUARD'S IDENTITY

Charge of Using Machine Gun Is Denied By Officers of Boat.

CONTRABAND SOUGHT.

Canadian Waters Respected, Says United States Skipper at Inquiry.

WINDSOR, Ont. June 18.—(Canadian Press).—The United States coastguard cutter No. 236 fired blank one pound shells at a suspected rum craft in United States waters off Sandwich but did not use a machine gun the Canadian Press was told to-day by Arthur Gobel, the skipper of the United States craft. Gobel, questioned at the Trenton, Mich., headquarters of the coast guard patrol, admitted firing upon a speedboat occupied by Carl Raymond of Monroe, Mich. and James O'Connor of Newport, Michigan, and a "Mrs. Johnson of Sandwich." Raymond and O'Connor in a protest to Sandwich police charged the United States gunboat had opened fire upon them with a machine gun, shattering the windshield of their cruiser.

Gobel's story follows:—

"We hailed the boat in question and signalled to it with our searchlight but it did not stop. It may be that it did not see us or think we were signalling to them but we chased it about one mile and a half. Finally we fired blank shells from our one-pounder as a further warning and the boat heaved to and we came alongside.

"That is when the windshield of their boat was smashed. It struck a fender of our cutter when a swell carried it against us. They were not damaged at all by any gun fire as we would not use live shells when firing in that direction.

"We acordingly boarded the boat and searched it for contraband as we would any other boat under similar circusmtances. I didn't think, after the investigation, that the incident was worth making a report over."

Bonel insisted that the chase and capture took place within United States waters. Raymond and O'Connor in their protest to Sandwich police had admitted they could not be definite on that score.

Gobel said it would be "unreasonable" for his crew to use live shells when firing toward Canadian waters.

HOOVER IN CHARGE?

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 18.—(Canadian Press).—Activities in administrative circles to meet the rising tide of discussion in connection with the use of firearms in the government's effort to check rum running along the Canadian border were viewed by some Washington observers to-day as indicating that President Hoover himself has taken a hand in the matter.

Meanwhile, assistant secretary Lowman of the treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement activities, has announced the issuance of a new order designed to reduce the liklihood of unnecessary shooting, limiting the arms of customs patrolmen along the border to service pistols. Heretofore, some of the patrolmen have carried rifles or shotguns.

That order is ascribed by the Washington Post to-day to President Hoover, who, the newspaper says, "hemmed in on all sides by prohibition protests and pressures, for a time will direct prohibition enforcement himself under a semi-martial law agreement."

The Canadian Story

According to a story told by Carl Raymond, of Monroe, Mich., by Carl Raymond, of Monroe, Mich., he and J. O'Connor of Newport, Mich., were crossing the river at 3.30 o'clock yesterday morning, bringing home from a visit in Michigan Mrs. Ellen Johnson of 315 London Street, Sandwich.

About midstream, Raymond said, United States coastguard boat No. 236 went by, and officers on board demanded that Raymond, who was at the wheel of the speed boat, stop. Knowing that he was in Canadian waters, Raymond said, he paid no attention to the hail, which was followed by shots from a machine gun, which came near resulting fatally for himself and Mrs. Johnson.

THREE WOMEN STILL MISSING AFTER CRASH

Hamilton Man Loses His Life When Airplane Sinks in Channel.

INQUEST ORDERED.

Boats and Tugs Are Searching Wide Area For Bodies of Victims.

FOLKESTONE, England, June 18 (Canadian Press). — Boats and tugs searched a wide area of the English Channel to-day in search for the bodies of three women still missing in the crash of the giant air liner City of Ottawa off Dungeness yesterday, with the loss of seven lives.

After a consultation between police officers and the cosoner, it was decided to hold one inquest on all the victims at Lydd Town Hall. The four bodies recovered have now been taken to Lydd, near Dungeness, and the inquest likely will be held tomorrow. The bodies recovered are those of Leon T. Malcolm, vice-president of the Malcolm and Southern Furniture Company of Hamilton, Ont., Alfred Smith of Melbourne, Australia, Mrs. Ickerson, whose address has not been determined, and Adolph E. Meister, of New Jersey.

Boats Cover Wide Area.

The sea was calm to-day and facilitated search for the bodies of the three missing passengers, boats covering a wide area between Dungeness and Folkestone, where it was thought the bodies perhaps might be floating. Those still missing were a Mme. Bosiger of London, Miss Roberts of London, and Mrs Koracki believed to be the stage name of a Mrs. Gerzon of Amsterdam.

All baggage had been removed from the plane to-day and the rising tide slowly covered the wreckage which was a mere mass of metal, one of the engine wheels and the undercarriage alone being visible.

Old Home Week Plans Are Made

WORK ON FLOATS DELAYED BUT DESIGNER IS READY

Only One Order Given, and Remainder May Be Disappointed in Rush

T. Tremain-Garstang, who is in the city to construct the floats for Old Home Week, was on hand early this morning in the Armouries to start work with a staff of carpenters, but out of a number promised, up to this noon there was only one received with orders to start work, and that belongs to the Daughters of the Empire.

The Rochester Old Boys have insisted that their work be done in the city and work on this one is expected to start any time.

Mr. Tremain-Garstang says that the people who are intending to have the floats constructed are tardy in taking steps to get under way and if quick action is not taken it will mean a mad rush in the closing days before Old Home Week and someone is likely to be disappointed if it is found impossible to have the work completed.

EARTH SHOCKS WREAK HAVOC ON THIRD DAY

Peril of Flood Added To Horrors When Rivers Are Dammed.

NIGHT OF TERROR.

Constant Detonations and Tremors Affright Northern New Zealand.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, June 18 (Canadian Press). — The death list from the disastrous earthquake which first shook Northern New Zealand on Sunday and continued this morning to cause strong shocks, reached fifteen to-day.

The peril of flood, in addition to the horrors of the earthquake, was feared at the little town of Murchison on Buller Gorge. This town was one of the worst stricken spots, and presented to-day a scene of havoc and devastation after a night of terror from constant detonations and earth tremors.

Buller Gorge itself was blocked by rocks and debris shaken free by the earthquake and two other rivers in the vicinity are dammed up. The areas below the gorge will be flooded if the rock dams break, as it is feared they will do.

ORANGE ORDER IS EXPANDING TO MORE PRETENTIOUS ROOMS

Option Secured On Property at Corner of Brock and George.

CAMPAIGN OPENS.

The city of Peterborough District Orange Lodge has made arrangements to move to more up-to-date quarters, in the building at the north-east corner of George and Brock Streets, formerly occupied by the Gospel Hall. This property will have rooms admirably suited for dining-room, kitchen, and ante-room purposes. There are also several rooms on the third floor which will be used by individual lodges for the storing of equipment and records.

The committee in charge is arranging to have the rooms completely renovated and decorated as well as a system of modern lighting installed. It is expected that the Orange Order will move to its new quarters about September 1.

An option to purchase the whole building has also been taken by the committee, and at the present time a canvass of the membership and friends is being made with the hope of raising enough funds to arrange for the purchase of this very centrally located and pretentious property.

In 1913 the Orange Order purchased a property on Brock Street, opposite the Rink, with the intention of building a new hall, but the war breaking out in 1914, and the almost utter depletion by enlistment of the local lodges, along with the heavy financial strain in doing patriotic work, caused the building to be deferred.

It is now thought that by turning the present property into cash and the raising of an additional sum from members and friends of the Order the new situation will please all.

Plans are gaining form to build an arch for Old Home Week in front of this new hall.

Camben Square, London, claims to have had the longest continuous rainfall on record, the rain having fallen for 58½ hours.

TICKETS SELLING QUICKLY FOR OLD HOME WEEK DANCE

Many Citizens Make Sure of Entertaining Visiting Friends by Booking Places

The Examiner learns to-day from several of those selling tickets for the Feature Dance and Frolic, that there has been a tremendous demand for these tickets and it is anticipated that the 400 on sale in Peterborough will be entirely gone within a few days.

One general merchant on George street advised that he had a request from one party for twelve; another merchant advised that he had received a request for six; a number of local citizens are buying them for their friends, fearing when they arrive there will not be sufficient tickets left. This is a good forethought.

With Rotary Club, Kiwanians, Belmont, Oddfellows and K. C. each urging the members of their organizations to gather in the tickets for this event, it can be readily understood that the general public will have to work quickly in order to assure attendance

The Examiner is now convinced more than ever that this will be the greatest social event of its kind ever held in the district. By what is known of it now, even the famous Royal York Ball will not compare with it for brilliance or novelty.

DANCE COMMITTEE BRINGS EXPERT TO TREAT FLOOR

Mastic Flooring Will Make Ideal Dancing, Committee is Told

At the regular meeting of the dance committee last night it was announced that an expert is being procured to advise the committee as to the best method of treating the mastic flooring at the Armouries. It has been assured that this can be made as highly finished a floor as the most exacting dancer would require. A committee of factory experts has has been appointed to go into this matter with the expert when he arrives, which will be in the course of a day or so.

The committee knows that dances were held in the Armouries some years ago, when the floor was put in perfect condition. It feels that even that perfection can be improved upon this time, and consequently that it will have floor satisfaction.

Following the meeting last night a number of the committee visited the Armouries and can unquestionably state that it is without doubt the coolest spot in the city of Peterborough. In fact last night the committee was so impressed by the coolness of the building, although no windows were opened, that it is seeking advice before installing the large fans it had in mind.

Report was made on the ticket campaign last night, and it is evident that the demand will be greater than at first expected, and therefore it would be well for those securing tickets to do so at the earliest possible moment.

TREATING BY BREWERY IS STOPPED BY BOARD

Report Says Twenty or Thirty Entertained in Special Room

TORONTO, Ont., June 18 (Special to The Examiner).—There is to be no more free treating in the breweries of Ontario. The Ontario Liquor Control Board has notified the brewieries that this practice must stop. Stewart McClenaghan, Vice-Chairman of the Control Board, told a reporter that it was true the Board had stepped in to stop the practice.

"That sort of thing could not go on," he said. "It's against the spirit of the act."

A man close to the inside in local liquor circles told the reporter that most of the brewers had special rooms in which customers might be treated to free beer. It is said that at times as many as 20 or 30 persons were drinking in these rooms.

FIFTY PERSONS SUFFER AFTER EATING CHEESE

Church Social Ends With Participants Stretched on Grass

BOWMANVILLE, Ont., June 18 (C.P.).—Cheese eaten at a church anniversary supper and concert at Maple Grove, two miles west of here last night, is believed responsible for the illness which seized between 50 and 75 of thoes attending, soon after supper. The services of three doctors were required to attend stricken people, many of whom were stretched out on the lawn where the social was held.

None of the cases is expected to result seriously, physicians said. Children were the first to suffer and were affected the worst. Severe stomach pains were the principal symptoms which led the physicians to believe that the illness was caused by some sort of poisoning.

GOVERNMENT MAY HONOR FLYERS IN SPITE OF DISAPPROVAL OF FLIGHT

PARIS, June 18—M. Laurent Eynac, French Air Minister, will recommend to President Doumergue that Jean Assolant and René Le Fevre, pilot and navigator of the trans-Atlantic plane Yellow Bird be awarded the decoration of Chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

The action will be the most marked indication of a change in the attitude of the French government toward the Yellow Bird trio. The government hitherto has frowned sternly upon trans-Atlantic attempts in general and upon its former "Baby Sergeants," Assolant and Lefevre in particular.

RAMSAY MACDONALD DENIES REPORT THAT HE HAS ABANDONED U.S. TRIP

LOSSIEMOUTH, Scotland, June 18 (C.P.).—Premier Ramsay MacDonald, denying reports he had abandoned his intentions of visiting America, indicated to-day that there was no question in his mind that he would make the trip. "It's just a question of when I shall go," he said. "I believe that a tremendous amount of good work could be done with a visit to America."

The Prime Minister said: "I am very glad to see that Mr. Baldwin is reported to have had the same intention, but the question is when, and that would be the subject of the exchange of opinion."

The Weather

With the inauguration of 'fast time' the thermometer also appears to have imbibed renewed pep. Yesterday's highest point was 88 degrees in the shade, while last night the temperature only got down to 60 degrees. —W. P.

Warden Outlines County Activities

EXTRA SESSION IN THE SPRING IS SUGGESTED

Warden Wood Reviews Activities of United Counties in Opening Address.

DEBENTURES SOLD.

Suggests Paving Road From Highway To Millbrook.

COBOURG, June 18 (Staff Correspondence).—Warden W. T. Wood of Millbrook opened the June sessions of the council of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham yesterday afternoon with a statement of the counties' present position, and progress since January, and a suggestion that an extra Spring session be held in future. The statutory meetings of the council are now held in January, June and December..

"If we had an additional session in Spring, it would give our County Roads Commission a chance to do better work," Warden Wood said. "From January to June is a rather long time, and there is a great deal of work to be done. Ontario County holds four sessions a year, and other counties this year held extra Spring sessions. I offer this as a suggestion for your consideration.

The Board of Management of the House of Refuge received three tenders for fire escapes. We accepted the lowest tender, with the approval of the Ontario Fire Marshal, but the work has not yet been started. We telegraphed the company this morning to find out the cause of the delay. In regard to the House of Refuge, I may say that many improvements had to be made last year costing $4,000, and will have to be paid for this year. The firse escape bill will be $1,100; so we have decided to keep expenses as low as possible this year.

Your Reforestation committee met at Orono and visited the Ontario government's plantation and our own. We have b veen six and seven hundred acres planted in trees, and as there is much land in that section that is good for nothing else we feel it would be wise to plant 200 or 300 acres a year. From time to time we have had land offered for sale there, but the council considered the price to be too high.

HYDRO WORKMAN BLOWN FROM TRANSFORMER TOP

Large Machine Explodes While Two Men Are Inspecting It.

COOKSVILLE, Ont., June 18 (Canadian Press).—Blown from the top of a huge transformer which exploded while they were making repairs on it, two Toronto men working in the Hydro sub-station on the centre road here were seriously injured yesterday afternoon. Harry Wild suffered a fractured skull and a shattered arm when he was hurled 20 feet against the ceiling of the power house, and his fellow-worker, Thomas Lowe, was thrown from the top of the big machine to the floor of the building, breaking his leg.

The men were investigating trouble that had developed in the largest transformer in the shop, one 15 feet high and 20 feet around the base. The transformer was filled with cooling oil, and it is believed that this was ignited by electric connection, causing the explosion.

Young Kiddle Prefers Aviation To Farming

STRATFORD, June 18. (C.P.) Edward Grenville Debardwell Kiddle, 18 year old son of Admiral Sir Edward Kiddle, came to Canada ten weeks ago to take up farming, and worked on a farm, near St. Mary's, Ont. Yesterday he went for an airplane ride at the new local airport, and as soon as he touched ground he announced his intention to become an aviator. He takes his first lesson to-day. He believes that there is a far greater future in the air than in his father's profession.

NEW BRIDGE ON ORLAND DETOUR

Contract Let To Ontario Bridge Company—Temporary Structure For Present.

REPAIRING ROADS.

COBOURG, June 18 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — A temporary bridge will be opened on a detour at Orland "in a day or two," George Greer, county roads superintendent, told The Examiner last night. It will remain in use until the Ontario Bridge Company completes the new bridge for which they have the contract.

Those who travel the Campbellford-Brighton road know something of the Orland "bunker" since the bridge went out in January.. However, negotiations were successfully arranged for the site of the new bridge, and tha; little difficulty, the Orland obstacle, will be ironed out by the present bridge contract. .

Mr. Greer's operations include three crushing outfits, each with four trucks at Camborne, at Campbellford ,and in Cartwright Township. The Campbellford stone is being used on the Stirling road toward Hoard's.

A Vexatious Road.

A county bridge crew is working at Wooler; a road gang is engaged on the Coldsprings road between Harwood and Gore's Landing.. This stretch has been a trouble-maker for three years. It is springy, and when the frost goes out slides of clay are only one of the hazards that undo so much of the work of the preceding season. Another road gang is employed north of Welcome on the road to Millbrook; then there is a bridge being built in Darlington Township; another gang is grading the road through Nestleton in Cartwright Township; still another is at work in Darlington Township, west from Hampton; and a Tarvia gravel mulch is being laid at Baltimore, Coldsprings, and Blackstock.

Paving Contracts.

Paving contracts have been let to the Ontario Amesite Company for the scheduled permanent road construction at Brighton, Colborne, and Warkworth. The quarry at Brighton is being tested for its quality of rock, and an early start is expected in the eastern villages, the one pit to serve both. Lack of a convenient stone supply has caused a little delay at Warkworth, but that is being overcome.

Tenders are in for pavements in Port Hope, Cobourg, Orono, Bowmanville, and Newcastle, but contracts have not yet been let.

Such is the bulk of George Greer's present and prospective program for the season.

GROVE SCHOOL CELEBRATES GOLDEN JUBILEE YEAR AT ANNUAL CLOSING EXERCISES

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE.

Many Additions Have Been Made Since Building First Constructed.

LAKEFIELD, June 18.—(Examiner Correspondence).— The closing exercises of "The Grove" held on Friday afternoon was an outstanding event of the early summer season and was blessed with Queen's weather, notwithstanding the threatening clouds earlier in the day. This year is the golden jubilee of "the old school on the hill" and right royally was it celebrated with a large gathering of old boys and more than one hundred parents of pupils and friends of the school.

Beginning with twelve boys, the school has grown until now more than one hundred boys are enrolled as pupils and its "old boys" are scattered all over the world. The beautiful chapel, recently improved and enlarged by the addition of a chancel, a pipe organ and a beautiful memorial window, is a lasting monument, not only to the school's roll of honor but to the affectionate regard of the old boys who loved "The Grove" and made this contribution which the headmaster, Rev. A. W. MacKenzie, regards as the greatest asset to the school and one which does much in framing the lives of the boys along the lives of honorable manhood.

The closing exercises began with the chapel service at 2 o'clock, with sermon by Rev. F. J. Moore, of Toronto.

Illustration of Life

Rev. Mr. Moore told the story of the King of Crete who once upon a time defeated the King of Athens and in return demanded as an annual levy that the seven fairest maidens and the seven finest young men be sent to him as tribute. These he put into a labyrinth where there was a bull and as the young people could not find their way out of the maze, the bull destroyed them sooner or later. At last the King's son insisted on being one of the seven young men and he had determined to kill the bull. When the daughter of the King of Crete saw him she fell in love with him and resolved that she would save him, so she gave him a thread from a ball and bade him keep it safe while she held the ball so that when he had killed the bull he could find a way out of the labyrinth and the Princess' thread saved his life.

"This is a good illustration of life which is much of a labyrinth where some get lost and never get out and when there is at least one bull waiting for us. We held a thread to hold on to guide us safely out and a verse in the book of Proverbs says: "A three-fold cord is not quickly broken" so the speaker proceeded to give an idea of the three strands which could go to make up such a cord. "First there is faith which is both insight and foresight, we see this in the demonstration of Abraham's faith and the faith of Moses who braveth the great Pharaoh and endured much because of seeing Him who is invisible. It is important indeed that we have the first strand of this thread, be true to it and have faith in it and it will carry you through. The second strand might well be a sense of honor; there is an old French proverb "noblesse oblige". Those who are proud of their forebears in their exalted position should acknowledge the corresponding sense of nobility and should keep up the tradition of name and family. Manhood can stand on its own feet by its own right, there is no such thing as a gentleman born, unlike poets they are made, not born and the making begins as soon as we realize the dignity of manhood.

If a boy is born of a good family of course there should be more expected of him and so with school. This school is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary this year and and is now grown up and an old man and that is all the more reason why the boys should keep up its great name. A headmaster at Harrow once said—"It does not matter very much if

One Bee Is Cause Of Series Of Accidents

WOODSTOCK, Ont. June 18—(Canadian Press).—One bee was the cause of a series of accidents on the Provincial Highway, west of here yesterday. When a bee stung Alfred A. Vining, London on the hand, he lost control of his car and it overturned into a ditch. Vining and his three passengers managed to escape when the car caught fire. Mrs. M. M. Heather, Ingersoll and John A. Bowman, Woodstock, stopped their cars to look at the accident when a car driven by Jack Sadler, Beachville, crashed into both machines.

JAIL TOO GOOD FOR PRISONERS

BETTER THAN SOME HOMES.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., June 18 (Canadian Press).—The jail here is too good for the prisoners, according to the indignant declaration of Reeve McLeod at yesterday's meeting of the County Council, members of which are aroused over the repeated suggestions of the Provincial Secretary's department that they should make plans for a new county jail. Yesterday they received a letter from H. M. Robbins, Deputy Provincial Secretary, complaining about the condition of the present bastille, and expressing the hope that the Council was making plans for a new one.

"The suggestion that we should build a new jail is ridiculous," said Reeve McLeod. "It is too good for the prisoners. There are hundreds of homes in Oxford County that have not the conveniences that are contained in the jail. Why should we encourage people to break the laws and let law-abiding citizens maintain them in jail? I think that we should let the department understand that we will not build a new one."

Seven Chain Stores Situated In Lindsay

(Special to Examiner)

LINDSAY, June 18.—The rapid increase in the number of chain stores in Lindsay is viewed with considerable concern in local mercantile circles. The town has now seven chain stores, the majority of them occupying well known business stands on the main street. Two more will be added to the list, as the work of renovating a store for a chain shoe store is now nearly completed. It is understood that the Metropolitan Stores has secured a lease of store at present occupied by a well-known firm.

Those who are in a position to speak with authority on the business situation, declare that the advent of the chain stores is having its effect on the merchants in the villages close to Lindsay.

CHARGES WERE NEVER MADE AT QUEEN'S PARK

Premier Ferguson Pays Tribute To United Empire Loyalists.

PAGENTRY OPENED.

Says Shifting of High School Work To Public Schools Is Optional.

DESERONTO, Ont., June 17. — (By the Canadian Press)—The 145th anniversary of the coming of the United Empire Loyalists to the Bay of Quinte was fittingly observed here yesterday, prominnent men from all parts of the province joining with descendants of the settlers in the celebrations.

Premier Howard Ferguson was the guest of honor. He was met at the station by Mayor Argue and officials of the United Empire Loyalists Association. The regiment of the Argyll Light Infantry and troops of Boy Scouts were drawn up before the station and were reviewed by the premier. Premier Ferguson was accompanied by Alderman J. A. C. Cameron, Toronto, President of the United Empire Loyalists' Association.

One thousand school children later marched past the officials with the prize for the best school display going to the Milltown, Ont., school.

Premier Ferguson delivered an address in which he discussed the government's educational program. He announced that proposal to add two years high school work to secondary school work would not be forced on municipalities. It would be left to the discretion of the municipalities whether or not they wished to adopt the proposal and undertake the extra expense. The government proposed the change as a means of keeping children at home until they were 16 years of age.

Denounces Sinclair

The Premier scathingly denounced W. E. N Sinclair, Liberal leader, and launched a vigorous attack on him for the so-called "propaganda" which the latter is expounding on his Northern Ontario itinerary and he openly accused the Liberal leader of his failure to bring up any of the issues on the floor of the house with which he is dealing in Northern Ontario.

A great crowd gathered to witness the pageant depicting the life of the United Empire Loyalists and the benefit which followed their coming to the Bay of Quinte district.

Premier Ferguson and other guests at the celebration were tendered a banquet last night. W. E. C. Rikel, K.C., Belleville, urged that school teaching be supplemented by more Canadian history.

HON. GEORGE P. GRAHAM WILL DRIVE LAST SPIKE

Former Minister of Railways and Canals Instrumental in Starting the Great Project.

BROCKVILLE, June 18. — Right Hon. George P. Graham has announced that he would probably accept the invitation extended to him by the Minister of Railways and Canals to drive the last spike upon the construction of the Hudson's Bay Railway some time during the coming autumn. As Minister of Railways and Canals in the Laurier administration, Senator Graham had much to do with the development of the scheme now approaching completion, turned the first sod upon the extension from The Pas, Manitoba, northward, on September 6, 1910, and still has in his possession a shovel suitably inscribed, which was presented to him on that occasion.

PROHIBITION AGENT MAY TRAIL RUNNERS TO CANADA

Canadian Government Suggested Stationing Agents on this Side of the Border.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 18. (C. P.) — Assistant Secretary Lowman said yesterday that prohibition agents had permission to follow the violators into Canada if necessary, but added that the United States did not have agents operating regularly on the Canadian side of the Detroit River.

Some time ago the Canadian government, he added, had suggested placing American agents in Canada to watch exports but the offer was declined because it was regarded as a useless expense.

He said he knew nothing of the case reported by the Chief of Police of La Salle, Ont., but declared a man identified as a member of the United States prohibition service had been found on private property in Canada.

Reeve Of Percy Township Would Sell County Debentures To Farmers At Par

COBOURG, June 18 (By Staff Reporter). — Reeve W. H. Nelson of Percy Township is not elated by the action of the Finance Committee of the Counties' Council in accepting Wood, Gundy & Company's price of $98.08 for the $125,734.46 block of debentures Northumberland and Durham intend to sell.

"I think there are lots of farmers who would be glad to buy them at par for their interest of 5 per cent." he said. "We could sell them over the counter with little or no difficulty. If we were to advertise them for sale I believe they would be quickly snapped up. Other municipalities have often adopted that plan; why shouldn't we do it?"

The Wood, Gundy Company price will yield the counties $122,750.35.

WASTE IN ROAD BUILDING IS CHARGED BY SINCLAIR

Conservative Party Has Built Up Machine in North Says Liberal Leader.

Budget Northern Accounts.

Highway Building in the North Is Severely Criticised.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., June 18.—(Canadian Press).—W. E. N. Sinclair, speaking here last night in the course of a tour of northern Ontario, put forward what he termed three things essential to the needs of the north.

They were: first, freedom from the shackles of political patronage; second, a non-partisan consulting committee in each riding to advise the member of the legislature and, third, the budgeting of northern Ontario accounts in the legislature.

Discussing the latter, Mr. Sinclair made reference to the Gros Cap road which was included in the trans-Canada Highway scheme. He said he ventured to assert that had the budgeting system been in existence "we would never have had the experience we had with the Gros Cap hill." He said it was the first case he had ever seen where an engineer abandoned a level road to go over the top of a hill.

"That expenditure" he said, "would never have got by the legislature if the account had been budgeted. Even if the Conservative party have such a majority in the house. I give them credit for having more sense than that."

Mr. Sinclair asserted that the Conservative party had built up a "machine" in the north and were maintaining it "by a system of patronage."

Charles Fletcher, M.L.A., South Essex, spoke of the St. Lawrence Waterway project and charged that Premier Ferguson was opposing the scheme. He held the idea of an all-Canadian waterway would result in the whole proposion being pushed back.

EARL GUILTY OF MURDER.

MACON, Ga., June 15.—Earl Manchester, 21-year-old itinerant Canadian painter, was last night found guilty of slaying James Parks, his room-mate, in an "insurance murder plot." The jury verdict made no recommendation, which automatically fixes the penalty at death in the electric chair. The trial lasted but one day.

ORVAL SHAW'S TRIAL OPENS

Pleads Guilty To Three Charges —Stands Trial On Fourth.

COURT GOES TO POST OFFICE

LONDON, Ont., June 18 (Canadian Press).—The trial of Orval Shaw on a charge of stealing a car from a Glencoe garage occupied the afternoon session of the court presided over by C. W. Hawkshaw, County Magistrate. This is the first of the three counts on which Shaw pleaded not guilty, the prisoner having pleaded guilty to three others.

In his trial on the charge of theft of the car it became necessary to establish that the certain goods found in the car had been stolen. This was at the demand of A. R. Douglas, counsel provided for Shaw by the Provincial Government. As the needed witness, William Currie, postmaster at Duart, was ill, the Court adjourned to the post office and general store there. Shaw was transferred in a car, shackled and guarded by Provincial officers. The trial proceeded there and will be continued tomorrow.

The star witness of the local enquiry yesterday was Edward Burns, Kitchener policeman, who swore that while the "Barnyard Derby" was happening in his district he had been menaced by Shaw when he approached the fugitive on a side road near Guelph. Shaw, he swore, told him, that he "would feel a bullet," so he answered, "All right, if that's the way you feel about it," and drove away to secure assistance.

STRAW STACK TAKES FIRE

MILLBROOK, June 18—(Examiner Correspondence).—A fire, which probably originated through a small child playing with matches, broke out in a straw stack on A. Coyte's farm on Friday afternoon, and narrowly escaped having serious consequences.

An S.O.S. call brought several neighbors, and passing motorists, who formed a bucket brigade and soon extinguished the flames. As the stack was near the barn and other farm buildings, had it not been speedily brought under control and the straw scattered over an adjoining field, the loss would have reached very heavy proportions. As it was no particular damage was done. Mr. and Mrs. Coyte wish to thank those who so kindly assisted when their home and buildings were in danger.

CHANGE IS DEMANDED IN U.S. BANKING SYSTEM

New York Bankers' Association Is Holding Its Annual Meeting In Toronto.

TORONTO, Ont., June 18 (Canadian Press). — A call for drastic renovation of the banking system of the United States was made by Michael H. Cahill, president of the New York State Bankers' Association, and head of the Plaza Trust Company, New York, in his address to the association which opened its 36th annual convention here yesterday. He defended stock market trading as necessary and important.

President Cahill's demand for changes in the Federal Reserve and National Bank Act regulations was based on the charge that they had not kept pace with rapidly altering financial and economic conditions. The changes should be worked out by a committee of competent bankers, he urged, and kept free form politics.

Advertising is a reference book that is never out of date

THERE is a dictionary so large that it took more than thirty years to compile and publish it complete. This great book seeks to give the truth about all words and their uses. To-day, only the last volume, devoted to words beginning with "Z," is strictly up to date.

Consider the advertising in this paper. It describes commodities for your use, as a dictionary describes words. It tells how they will save you time, increase your comfort, give you the advantages of modern living. Yet none of it is out of date by as much as a week.

Advertising is news, as much as the headlines on the front page. Very often, indeed, it is news of more significance to you, and has more bearing on your life to-day, to-morrow. Read these advertisements with confidence. They are the daily reference book on the things you need.

Advertisements keep you abreast of the times. Read them.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, June 18. — Scattered rains in Western Canada sent wheat prices to lower levels yesterday, a drop of 3 cents being recorded at one period. Export business near the close strengthened the market and final quotations were 2⅝c to 2¾c lower for the day.

Western farmers have been eagerly awaiting rain for over a week and Sunday's showers throughout the West started a flood of selling on the markets here yesterday.

Points in Northern Saskatchewan were greatly alleviated by the rains.

Cash wheat prices held firm with the exception of No. 5 wheat which eased fractionally. Trading was fairly active with exporters taking quite an interest in cash wheat.

Coarse grains were dull and featureless, barley, oats and rye recording losses of one cent. Flax held steady.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, June 18.—Trading on the local wholesale butter market was of a decidedly firm character yesterday, and prices advanced in both grades. Receipts continued to be fairly heavy, and it was stated by large local dealers that production is now considered normal for the time of year and the prevailing weather conditions. All supplies moved rapidly, and demand continued to be good, with the price of No. 1 finest creamery quoted at from 37c to 37¼c per lb., and the No. 2 grade 1c per lb. lower. Conditions throughout the trade are practically the same as at the same period last year, and dealers are satisfied that the situation is normal in all respects.

There was very little activity in evidence on the local wholesale egg market yesterday, and demand appeared to be practically stagnant. Production has fallen off slightly with the warmer weather of the past day or so, but the absence of egg demand for storage purposes has offset this almost entirely, according to local dealers. Things were very quiet all through the trade, and supplies were not moving in anything like the usual volume. Prices remained unchanged and quotations to country shippers for ungraded eggs, delivered and cases returned, were as follows: Fresh extras, 27c per dozen; fresh firsts, 25c per dozen; fresh seconds, 22c per dozen.

Cheese prices were strong on the local wholesale market yesterday, and local dealers are of the opinion that continued demand from Montreal for the product for export purposes has much to do with the firm condition of the cheese trade. Prices rose slightly, and the No. 1 large, colored, paraffined and Government graded cheese was quoted at 20c per pound.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, June 18.—Little or no demand featured the arrivals of June cheese on the local produce market yesterday. Dealers stated that this cheese usually in heavy demand for its desirability as a storing cheese, was too high. Prices were 19¾c. to 19 7-8c. for No. 1 Western white and colored and 19 1-4c. for No. 1 Eastern. Receipts for the day were 4,026 boxes compared with 1,937 boxes for the same day last week.

Butter prices were steady. Wholesale prices ranged from 36¾c. for the Eastern Townships No. 1 to 37c. for the same grade. Receipts were 831 boxes, compared with 1,865 boxes on the same day of the previous week. Retail prices were unchanged at 38c. per lb. for solids and 39c. per lb. for prints.

Prices on the local egg market were firm. Retail prices were as follows: Fresh extras, 36c. to 38c. per dozen; fresh firsts, 31c. to 33c. per dozen; fresh seconds, 27c. to 29c. per dozen.

Ontario fresh, export pack, f.o.b., Ontario point, 30c per dozen for extras, 25c. for first, and 22c. for seconds. Ontario fresh eggs, common cases, small lot on spot here, 32c. per dozen for extras, 27c. for firsts, and 25c. for seconds. Western fresh eggs, f.o.b. Manitoba point, 28½c. for extras, 26c. for firsts, and 22¾c. for seconds. British Columbia fresh eggs, f.o.b. Vancouver, 27c. for extras, and 24½c. for firsts.

Potatoes were lower yesterday. New potatoes from Virginia were $5.50 per 165-lb. barrel, No. 1 quality, $4 for No. 2 and $3.25 for culls. Old potatoes were also easier at 45c. per 90 lbs. for New Brunswick Green Mountains.

The local grain market was unchanged from the previous day. Poultry was cheaper. Dressed broilers, chickens and fowl were reduced generally 1c to 2c per lb.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 18. — For at least the moment, timely rains in Canada proved an overmatch yesterday for friends of higher prices on wheat, and the market flattened out. Moreover, newly harvested wheat began to arrive in Kansas City, and receipts of wheat there as well as St. Louis were much larger than a year ago.

Closing quotations on wheat were weak, 2c to 3⅝c a bushel below Saturday's finish. Corn closed ½c to ¾c down. Oats, ¼c to ⅝c to ⅝c off, and provisions unchanged to a decline of 7c.

Crop prospects in Canada took the lion's share of attention yesterday. A precarious outlook there because of moisture shortage was suddenly altered yesterday by downpours, which at numerous places, supplied an inch or more of water, likely to be of immense benefit in promoting spring wheat progress. Inasmuch as previous to these rains a crop scare of major extent appeared to be imminent, the price effect in Chicago was immediate, especially as evidence indicated that Winnipeg traders had become free sellers of future delivery contracts here.

GROVE SCHOOL CELEBRATES GOLDEN

you are very clever or very popular but if it is known that you wouldn't swerve by a hair's breadth from the path of honor you can do anthing."

The third strand might well be a sense of humor which is not only ability to appreciate a joke but having a sunny attitude on life. There has been a great deal said about who won the war but the speaker, who himself was an overseas man, said he felt that it was the good humor of the men on our side. Those who have seen copies of Punch of war years or aBines father's cartons will know a little of this, a carton in Punch once showed three or four British Tommies wearily tramping along in the rain and one says: 'Oh, this is a gloomy old war, its only us keeping cheerful that pulls us through, with no beer, no 'backy, no nothin'.' A sunny attitude on life helps through the dark days and we do need the thread to help us out of life's labyrinth"

The jubilee hymn was sung, the beautiful words of which were composed by F. M. Dela Fosse of Peterborough, and the musical setting by E. de C. Fletcher of "The Grove.'

Following the service the guests repaired to the quadrangle where the prize giving took place and the headmaster, Rev. A. W. MacKenzie welcomed the visitors and laughingly criticised Mr. Moore's calling the school an old man. "It is an old lady. We always put what we are very fond of in the faminine gender. Fifty years ago there were only twelve boys and then in the second year two new boys came, for twenty years it did not grow very fast and now it has come to its full stature with room for one hundred boys and we do not want any more."

Rev. Mr. MacKenzie thanked the parents for their co-operation and then proceeded to review the achievements of the past year. "The chapel has been enlarged by the addition of a chancel and a beautiful memorial window has been put in—a thing of beauty, we see it at 7.30 each morning at prayers and we turn to it when we say the creed. The addition of the chapel has been a wonderful factor in the school life and is one of its greatest assets. The staff has been splendid as usual and the prefects exceptionally good. They give the same sort of assistance as the non-com, in a regiment. It is expected that an infirmary will be built this year, separate from the school building.

GENERAL ELECTRIC
Refrigerator

When the proud owner of a General Electric Refrigerator takes her friends in to see it, the first comment is apt to be "Why it's so quiet—you can barely hear it."

The thing which seems to impress everyone is the extreme quietness with which these refrigerators operate. Their unique construction has established a new standard for quiet operation.

This design, however, accomplishes something even more important. It makes possible the top-unit arrangement—a distinctive feature found only in the General Electric Refrigerator. Placing the unit on top makes it possible to enclose all the machinery—together with a permanent supply of metal protecting oil—in an hermetically sealed steel casing. More than 250,000 General Electric Refrigerators are in use today, and not a dollar have their owners spent for service or repairs.

Quietly, economically, the General Electric Refrigerator gives you perfect refrigeration. It has an easily accessible tempetature control for governing the speed of freezing ice cubes or frozen desserts.

RECKLESS DRIVING.

Local accidents over the week-end call renewed attention to the fact that there is a vast amount of careless and reckless driving on the roads in this district and should spur the authorities to greater efforts in dealing with drivers who refuse to listen to appeals to their common sense and courtesy.

The Chemong road has for some years been noted for the disregard of speed laws and traffic regulations generally displayed by many motorists who drive over it.

The Examiner in other summers has repeatedly referred to this condition of affairs, and in the general interest has urged that the law-breakers should be dealt with in the only manner likely to make any impression upon them: that is by being called upon to explain their rckiessness to the magistrate.

There is no reason why this road, or any other road for that matter, should be regarded as a speedway, and there is no reason either for waiting until people are killed before making an example of the offenders.

It is not possible, of course, without an army of officials to catch all the wild drivers, but it should be feasible to apprehend enough of them to make the rest decide that the safe way is not only the right way but the only profitable way.

CAMP SKOOKUM.

It has been announced that Camp Skookum, the Peterborough Rotary Club's camp for boys, will open the summer on July 8th, the opening having been delayed a week on account of the Old Home celebration.

For parents seeking an ideal vacation for their boys, The Examiner can think of no better opportunity than is offered by the Rotary camp.

The slogan is, "Camping at cost," for it should be understood that Skookum is not a camp for underprivileged boys or a charitable institution, but rather a place where the boys of Peterborough and district can enjoy a splendid outing in a well equipped, well managed and ideally located camp at a weekly rate that just represents the cost of maintaining the establishment.

The charge for the first week is $5.00, and for the second and subsequent weeks $4.00, a rate that provides the cheapest holiday offered anywhere, and as the Rotarians provide opportunities for boys to earn the money necessary to finance their outing if they desire to do so, there is no reason why scores of Peterborough youngsters should not have the time of their lives at Rotary's camp at Clear Lake this summer.

It would be well for parents to get into touch with members of the Rotary Boys' Camp Committee as soon as possible, for vacation periods will be alloted according to the order in which registrations are received.

THE DALLAS PLAN.

When the delegates arrived at the convention of Rotary International at Dallas, Texas, recently, President W. R. Morris of the local club told his fellow Rotarians yesterday they found at their service a fleet of 4,500 motor cars, all labelled "Rotary courtesy car."

These automobiles, loaned and driven by public-spirited residents of Dallas, were available to take Rotarians wherever they desired to go.

The Rotary badge was all that was necessary to ensure transportation anywhere in Dallas.

It was a delightful gesture of hospitality that made an impression upon every delegate, and the thought comes that something of the same nature, even if not on such an ambitious scale, might be worked out in connection with Old Home Week here.

While many visitors will motor here and they will not need transportation, there are likely to be hundreds of guests who would welcome a ride now and then.

Local motorists could do much to make the visit of such guests pleasant by offering rides to those who are wearing official badges showing they have registered.

There will be opportunities for many acts of kindness and courtesy during Old Home Week, and by the manner in which they are accepted Peterborough's hospitality will be judged.

GENERAL BRAMWELL BOOTH.

Whatever may be the general view of the fitness of General Bramwell Booth to command the Salvation Army during recent years, there is no one who will deny the splendid service rendered the Salvationist organization and the world in general by the late head of the movement during most of his long connection with the Army.

Long the right hand of his father, the founder of the Salvation Army, Bramwell Booth was the first to carry the Army banner into a foreign land, and if for no other reason than that, his name should be always gratefully remembered.

But the late General did much more than that to earn thanks and appreciation.

For fifty-four years he labored in the interest of humanity through the organization that his father had started, and for sixteen of those years he directed the ever-spreading activities of that organization with conspicuous success.

His life started with a struggle against a physical handicap, that of deafness, which interfered with his education, but he triumphed over that obstacle by sheer will and determination, characteristic of his attitude toward all the worries and problems that confronted him during his career as a Salvationist.

Bramwell Booth doubtless had his faults, but in spite of them he contributed materially to the happiness of thousands of the world's underprivileged and was one of the outstanding men of his day and generation.

A FORGOTTEN APOSTLE OF SOCIALISM.

The political triumph of Socialism in Britain has called forth many tributes to the leaders of the party now in power, and not a few explanations as to how their victory was achieved. It is meet that those who fought the battle, kept the faith throughout years of struggle and adversity and inspired and directed the forces that have placed them in the seats of the mighty should, along with the rewards of office, receive in full measure the credit due to men of courage, vision and acknowledged ability. The calibre of the Cabinet formed by Ramsay MacDonald is in itself testimony to the character and strength of the movement which he so ably and successfully led.

But political, like military, battles are not won by generals alone. The training of an army, the spirit and efficiency of the troops engaged, and the loyal support of the rank and file are factors that count, in political crusades as in war, far more than strategy. And the new Prime Minister of Britain would be the first to concede that without the aid of the pioneers of the cause he has led to victory, without the services rendered in the past by men of the type of Hyndman, William Morris, John Burns and Keir Hardie, to say nothing of the co-operation and influence of outstanding trade union officials, and, above all, without the spirit of comradeship instilled and developed within the Socialist ranks, the result he has achieved would not have been possible.

Nor have there been wanting other forces to whose operation may be traced, in greater or lesser degree, the political revolution that has brought about a Socialist government. One of these, that has been strangely overlooked by the eulogists of the present Labor leaders, was the work of a writer still living, but apparently forgotten, who, it is not too much to say, probably did more to advance and popularize the cause of Socialism in Britain than any other individual, Ramsay MacDonald himself not excepted. Throughout the campaign that ended in Labor's victory the name of Robert Blatchford was scarcely ever mentioned. A veteran approaching his eightieth year, living in comfortable retirement in a secluded spot in the south of England, he who has been called "the Martin Luther of British Socialism," watched the battle from afar with the aloofness of one more interested in his books and his garden than in politics, while those who shouted the battle-cries of Socialist freedom and chanted Socialist hymns remembered not his existence.

Yet twenty-five or thirty years ago, Robert Blatchford, widely known as "Nunquam" of the Clarion, was a power in the Socialist movement greater and more inspiring than many of those who to-day are renowned as its leaders. It was from him and his writings in the paper he edited that tens, if not hundreds, of thousands of readers learned the rudiments of the creed that is now accepted by the majority of British electors. He was no wild-eyed revolutionary preaching class hatred or national disruption. British to the core, with a love of country deepened and intensified by years of service in the army, he expounded the gospel of Socialism because he sincerely believed that in it lay, not only the cure for many social evils, but the salvation of England as a nation.

The son of poor strolling players, he had known poverty almost from birth. Denied even a rudimentary schooling, he had taught himself to read and write. As a boy he had sung in a London music hall, slept on the Thames Embankment; begged, not always successfully, for odd jobs and mingled with the dregs of humanity in the metropolis and elsewhere. Forced by circumstances to enlist, his term of service in the army had given him opportunities not only to study but to think. He had emerged with the rank of sergeant to begin shortly afterwards a career in journalism that eventually brought him into prominence as a talented and influential apostle of Socialism.

With a knowledge of his subject not excelled by the most cultured of the Fabians, wielding a pen that could write with force, as well as grace and charm, and inspired by a sympathy with the poorer classes, born of intimate study of their problems and bitter experience of their necessities, Blatchford carried on a crusade that made its influence felt and won support in every industrial centre throughout England and Scotland. There was something so human in his appeal on behalf of the under-dog, a quality so captivating in his message, so much of justice, reason and truth in his exposition of the need for social redress, that many who abhorred the very name of Socialism were tempted to embrace the cause he advocated.

"Nunquam" became a name to conjure with among the educated workers. For years his paper enjoyed a circulation larger than that of the most popular London literary weekly. He wrote books on Socialism and kindred subjects that sold by the million. Guilds and clubs sprang up all over the land in support of the "Clarion" doctrines; caravans, with able speakers, toured the provinces to spread abroad the gospel according to Blatchford. What had been a Fabian cult, a theory of doctrinaires, became a popular belief and a widely accepted creed.

Then came a day, shortly before the war, when, growing old and out of touch with a movement that had become essentially political, "Nunquam" laid down his pen, and retired to his rural retreat to cultivate roses and enjoy repose among his books. But he had not labored in vain, for it is certain that, without the seeds so abundantly sown a generation ago by Robert Blatchford, there would not have been the harvest which Socialism is reaping to-day.—Ottawa Journal.

The Tule Marsh Murder

By NANCY BARR MAVITY

Story of a Missing Actress and the Taxing of Wits to Explain Her Fate

THE STORY THUS FAR:

Don Ellsworth's wife, formerly the famous actress Sheila O'Shay, disappears, leaving no trace. Dr. Cavanaugh, the great criminal psychologist learns that their married life has been very unhappy.

Peter Piper a reporter on the Herald, tries to get an interview with Dr. Cavanaugh. Instead he meets Barbara Cavanaugh, the attractive daughter, and finds that she was engaged to Don Ellsworth before his marriage.

An unidentified body is found in the tule marsh outside the city. It has been burned by a fire in the marsh until it is entirely unrecognizable except for the fact that it is a woman. Dr. Cavanaugh is called in to help with the identification.

He has only a small piece of scalp from the body to work on. Don Ellsworth refuses to give him a hair of Sheila O'Shay's, but he secures one unknown and after examination tells Peter Piper that the body found in the marsh is that of Sheila O'Shay. Barbara, in whom Peter has become interested, faints when she hears this. Peter who is already half in love with her, is torn between his feeling and his suspicion that she knows something about the murder. Mrs. Kane, Sheila O'Shay's waiting woman is arrested in the case and Peter is sent to interview her. He learns that Sheila O'Shay forced Don Ellsworth to marry her by threatening a breach of promise suit. Peter makes a social call on Barbara Cavanaugh.

CHAPTER 22.

Barbara stood slim and straight in the doorway. Her clothes, Peter noted, were slim and straight, like herself. So were the clothes of every other girl on the street, but the fact had escaped Peter's observation. She was a girl who never bothered with being surprised. The cascade of coins on the hall floor passed without immediate comment.

"Nellie needn't have put you in the Coventry like this—out in the hall," she said. "Come on in, won't you?"

She held aside a curtain and they were in a small rather jolly little room which seemed to be full of a fireplace and orange marigolds. Peter followed the casual wave of her hand towards an arm chair.

He was already in it before he noticed that Barbara remained standing, her elbow crooked across the corner of the fireplace. Another of the tribal customs. He ought to have waited till she sat down. But it was too late now to jump up.

"Well," said Barbara, gazing down into the fire and addressing the glowing heap of coal. I don't suppose you came on purpose to play with the card tray. "Don't tell me you're after another story."

Peter rose in his chair with deliberation. He was more angry than he had ever been in his life before. Anger broke over him, wave upon wave, and left him trembling.

He forgot that he had ever in his life gone after a story and been proud of it. He stood over her, tall and menacing by the fireplace, with less than a foot between them. His clenched hands were drawn back, the arms slightly bent.

Barbara stared into furious gray eyes. If she had been a man, she knew that he would have knocked her down. She squared her shoulders, ever so slightly.

"Story-be-damned!" Peter said slowly, striking each word a separate blow. "What do you take me for? I came to see you, I tell you! I came to—to make a call!"

"Oh! Oh! Oh!" Barbara's laughter was not polite, controlled, musical laughter. It was the helpless, choking, clutching laughter of one seized and shaken by an irresistible hurricane of mirth. "So—so that's the way you make a call, is it? Do you—do you—do it like this very often?"

She leaned her forehead against the mantel piece, her shoulders shaking. Against the mighty wind of such laughter there was no defense.

Peter was caught up in it, helpless. Barbara lifted her face, scarlet from chin to brow, and wiped the tears from her flooded eyes.

"No," said the grinning Peter. 'I never made a call before."

"Let's begin then. The first thing people usually do in the course of a call is to sit down. Suppose we do that." But before she turned from the fireplace, standing very straight and small before the towering Peter, she held out her hand.

It was a small, slim hand, and yet somehow not incompetent—a hand that would be accurate and sure in all its movements, a hand that would never flutter nor fall helplessly nor make futile, bungling gestures. Its clasp was very firm, very alive.

"I want to thank you," Barbara said, her face grave now and sharpened into the withdrawn yet alert look which Peter remembered. "I haven't laughed like that since—for a long time."

The instant's hesitation brought Peter's mind leaping back to forgotten reality.

"You're feeling quite all right again after—your illness, the other morning?"

"Quite."

The word fell like a pebble dropped very gently into deep water. Barbara had sunk into the second of the two fireside armchairs. Her hands were clasped lightly in her lap, but something in the poise of her body was wary, rather than relaxed.

"Please don't look like that," Peter blurted. "I like you ever so much better when you're Alice in Wonderland. I like you that way best of all."

"But this isn't wonderland."

"Besides,"—the voice had come back this time, was near and crisp and firm, like watercress just out of a brook, "You mustn't like me that way, in pieces. I won't be a character that you've made up for yourself. I'm just —I. If that's not good enough——"

"It's quite good enough." To his surprise, as if it belonged to someone else, Peter heard his voice shaking. "I'm sorry I made such a fool of myself, and got mad a minute ago."

"You were, rather," Barbara agreed. "After all, the only times I'd seen you, you'd been after a story. I thought it was the only thing you ever did. I'm glad it isn't." Her eyes, lifted to his, had the undisguised beaming friendliness of a child's.

Peter made a decision. It was rather a momentous decision, inasmuch as it sacrificed his gods—the gods of the Herald—without a quiver.

"Look here," he said solemnly. "I promise that I'll never mention the Ellsworth case to you again. I guess that 'll show whether I'm always 'after' something."

"Oh, but don't do that!" There was a touch of panic in the hurrying protest. "I want to know all I can about it. The newspapersnever tell anything until it's too late. Don't shut me out, please!"

Peter's hand reached out in a gesture of warning. She was giving herself away—and she musn't; not to Peter Piper of the "Herald." The small face turned up to him was harried.

"Look here," he said again. "Are you taking me for a friend?"

"Yes," she said quietly. "I've no business to, I suppose. But I think I am."

Peter sighed—a heavy, gusty and by no means chivalrous sigh with which to greet an offer of friendship.

"It complicates things, rather. But it's worth it."

"Thanks." That was said as a small boy might say it, hiding feeling with an abrupt casualness.

"I can't help knowing that you are interested in this case."

"I am that." In the remembered Irish inflection of her voice he heard again the gamin, the "guttersnipe," the girl of the orphanage, the girl who had been like a little wild thing in a hostile wood. If she had bared her small sharp teeth and struck, in circumstances he could not know, he for one would remember that girl of the orphanage. He would not blame her for it. Never. But she did not know what she was up against. He didn't know either, for that matter. He'd have to know, if he was to help her.

"I won't shut you out," he said gently. "I'll tell you anything you want to know. But believe me, it's for your sake I ask you not to shut me out either. Let's go at it together."

"I—know." She closed her eyes. Her face became a sharp, white mask against the dark chair back. For a moment he wondered if she were going to faint again. But her eyes, when she opened them, were intent and very steady. "I'm willing to help you in any way I can," she said. "I'll help you with my father. If there are things I can't tell you, I'll say so. But I'm asking you to be frank with me, when all I can promise is to be as frank with you as I can. It doesn't seem a very fair bargain."

"It isn't a bargain at all—I'm not dealing in bargains. Did you think I was holding out for a quid pro quo?"

"No," Barbara said hastily. "Now don't go and get angry again. You're so unpredictable."

"Goodness knows what I'm letting myself in for. I may be compoundng a felony, for all I know. Not that I care, only I generally prefer to compound my own felonies, with my eye open.

"But I'm going to trust your judgment—because I believe you've got judgment. Only there's just one thing. I'm willing to tell you anything you want to know—only you must never ask me to withold anything from the paper unless you can give me a perfectly clear and complete reason for it. And even then, you must leave it to me, absolutely.

"If you use anything I get to keep somebody else two leaps ahead of the sheriff—well, that just adds to the complications of existence. By the way, the one bit of news you probably don't know is that Don Ellsworth married Sheila O'Shay under threat of a breach of promise suit."

"Oh, I am glad!" Barbara's face was lit with sudden, incredulous delight. "No," she added thoughtfully, "I didn't know that."

"You seem rather pleased about it." The room, for all its dancing firelight, seemed gray and chilly, tricked out in the flaming mockery of orange marigolds. Don Ellsworth belonged to her own tribe.

"I am. Up to the very day that I got his wedding announcement, I thought Don and I were engaged. I just had to believe there was some explanation—he wasn't the sort of person who could let you down without a reason. Of course I'm glad to know he didn't do a thing like that of his own free will!"

"You care—such a lot?"

"That isn't the point at all. He would cut his tongue out sooner than acknowledge a thing like that. It's the one thing I never understood and couldn't ask."

"Well," said Peter wearily. "I don't think he'll share your transports at having it known. It rather puts a crimp in him as the bereaved young husband of an adored wife."

"You mean they'll suspect him?"

Barbara opened her mouth as if for furious protest. Then she closed it again and merely squared her shoulders against the back of the chair.

"Don's all right," she said at last. "Only I suppose there isn't any use shouting about it. But if you go after him with any of your strongarm methods, be sure you know what you're about. Don doesn't like newspaper reporters—not one little bit, he doesn't!"

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

WHAT IS SET BEFORE US.

I knew Lafe Young in his later years,
And that is a thing to boast of,
When he liked to sit till the midnight nears
With the friends that he thought the most of.
He used to say, "I have had my joy,
I have had my gray skies o'er me,
But I learned one thing as a farmer boy
I et what was set before me."

Lafe Young grew old, but he kept content,
Grew gray, but it didn't matter.
He took whatever the good Lord sent,
A plate, or a silver platter.
I thank him yet for his friendly smile,
For the kindly thoughts he bore me,
But I thank him more for a phrase worth while—
"I et what was set before me."

To-night we sit at the banquet board,
We dine on a crust to-morrow,
But whether we drink from a brimming gourd
Or eat of the bread of sorrow,

We shall come through like with a heart content
If we eat what is set before us.

Why We Do What We Do.

WHY WE MAKE EXCUSES.

We make excuses to justify our conduct in our own eyes and in the eyes of others. It is a means of satisfying our conscience. Sometimes making excuses serves the purpose of putting us in the proper frame of mind to do what we want to do.

We also make excuses to shift the blame on our act, to make it appear as though the other person were the aggressor. None of us wants the reputation of hitting first. Nevertheless, we want the advantage that comes from getting the jump on the other fellow.

This principally is vividly expressed in one of Aesop's fables. It runs like this: A hungry wolf one day saw a lamb drinking at a stream, and wished some plausible excuse for making him his prey.

"What do you mean by muddling the water, I am going to drink?" fiercely said he to the lamb.

"Pray forgive me," meekly answered the lamb. "I should be sorry to displease you in any way, but as the stream runs from you toward me, you will see that I can't possibly muddy it for you."

"That's all very well" said the wolf. "But you spoke ill of me behind my back a year ago."

"Nay, believe me," replied the lamb, "I was not then born."

"It must have been your brother then," growled the wolf.

"It cannot have been, for I never had any," answered the lamb.

"I know it was one of your lot," rejoined the wolf, "so make no more such idle excuses."

He then seized the lamb, carried him off to the woods, and ate him. But before he died, the poor lamb gasped; "Any excuse will serve a tyrant."

We should distinguish between a reason and an excuse. Reasons are offered when we are honestly trying to reach a fair conclusion and to state facts. Excuses are offered to cover up the facts and to arrive at a preconceived conclusion.

We make excuses to hide our true motives which cannot stand the light of truth, to give falsehood a "goodly outside". In polite society the excuse is taken as a sign of "no". When a man does not want to do what you ask him to do he makes a flimsy excuse and you are to understand that he is merely saving your feelings and does not want to come right out and say the flat and ugly "no". The same situation prevails when a woman is "out". This is a polite way of saying she does not care to see you.

RECKLESS DRIVING.

Local accidents over the week-end call renewed attention to the fact that there is a vast amount of careless and reckless driving on the roads in this district and should spur the authorities to greater efforts in dealing with drivers who refuse to listen to appeals to their common sense and courtesy.

The Chemong road has for some years been noted for the disregard of speed laws and traffic regulations generally displayed by many motorists who drive over it.

The Examiner in other summers has repeatedly referred to this condition of affairs, and in the general interest has urged that the law-breakers should be dealt with in the only manner likely to make any impression upon them: that is by being called upon to explain their rcklessness to the magistrate.

There is no reason why this road, or any other road for that matter, should be regarded as a speedway, and there is no reason either for waiting until people are killed before making an example of the offenders.

It is not possible, of course, without an army of officials to catch all the wild drivers, but it should be feasible to apprehend enough of them to make the rest decide that the safe way is not only the right way but the only profitable way.

CAMP SKOOKUM.

It has been announced that Camp Skookum, the Peterborough Rotary Club's camp for boys, will open the summer on July 8th, the opening having been delayed a week on account of the Old Home celebration.

For parents seeking an ideal vacation for their boys, The Examiner can think of no better opportunity than is offered by the Rotary camp.

The slogan is, "Camping at cost," for it should be understood that Skookum is not a camp for underprivileged boys or a charitable institution, but rather a place where the boys of Peterborough and district can enjoy a splendid outing in a well equipped, well managed and ideally located camp at a weekly rate that just represents the cost of maintaining the establishment.

The charge for the first week is $5.00, and for the second and subsequent weeks $4.00, a rate that provides the cheapest holiday offered anywhere, and as the Rotarians provide opportunities for boys to earn the money necessary to finance their outing if they desire to do so, there is no reason why scores of Peterborough youngsters should not have the time of their lives at Rotary's camp at Clear Lake this summer.

It would be well for parents to get into touch with members of the Rotary Boys' Camp Committee as soon as possible, for vacation periods will be alloted according to the order in which registrations are received.

THE DALLAS PLAN.

When the delegates arrived at the convention of Rotary International at Dallas, Texas, recently, President W. R. Morris of the local club told his fellow Rotarians yesterday they found at their service a fleet of 4,500 motor cars, all labelled "Rotary courtesy car."

These automobiles, loaned and driven by public-spirited residents of Dallas, were available to take Rotarians wherever they desired to go.

The Rotary badge was all that was necessary to ensure transportation anywhere in Dallas.

It was a delightful gesture of hospitality that made an impression upon every delegate, and the thought comes that something of the same nature, even if not on such an ambitious scale, might be worked out in connection with Old Home Week here.

While many visitors will motor here and they will not need transportation, there are likely to be hundreds of guests who would welcome a ride now and then.

Local motorists could do much to make the visit of such guests pleasant by offering rides to those who are wearing official badges showing they have registered.

There will be opportunities for many acts of kindness and courtesy during Old Home Week, and by the manner in which they are accepted Peterborough's hospitality will be judged.

GENERAL BRAMWELL BOOTH.

Whatever may be the general view of the fitness of General Bramwell Booth to command the Salvation Army during recent years, there is no one who will deny the splendid service rendered the Salvationist organization and the world in general by the late head of the movement during most of his long connection with the Army.

Long the right hand of his father, the founder of the Salvation Army, Bramwell Booth was the first to carry the Army banner into a foreign land, and if for no other reason than that, his name should be always gratefully remembered.

But the late General did much more than that to earn thanks and appreciation.

For fifty-four years he labored in the interest of humanity through the organinzation that his father had started, and for sixteen of those years he directed the ever-spreading activities of that organization with conspicuous success.

His life started with a struggle against a physical handicap, that of deafness, which interfered with his education, but he triumphed over that obstacle by sheer will and determination, characteristic of his attitude toward all the worries and problems that confronted him during his career as a Salvationist.

Bramwell Booth doubtless had his faults, but in spite of them he contributed materially to the happiness of thousands of the world's underprivileged and was one of the outstanding men of his day and generation.

A FORGOTTEN APOSTLE OF SOCIALISM.

The political triumph of Socialism in Britain has called forth many tributes to the leaders of the party now in power, and not a few explanations as to how their victory was achieved. It is meet that those who fought the battle, kept the faith throughout years of struggle and adversity and inspired and directed the forces that have placed them in the seats of the mighty should, along with the rewards of office, receive in full measure the credit due to men of courage, vision and acknowledged ability. The calibre of the Cabinet formed by Ramsay MacDonald is in itself testimony to the character and strength of the movement which he so ably and successfully led.

But political, like military, battles are not won by generals alone. The training of an army, the spirit and efficiency of the troops engaged, and the loyal support of the rank and file are factors that count, in political crusades as in war, far more than strategy. And the new Prime Minister of Britain would be the first to concede that without the aid of the pioneers of the cause he has led to victory, without the services rendered in the past by men of the type of Hyndman, William Morris, John Burns and Keir Hardie, to say nothing of the co-operation and influence of outstanding trade union officials, and, above all, without the spirit of comradeship instilled and developed within the Socialist ranks, the result he has achieved would not have been possible.

Nor have there been wanting other forces to whose operation may be traced, in greater or lesser degree, the political revolution that has brought about a Socialist government. One of these, that has been strangely overlooked by the eulogists of the present Labor leaders, was the work of a writer still living, but apparently forgotten, who, it is not too much to say, probably did more to advance and popularize the cause of Socialism in Britain than any other individual, Ramsay MacDonald himself not excepted. Throughout the campaign that ended in Labor's victory the name of Robert Blatchford was scarcely ever mentioned. A veteran approaching his eightieth year, living in comfortable retirement in a secluded spot in the south of England, he who has been called "the Martin Luther of British Socialism," watched the battle from afar with the aloofness of one more interested in his books and his garden than in politics, while those who shouted the battle-cries of Socialist freedom and chanted Socialist hymns remembered not his existence.

Yet twenty-five or thirty years ago, Robert Blatchford, widely known as "Nunquam" of the Clarion, was a power in the Socialist movement greater and more inspiring than many of those who to-day are renowned as its leaders. It was from him and his writings in the paper he edited that tens, if not hundreds, of thousands of readers learned the rudiments of the creed that is now accepted by the majority of British electors. He was no wild-eyed revolutionary preaching class hatred or national disruption. British to the core, with a love of country deepened and intensified by years of service in the army, he expounded the gospel of Socialism because he sincerely believed that in it lay, not only the cure for many social evils, but the salvation of England as a nation.

The son of poor strolling players, he had known poverty almost from birth. Denied even a rudimentary schooling, he had taught himself to read and write. As a boy he had sung in a London music hall, slept on the Thames Embankment; begged, not always successfully, for odd jobs and mingled with the dregs of humanity in the metropolis and elsewhere. Forced by circumstances to enlist, his term of service in the army had given him opportunities not only to study but to think. He had emerged with the rank of sergeant to begin shortly afterwards a career in journalism that eventually brought him into prominence as a talented and influential apostle of Socialism.

With a knowledge of his subject not excelled by the most cultured of the Fabians, wielding a pen that could write with force, as well as grace and charm, and inspired by a sympathy with the poorer classes, born of intimate study of their problems and bitter experience of their necessities, Blatchford carried on a crusade that made its influence felt and won support in every industrial centre throughout England and Scotland. There was something so human in his appeal on behalf of the under-dog, a quality so captivating in his message, so much of justice, reason and truth in his exposition of the need for social redress, that many who abhorred the very name of Socialism were tempted to embrace the cause he advocated.

"Nunquam" became a name to conjure with among the educated workers. For years his paper enjoyed a circulation larger than that of the most popular London literary weekly. He wrote books on Socialism and kindred subjects that sold by the million. Guilds and clubs sprang up all over the land in support of the "Clarion" doctrines; caravans, with able speakers, toured the provinces to spread abroad the gospel according to Blatchford. What had been a Fabian cult, a theory of doctrinaires, became a popular belief and a widely accepted creed.

Then came a day, shortly before the war, when, growing old and out of touch with a movement that had become essentially political, "Nunquam" laid down his pen, and retired to his rural retreat to cultivate roses and enjoy repose among his books. But he had not labored in vain, for it is certain that, without the seeds so abundantly sown a generation ago by Robert Blatchford, there would not have been the harvest which Socialism is reaping to-day.—Ottawa Journal.

The Tule Marsh Murder

By NANCY BARR MAVITY

Story of a Missing Actress and the Taxing of Wits to Explain Her Fate

THE STORY THUS FAR:

Don Ellsworth's wife, formerly the famous actress Sheila O'Shay, disappears, leaving no trace. Dr. Cavanaugh, the great criminal psychologist learns that their married life has been very unhappy.

Peter Piper a reporter on the Herald, tries to get an interview with Dr. Cavanaugh. Instead he meets Barbara Cavanaugh, the attractive daughter, and finds that she was engaged to Don Ellsworth before his marriage.

An unidentified body is found in the tule marsh outside the city. It has been burned by a fire in the marsh until it is entirely unrecognizable except for the fact that it is a woman. Dr. Cavanaugh is called in to help with the identification.

He has only a small piece of scalp from the body to work on. Don Ellsworth refuses to give him a hair of Sheila O'Shay's, but he secures one unknown and after examination tells Peter Piper that the body found in the marsh is that of Sheila O'Shay. Barbara, in whom Peter has become interested, faints when she hears this. Peter who is already half in love with her, is torn between his feeling and his suspicion that she knows something about the murder. Mrs. Kane, Sheila O'Shay's waiting woman is arrested in the case and Peter is sent to interview her. He learns that Sheila O'Shay forced Don Ellsworth to marry her by threatening a breach of promise suit. Peter makes a social call on Barbara Cavanaugh.

CHAPTER 22.

Barbara stood slim and straight in the doorway. Her clothes, Peter noted, were slim and straight, like herself. So were the clothes of every other girl on the street, but the fact had escaped Peter's observation. She was a girl who never bothered with being surprised. The cascade of coins on the hall floor passed without immediate comment.

"Nellie needn't have put you in the Coventry like this—out in the hall," she said. "Come on in, won't you?"

She held aside a curtain and they were in a small rather jolly little room which seemed to be full of a fireplace and orange marigolds. Peter followed the casual wave of her hand towards an arm chair.

He was already in it before he noticed that Barbara remained standing, her elbow crooked across the corner of the fireplace. Another of the tribal customs. He ought to have waited till she sat down. But it was too late now to jump up.

"Well," said Barbara, gazing down into the fire and addressing the glowing heap of coal. I don't suppose you came on purpose to play with the card tray. "Don't tell me you're after another story."

Peter rose in his chair with deliberation. He was more angry than he had ever been in his life before. Anger broke over him, wave upon wave, and left him trembling.

He forgot that he had ever in his life gone after a story and been proud of it. He stood over her, tall and menacing by the fireplace, with less than a foot between them. His clenched hands were drawn back, the arms slightly bent.

Barbara stared into furious gray eyes. If she had been a man, she knew that he would have knocked her down. She squared her shoulders, ever so slightly.

"Story-be-damned!" Peter said slowly, striking each word a separate blow. "What do you take me for? I came to see you, I tell you! I came to—to make a call!

"Oh! Oh! Oh!" Barbara's laughter was not polite, controlled, musical laughter. It was the helpless, choking, clutching laughter of one seized and shaken by an irresistible hurricane of mirth. "So—so that's the way you make a call, is it? Do you—do you—do it like this very often?"

She leaned her forehead against the mantel piece, her shoulders shaking. Against the mighty wind of such laughter there was no defense.

Peter was caught up in it, helpless. Barbara lifted her face, scarlet from chin to brow, and wiped the tears from her flooded eyes.

"No," said the grinning Peter. 'I never made a call before."

"Let's begin then. The first thing people usually do in the course of a call is to sit down. Suppose we do that." But before she turned from the fireplace, standing very straight and small before the towering Peter, she held out her hand.

It was a small, slim hand, and yet somehow not incompetent—a hand that would be accurate and sure in all its movements, a hand that would never flutter nor fall helplessly nor make futile, bungling gestures. Its clasp was very firm, very alive.

"I want to thank you," Barbara said, her face grave now and sharpened into the withdrawn yet alert look which Peter remembered. "I haven't laughed like that since—for a long time."

The instant's hesitation brought Peter's mind leaping back to forgotten reality.

"You're feeling quite all right again after—your illness, the other morning?"

"Quite."

The word fell like a pebble dropped very gently into deep water. Barbara had sunk into the second of the two fireside armchairs. Her hands were clasped lightly in her lap, but something in the poise of her body was wary, rather than relaxed.

"Please don't look like that," Peter blurted. "I like you ever so much better when you're Alice in Wonderland. I like you that way best of all."

"But this isn't wonderland."

"Besides,"—the voice had come back this time, was near and crisp and firm, like watercress just out of a brook, "You mustn't like me that way, in pieces. I won't be a character that you've made up for yourself. I'm just—I. If that's not good enough——"

"It's quite good enough." To his surprise, as if it belonged to someone else, Peter heard his voice shaking. "I'm sorry I made such a fool of myself, and got mad a minute ago."

"You were, rather," Barbara agreed. "After all, the only times I'd seen you, you'd been after a story. I thought it was the only thing you ever did. I'm glad it isn't." Her eyes, lifted to his, had the undisguised beaming friendliness of a child's.

Peter made a decision. It was rather a momentous decision, inasmuch as it sacrificed his gods—the gods of the Herald—without a quiver.

"Look here," he said solemnly. "I promise that I'll never mention the Ellsworth case to you again. I guess that 'll show whether I'm always 'after' something."

"Oh, but don't do that!" There was a touch of panic in the hurrying protest. "I want to know all I can about it. The newspapersnever tell anything until it's too late. Don't shut me out, please!"

Peter's hand reached out in a gesture of warning. She was giving herself away—and she musn't; not to Peter Piper of the "Herald." The small face turned up to him was harried.

"Look here," he said again. "Are you taking me for a friend?"

"Yes," she said quietly. "I've no business to, I suppose. But I think I am."

Peter sighed—a heavy, gusty and by no means chivalrous sigh with which to greet an offer of friendship.

"It complicates things, rather. But it's worth it."

"Thanks." That was said as a small boy might say it, hiding feeling with an abrupt casualness.

"I can't help knowing that you are interested in this case."

"I am that." In the remembered Irish inflection of her voice he heard again the gamin, the "guttersnipe," the girl of the orphanage, the girl who had been like a little wild thing in a hostile wood. If she had bared her small sharp teeth and struck, in circumstances he could not know, he for one would remember that girl of the orphanage. He would not blame her for it. Never. But she did not know what she was up against. He didn't know either, for that matter. He'd have to know, if he was to help her.

"I won't shut you out," he said gently. "I'll tell you anything you want to know. But believe me, it's for your sake I ask you not to shut me out either. Let's go at it together."

"I—know." She closed her eyes. Her face became a sharp, white mask against the dark chair back. For a moment he wondered if she were going to faint again. But her eyes, when she opened them, were intent and very steady. "I'm willing to help you in any way I can," she said. "I'll help you with my father. If there are things I can't tell you, I'll say so. But I'm asking you to be frank with me, when all I can promise is to be as frank with you as I can. It doesn't seem a very fair bargain."

"It isn't a bargain at all—I'm not dealing in bargains. Did you think I was holding out for a quid pro quo?"

"No," Barbara said hastily. "Now don't go and get angry again. You're so unpredictable."

"Goodness knows what I'm letting myself in for. I may be compoundng a felony, for all I know. Not that I care, only I generally prefer to compound my own felonies, with my eye open.

"But I'm going to trust your judgment—because I believe you've got judgment. Only there's just one thing. "I'm willing to tell you anything you want to know—only you must never ask me to withold anything from the paper unless you can give me a perfectly clear and complete reason for it. And even then, you must leave it to me, absolutely.

"If you use anything I get to keep somebody else two leaps ahead of the sheriff—well, that just adds to the complications of existence. By the way, the one bit of news you probably don't know is that Don Ellsworth married Sheila O'Shay under threat of a breach of promise suit."

"Oh, I am glad!" Barbara's face was lit with sudden, incredulous delight. "No," she added thoughtfully, "I didn't know that."

"You seem rather pleased about it." The room, for all its dancing firelight, seemed gray and chilly, tricked out in the flaming mockery of orange marigolds. Don Ellsworth belonged to her own tribe.

"I am. Up to the very day that I got his wedding announcement, I thought Don and I were engaged. I just had to believe there was some explanation—he wasn't the sort of person who could let you down without a reason. Of course I'm glad to know he didn't do a thing like that of his own free will!"

"You care—such a lot?"

"That isn't the point at all. He would cut his tongue out sooner than acknowledge a thing like that. It's the one thing I never understood and couldn't ask."

"Well," said Peter wearily. "I don't think he'll share your transports at having it known. It rather puts a crimp in him as the bereaved young husband of an adored wife."

"You mean they'll suspect him?"

Barbara opened her mouth as if for furious protest. Then she closed it again and merely squared her shoulders against the back of the chair.

"Don's all right," she said at last. "Only I suppose there isn't any use shouting about it. But if you go after him with any of your strongarm methods, be sure you know what you're about. Don doesn't like newspaper reporters—not one little bit, he doesn't!"

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

WHAT IS SET BEFORE US.

I knew Lafe Young in his later years,
And that is a thing to boast of,
When he liked to sit till the midnight nears
With the friends that he thought the most of.
He used to say, "I have had my joy,
I have had my gray skies o'er me,
But I learned one thing as a farmer boy
I et what was set before me."

Lafe Young grew old, but he kept content,
Grew gray, but it didn't matter.
He took whatever the good Lord sent,
A plate, or a silver platter.
I thank him yet for his friendly smile,
For the kindly thoughts he bore me,
But I thank him more for a phrase worth while—
"I et what was set before me."

To-night we sit at the banquet board,
We dine on a crust to-morrow,
But whether we drink from a brimming gourd
Or eat of the bread of sorrow,
Whatever it was the good Lord sent,
Whatever the drink men pour us,
We shall come through like with a heart content
If we eat what is set before us.

STANDARD LIST HOLDS FIRMER

Newbec and Granada Rouyn Holds Interest of the Speculators.

AJAX OIL ACTIVE.

TORONTO, Ont., June 18 (C.P.).—With Newbec and Granada Rouyn acting as the pivot stocks, trading on the Standard Mining Exchange took a broader and much stronger tone today. Newbec, following its rapid decline of the last few days, showed a surprising recovery and at the close of the morning session finished at 53, which was 6½ points higher than yesterday's close. Granada Rouyn firmed one point to 33.

Ajax Oil was unusually active and irregular in its movements. After opening at 177 it rose to close at 183 unchanged. Amulet dropped 4 to 117 while Teck-Hughes declined 25 to 8.40.

Wright-Hargreaves which has been inactive recently sprang into the limelight to-day with nearly 40,000 shares changing hands. It closed at 165 after selling up to 178. The former figure showed a gain of 13. Wainwell recovered 1½ to 49.

ONTARIO SWEPT BY HEAT WAVE

First Death of Season in Toronto From Drowning and Prostration Reported.

90 DEGREES AT LONDON.

TORONTO, Ont., June 18 (Canadian Press).—A heat wave swept over a section of the province yesterday, when the temperature ranged from 72 at Kingston to 90 at London. Cochrane boasted a temperature of 84, while in both Ottawa and Toronto the thermometer reached 88. Coincident with the heat were the first deaths in Toronto from drowning and from heat prostration.

Mrs. Minnie Davie, 55, fell on the street, exhausted from the heat and died before a doctor arrived. Leonard Sturgeon, 16, was drowned when he fell from a canoe while trying to change his seat. He was paddling with two chums on the Humber River, and when he fell they both plunged to his rescue, but could not succeed in bringing him to the surface.

LIST NARROW TORONTO CURB

Simpson Preferred Registers Widest Gain in Three-Point Advance.

MASSEY-HARRIS DOWN.

TORONTO, Ont., June 18 (C.P.).—Brazilian Traction continued its active leadership on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day, but liquidation caused the stock to lose 1¼ of the substantial gain of yesterday. Brabilian closed the morning session at 59¼. Simpson Preferred registered the widest gain on the list by moving up 3 to 104½. Ford Motors "A" came in for considerable attention on the buying side and firmed ½ to 45.

Public interest in the market lagged and in consequence the list was narrow and the volume of trading small. International Nickel experienced a good turnover but it was mostly on the selling side. It sold down ⅜ to 49. Canada Dredge was in demand, and it added 1⅜ to its previous gain by selling at 73¾.

Steel of Canada, Standard Steel and Brompton all sold up ½, while Massey-Harris and Page Hersey were both off ¾.

RIOTS OCCUR IN BEER HALLS

One White Man and Four Natives Killed in Durban, South Africa.

FIREARMS FREELY USED.

DURBAN, South Africa, June 18.—(Canadian Press Cable Via Reuters.)—Objections by the natives to preparation of their food and the brewing of their beer in the municipal beer halls by white men, was apparently the cause of the riots here yesterday, when it was stated officially that one white man and four natives were killed. Unofficially it was reported 14 natives and possibly other whites were victims.

The International Colored Union apparently engineered the trouble which broke out at mid-day, when quiet was restored. The outbreak occurred later when enraged Europeans attacked the union's headquarters and the police intervened to prevent the capture of the building. Shots were fired on both sides, but the greater number of injuries were due to brickbats, sticks and similar missiles.

Wheat Drops Under Favorable Reports

CHICAGO, Ills., June 18. (C.P.) — Fresh down turns in wheat values here took place early to-day owing to further rains in Canada and because of Liverpool quotations much lower than expected. Reports however that parts of Alberta province, Canada, were yet badly short of moisture tended to bring about rallies. Opening at 1-4c to 1 1-8c decline, Chicago wheat afterward recovered most of the loss. Corn, oats and provisions were alos easier, with corn starting 1-4c to 3-4c off and subsequently dropping still more.

Market Is Irregular Under Profit-taking

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 18.— (A.P.)—Stock prices made further recovery in to-day's market, although there was an increasing tendency to take profits on the rallies before the mid-year credit stringency began to make itself felt. Operators for the advance succeeded in bringing forward new leaders whenever the general list showed signs of weakening but the public participation was still on a relatively small scale.

Call money renewed unchanged at 7 per cent. with indications in the early afternoon that the rate would be maintained all day. Return of the June 15 checks for payment at the banks has been offset to some extent by the heavy accumulation of funds here by large corporations in preparations for mid-year payments, and by the temporary employment in the call market of funds received in connection with stock subscription "rights."

MARITIME TRADE COMMISSION PLANS EXTENSIVE TOUR IN EAST

R. W. E. Burnaby Will Further Attempt to Cement Industry.

BUSINESS DEVELOPING

Romantic Results Have So Far Attended Endeavors of Ontario's Representative.

By J. HARLES STEAD

(Special to The Examiner, Copyright)

TORONTO, June 18.—The Dominion of Canada extends over three thousand miles from coast to coast but its eleven provinces are being drawn closer and closer by bonds of friendship and industry.

An outstanding example of this is the relation between Ontario and the Maritime provinces made possible through the offices of the Maritime Trade Commissioner in Toronto, R. W. E. Burnaby.

The interests of the Maritimes could not be in better hands than those of this energetic and conscientious worker. In the few months that the Commissionership has been established millions of dollars worth of business have gone to the Maritime provinces from Ontario.

Questioned about his recent trip to the Maritimes Mr. Burnaby was positive in his assurance of its success.

"We have appointed a representative in Prince Edward Island and in New Brunswick" he said "and are at present considering applications for a representative in Nova Scotia.

Start Tour on 25th

"About the 25th of June I am going to make another tour of the Maritimes with these three representatives and will make personal calls on all producers.

"One of our big jobs is the placing of large orders. Sometimes we may get orders for many carloads of a certain product and to fill the complete order we have to place parts of it with several producers.

"We have requests about many different products of the Maritimes. I have placed orders for carloads of lumber, clothes-pins and at least one order for canned goods.

"One firm to whm we gave information in regard to eastern lumber was able to do business with firms in the Maritimes for half a million dollars and were so pleased with results that they have now established a resident agent in Truro, N.S.

"Another difficulty is that firms who do business through information received from us sometimes do not let us know that they have been successful. One case in particular is that of a Toronto firm who did over half a million dollars worth of business through information received from us before we knew of their success.

"I have just sent out a letter to the Maritimes for an Ontario firm who wish to secure 22 carloads a year of white birch furniture squares."

To make sure that he was understood Mr. Burnaby demonstrated on a chair what he meant by furniture squares pointing to the legs and cross-bars.

The office of the Commissioner is a busy one and the inquiries elicited that over 600 tourists a week who wished to visit the Maritimes were given information. The Canadian Good Roads Convention to be held in Fredericton in September was given to that city partly through the efforts of the Commissioner.

The Maritimes have an energetic and conscientous worker in R. W. E. Burnaby and trade relations between them and Ontario will go ahead rapidly under his supervision.

DOME

Accumulation of Dome continues and Saturday saw shares reach $10.25, the first time the $10 mark has been crossed since New York's severe break carried it from $10.50 about May 1 to $9.25 low on May 15. At the time of previous upswing gossip was that New York pool was in control of market and that $15 price level was goal aimed at.

The "Three Musketeers" of modern France, Armento Lotti, Jr., Rene Lefevre and Jean Assolant, together with Arthur Schreiber, the Portland stowaway, and a live ten-inch crocodile, passengers of Lotti's Yellow Bird, swept down from the sky and landed at Comillas, near Santander, Spain, on June 14, after having successfully made the "hop" across the Atlantic from Old Orchard, Me. The gasoline tanks were almost empty, and after refueling continued to Paris. Layout shows (1) Jean Assolant, pilot, and Pauline Parker of New York, who were married in Old Orchard following a whirlwind courtship of four days. (2) The Yellow Bird in which the Transatlantic flight was made. (3) Armento Lotti, Jr., son of the famous Paris hotel owner, and owner of the Yellow Bird. (4) Rene Lefevre, co-pilot, and (5) Arthur Schreiber, boy stowaway from Portland, Me., who sneaked aboard the airplane just before it took off.

IN MEMORIAM

NICHOLAS. — In sad and loving memory of our dear little Bobbie, whom God called home two years ago; June 17, 1927.

I, who loved you, sadly miss you,
As it dawns another year.
In my lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of you are ever near.
No one knows the silent heartaches,
Only those who have lost can tell
Of a grief that is borne in silence
For the one we loved so well.

To-night the stars are gleaming
Upon a lonely grave
Where our little darling is sleeping;
One we loved, but could not save.

SERIOUS FIRE IS NARROWLY AVERTED

Neighbors Subdue Blaze in Back Kitchen of Roland Payne's House.

WARSAW, June 18 (Examiner Correspondence)). — A very serious fire in Roland Payne's house was averted on Friday when the children returning from school saw smoke coming from the back kitchen, and gave a warning of fire just in time to save serious damage being done.

Constable Henry Clements, who was among the first to arrive on the scene, said that in five minutes more it would have been almost impossible to save the house. There was a small hole in the pipe, and it is supposed the wind blew the flame back, and started the fire. Mrs. Payne was in the front of the house, unconscious of the near disaster.

Accident Occurs.

Constable Henry Clements received a call to go north to examine a collision just beyond William Batten's, on Friday evening. It appears two cars met, the one from the south driving in a new sedan, without his lights but the one from the north had lights. From what Constable Clements could find by measuring racks, the driver of the car from the north was driving straight on his half of the road, and the driver of the car from the south had suddenly turned to the right, and the two met. Both cars were somewhat damaged, the one having lights the more, and the young lady in it complained of her side being injured. Constable Clements arranged a settlement about the damages and his fee, with a pretty stiff warning to the driver of the car to have his lights going hereafter.

To Hold Special Day.

The United Church Ladies' Aid committee met at the parsonage to arrange for the Mothers and Babies Day to be held on the last Thursday of the month. All mothers with their babies under four years of age, are invited.

Hold Meetings.

The Warsaw School Fair Committee met in Warsaw School on Wednesday evening. The Anglican Ladies' Guild met at Mrs. John Payne's home on Wednesday evening to discuss matters relative to the strawberry social.

W.M.S. Meets.

The United Church W.M.S. met in the Sunday School Room on Thursday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. George Taylor, in the chair. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. W. S. Anderson acted in this capacity. Mrs. Allan Taylor, a life member of Knox Church, Lakefield, W.M.S., was present and was introduced by Mrs. David Taylor. Rev. H. B. Herrington continued his lessons on Africa, taking up a study of the people of Bie, under four heads—first, Ignorance, in dress, sanitation, health, education. They could not even count beyond the numbers of their fingers and toes; second, Superstition, a far-off God, the spirits of the dead, the good and the evil spirits, magic, fear of evil spirits; third, Cheapness of Life, the change that came gradually with the missionaries; fourth, Enlightenment, church, school, agriculture, and the hospitals.

Mrs. George Taylor was appointed to go to the Whitby W.M.S. School in July. Mrs. David Taylor, convenor of Group D, took the latter part. Mrs. Harry Garbutt and Mrs. Stewart Clydesdale gave a duet, and Mrs. James Hawthorne a piano solo. Group D provided the refreshments.

ARGUMENT WAGED OVER ASSISTANTS

Committee Would Dismiss Corn Borer Inspectors For Durham County.

COBOURG, June 18 (By Staff Reporter)—George Hooton's Agricultural committee was inclined to indulge its sarcasm last night at the fight on the corn borer in Durham county, requiring an inspector and three assistants.

"We are being organized into the poor house," said Reeve M. J. Holman..

"I don't know what they did in March, but they drew about $100 and they couldn't have got very well started."

Reeve Hooton (Cavan) informed the committee that D. J. Gibson, the county inspector in the 1929 drive on the insidious borer, asked for three assistants, and apparently the chairman and Warden Wood had no other recourse but to acquiesce in the recruiting of reinforcements, the assistants receiving $7 a day.

Deputy-Reeve C. H. Curtis(Percy) moved, seconded by J. S. Perrin, Reeve of South Monaghan, that the committee "recommends the payment of these assistants up to the present, and that their service be discontinued; also that a committee be appointed to enquire into and report on the authority of the council with respect to the appointment of corn borer inspectors."

Mr. Curtis explained that he was not reflecting in any way on the Warden and the chairman. They had done what the county inspector had requested under the statute, "but we do not approve of the appointment of so many inspectors."

Mr. Hooton said he did not think the inspectors could be dismissed without the sanction of the Department of Agriculture.

"There doesn't seem to be much that we can do," remarked J. Mills, Reeve of Brighton village.

"Only pay them," Mr. Hooton replied.

Ernest Seeds, inspector for Northumberland county, asked for one assistant.

NO SPEAKER AT ROTARY LUNCHEON

Good Program Provided By Members at Weekly Gathering of Campbellford Club.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 18 (Examiner Staff Correspondence).—There was no special speaker at the Rotary luncheon yesterday, but the local members filled in the time generally alotted to this part of the program. Two members were absent, Rev. "Bob" Tait in Napanee, and Earl Greig, who is presiding at the Warkworth examinations. Another new member was added to the roll.

In the absence of a speaker, President Bruce Longmore suggested that Elie Brunelle, D. W. Douglas and James Loucks speak on the opening of the Royal York Hotel and the conventions which they had attended. Elie Brunelle was the first to speak. He apparently was not at the Royal York opening ceremony, because his address came in the form of a recitation; "Johnny Courteau" (Drummond). Brunelle is himself a Frenchman and his natural interpretation of the poem won him much applause. Part way through the recitation, his fellow Rotarians burst into an enthusiastic round of clapping. At the conclusion, there was the same stamp of approval.

Jim Loucks, so the president said, had attended a convention and was asked to sketch the event briefly. But he had nothing to say about it. Don Douglas said he had hoped to get to the Royal York opening, but since he had not made the grade, he would tell the members about his dream of being there. He had been met at the door by Willingdon, his old friend, who had been waiting anxiously for him to arrive and hastened him off to find Beatty, also a former very close friend. Beatty had been interested to know how Don was getting along and had been told that he was trying to peddle Ford cars. The railway official asked him if he would like to better his position, and Don said he did. His new position was just about to materialize when he woke up.

President Bruce reminded the club that the Oshawa club's street fair was being held this Wednesday and suggested that a good representation from this town attend and see how it was run. N. Alex MacColl apologized for not having secured a speaker for the day, but gave as his excuse the fact that he had been busy with church affairs. He had hoped to have a speaker from Cobourg but had not been able to make arrangements for him till next week. He had also tried to get a speaker from Belleville, but his request had been late and it had not been possible. The question was asked whether or not an employee who had been off duty through illnass and then took his regular vacation, should be paid for the time lost. After some discussion it was decided that circumstances and the sense of justice of the employer should be the ruling factor.

It was not definitely decided, but the suggestion to cancel the meeting for Monday, July 1, was generally favored. A motion to purchase a Union Jack and an American flag was also passed. Whether or not a Rotary wheel will be placed at the entrances of the town along the main roads, was left with the committee. Rotary cards containing general information as to the luncheon days, etc., of the local club are to be printed and deposited in the summer resorts in the disirict in order that visiting Rotarians may take advantage of the hospitality of the club here.

MINISTER IS 83 YEARS OLD

Rev. Joseph Wilkes Celebrates Birthday in Millbrook.

IN POOR HEALTH.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, June 18. — Rev. Joseph Wilks, who is held in high esteem not only locally but throughout a wide district beyond community boundaries, celebrated his 83rd birthday of Friday, June 14th. a number of citizens of all denominations calling personally to extend congratulations and good wishes, while several church organizations and private individuals sent flowers and other gifts and greetings.

Although in recent weeks, Rev. Mr. Wilks has not been in robust health the many friends who called on Thursday, were delighted to find him able to be up practically all day until early evening and to enjoy, in his usual appreciative manner, the opportunity for a social chat with his visitors and to personally acknowledge the good wishes extended, and express his gratitude for the felicitations so genuinely and thoughtfully made known.

Connected with the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church for over 50 years, Rev. Mr. Wilks has had a wide and varied experience, first in Canada, and later in many of the States of the Union, engaging in a number of movements for national uplift, and spending four years in active missionary service in Portuguese West Africa. Thirteen years ago he returned to Canada and settled in Millbrook, where he is connected with the United Church, but has given such willing and consecrated service that all denominations have learned to love and honor him not alone in the community but in the towns and rural centres in the surrounding district as well.

Among the many who remembered Rev. Mr. Wilks on his birthday were the official board of the United Church; the Ladies' Aid Society, which sent flowers; the Wide Awakes group Canadian Girls in Training, who contributed flowers and a shower of birthday cards; the Trail Rangers, who along with their heartiest congratulations sent a 'Round Robin' in the form of a poem, with eighteen signatures; Carmel Sunday school brought one dozen beautiful poems, and with the Young Peoples' Society of the same church sent warm congratulations; the Millbrook United Church Sunday school, through its superintendent, W. Fred Fallis, added its very hearty good wishes, as did the many personal callers, among them being a former pastor, Rev. F. H. Howard and Mrs. Howard of Warkworth; Rev. W. W. and Mrs. Jones, and family; Mr. and Mrs. Fred McMahon, who brought with them a handsome potted plant, and many from the other two churches of the community.

On account of Rev. Mr. Walks' absence from the regular Sunday services, and the fact that the benediction of his presence is missed from week to week, the official board of the church, through the secretary of the session, Dr. A. Jemison, sent the following letter of sympathy, the date preceding the one when birthday congratulations were extended:

Rev. Joseph Wilks, Millbrook:

Dear Brother: I have been instructed by the official board of our church to express to you our appreciation of the great benefit you have constantly been to the congregation and to the community, during the time you have made your home among us, by your judgment, by your work, by your example, and we have no doubt at all, by your prayers; and to assure you of our prayerful sympathy, and sincere wish for the comfort and health of both you and Mrs. Wilks.

Signed on behalf of the Official Board of the United Church,

A. JEMISON,
Session's Secretary.

Warsaw

Mr. John Rose and Mr. Alex Rose left on Friday to motor to Kingston to attend the funeral of Mr. Rose's brother-in-law, Mr. Urick.

Mr. Craig, provincial detective, stayed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clements, while attending the trial in Peterborough.

Mrs. A. F. Choate had a bad fall in her home at the lake, and has been laid up with an injured ankle for more than a week.

Mr. Rayfield Darling, who has been off duty for some weeks with an infected hand, is now well on the road to recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Digweed left early on Thursday morning for a motor trip to Toronto.

The growth of fall grains and hay, where they were not drowned out, is wonderful.

Mr. Cephas Payne sprayed several orchards recently.

The foliage is very dense and fewer caterpillars are seen this year than usual. Some farmers have been unable to get their corn ground ready, and are not going to try it; others are putting it in, even if late.

Two things to be dealt with this session are the Old Age Pensions Committee and a school inspector. These are out of the ordinary.

Heavy Damage To Bridges.

Warden Wood referred to the damage done to bridges by the spring freshets, and particularly mentioned the Orland bridge on the Campbellford-Brighton road. The contract for its reconstruction had been let to the Ontario Bridge Company, and should be under way in a week or so.

The County Road Commission was experimenting with a road material called "tarvia mulch," in the villages of Blackstock, Coldsprings and Baltimore.

"We visited Simcoe, where it is in use, and seems to be giving good satisfaction. It costs about $1,200 a mile. We are putting on a total of two miles in these three little villages.

"We have been in touch with adjoining councils, and found that they supplied their county roads superintendents with a car. If we bought a car for our superintendent the Government would pay half the cost of it. I feel sure that in the course of a year a car would pay for itself, because every time the County Roads Commission would go out it would use the counties' car. I think it would be a good proposition to buy a car for our superintendent.

"We have let contracts, with the Government's approval, for paved roads in Brighton, Colborne, and Warkworth. We have not yet heard from the Government regarding contracts for similar work in Cobourg, Newcastle and Orono. Also nothing has been done yet about Port Hope.

"When we were advertising for tenders we included the 3½ miles from Millbrook to the Provincial highway. That section was laid down in the program of work during the next four years, although it was not decided on for this year. But, as the Dufferin Construction Company is working so near, we thought we would get a very advantageous price. As a matter of fact the price they tender is from $2,000 to $2,500 less a mile than for any other offer we got for a black surface road in a new locality. It is about $20,000 a mile, and the lowest we got from a contractor going into a new place was $22,500 a mile.

"Of course it is up to the County Council to decide, but it looks like good business to do that work now as we would save about $9,000, and the Council intends to pave that piece of road in the next three or four years. It would have a six-inch base and black surface, the same as the Provincial highway."

Debentures Sold.

The Finance Committee with Reeve M. J. Holman of Clarke, presiding, accepted the bid of Wood, Gundy & Co., for the debentures issued to pay for last year's paving program. The block of debentures amounted to $125,734.46. They are for twenty years and pay five per cent.

Wood, Gundy's price was $98.08, the highest of nine bids. The next best was $97.18 by Harris, McKeen & Co., and the lowest $95 by J. L. Graham & Co.

C. M. Finkle, reeve of Colborne, moved the acceptance of the Wood, Gundy & Co., bid. Reeve Harnden of Haldimand, seconded it.

Reeve Hickson of Bowmanville, said his town had sold debentures three months ago for $96.03, and J. F. Rosevear commented that Port Hope had accepted $98 six months ago.

Warden Wood said that the Wood, Gundy & Co. price was very good, considering the prevailing market.

Mr. Willmott (Cobourg) — Not a municipality in the province got par in the last year.

Financial Statement.

The statement of the counties' finances, as prepared by E. L. MacNachtan, shows a bank balance of $88,000, a debenture debt of $20,825.98, which matures in 1936, also bank loans 531.17, owing the Ontario Government for provincial highways. This is regarded as a highly gratifying condition.

1928 Road Expenditure.

The Ontario Department of Highways reported a total expenditure of $359,777.43 on the roads in the two counties in 1928; and the government's grant on this work was $178,877.63.

Details of the expenditure on county roads were as follows: road superintendence, $4,300.05; road construction, $43,207.18; urban improvement construction, $222,485.92, and maintenance, $4,419.38; bridge construction, $27,621.18; maintenance and repairs, $38,173.13; machinery, $17,518.45; total $357,725.27.

SALVATION ARMY CONDUCTS SERVICES

(Examiner Staff Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, June 16. — Over the week end, Campbellford has enjoyed a visit from the silver band of the Peterborough Salvation Army. This was not by any means the first visit of this well-known group of musicians to this town. But it was quite evident that their popularity had not decreased. On Saturday evening and on Sunday at various times the band played on the streets and in one of the local churches. Crowds attended wherever the music was being played. Many of those who listened were heard to remark on the wonderfully tuneful music with the silvery tone which the band as a unit produced. Although marches were a part of their program, there was a noticeable lack of the blaring music of the military band. The Salvationists seemed more interested in producing a melodious harmony, which was at once pleasing and entertaining. Practically every member of the unit is also a singer and their singing while on the march won almost as much praise as their playing.

The band arrived on Saturday evening, coming from Peterborough by motor. Their week-end program opened with a street parade in the evening and a short concert at the intersection of Front and Bridge streets. Sunday morning there was a second concert, and in the afternoon they played the Orangemen of L.O.L. 526 and visiting brethren to St. Andrew's church, where Ensign Green was the preacher for the service. The music was furnished by the band. They were also at the Presbyterian church in the evening and presented a program of special music.

The visits of the Peterborough Salvation Army Band to Campbellford have become almost history in this town. The band, as a musical organization, has won a high place in the favor of the townspeople, and their visits are welcomed by large congregations and audiences, and not a little financial assistance.

LUMBER STEAMER WRECKED DURING PACIFIC GALE

PORTLAND, Ore., June 8.—(C.P.)—The rescue of 24 members of the crew of the lumber steamer Laurel and the loss of one life was reported early to-day by life saving crews near the mouth of the Columbia river, where the ship was broken in two yesterday by a storm. The gale played havoc with shipping along the Oregon-California coast.

Reports from the life savers said the fate of eight others on the wreck of the laurel still was in doubt. The remaining eight were believed to be on the stern half of the vessel which is on a sand pit half a mile off the north jetty at the mouth of the river.

SOCIETIES HOLD JOINT MEETING

General Business Discussed at Meeting of Cavan W.M.S. and Ladies' Aid.

GOOD PROGRAM.

CAVAN, June 18.—Examiner Correspondence.—A joint meeting of the Cavan W.M.S. and Ladies' Aid was held at Mrs. H. Snider's home on Thursday afternoon.

The president of the Ladies' Aid, Mrs. A. B. Kennedy, conducted the devotional exercises and Mrs. Ray Syer was the pianist. Thanks were expressed to the Aid for flowers sent to a member while in Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough.

The financial secretary's report was read and adopted. Mrs. Carpenter, convenor of the flower committee, gave a report, stating that three members who were ill had been remembered during the month.

Mrs. F. M. Staples reported for the parsonage committee, in which it was shown that a pair of pillow cases, a table cloth and a pair of towels needed to be purchased and placed in the parsonage before the arrival of the new pastor.

It was decided that the parsonage committee should be authorized to buy these articles. The president announced that the induction of the new pastor would take place on the evening of July 2 at 7.30, followed by a circuit reception. A discussion followed concerning the lunch to be served.

It was decided that Cavan ladies should furnish sandwiches, tea, sugar and cream, and request the ladies from Ebenezer to bring cake and the Mount Pleasant ladies to bring tarts.

It was also decided to withdraw the Ladies' Aid meeting in July and August.

Ten dollars was voted to be given to the Fresh Air Fund in Toronto, which assists needy mothers and children to enjoy a two weeks' vacation at Bronte.

The September meeting will be in charge of Group F.

W.M.S.

The president of the W.M.S., Mrs. R. S. Staples, then took charge of the missionary program when there was a discussion concerning the annual missionary bale. The blocks for the quilt were handed in and Mrs. Snider and Mrs. W. Seymour consented to put the blocks together. Mrs. R. S. Staples offered the hospitality of her home for a quilting on Wednesday afternoon, July 2.

Any member having good second hand clothing was asked to bring it and any needed repairs for it. The clothing will be put in good order and what is not needed for the missionary bale will be sent to some other worthy institution where good use can be made of it.

It was decided to have a pot luck supper on the evening of July 31, each lady to bring one thing for the supper, also a plate, cup and spoon for each one who attends from each home, and a program will be prepared. The place of the meeting to be announced later.

A leaflet, "Money Speaks" was read by Mrs. Ray Syer and "Is Tithing Practical?" was read by Mrs. Carpenter.

Mrs. F. M. Staples took the fourth chapter of the study book after which the president closed the meeting.

Among those present were: Mrs. Milton Carr, Mrs. Will Douglas, Mrs. John Staples, Mrs. A. B. Kennedy, Mrs. Will Seymour, Mrs. Readhead, Mrs. J. Keegan, Mrs. Will Tinney, Mrs. Snider, Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. C. Carr, Mrs. W. Pritchard, Mrs. J. W. Perrin, Mrs. F. M. Staples, Mrs. R. S. Staples and Mrs. A. B. Kennedy

DAINTY WOMEN ARE ELEPHANT TRAINERS

Three Girls At Sparks Circus Put Huge Beasts Through "Stunts."

Three dainty women work the three herds of Sparks elephants this season. These ladies are Ruby Hoyt, Polly Watkins, and Ethel Lewis.

Sparks elephants are known in the show business as the most intelligent pachyderms now performing before the public. They are never temperamental, which of itself may seem rather unusual, as most of them are females. However, in justice to the sex, it must be admitted that whatever may be said of it as regards other species of the animal kingdom, including the human family, the female elephant is not nearly as temperamental as the male. The lady elephant usually acts like a lady at all times, but the male sometimes is subject to tantrums, fits of the sulks, and other traits which make him very disagreeable. In which respect he is not at all unlike man, the lady trainers with Sparks Circus have been heard to remark.

Intelligent as the elephant is, his training requires the utmost patience. It is a long, tedious task, but once the beasts have learned what is wanted of them, "they know their stuff," and except in unusual cases are ready to do it.

The three herds of elephants in which is a group of baby elephants, bring up the rear of Sparks big circus parade, which is the longest in the world. The parade hour is promptly at 11 a.m. on Circus Day. Coming to Peterborough on Monday, June 24.

Tickets, both general admission and reserved, can be secured on Circus Day at Bond's Drug Store, same price as at the show grounds.

Will Complete Highway Within Next Two Weeks

(Special to Examiner)

LINDSAY, June 18.—Motorists will be interested in the announcement that the paving of the highway from Lindsay to Toronto will be completed in a few weeks. It had been hoped that permanent work would also have been undertaken this spring on the Lindsay-Peterborough highway. But the Highways Department considered it wiser to withhold contracts this year until the work untertaken last year and under completion this year had settled properly.

On the Lindsay-Toronto highway, the link between the villages of Oakwood and Manilla has been completed. On the remaining unpaved stretch between Manilla and Blackwater Junction there are three construction outfits laying concrete.

On the Lindsay-Peterborough highway three construction outfits are at work grading, widening and shaping stretches of the road and cutting down hills. There are a number of detours as a result, and these will be on the greater part of the summer.

Why there is no substitute for ENO

Because
ENO's "Fruit Salt" is recognized by the people of every nation as the finest, safest, and most pleasant laxative aid to good health.

Because
ENO first thing every morning is the natural way to ensure internal cleanliness—to eliminate waste matter which causes acid poisoning and intestinal toxicity.

Because
ENO contains only those ingredients which are acceptable to all systems—no purgative mineral salts, no sugar, no flavoring matter.

Because
ENO is non-habit forming, therefore quite safe for anyone to use.

Because
ENO, wherever bought is always the same perfect product, unvarying in quality, composition and purity, and untouched by hand during manufacture.

Because
ENO has triumphed over every test of time and usage—for over sixty years it has been the standard saline laxative. ENO has many imitators but no rival! So if you are offered a substitute refuse it and insist on ENO.

DE FOREST DEALERS HOLD CONVENTION

First Convention To Be Held in Royal York sponsored By De Forest Crosley Company.

The first convention to be held in the new Royal York Hotel, Toronto, was that of De Forest Crosley, Limited, manufacturers of De Forest Crosley radios.

The convention was unique in a number of ways. It was not only the first to be held in the Royal York, but started on the first day the new hotel was opened to the public. It was held by the largest radio manufacturers in the British Empire in the largest hotel in the British Empire. And it was the largest convention of radio dealers ever held in Canada.

Between 400 and 500 radio dealers gathered in the beautiful convention hall of the Royal York on the morning of June 12 for the two-day session. The business meetings were devoted to the presentation of the new De Forest Crosley line and of De Forest Crosley sales and advertising plans for the coming season.

The convention was opened by Major James E. Hahn, President of De Forest Crosley, who outlined the growth and wonderful future of radio and the policies which have contributed to De Forest Crosley success.

Other speakers at the meetings were D. H. Pollitt, Managing Director of De Forest Crosley, who laid particular emphasis on the amazing growth of the De Forest Crosley business which has shown large increases in sales every year, 1928 sales being over four times those of 1924, their first year; A. L. Ainsworth, Vice-President; H. Napier-Moore, Editor of MacLean's Magazine; A. J. Felton, Vice-President, Alexander Hamilton Institute; C. H. Browne, Sales Manager, De Forest Crosley; and J. A. Lowden, Advertising Manager.

The convention reached its climax at the dinner on the evening of June 13th, where over a thousand guests listened to short addresses from Mayor Samuel McBride of Toronto; General Draper, and executive officers of the company. This was followed by a brilliant stage revue which brought to the Royal York leading acts from Toronto theatres.

Bolton Town, England, has approved a town extension plan that will cost more than $3,000,000.

FENELON SCHOOL BOARD RESIGNS

Result of Argument With Council Over Continuation School Improvements.

TENDERS CALLED.

(Special to Examiner)

LINDSAY, June 18.—The school board of the village of Fenelon Falls has resigned in a body as a result of an argument with the village council over proposed improvements to the continuation school.

Some time ago the board instructed J. T. Hornsby, architect, of Peterborough to prepare plans and specifications in connection with proposed and much-needed improvements to the school. The building had outlived its usefulness and the board was faced with two problems —improving and modernizing the structure or lose the government grant.

The council early in May, passed a by-law providing for the issue of debentures to the amount of $31,000 for the necessary improvements. After tenders for the contract had been called, it was found that the estimates were too low, and a demand was made for further funds. The council decided to call a citizens' meeting before taking further action, and on receiving notice to this effect, the board immediately resigned.

PARENT OF BACKER CLOTHES STOWAWAY

PARIS, June 18 (Canadian Press). — The desire of Arthur Schreiber, stowaway on the Transatlantic plane "Yellow Bird," for "presentable" clothes materialized to-day when 'Father' Lotti, parent of the financial backer of the flight, discovered him wandering about the corridors of the hotel, attired just as he was when he hid in the plane's tail.

He was taken in hand with more or less despatch by his host, who put one of young Lotti's clean shirts on him, one of his spare suits, and a spare pair of shoes. He was taken downstairs then to be photographed with the flyers and Lotti, Sr.

He occupied the centre of the picture, remaining in the foreground while the photographers were working and during the flyers' brief interview with the press. Jean Assolant, Rene Lefevre, and Armeno Lotti took their honors modestly and seemed quite satisfied to allow their stolen passenger to take the lead.

They even remained silent while the youngster went into a technical explanation of the details of the flight, dwelling particularly on the fact there remained no gas aboard when the machine landed on Spanish soil.

FISH SALES IN MARITIMES SHOW BIG INCREASE IN 1928

Ontario and Quebec are Seeking Their Fish Supply from the Eastern Provinces

OTTAWA, June 18 — Maritime province people increased their fish sales in other parts of Canada last year. By express and freight they sent to Quebec and Ontario, and points west of Ontario, a total of 39,602,129 pounds of fish of various kinds as compared with 38,440,481 pounds in 1927. Their shipments to the United States by rail also increased from 16,432,735 pounds in 1927 to 17,858,485 pounds last year. The total increase in express and freight shipments of fish to points outside the Maritime Provinces was nearly 2,600,000 pounds.

Quebec took 20,175,822 pounds but that was nearly 2,000,000 pounds less than in 1927. On the other hand, the shipments to Ontario were 1,956,941 pounds above the 1927 total and reached 14,147,895 pounds, while to points west of Ontario 5,278,412 pounds were forwarded as against 1,109,000 pounds less than that in the year before.

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

DULL GENIUS.

A certain number of dull minded children are born annually. The statisticians put it at about two percent. Often this dullness does not show until the child goes to school and is asked to maintain the pace and cover the same course of study as a bright minded child. Of course that is impossible. The reports go home. The tests are given. The child is pronounced dull minded. What then?

Sometimes a teacher or a child expert of one sort or another, tells the distressed parents not to worry. He may be a genius. Look at Edison. He was not such a bright boy either. And Dickens. And Darwin. Hosts of bright people failed in the schools.

That is quite true. Hosts of bright people failed in some phases of school work but it is infinitely truer that they succeeded beyond all other pupils or students in other phases. It is very likely that their great powers so overshadowed their lesser ones that they appeared at disadvantage.

A very casual examination by a good psychollgist would tell very definitely if a child were very bright or very dull. There need be no question about it. No one need be deceived as to the genius of a child who is dull. There is no such thing as a dull genius. The famous men who are described as dull schoolboys were undoubtedly a trial to the teachers of the old style—and would be so to-day for schools have not changed radically since Edison went to classes—but the dullness would not be properly ascribed to the student. He was never dull. Just different.

If you happen to have a dull-minded child to teach or train, lose no time in dreaming that he is a genius. If he is, you won't have to bother much about him. If he is truly dull you will need all your resources to meet his need. He will require special training by specially trained teachers. If his dullness is very marked he will need to be placed in a special school. To delay the training of backward children in the belief that they may turn out to be wonder children is a terrible mistake. These are the children who can least afford to lose time. Their training must be immediate and definite. Their power must be caught at its full tide or it is likely to flow out, never to return.

When you find that a child cannot accept school routine, school work, school education, as other children do, be suspicious. Have that child tested by the best possible specialist and try to interpret his findings for the good of the child.

It is very hard to accept the fact that a child is not as bright as his mates, but it is often the case when the report cards indicate deficiency again and again. If a child can do he will do, except in unusual circumstances and these can always be promptly adjusted. But please, there is no such thing as a dull genius.

That Body of Yours

(By Jas. W. Barton, M.D.)

FIFTY YEARS OF PROGRESS.

The Flu swept through your district the past autumn and winter season and left grief in the homes of many.

It has been estimated that from 30 to 40 per cent. of the entire population had the Flu in a mild or severe form.

As you think of this, and remember also that the scourge, cancer, still takes its terrible toll of lives, you wonder how much progress the medical profession is really making.

And yet it would be well if we would recall the words of the speaker at fiftieth anniversary of a University recently. "Pasteur has proved the germ theory of disease and physicians now know how to fight or ward off these organisms.

Lister has taught us how to mak surgery safe. Before this time, the majority of patients died after operations

Smallpox and typhoid fever are banished by preventive vaccination. The hundreds of thousands that were swept off the earth by these scouragesis theria and scarlet fever can be prevented, or cured if contracted.

If thyroid or other ductless gland is deficient in its work ,the condition can be helped by glandular extracts."

Hospitals are now eagerly sought by thousands of patients with no fear or dread any more, because they have proven their worth.

And when you remember that practically all this progress has come about during the latter part of the last century and the first part of this, then you are willing to be a little patient with research physicians in their search for the cause of cancer and for a preventive of Flu.

Further many who are wealthy are now giving of their means to enable gifted and enthusiastic physicians to give their entire time to this research work.

WHEN A CHILD IS FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract.

When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont. It will be sent FREE.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

School Children's Eyes

Many children are held back by faulty eyesight. Have their eyes examined—their condition may need correcting, to avoid weakness or strain of the sight.

WHILE attending a meeting a few evenings ago, I was surprised to find a great many so-called "knockers." It seemed to me there were too many for the good of that organization.

* * * * * * *

There was some subject up for discussion—one of vital importance to the whole organization. The cause was an excellent one and had everyone been in favor of it, it would have been carried out very successfully.

* * * * * * *

But no, there were too many "knockers" and the issue did not receive the whole-hearted support of the members as it should have.

* * * * * * *

Of course there are always some people who could not, for anything agree with whatever any one else did or said. It seems, somehow, to be a second nature to them and I suppose it becomes a second nature to the rest to expect this from them.

* * * * * * *

No matter what is being discussed these "knockers" cannot see any good in it, nor can they make a suggestion themselves. They have none to offer and there are none which they would approve.

* * * * * * *

This seems to become a sort of habit, I suppose, but surely it is bad enough that when one finds himself becoming like this, to hesitate and think things over.

* * * * * * *

And have you ever noticed that a chronic "knocker" is always a grouch? Invariably this is the case and so this is another reason why we should not let this terrible habit get possession of us.

* * * * * * *

It has been said that the chronic "knocker" has become that way through being ill-treated at one time by some individual person and so he has taken a spiteful attitude toward everyone and everything.

* * * * * * *

And the sad part of this is that these people do not stop to figure out just how absurd this whole matter is.

* * * * * * *

Have you ever attended a women's meeting in Peterborough, when a tea is being discussed? There are those who are unwilling to take part; who see the hard work in it and who cannot see the bright side.

* * * * * * *

How I would like to talk with these people! I believe I might be able to convince them—some of them at any rate. Sometimes the discussion becomes rather 'heated' and this makes everyone uncomfortable.

* * * * * * *

"Knockers" never have a word of encouragement for the other fellow who is trying his best to make things successful. Always wearing a grouchy expression, they hinder rather than help.

* * * * * * *

Bishop Joseph F. Berry, D.D., once told of a friend he had who was a knocker in the extreme. Here is the description he gives and I believe it would fit for some we have here in Peterborough, perhaps not to such a degree.

* * * * * * *

"My! how this knocker knocks! How he loves his hammer! And with what vengeance he wields the destructive tool!"

* * * * * * *

I am sure that persons like this would not have many friends. It is the person who is always ready to lend a helping hand, who cheers, who pushes, who uplifts, who has many friends.

* * * * * * *

The next time you get a chance, just watch those who are the "boosters." You will notice how their smile encourages, their great courage and their willingness to serve.

* * * * * * *

Just to watch such people makes one feel like following in their footsteps. Whether such people are the head ones of the organization or not, thy work to the best of their ability.

* * * * * * *

In the office there is a little slogan hanging on the wall, entitled "Boost' 'and, which says:

* * * * * * *

"A good thing to remember,
And a better thing to do,
Is work with the construction gang,
Not with the wreckin' crew."

—Maurine Hatheway.

This week's help gives diagram pattern and working directions for a charming little poke bonnet that can easily be made from heavy linen or pique.

By a very simple alteration of the measurements of the diagram the hat may be made to fit any head size. For your copy of this help, fill the coupon and enclose with it a two-cent stamp.

In many of the letters which I receive, I notice that the writer points out the fact that the children are to bed and everything is quiet so she can write.

* * * * * * *

Many housewives look forward to this quiet hour at night, not only to do any correspondence, but just to meditate over the day's happenings.

* * * * * * *

In many cases it is wiser to forget these and then again there are some things which we can fondly remember with pleasure. It is nice to have company around all the time, I suppose, but many of us like to be by ourselves.

* * * * * * *

Someone has said that a crowd is not company and faces are but a gallery of pictures. Have you ever thought of it in that way?

* * * * * * *

Perhaps this person is right in one way—but we all like to have our own family around us and we do think of them as more than just 'company' don't we? Their faces, too, are more than just pictures.

* * * * * * *

But just a quiet hour at night, when there is no one to talk to, is always welcomed by the tired housewife. It helps to quieten the nerves and rest the body.

* * * * * * *

"Why should we faint and fear to live alone,
Since all alone, so Heaven has willed, we die,
Nor even the tenderest heart and next our own
Knows half the reasons why we smile and sigh."

—Keble.

OLD SONGS

THAT PIECE OF SONG,
That old and antique song we heard, last night.

"My Heart Is With You Tonight"

(Contributed by "Unity")

I'm dreaming of you tonight dear one;
Just you and the long ago,
As here in the gloaming, all alone,
I gaze in the firelight's glow
In dreams your dear face I see,
In dreams you are still wil me.

Chorus

My heart is with you tonight
No matter where you may be
All the time I think of you
And wonder if you think of me
In fancy once more I live
All those happy bygone days
My heart is with you tonight love
My heart is with you always.

I treasured a rose you gave to me
A beautiful rose of red
It brings back the garden of our dreams
Although like the past, 'tis dead.
I wonder if you regret
I wonder if you forget?

Some day you may know my love for you
Although we are far apart
My soul will be ever calling you
Forever and aye sweetheart
I'm hoping though hope seems vain
To see your dear face again.

FAVORITE RECIPE.

SUNSHINE CAKE

Beat 1 tablespoon shortening, 2-3 cup sugar, 3 egg yolks, to a cream. Add 2-3 cup milk and 1 teaspoon flavoring. Sift two cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt. Add to other ingredients. This cake may be baked in muffin pans, loaf or layer cake pans. Use icing made of icing sugar, mixed with hot water and a teaspoon of butter, teaspoon flavoring and a few drops of coloring. This icing makes a very pretty finish to the cake.

WATERPROOF WARE.

Earthenware vases or bowls that are not watertight can be made so by shellacing inside and out. Sometimes putting paraffin inside and standing the dish in a warm place will fill the porous bottom, waterproofing it.

FRUIT GARNISH.

Halves of canned peaches or apricots, filled with freshly cooked rhubarb, make a delectable garnish for grilled ham or veal steak.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA TORTURED HER FOR 7 YEARS

"I wouldn't take $10,000 to feel as I did before I got Tanlac," writes Mrs. Gertrude Lupson, 33 Becker St., London, Ont. "I don't believe any woman ever suffered more than I did from Nervous Dyspepsia. I would go all day without nourishment and suffered so with chest pains and dizzy spells that I could not sleep. Many days, I was so weak I could not get out of bed.

"A druggist advised me to try Tanlac, and all the money in London could not buy the good it has done me. I gained 37 pounds; the chest pains disappeared. I eat three hearty meals a day and never have a dizzy spell. My nerves are strong and the care of my eight children and my house is a pleasure since Tanlac gave me back my strength. I would advise every mother to use Tanlac."

Roots, herbs and barks—these are the ingredients of Tanlac—Nature's own medicines for the sick. Get a bottle from your druggist to-day. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

Wednesday, June 19, 1929.

(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syn.)

Except in the early morning hours, this is rather an unlucky day, according to astrology. Malefic aspects are ominous.

There is a promising sign for those who start business before the rush hours. Even new enterprises should benefit.

While this sway prevails, employers probably will profit from wise policies, but wage-earners may be discontented.

Wrong ideas easily find harbor in the human mind under this direction of the stars which inclines all but the extremely forceful to blame fate for their own lack of success.

Lovers may suffer from jealousy, since logic probably will be even less at command than at other times.

Under this rule of the planets mental quirks may be prevalent and unreasonableness most apparent in ordinary transactions, the seers warn.

The rule is unfavorable to domestic peace. Women should practice patience and diplomacy where male members of the family are involved.

Saturn is in a place supposed to have a bad effect upon persons entrusted with public business. Graft and corruption will be uncovered in European cities as well as in those of the United States.

Men of prominence who will be involved in dubious practices will be difficult to punish under this sway which makes for the strong organization of evil forces.

Fear due to intimidation will hamper those who are supposed to administer justice, astrologers have prognosticated again and again.

An earthquake is supposed to threaten Italy or a region near it and tidal waves may cause serious damage, a London astrologer foretells.

Again danger of an epidemic imported from foreign parts is foretold, and coast cities are admonished to protect the people. Health safeguards should be placed wherever infection is possible, it is warned.

Persons whose birthdate it is, should have a lucky year, but they should beware of lending money.

Children born on this day probably will be ambitious, studious and serious in nature. These subjects of helpful planetary guidance usually have many friends are inclined to be too generous for their own good.

Blaise Pascal, famous mathematician and writer, was born on this date, 1623. Earl Haig, 1861, also first saw the light of this day.

LENGTH OF KISS PROTESTED.

Just how long and passionately ought an actor kiss an actress in a love scene is being discussed in Paris following the protest of a member of the audience at the production of a new play, "Rolls Royce," at the Mathurin Theatre. The spectator, a Paris architect, laid an information with the police against M. Saturnin Farbe and Mlle. France Ellys, the actors, and the theatre management, declaring that the kissing scene is carried to so realistic a point that it might endanger public morals. M. Farbe declared he did not know how the scene would strike a spectator. "Neither of us," he said, "knows exactly what our acting may look like, as we forget ourselves in our roles. But we cannot believe we have done anything shocking." Meanwhile the argument continues to rage.

There is simplicity and feminine charm in this woolen frock in dark blue from the Maison Agnes.

SIMPLE WOOL FROCK HAS FEMININE CHARM.

By MMe. Havet of Agnes.

I have used dark blue wool for this frock, keeping the design very simple. At the same time I have given it the feminine charm which I feel is so essential, even in dresses for the most practical hours of the day. The incrusted folds on the bodice, the wide bands on the sleeves and the flaring skirt should be noted.

Timely Hitting Enables Leafs To Defeat Keys

LEAF TWIRLER HOLDS READING FOR 3 TO 1 WIN

Toronto Emerge On Long End of 4-2 Split in Series With Keystones.

ORIOLES WIN OUT 9-7.

READING, June 18.— (Canadian Press).—Walter Leverenz curved Toronto to a 3-1 victory over Reading here yesterday afternoon and brought to a close the six-game series with Harry Hibbs Hinchman's bunch of Fighting Keys on the long end of a 4-2 split.

Leverenz, opposing Bob Osborn, the former Chicago Cub, was nicked for seven hits but kept them well scattered and had the pretzel town clan guessing. Three times with a runner on third the Keystones failed to come through with the much-needed hit.

Timely batting in the fourth inning was responsible for the Leafs' three runs, but Osborn, bearing down, fanned Leverenz with the bases filled to stop the visitors' rally when it appeared as if they would score a flock of runs.

RALLY TO WIN IN EIGHTH

BALTIMORE, June 18.—(Canadian Press).—An eighth inning offence that netted four runs, enabled the Orioles to defeat the Montreal Royals in the final game of the series, 9 to 7, here yesterday. The visitors left with the series stowed away, however, by a count of 4 games to 2.

The Royals outhit the locals, 13 to 9 but the flock bunched their blows to better advantage.

HERD BEATS BEARS

NEWARK, June 18.—(Canadian Press).—Buffalo took the odd game of the seven-game series from Newark Bears yesterday by a 6-3 score. Hub, Pruett and Jim Faulkner, two left handers, engaged in a pitching duel until two hits and a base on balls gave the Bisons two tallies and a three run advantage in the first half of the ninth.

WINGS WIN FINAL GAME

JERSEY CITY, June 18. —(Canadian Press).—Rochester won the sixth and final game of the series here yesterday over the Black Cats by a score of 6 to 5.

The Wings took five of the six games. Joe Manger's second home run over the left field fence in the sixth inning with Walsh planted on second tied the score 5-5.

SPRINGBROOK WINS 19-9 TILT

"Casey" Heath Plays Sterling Game On the Mound For Winners.

AT PETHERICK"S CORNERS.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, June 18 (Examiner Correspondence)). — A re-vamped Springbrook nine handed the locals a 19 to 9 defeat in the league game of Friday evening, displaying form that should carry them through to the finals. Hazlett, playing his first game of the season with the Easterners, had five safe hits and four runs in five trips to plate. "Casey" Heath in the box showed a wonderful change of pace which had the local heavy batters completely tied up. Don Kerr, Grant Meiklejohn, and G. Petherick were the only ones able to have three safe hits off Heath's delivery. Springbrook batters solved R. Fry's pitching in the first and third to slam in 16 runs. G .Kerr, showing a complete reversal of form from last Monday's game, held the opposition to three runs and struck out several batters in the last four frames. While playing second base in the second frame Kerr also pulled an unassisted double play. G. Heath was outstanding at centre for Springbrook, his circus catch of G. Kerr's fly in the seventh stopping a local rally.

The line-up:

Springbrook — M .Heath, p; Williams, c; Bateman, 1b; Baker, 2b; M. Mason, 3b; Hazlett, ss; Mac Mason, lf; G. Heath, cf; W. Heath, rf.

Legion Wins First Game This Season

CAMPBELLFORD, June 18.— (Examiner Staff Correspondent.) — George Free and his crew of Legionaires broke the ice last night when they defeated the Mill team by a score of twenty-one to ten. All last season the Soldiers struggled along without winning a game. When the season ended they had won the bottom of the list by a wide margin. This season they began by losing their first two games. The fact that they have finally won may indicate something unexpected in local softball circles. Their victory does not boost their standing in the league, but assures them a solid third place for another week.

BUNCH HITS TO WIN.

CINCINNATI, June 18. (C.P.)—The Pirates only made six hits here yesterday but grouped four of them in the first and fifth innings. They scored a run in each inning and won a tight contest from the Reds 2 to 1.

BLEWETT'S TEAM SCHOOL CHAMPIONS

Defeat Tanner in Final Game of Lakefield Softball League.

Lakefield, June 17 (Examiner Correspondence). — With the closing of the Public School comes the grand finale of the Public School Softball League, which has been so successful this spring. It was an innovation in the school, and has been a source of pleasure and profit to the boys. The team spirit has been developed in a large measure, and the five captains who were chosen have developed leadership in a degree which reflects credit on Mr. Chaplin, who is responsible for the organization of the League. Through the kindness of W. J. Charlton three teams were taken to Hastings on the King's birthday by Mr. Chaplin, and played friendly games with the Hastings pupils. This afforded pleasure to the boys, and the experience which is gained by games played away from home. The final games in the league for the championship were played this week between Joe Blewett's team and Charlie Tanner's team. Two games out of three were necessary for one team to be declared victor. Two games were played with Joe Blewett's aggregation winning both easily.

The Blewett team was stronger and the boys rather bigger and more experienced, but the Tanner team had the best base runner in the league in the person of Roy Crapp, who made three runs out of the four scored by Tanner's team on Thursday.

Wednesday's game closed with a score of 16-8 for Blewett, and Thursday's game showed a score of 19-4 for Blewett, so the victory was a decisive one.

Blewett's team had four home runs on Thursday, Carson Webster and George Charton each making one and Joe Bewett two.

The Blewett team is a snappy outfit, and would give any team of their size and age a good game. Tanner's team was not so well balanced, being weak in too many directions to go as far as the ability of such players as Roy Crapp, Charlie Tanner, and Douglas Dench and Sherman Hill could go. However, the entire Tanenr aggregation gave good exhibition of real sportsmanship as they played their best, every man of them, and lost with smiling faces.

The game, notwithstanding the score, was worth seeing and quite a number of adult faces were present and enjoyed it all immensely.

The following are the line-ups:

Tanner's team — Charlie Tanner, p; Douglas Dench, c; Sherman Hill, 1b; Roy Crapp, 2b; Walter Spence, 3b; Jerome McFadden, ss; Alexander Sutton, rf; Harry Northey, cf; Jack Woodhouse, lf.

Roy Matthews was official scorekeeper.

Score by innings:

Blewett	5530123 –19

Nunns Is Favorite For Singles Title

CLEVELAND, June 18 (Canadian Press). — Gilbert Nunns, of Toronto, 21-year-old Canadian Davis Cup player, winning two rounds of the annual Ohio State tennis championships here yesterday, established himself as favorite for top honors in the men's singles.

Nunns and Martin are entered in the double competitions.

STOREMEN WIN IN SLUG FEST

Additions To Teco Team Enables Big Store To Take 20-12 Victory.

CARRUTHERS GOOD.

In a game featured by heavy hitting the Teco Stores defeated the C.G.E. nine 20-12 in a softball fixture at Central School grounds last night. The Big Store showed a vastly improved team over their last appearance, having Jake Hall at third, Bud Westbrooke at short, Walter Crary at second and Freddie Jones in the outfield. These new additions brought the team's hitting and fielding strength up, and resulted in the win.

Ace Powell was the C.G.E. pitching selection and lasted until the eighth inning, when he retired in favor of Robinson. He pitched good ball and with better support behind the bat and at third would have had a far closer game.

Carruthers was on the mound for the Teco gang and twirled good ball, holding the C.G.E. to seven runs. He was given pretty good support by his teammates. Carruthers retired in the ninth to give Manager Board a chance to look over his new pitching acquisition, Darling. The big boy was touched for six runs, but should not have been scored on. He struck out two men but White failed to hold the third strike in each case and they blossomed into runs.

Ab Frick justified Manager Board's judgment in placing him in clean-up position in the batting order by driving in eight of his teams runs. Frick had a homer, a double and a single.

Calladine and Powell did the heavy gunning for the C.G.E., each having three hits.

The teams:

BAILIEBORO TEAM HOLDS LEAGUE LEAD

Defeat Garden Hill 12-8 To Gain Leadership of East Durham Tuxis Loop.

BAILIEBORO, June 18 (Examiner Correspondence).—The local baseball team now have a firm hold on the leadership of the East Durham Tuxis League, by defeating Garden Hill in a snappy game of ball on Saturday evening. The locals now have two victories to their credit, and no defeats.

The game supplied plenty of excitement, and the final score was 12-8 in favor of Bailieboro. By heavy hitting and assisted by several costly errors by the visitors, the locals took an early lead, and maintained it for the remainder of the game. Mercer was batted out of the box in the fourth. Cantrell held the locals in check for the last two innings.

The line-up:

Garden Hill—L. Dunbar, c; S. Mercer, p; B. Waddell, 1b; S. Cantrell, 2b; J. Waddell, 3b; D. Munroe, ss; O. Woodley, lf; S. Varcoe, cf; Inchley, rf.

Bailieboro—A. Watt, c; M. Wood, p; A. Deyell, 1b; E. Earnshaw, 2b; J. Barnard, 3b; K. Barnard, ss; C. Barnard, lf; A. Dawson, cf; A. Bateman, rf; G. Dean, rf.

Score by innings:

Bailieboro	207201x—12

Umpires—K. Halstead and A. Mercer.

Forsythe and Dundas will be the opposing heavers.

The game is called for 6.15 and will be in charge of 'Si" Haskill and Tommy Holyman. A bumper crowd is expected.

GRAFTONS WIN BY 11-5 SCORE

Defeats Canucks in Opening Game of City League Bantam Schedule.

HEAVY SLUGGING.

The Grafton team came across with a somewhat easy win over the Canucks in the first game of the Bantam schedule by a score of 11—5 in a twilight fixture on the Sacred Heart diamond last evening. Playing better ball the victors deserved their win, but at the same time, the game was closer than the final score would indicate.

The game was marked by many errors while overthrows in the infield cost each team many bases and in the fourth inning enabled the Graftons to count up several runs.

Many long drives were slugged in the game, making it necessary to often take recourse to the over-the-fence rules used on the Sacred Heart grounds.

Stanger, twirling for the winners, allowed few hits and with the exception of the last few minutes he turned in a consistent game. He and his support weakened considerably in the last innings of the clash, in which the Canucks made numerous connections.

Braund and McCullough turned in a snappy appearance for the victors; Wainwright in the box for the Canucks also turned in a creditable game. He was given first-Class assistance by Peele, Kingdon and McCarroll at first, second and shortstop. In the outfield Welsh and Hatton pulled down some nice flies that looked like sure counters for the Graftons.

The first three innings of the contest were hard fought. The Graftons jumped into the lead by bringing in two runs in each of the first two frames while the Canucks managed but one. Two more Canucks made the round trip in the third and brought the score 4—3. But the Canucks youngsters lost the game in the fourth, when they allowed five runs in very quick succession. They quickly recovered themselves and held their own to the end. A rally of the losers assisted by many errors on the part of the Grafton squad brightened the prospect for a time in the 7th, but the damage was done and the game was not to be pulled out of the fire.

Score by innings:

Grafton .. .. 2 2 0 5 0 1 1—11

A FAMILY AFFAIR

A unique page in golf history was written at Brantford, Ontario, during the Ontario Ladies' Championship matches, when Miss Maude and Miss Cecil Smith were matched against each other in the final round. Miss Maude Smith won the laurels, but it was by a very small margin. Last year Cecil won the title.

Maude defeated her sister Cecil in the final round by 2 up, thus capturing the title, but it was a mighty close game and Cecil might have turned the tables on her sister at any moment. The game was played in the remarkable time of 2 hours and 10 minutes, the average time of the course for 18 holes being 3 hours and 15 minutes.

HOCKEY PLAYER TURNS FARMER

Eddie Shore Ras All the Earmarks of Being Successful Son of the Soil.

WANTS $17,500 CONTRACT.

(Special to The Examiner, Copyright)

EDMONTON, Alta., June 17.—Seventeen thousand five hundred dollars a year hockey player, twenty-five thousand dollar Alberta dirt farmer, that's Eddie Shore, winter address, Boston, Massachusetts; summer address, Duagh, Alberta.

The $17,500 per is the valuation Eddie has placed on his services for next winter, and the chances are that his owners will come some where near meeting this demand, for the former Edmonton player is no slouch on the steel blades.

The $25,000 figure is the estimate of a reporter for the Edmonton Journal who motored out to Duagh as to the value of the agricultural holdings of the celebrated hockeyist farmer. Take this figure or leave it, just as you like, but Eddie Shore paid a cool $16,400 for his splendid 320 acre farm at Daugh, and the chances are with the implements and what not that it now boasts, the $25.000 figure is somewhere near correct.

Popular Player.

Eddie is one of the most popular players who ever wore an Eskimo sweater. He has made friends wherever he has gone and in this city partitcularly, Mr. Shore is a prime favorite.

It was probably, only natural that Eddie should purchase land close to Edmonton.

Is Eddie making good? Well, rather. He has 170 acres sown to wheat and this fall expects to reap quite a harvest. He has fourteen horses, close to 400 chickens, splendid cattle and buildings. He has all the machinery, the very latest models in everything that is supposed to make up a modern farm. What is more, Eddie knows each piece of the intricate machinery and enjoys doing 10 to 12 hours' work every day on his farm.

Eddie has every opportunity to live the life of Riley. He does not. He arrived back in the city after the Boston Bruins had won the world's professional championship. He was here two days. That was rest enough. He immediately went to the farm and has been there every day since.

Up to 5.30 o'clock each week-day, out on the fields at 7 o'clock, back for dinner at 12, and out again in the fields at 1 o'clock and remaining there until 7 each night is Edward's every day schedule.

Eddie is planning to have one of the finest farms in the entire district. He will have a beautiful bungalow, a big ribbed roof barn, an ideal machine shop, and there will be everything on the land that any successful farmer should have.

"It will take time," said Eddie "But in two years time I should have all the buildings up that I am planning.

"Then I will have sufficient cattle, Holsteins, most likely; not very many horses, because machinery is better; plenty of chickens, pigs and everything else."

Eddie does not talk about himself. He is one tough hombre from whom to get an interview. But a visit to the farm will convince anyone about Eddie's work there and the things he plans to do.

This year Art Ross of the Boston Bruins will have to pay $17,500 to Eddie for the winter's work on the team or he will be forced to do without the greatest defence player in the world. Arthur, despite the fact that it may grieve him greatly to part with such an amount, will pay it, for Mr. Ross knows his hockey players and he knows Eddie Shore.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

Peterborough's second talking picture, "The Singing Fool," starring Al Jolson, is quite different from the initial presentation of these pictures in the city, when the Broadway Melody was shown.

In "The Singing Fool," which is being shown at the Capitol Theatre, for the first four days of this week, Al Jolson, with his magnetic personality, is known as Al Stone, a singing waiter in an east side New York cafe and also a writer of songs. Molly Winton (Josephine Dunn) is a typical revue star with whom Stone is intensely in love but not until Marco, a producer of Broadway plays, finds Stone and offers him a part in his production does Molly pay any attention to this wise cracking, carefree waiter. Then when he has a chance to become famous, she takes Stone away from Grace (Betty Bronson) who is the second lady in the play.

Next Stone is seen as master of ceremonies at Club Cliquot, a playground for New York millionaires. He has made good but the affections of his wife are gradually being transferred to someone else. A quarrel results and Molly takes their little boy Sonny (David Lee) and leaves Stone heart broken.

Dragged down in despair Stone finally turns up in the neighborhood of the old cafe where he first started. Here Blackie Joe, his old manager and friend finds him. Grace again appears on the scene and between them they manage to make Stone forget his despair and to climb once more to the heights of stardom.

One night in the theatre, word is brought to him that Sonny Boy is very sick in the hospital, where Stone hurries at once. One of the most dramatic scenes ever portrayed on the silver screen is the death of Sonny Boy as Stone sings the song by that name.

Returning to the theatre, he plays his part of a black face singer of balads, only because he is a trouper and "the show must go on." He sings Sonny Boy with such emotion that the audience is swept off their sweet and cheer Stone as the curtain falls.

It is during the singing of this song that he finds a new life and with Grace he determines to forget and to sing songs as long as there are people to listen to him.

The whole play is intensely human, the audience laughs with Jolson, sings with him and cries with him so strongly is the picture depicted. Five songs are sung by this famous singer, "It All Depends On You," "I'm Sitting On Top of the World," "Keep Smiling at Trouble," "A Rainbow Around My Shoulder" and the famous theme song "Sonny Boy."

Davy Lee, as Sonny Boy, vies greatly at times with Jolson for the laurels of the production, and as an actor is a real find. His tender age, personality and playing, all take with the sympathetic audience.

An all talking comedy, "The Star Witness," is a humorous court scene where the witness finally through his sharpness and wit wins a case, of a motorist against a railway company, by his clever answering for the defence.

The entire program is one of interest and balance. The feature picture especially running the whole scale of the human emotions.

AUSTRALIAN DECLARED WINNER OVER RISKO

Cook won his fight with Risko at the opening of the Garden's outdoor season last night, when the Cleveland boy accidentally scored a low left swing to Cook's groin early in the fifth round.

Up to the time of the foul Risko was well out in front and seemed in a fair way to defeat the Australian.

BUNION DERBY PROMOTER REPORTED IN TROUBLE

Show Girls Fyle Suit Against C. C. Pyle—Loses $500 Judgment.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 18.—C. C. Pyle, promoter of the transcontinental bunion derby which ended here Sunday, was involved in a series of financial altercations yesterday.

He lost a $500 judgment in municipal court, and members of his cross-country troupe, including girls who said they had performed in his road show, informed City Prosecutor Lloyd S. Nix that they had fyled claims against the promoter with the State Labor Bureau.

OSHAWA ELKS HERE TO-MORROW NIGHT.

One of the feature games in the Lakeshore League season is promised the fans to-morrow evening when the Oshawa Elks come here to play the Raybestos nine at Exhibition Park. The game is scheduled for 5.45.

Oshawa slipped it over the Rays, "Sailor" Maudsley, and all, in the opening fixture in the Motor Town on May 24, and Art Primeau's team will have to be on their toes to carry off the honors here. The Rays took Cobourg into camp in their last game in masterly style, and it appears as though the team had hit its stride. The Sailor will likely do the gunning to-morrow evening.

VACANCIES IN BANTAM TEAM.

Jack Deannard is sending out a welcome to all bantam players who have not yet signed with any teams, to go down to King Edward school grounds this evening. Jack is managing the Kiwanis team in the Bantam League, as well as their junior entry. His bantam nine goes into action Thursday, so that this evening will be about the last chance for any of the boys under sixteen to make a place on the team. The same Jack is a booster and worker for sports, and any who join his teams will learn baseball, and play under ideal managership.

TRICKY FIXTURE AT HASTINGS.

Roman meets Roman to-morrow evening down east when Hastings and Bethany Clash in an E.P.L. game. Bethany and Dr. Hamilton have been sailing the blue since their unexpected yet commanding, win over the Cogs, and this team will have to be reckoned with in future games. Hastings have yet to win a game, having been defeated in Bethany first time these two county teams crossed bats, but the McMaster-Scriver crew are just about due, and they have been playing smartly.

MORRISON GOOD ON MOUND.

Walter Morrison in his first start on the mound for Crescents in Bethany last Friday showed that he had speed, curves and control. Morrison was turning out with the Central Leaguers, but Manager Swanson, with a full string of classy pitchers, could find no place for him. He landed with the Crescents right off, and he should get a lot of work with them. Previously Manager Brioux was short on hurlers, but now with Bun Frost and Morrison on hand, he is as well-equipped as any team in the league.

PRINCE OF BALLDOM.

Times have changed. Nine years ago, "Lefty" Grove, now the premier hurler from the port side of the major leagues, signed up for $85 a month, with the Martinsburg, W. Va., nine. To-day he draws down the most princely salary in balldom. Connie Mack paid the late Jack Dunn $100,000 for Grove. That is a pretty fair price on Dunn's original investment of $1200, which was what Grove cost him to the Martinsburgs, not including the attraction that Grove turned out to be with Baltimore.

ONWARD PASS FOR LOCAL TEAM.

The P.C.I. Rugby team may be playing the forward pass next fall, for while the efforts of the athletic directorate of McGill university to have the forward pass adopted in the intercollegiate football did not meet with the desired success, the easterners managed to slip in the thin edge of the wedge.

The play will be adopted by the junior college teams, and may also be tried out in the interscholastic games, but not until the final for the Canadian championship between the east and the west will it be used by any of the senior teams in the east.

If the play offers all the advantages that the McGill men claim, and proves popular with both players and spectators there is no doubt that it will be added to the present code of the O R. U. rules.

MUCH IMPROVED IN HEALTH

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 18 (Canadian Press)). — Much improved in health, Babe Ruth is back in town, but he still needs a few days of rest before getting back into the New York Yankees' line-up.

The Babe has been spending the past week on a fishing trip near Washington in an effort to recover from a severe cold that forced him out of the Yankee line-up nearly a month ago.

Ruth probably will not get into uniform until Friday when the Yankees play their crucial series with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Welsh Soccer Team Record Is Unbroken

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 18. — (Canadian Press).—Giving a polished exhibition of soccer, the touring Welsh Football team over-whelmingly defeated a lower mainland all-star team here last night by the convincing score of 8 to 0. Even at that the tourist did not extend themselves in the second half. The half time score was 5 to 0. Four thousand person witnessed the game. Five of the Welsh goals were scored by Davies, the tourist's centre.

The measurement, scantling and racing rules of the New York Yacht yachts will be 76 feet rating. There will be no time allowance.

WHERE RAY KEECH MET HIS DEATH

Here is shown a view of the burning racing car in which Ray Keech, winner of the recent Indianapolis 500-mile race, was killed when four racers crashed during the 200-mile Flag Day race in the bowl at Altoona, Pa. Two other drivers were seriously hurt. One car bounding up to the top of the oval and sliding back caused the crash, it is stated. Keech, well-known driver, was leading by nearly two laps at the 100 miles, just prior to the crash. He was just a few yards behind the car driven by Cliff Bergere when he swerved to avoid striking it. Losing control of his machine it crashed, rolled over several times and burst into flames. Keech, who was travelling at 120 miles an hour, was instantly killed.

VISITORS WATCH SWIMMERS TRAIN

(Special to Examiner)

LINDSAY, June 18.—Ever since the management of George Young, the great Canadian swimmer selected Fenelon Falls as his training headquarters, the Cataract Village has been the mecca of hundreds of visitors daily, all anxious to see the Toronto boy in action.

George is accompanied by another noted swimmer in the person of Ruth Tower, who took to the water for the first time a couple of days ago. Both swimmers are declared to be in first class condition. Owing to the favorable weather conditions, the training schedule which had to be revised a few days ago, is now being followed in real earnest.

Cameron Lake is an ideal stretch of water for the swimmers, and every day interested spectators throng the piers and other vantage spots to witness the swimmers in action. Fenelon Falls has taken the two swimmers to its bosom. They have promised during their spare time to give some of the boys and girls swimming instructions. Some of the lattter are anxious to emulate the deeds of Wrigley contestants, and are also looking forward to the day when they will be able to enter the big swim.

GENERAL DAWES RETURNS AFTER BIG CONFERENCE

New Ambasasdor To United States Finds British Premier a Brilliant Man.

LONDON, June 8.— (C.P.)—Ambasasdor Charles G. Dawes returned here to-day from Forres, Scotland, where he visited with Premier Ramsay MacDonald and agreed on a basis for negotiations on naval disarmament.

He was asked whether he was hopeful of results from his conversations with the Prime Minister, and he answered: "I have neither hope nor despair. All I will say is this, I am extremely satisfied with my conversations with Mr. MacDonald. I have enjoyed myself. I found your premier a charming companion and a brilliant man. The full results of our meeting cannot be made public as yet."

Another Stop Street?

The Editor of The Examiner,
Peterborough.
Dear Sir:

I wish to suggest an improvement that might be made at the corner of Water and Charlotte streets. This, as all motorists know, is a dangerous intersection, because of the parking of cars on the south side of Charlotte from the Customs House to the Empress Hotel corner. Then, Water street being a through street, there is a tendency for motorists proceeding north to speed. The driver turning into Water from Charlotte has little opportunity to see approaching cars, when they are coming from the south.

This danger might be overcome by the placing of a "STOP" sign at Duffus' corner, thus compelling cars northward bound on Water to halt long enough to see that others turning off Charlotte will not collide.

Salient Points of Bidding

Auction: Following North's assist of Hearts on the second round, East, although holding five Probable Tricks in his hand with Spades as Trump, cannot afford to rebid without having heard from partner.

Contract: North gives his one assist for Hearts on the first round, to keep the bidding open. East bidding two Spades, South bids three Hearts, a rebid justified only by reason of his partners support. Neither North nor South can carry the bidding to to the game contract.

The Play

West opens the 3 of Spades, South winning with his singleton Ace. South starts the establishment of the Diamond suit by leading low to Dummy's Jack, the finesse losing to East's King. East reads West's opening lead of the three of Spades (the Deuce being in Dummy) as from the lowest of four cards. Coventionally it must have been either the fourth best Spade or a singleton, and East considers it more likely to have been the former. If West held four Spades, then South's Ace must have been a singleton. If so, East by leading a Spade can force the strong trump hand, and upon obtaining the lead with the Ace of Trumps can force it again. This apparently natural method of play is departed from by East after further analysis. He reads South's lead of Diamonds as for the purpose of entering Dummy in order to lead trumps therefrom, and as a start towards the establishment of the Diamond suit. West cannot have more than three Diamonds, for then South could have held but a singleton and would not have finessed. With no more than three, West, if holding the Queen, with the Ace, Jack, nine in Dummy, would have played it, leaving the further defense of the suit to his partner. South, therefore, must hold the Queen and cannot hold the ten with it, since then he would naturally have led the Queen. West therefore must hold the ten, and since the eight was undoubtedly his lowest Diamond, he can have only the ten remaining. Consequently East returns a Diamond at Trick 3 with a view to giving West a Diamond ruff on the third round.

Declarer wins Trick 3 with Dummy's Ace in order to lead a trump from Dummy. East plays the Ace of trumps and leads a Diamond for West to ruff. This ruff, together with Ace of Trumps and King of Diamonds already made and a Club trick subsequently taken, holds the Declarer to his contract.

TRUTH TELLING IS CHIEF ETHIC OF JOURNALISM

A. M. Belding Addresses Canadian Women's Press Club.

HIGH STANDARD SET.

Canadian Papers Compare Favorably With Those of Other Countries.

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 18 (C.P.).—Discussing ethics and journalism at the fifth triennial meeting of the Canadian Women's Press Club today, A. M. Belding, editor-in-chief of The St. John Telegraph-Journal and Evening Times-Globe, speaking in general terms said it seemed to him the ethics of journalism called for truth-telling without exaggeration; a clean and whole some outlook on life; an avoidance of cheap sentimentalism; a consciousness of character in the paper or magazine that should be sustained, and, last but perhaps not least, a judicious use of the waste basket.

"It cannot but be a source of profound satisfaction to men and women of the craft that the tendency of journalism in Canada is toward higher standards," Mr. Belding said. "Our newspaper compare favorably with those of other countries, and the term 'venal press' cannot with truth be applied—at least not to any that come to my desk. It is for your association, and of press associations in general, to inculcate in the mind of young writers those ethical principles which lie at the base of all worthwhile contributions to the printed page."

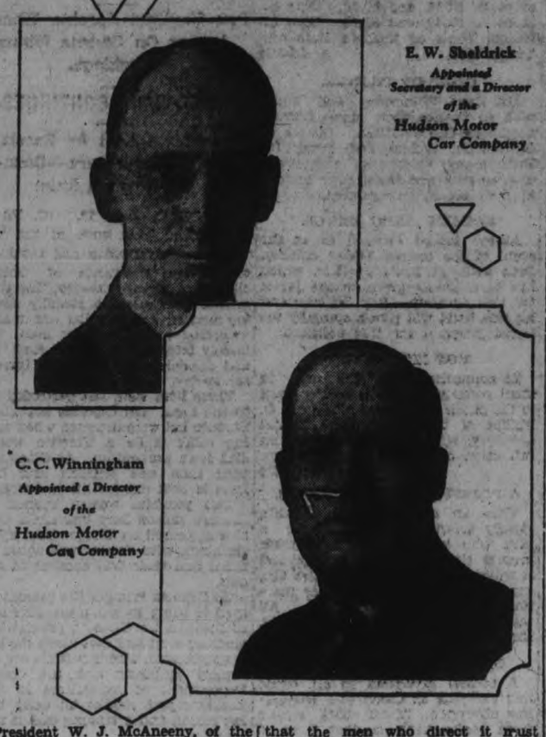
New HUDSON Directors



E. W. Sheldrick
Appointed Secretary and a Director of the Hudson Motor Car Company

C. C. Winningham
Appointed a Director of the Hudson Motor Car Company

President W. J. McAneeny, of the Hudson Motor Car Company, following the annual stockholders' meeting this week, announced the appointment of E. W. Sheldrick to be secretary and a director, and C. C. Winningham, to be a director.

Appointment of these two men to the directorate preserved the jealously guarded tradition of the company which almost makes it a necessity that the men who direct it must have come up through the ranks. Mr. Sheldrick qualified by reason of his 18 years service with Hudson, manufacturers of Hudson and Essex cars, while C. C. Winningham's association with the company goes back 20 years. He is president of his own advertising agency, which has handled Hudson advertising since 1909. Prior to that he was Hudson's advertising manager and, later, director of sales.

ROYAL FAMILY ATTENDS RACES

OLD ORKNEY IS WINNER.

ASCOT, England, June 18 (Canadian Press). — The famous Royal Ascot race meeting opened in brilliant sunshine to-day with the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught present in the Royal box.

The Ascot Stakes, chief opening event, was won by Old Orkney, a 10 to 1 shot, owned by J. J. Murphy.

Colonel H. A. Wernker's Brown Jack was second, and The Consul, owned by Lord Lascelles, husband of Princess Mary, was third.

The Royal box was the centre of attraction and the scene of gaiety all afternoon. The Prince of Wales wore a black silk hat with his morning dress, and had a scarlet boutonniere. He stood for a time in front of the box chatting animatedly with a number of friends.

Princess Ingrid of Sweden, who is now visiting here, wore a girlish frock of flowered chiffon in shades of powder blue and pink and a pink picture hat.

COVENDEN WINS GOLD VASE.

ASCOT, England, June 18 (Canadian Press). — Covenden, owned by Major A. Phillips, won the Gold Vase at the Ascot meeting to-day.

The Aga Khan's Buland Bala was second, and H. K. Macomber's The Carthaginian was third.

NEW STYLES FOR WOMEN IN WARM WEATHER

Two Youthful Toronto Women Appear On Streets Minus Stockings.

HEAT WAVE CONTINUES.

Three Lives Lost As Result of High Temperature—Country Needs a Rain.

TORONTO, June 18. (C. P.) — The second heat wave of the year which came yesterday and continued to-day, sent thousands of Ontario citizens to beaches to-day. The thermometer registered a steadily climbing mercury and no relief was in sight according to the weather man who blasely informed the public that "fair and decidely warm" was the forecast for to-day.

Three lives were lost yesterday due to the heat. An Oakville boy and a Toronto lad were drowned when seeking relief while a Toronto woman died from prostration. At Ottawa an aged man was stricken and little hope is held out for his recovery.

Two youthful women opened the summer season here last night when they appeared on Yonge street minus stockings, with dresses well above the knees and their feet encased in sandals.

To Ontario farmers the present hot spell is being looked upon with mixed feelings. To those at present busy planting corn and root crops the heat is appreciated. The hay fields are also rapidly maturing and the Ontario Department of Agriculture in their weekly report predict an early haying season and a bumper one in most counties.

Fall wheat, says the report, is looking wel generally but in some counties it is suffering from dry weather.

Strawberries are beginning to ripen, but are badly in need of rain, which the Meteorological office predicts may come to-morrow.

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter

BRIGADE CALLED, NO FIRE.

The Fire Department received an alarm about a quarter to six last evening from Grant & Thorpe's electrical store. On arriving some signs of smoke were seen, but otherwise there were no further indications of fire.

COMET BUS DEMOLISHED.

The old Comet bus that was first owned by G. Mein and later by Cooney & Jopling has at last found a resting-place. Only the body remains, the engine has been removed and is probably in use somewhere else. Dilapidated as it is, it still carries reminiscences of the happy crowds that it used to carry. What is left has been abandoned in a back yard off Simcoe Street.

TESTING FIRE HOSE.

The firemen have been busy during the last two days testing the hose belonging to the Department. Each separate length is filled with water and pressure up to 150 pounds is applied to the water in the hose, and any part that will not stand this test is discarded.

HANG YOUR CLOTHES ON THE HICKORY LIMB.

Inverlea Park and the canal yesterday were the rendezvous of young Peterborough. Youngsters, numerous in number, flocked to both retreats to take shelter from Old Man Sunshine and the heat. While bathing at Inverlea was quite formal, in other places along the canal a crowd of boys took to the water a la naturel, after suspending their clothes on a hickory limb.

NEW WAY OF KEEPING COOL.

A local man was seen strolling down George Street this morning with a garden hose coiled over his shoulder. Some of his acquaintances began a bantering conversation with him, but he replied that it was just has way to keep cool in the heat, and that he could attach it to any outlet and take a shower.

OLD HOME WEEK DECORATIONS.

Steps are already being taken in the line of decorations for Old Home Week. The Peterborough Utilities Commission are losing no time in getting things ready, as far as they are concerned. The Water Works fountain has been completed, and last night the men started to erect the colored lights across the streets. The work along this line will be practically complete by the end of the week and the lights will be strung across George, Hunter and Charlotte Streets.

VOLCANO ERUPTION MENACES NEW AREA

TOKYO, June 18 — (Canadian Press)—Advices from Hakodate today emphasized alarm which was felt here as a result of the eruption of the ten year quiescent volcano, Komogatake.

A home office message, timed 5 a.m., said:—"The erupton is increasing in violence. In the villages of Ikusagawa and Shikabe stones four or five inches in diameter are falling, and it is dangerous to walk in the open."

The report continued that Shikabe, a seashore village containing 500 houses was "reported completely ruined." The details are unknown.

The lava flow to-day had reached a point a mile from Mori, an important railway station, which is now menaced. Inhabitants of Nanae abandoned the town for Kakodate. The villages for miles around were showered with ashes.

More than 1,300 refugees spent the night at Mori, being housed in the temples and police stations and were preparing to evacuate that city with the approach of the lava when the erupion subsided.

In Police Court

An alibi for Dalton Dolan, charged with keeping and exposing liquor for sale, was heard in Police Court yesterday afternoon. During the morning two youths told of buying a bottle of gin from Dolan at his Chemong road residence on the evening of Sunday, June 9, for which they paid five dollars. Two witnesses, a man from Bethany and his sister from Toronto, told of meeting Dolan on King Street in Toronto on the evening of the same Sunday.

Dolan himself stated that he motored to Toronto that afternoon, leaving Peterborough about four o'clock in the afternoon. He went up to collect some money from a man who owed him a debt.

The charge against a local young man was reduced from possessing liquor without a permit to that of consuming. He pleaded guilty and was fined $25. Another was fined $15 for being intoxicated in a public place.

Leo Pilow, an Indian, came before the Magistrate in this morning's Police Court on remand on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences. As the request of his counsel he was again remanded until Monday, June 24.

President Poincaire Receives Three Aviators

PRESIDENT HOOVER SEEKS TO MODIFY U. S. TARIFF

COL. CHARLES LINDBERGH WIRES CONGRATULATIONS TO "YELLOW BIRD" PARTY

French Airmen Thank Ace of Air For His Kind Message.

GOVERNMENT RECEPTION.

Parents of Young Stowaway Thank Flyers For Their Kindness.

PARIS, June 19 (C.P.).—Jean Assolant, Rene Le Fevre, and Armeno Lotti, Jr., to-day received by cable congratulations from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh for their trans-Atlantic flight from Old Orchard, Me., to Comillas, Spain, in the Yellow Bird.

The colonel's message, addressed to all three of the aviators, said:

"On returning to New York I have just learned of your successful crossing. Please accept my sincere congratulations and best wishes."

Frenchmen Reply

The French flyers immediately cabled him in answer: "We thank you most heartily for your affectionate telegram. Our greatest claim to glory has been to have followed the route you traced two years ago with incomparable mastery in your flight from New York to Paris.

"Your magnificent example of courage, of tenacity, of science as a pilot and navigator, guided us every instant of our route, we address to you our most cordial and respectful salutations."

Another cablegram was received from Mr. and Mrs. Schreiber, parents of the stowaway, Arthur Schreiber, the message tending further to mitigate the bad impression which he has created.

The cablegram said: "Accept our thanks for kindness and tolerance shown our son by France's three heroes of the air. Extend our appreciation to Mr. Lotti Sr., and Madame Lotti for their parental guidance toward Arthur."

The government receptions to-day were for the three aviators alone, the stowaway not being included. He was entirely out of the picture, pending his return to-day to the United States.

The aviators were taken by M. Laurent-Eynac, Minister of Air, to Premier Poincare, who lauded their courage and praised their exploit. Later they went to the Senate, where they were received and praised. They were to visit President Doumerque later this afternoon.

Wins $500 Walking Wager But Is Out of Pocket $12

WELLAND, Ont., June 19 (C.P.)—H. Lavaux, Loreda, Texas, walked 3,800 miles in two months and 24 days to win a bet of $500 made with the Mayor of Lodera, that he could travel the distance within three months. Lavaux arrived here to-day and explained the trip would cost him $12, as his expenses amount to $512. However Lavaux has one consolation of seeing his fiancee, a young woman of this city, who was mainly responsible for his long hike. The Texan confided to reporters that he was hoping to take the young woman shortly as his wife.

Lindbergh Is Back At Work After His Honeymoon Trip.

WITNESSES FLIGHT TEST.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 19 (Canadian Press). — His honeymoon at an end, Colonel Charles A Lindbergh was back at work to-day.

His first professional engagement since his marriage to Anne Spencer Morrow, on May 27, was at Mitchell Field, to observe the opening flight tests for the $150,000 prizes offered for the safest aircraft by the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the promotion of aeronautics.

He was invited to witness the tests in his capacity of trustee and advisor to the fund organization.

IMPERIAL TRADE SENTIMENT IS BEING NOTED

DETAILS NOT WORKED OUT.

Federal Government Is Expected To Make Changes in Imperial Preference.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 19 (Special to The Examiner). — It is credibly reported in Ottawa that President Hoover and his chief lieutenants are seriously seeking to modify the tariff increases against Canada. The growth of Imperial trade sentiment in Canada as a means of combating these increases is said to have been reported to Washington by the United States Legation here and the danger to United States trade with Canada is emphasized. These reports are now common talk on Parliament Hill, and may have accounted for the Dominion Government postponing action until the United States tariff proposals are stamped with finality.

Initial steps in the Government's Imperial preference policy for the development of trade within the British Empire will be brought down at the next session of Parliament.

Details Not Worked Out

Details of the actual tariff revisions have not yet been worked out but it is understood that the ministers of the crown most interested in the subject will spend most of the summer and fall working on the project. The cabinet yesterday had a desultory conversation on the subject but went into no special phases of the tariff revision and there will be no further meeting of the cabinet until Friday. It is the general belief in government circles that Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the opposition, obtained an inkling of this and to steal the government's thunder staged a special speech at the end of the session to bring in at the tail end his claim that he had suggested an Imperial Economic Conference some time ago.

The Imperial preference policy was urged on the government by the Progressives in 1921 when they considered joining in a Liberal-Progressive coalition, the farmers platform of 1921 having included a plank of free trade within the British Empire within five years. Two years ago E. J. Garland of the U. F.A. advocated an imperial conference. Some of the U. F. A. members told the Examiner yesterday they are prepared to support either a Liberal or Conservative government which will put into effect such a policy, it is believed Mr. Bennett seeks their support.

COUNTY COUNCIL TO CONSIDER OLD AGE PENSION PROVISIONS WARDEN ANNOUNCES IN ADDRESS

June Sessions of Council Opens in Court House, Peterborough.

WARDEN OUTLINES WORK.

Reeve H. B. Rye Claims New Bridge Needed at Locks and Bensfort.

Warden J. F. Breckenridge of Belmont and Methuen opened the June session of the council of Peterborough County at the court house yesterday afternoon with an address, in which he outlined the matters to come before the council for consideration during the present session. The main questions to be dealt with are: bridges, roads, indigents and Old Age Pension provision. The advice of the county solicitor, E. A. Peck, M.P., should be called in shaping the attitude that the council must assume in connection with Old Age Pension fund, and also the advisability of affiliating with the compensation board for the protection of those engaged in road building and construction, said the Warden.

The advisability and necessity of building new bridges at Bensford and at the locks was strongly brought forward by Reeve H. B. Rye of North Monaghan. He stated that engineers should be secured to inspect these two bridges and that the council should act immediately on their report.

Warden Breckenridge's address was as follows:

"It has been the practice for the Warden each June session to address his colleagues and refer to the most important issues for the year that have been already partly consider, and those that will subsequently be laid on the table to be dealt with.

"Your Warden asks all to join with him in recognizing the hand of a kind Providence for the general crop prospect, for the year.

"Home Week, when all who return to visit their old friends and haunts, is approaching, and I but voice the sentiment of the council as a whole, in extending a cordial welcome, assuring those who come that the keys to every spot, under the jurisdiction of the county, will be cheerfully handed to them.

"The main questions that are before you and likely to come up are bridges, roads, indigents, and Old Age Pension provision.

Old Age Pension

"There are some matters that I the council must assume re Old Age county solicitor; that is, the attitude think should be presented to the Pension fund; advisability as to affiliating with the compensation board for protection of those engaged in road building and construction, the same as we are now connected in so far as bridge, culverts and building construction.

"I will not particularize as to bridge repairs or construction, for the chairman will elicit from you your decisions, with regard to such matters, following the inspections made at his instance since last session.

"The chairman of the county property will, I am sure, give to you a satisfactory account of work under his jurisdiction, and I trust that you will early in the session let the chairman of the finance committee know to what extent bridge building will be carried out this year in order for him to make provision to meet the expenditure.

"Any gentleman, having in view anything along the stated lines, will kindly confer with the chairman of the finance, roads and bridges, county property, or other members of the council interested.

"The debenture debt Dec. 31, 1928, stood at $118,182.67, the same being a credit to former councils.

"Due to unforseen school and other demands last year, the current deficit increased from $6,368.05, December 31, 1927, to $11,996.99, December 31, 1928, and no doubt the chairman of the finance committee will have provision for such in his current estimates for the year, 1929.

Council Will Not Accept Daylight Saving Time

That the farmers of Peterborough treat Daylight Saving with disapproval and even with contempt was indicated when the June sessions of the County Council opened at the court house yesterday afternoon. Before the session had got underway The Examiner reporter was drawn into a hot argument on Daylight Saving in which his was the only voice raised in its defence. Are we going to run the session by God's time or Rollie Denne's time" was the pointed question of one reeve as he mounted the stairs to the council room. "I don't think we should even recognize Daylight Saving time" exclaimed Reeve H. B. Rye, of Monaghan, when the question of time for re-opening the morning's session arose. Ten o'clock Standard Time was the time set for council to recommence their business.

BRIGHTER COLORS ARE RECOMMENDED FOR CADETS

LONDON, Ont., June 19.—In an effort to popularize Cadet training for the sake of its physical advantages, Major James Jeffrey, Cadet Inspector for Military District No. 1 has advised schools purchasing new uniforms to replace khaki with more vivid colors.

More colorful uniforms make the Cadet Corps more interesting to boys, said Major Jeffrey, in suggestion to the Windsor-Walkerville Technical school authorities that uniforms featuring the school colors be secured to replace the worn-out khaki suits.

Reprieve Is Granted By Federal Cabinet

OTTAWA, Ont., June 19 (C.P.). —A reprieve until July 19 has been granted to John Ivanchuk, convicted of murder and stenced to hang on Friday next. Cabinet having considered the case, has decided to put the execution off for a month. In the meantime it is expected that new evidence bearing on the case will be submitted to the Federal authorities for consideration. Ivanchuk was convicted of the murder of License Inspector Harry Constable at Cochrane, Ont. His lawyers are hopeful of obtaining a new trial for the condemned man.

FATE OF LYELL IS UNKNOWN

Small New Zealand Village Is Feared Wiped Out By Earthquake.

SEVERE SHOCKS FELT.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, June —(C.P.) — Severe earthquakes were felt to-day in Murchison and Takaka counties, both of which were hard hit in the tremors of earlier in the week.

Some anxiety was felt as to the fate of the town of Lyell, although no official news has been received indicating any catastrophe. Lyell formerly had a population of 2000 but it is now a decaying mining village with only sixteen inhabitants.

Airplanes tried in vain to sight the town, due to bad visibility. All roads leading to it were blocked. There were rumors that it had been wiped out but these were discredited.

The postmaster at Westport reported minor earth shocks were continuing there with less frequency but said there were four severe shocks between 1 a.m., and 2 a.m. to-day. The post office was damaged further. A very heavy gale and rain made outside cooking difficult.

CORONER FAILS TO FIX BLAME

Inquest in Cleveland Hospital Disaster Closed By Coroner.

123 LOST LIVES.

CLEVELAND, O., June 19.—(Canadian Press).— Making no attempt to fix blame, but pointing out that the Cleveland Clinic had been warned of faulty x-ray film storage which cost 123 lives by fire and poison gases, Coroner A. J. Pearse completed his request after a month of investigation in a report on fyle with official county records to-day.

The warning was sent to the Clinic by the Ohio Inspection Bureau of the Fire Underwriters investigating service last April 2. The disaster occurred May 15. It called attention to the fire hazard in the type of film used at the Clinic, urged use of another kind, and advised Clinic officials that the film, if burned, would generate great clouds of noxious fumes.

The film was stored in the basement and was ignited by a means not determined in the investigation.

The report placed the official number of dead at 123. They were killed by a combination of nitrogen peroxide gas with carbon monoxide, the coroner said.

BANDIT IS IDENTIFIED.

VANCOUVER, June 19. — A youth giving his name as Arthur Thomas, 19, was arrested in a clothing store in New Westminster yesterday afternoon and charged with being the bandit who held up the branch of the Royal Bank of Canada on Commercial Drive here yesterday morning, and robbed it of $4,000. The stolen money has been recovered, it is stated. The youth was identified as the bandit by Wilson Wark, one of the bank clerks who was held up.

BOOTLEGGERS DRUM HOLES IN CUSTOMS PATROL CUTTER; FIRE IS PROMPTLY RETURNED

Fire Is Deliberately Opened Without Notice On U. S. Boat.

RETREAT TO CANADIAN SIDE.

Firing, Officer States, Continued Long After Crossing Border.

WINDSOR, Ont., June 19.—(Canadian Press).—After a swift moving revolver battle in Detroit River just before daylight to-day rum runners of the East Windsor sector retreated into Canadian waters after peppering a hole in the prow of a United States Customs patrol cutter. There were no known casualties.

The rum runners deliberately opened fire without notice on the American boat it was charged by Walter S. Petty acting collector of customs at Detroit, his men returned the volleys and chased the intruders back to the Canadian shore, he said.

The battle started, Pettty reported when the rum craft was about 100 feet off the foot of Joseph Campau Avenue, Deroit. The border patrol was gliding down stream and was about 50 feet from the runner when its crew of several men blazed away suddenly with revolvers, the bullets drumming against the government boat, blasting a hole above its water lines, Petty said:

"Our men returned the fire promptly" Petty added. "The rum runners swung about and retreated toward Canada, maintaining a heavy fire at its pursuer. Petty charges that the firing from the rum boat continued long after it had reached Canadian waters. The customs boat abandoned the chase at the international water line. The police couldn't determine the number of men on the rum boat as they hid behind a high stack of liquor cases as they emptied their guns at the on coming customs cruiser.

The Weather

Yesterday afternoon the temperature here in Peterborough rose to 90 degrees in the shade. This is the highest figure this year so far. Whether it will constitute the record for the year remains to be seen. Last night also was very warm. Seventy-two degrees was the lowest point reached. — W. P.

Field Medical Officer of Health, and socially prominent member of one of Cobourg's oldest families, was this morning committed for trial by Magistrate Floyd on a charge of having wounded Alice Earle, 18, Friday evening, June 14. He elected trial before a Judge and declined to plead. Dr. Field was represented by J. D. McColl and Col. F. Boggs, and J. Kieler McKay, K.C., of Toronto, was the special Crown Prosecutor, acting for Crown Attorney W. F. Kerr, K.C., who is a cousin of the accused.

On another charge of assaulting his wife on the same evening as the alleged shooting, Dr. Field made the same election of trial.

Wounded in Hip

The witnesses in the first case were: Alice Earle; her sister, Dorothy Earle, who dressed Miss Earle's wound, a flesh wound and bruise on the hip. The girl limped into the witness box still suffering from the wound in her hip, that has not yet healed. Her injury is not serious. Miss Earle was on her way to the park with her sister and Agnes McKenzie and was attracted by a commotion in the Field residence and a group of people outside. At the corner of McGill and King streets, Dr. Field suddenly rushed around the corner brandishing a revolver, Miss Earle testified he pointed it at the sidewalk and as the girls started to run away the heard the report of the revolver and Miss Earle cried out, "I'm hit." The bullet had evidently glanced off the sidewalk.

Miss Haynes in her evidence said she had heard several reports in the house that sounded like revolver shots, before the Earle girls arrived other evidence indicated a family quarrel which was officially intimated to have been renewed yesterday. As a result of Friday's disturbances Dr. Field was arrested late in the afternoon and held in custody over night.

CONCRETE BASES ARE BEING BUILT FOR GUNS

Two Trophies of Great War will be Placed on Either Side of War Memorial

The guns will soon be back to their former place of dignity in Confederation Square amid prettier surrounding than before. The Examiner was assured several weeks ago that the three guns would be back in the park before Old Home Week came around. This morning the first signs of this promise being fulfilled was the sight when city workmen were busily engaged in laying a concrete base for one of the guns just to the south of the memorial. The plans are that two guns will be placed in the park supported on permanent cement bases, one to the south and the other to the north of the memorial.

DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL

GUELPH, Ont., June 19.—A jury empanelled by Coroner Dr. L. M. Stuart to inquire into the death of Samuel Jones, of Stratford, a C.N.R. brakeman, on June 15, rendered a verdict that the death was purely accidental. No blame was attached to anyone. The man was crushed between the cars of a train while he was coupling them.

RUM-RUNNERS KIDNAP PHOTOGRAPHER WHO HAD SECURED SEVERAL PICTURES

AMHERSTBURG, June 19—(Canadian Press).—Provincial police are seeking eight rum runners against whom charges of kidnapping will be placed following the abduction of a Windsor newspaper photographer here yesterday.

Horace Wild, the photographer, who was kidnapped by the rum runners from a city street, was a member of a party of Windsor newspapermen that had hired a launch to get close-up pictures of rum runners in action.

After the pictures were taken Wild left the party and walked six blocks into the city from the river bank. While waiting on Sandwich street eight rum runners in an automobile drove up to him and threw him in their car and then made him captive in a building at the A. J. Woods' dock.

After breaking up all his exposed plates they released him and escaped in a river speed boat.

TEN BASS AND LUNGE ARE CAUGHT AT LONDON STREET

Illegal Fishing is Being Engaged in Nightly, The Examiner is Informed

Illegal fishing is being actively engaged in almost nightly at the London street dam The Examiner was reliably informed by several persons this morning. During the past week many bass have been taken at this point, it was stated. Last evening ten bass and a lunge were caught and carried home, according to the figures of one man, who was making a private investigation.

It is understood that steps are being taken to curb this illegal fishing now claimed to be flourishing in local waters. Fishermen have been warned that the season for the taking of bass or lunge, either from boat or shore or any manner whatsover does not open until July 1, and there are sportsmen in the city that have pledged themselves to see that this regulation, among others, is strictly enforced.

New Agreement Does Not Involve Any Constitutional Changes.

SIMILAR TO LAST YEAR'S.

Ambasasdor Morrow Acted As Intermediary Between Representatives of Church and State.

MEXICO CITY, June 19.—(C.P.) —The Mexican Government and emissaries of the Vatican have agreed upon a basis of settlement of the Mexican religious controversy. Approval of the Pope to-day was all that was needed to make the agreement effective and permit an Episcopate order returning the priests to Mexican churches.

The settlement, as arrived at by President Portes Gil and Monsignor Leopoldo Ruiz Y Flores, Archbishop of Michoacan, and Bishop Pascual Diaz of Tabasco, with Ambassador Morrow as intermediary, does not involve constitutional changes, but merely a broader interpretation of the religious laws and their constitutional background.

The agreement is similar, if not, indeed, identical, to that reaced last year in negotiations between President Calles and Archbishop Ruiz, which had their beginning a secret meeting in the old fortress at San Juan De Ulua, island in the harbor of Vera Cruz, Vatican approval at that time was delayed, until in July the assassiantion of General Alvaro Obregon, president- elect, with ensuing charges of Roman Catholic participation, complicated the entire situation.

The settlment was reached Monday afternoon in the course of conferences between Ambasador Morrow and President Portes Gil, and Ambassador Morrow and the two Mexican Bishops. Monday night a cablegram containing its terms was sent to Pope Pius at Vatican City, with expectation of sanction or disapproval by to-day or to-morrow.

WILL SECURE ESTIMATE OF REVALUATION

Rural Municipalities of United Counties Ask For Change in Equalized Assessment.

EVADING THE STATUTE.

Recommends Purchase of 299 Acres of Land For Reforestation.

(By Staff Reporter.)

COBOURG, June 19. — The equalized assesment of the contstituent municipalities of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham remains the same as last year, but as a concession to Reeve George Hooton of Cavan the council will obtain an estimate of the cost of revaluating the land of the two counties.

The resolution fixing the basis of the 1929 county tax rate, was moved in committee Tuesday afternoon, by Dr. Wilson, reeve of Hastings, and seconded by A. S. Williams of Darlington.

Reeve J. M. Bygott, of Campbellford, presided and his report was later adopted in council.

J. S. Perrin of South Monaghan, opened the discussion with an assertion that his township's equalized assessment, averaging $41.98 an acre, was too high. He contended that it should be at least on a parity with Darlington's $39.76.

W. H. Nelson's of Percy supported Mr. Perrin's plea and L. C. Murphy of Cramahe, argued that his township should also be considered in any revision.

Evading the Statute.

Mr. Hooton repeated his demand of last January for revaluation. He stated that the act requires revaluation every five years but the counties' lands had not been revalued in thirty-five years. This was a plain evasion. The towns and villages have their equalized assessment lowered 25 per cent., and the rural constituencies have theirs raised 25 per cent. There may be a reason for it, but why not leave it to valuators.

Warden Wood remarked that nothing could be done this year because the rates had to be struck.

Raised Urban Assessment.

W. H. Nelson said that the assessment of the towns and villages had been raised twice in his memory, about 25 per cent. altogether—that is 25 per cent. of the difference between the local and equalized assessments, and not of the total assessment.

F. A. Hyland of Cartwright township, said that the county general and road rates of 10 1-2 mills last year required about a 12 mill levy to raise the required amount in his municipality, but the towns and villages could meet the county rate with an equivalent of about half of it, on the basis of their local assessment.

Pavements are Asset.

Fred Gray of Manvers—Property in the towns and villages must be more valuable as a result of all the paving that is going on.

Warden Wood—I wish you were right.

Mr. Hooton—None of the municipalities are assessing property at its full value. That is what the act states.

Dr. Wilson of Hastings said he thought villages and small towns generally were declining rather than advancng; and Mr. Nelson added that there were vacant lands in Percy Township that were occupied ten years ago.

Warden Wood suggested that the 1928 equalized assessment be adopted and that Mr. Hooton give notice of a motion for the December or January sessions.

"If there is to be any revaluation, I don't think it wil be done by valuators going thriugh the counties," said the Warden. "I think the sentiment of this Council is opposed to that. I think it would be done by the County Judge."

What Ratepayers Ask.

Mr. Hooton remarked that it was very pleasant for the Reeves of the

ORVAL SHAW IS FOUND GUILTY AS CROWN WITHDRAWS 30 CHARGES

LONDON, Ont., June 19. — Orval Shaw, with growing dejection and resentment in his withered face, felt his tether tighten as his trial unexpectedly concluded in County Magistrate O. W. Hawkshawe's court early yesterday afternoon.

Shaw had just finished a vain fight against conviction on a charge that he broke and entered McCallum's garage in Glencoe and with Pete Brennan fled eastward with a stolen Hudson car. Partly on the question of the credibility of Shaw as against crown witnesses, Magistrate Hawkshawe pronounced him guilty. Shaw was at once arraigned on a charge of receiving ammunition, knowing it had been stolen from A.French's hardware store in Elora. He admitted the offence.

"I believe that nothing is to be gained by pressing the 30 odd charges we have against him," suggested Crown Attorney A. M. Judd. "He has pleaded guilty to four and has been convicted on another of the more serious crimes. I believe there is a precedent for dealing with him as matters now stand."

VIOLENT OUTBREAK OF POISONING OCCURS AT CHURCH SOCIAL

125 Persons Suffer Near Bowmanville On Monday Night.

SPOILED FOOD BLAMED.

M. O. H. Plans To Examine All Food Supplies at Garden Parties.

BOWMANVILLE, Ont., June 19 (C.P.).—Health authorities are taking extra precautions and conducting investigations as the result of the second outbreak of ptomaine poisoning here in four days, during which 125 persons have been affected in varying degrees.

The second and more violent set of cases occurred Monday night at the annual Sunday school entertainment of the Maple Grove United Church which broke up in confusion as many guests were seized after supper with violent abdominal pains, nausea and sickness. The outbreak was characterized as typical ptomaine poisoning but unusually severe in its reactions by Dr. C. W. Slemon, Medical Health Office for South Darlington township, who attended most of the victims. He pointed out that only a fraction of those present had been affected and that the food had been prepared in about thirty different homes. However, he suspected salads which had spoiled from being made too far in advance, and meat which may have spoiled by the condition of the tins in which it was packed. The Bowmanville man who baked the meat was one of the victims.

Dr. Slemon plans to examine all food served at church picnics and similar affairs this summer and o conduct an educational campaign to teach people care in the preparation of food. As the result of the first outbreak Dr. Birks, Medical Health Officer of Bowmanville, will recommend to the Local Board of Health that a special inspector be appointed to exercise a closer supervision over the milk and foodstuffs supply of Bowmanville. This outbreak occurred last Friday when hundreds of children and adults were poisoned by contaminated milk. Dr. Birks believes that, although the dairy supplying the milk had performed the proper pasteurization, cows on a farm supplying the dairy were given some sort of spoiling medicine or were allowed to pasture in an orchard where chemical spraying had been done.

INDIAN ROADS FIGHT BUSES.

Railways of India are making strenuous efforts to meet the growing competition of motor bus lines. Rail passenger travel is dropping off and earnings are declining. Some railways are improving their services and reducing fares, but these have not given all the results desired. One line has started rail motor service, and a number have inaugurated bus lines as feeders. One road, which has lines paralleling the highway, has added 52 passengers train and 48 short-distance shuttle trains. In spite of this, the number of passengers carried last year decreased by 900,000, as compared with 1927. Passenger earnings, however, were maintained, as the average distance traveled by passengers showed an increase.

Apartment houses costing $1,500,000 are to be erected in Montreal, Canada.

Arrival Of Plane Stirs Up Villagers

(Examiner Correspondent.)

MILLBROOK, June 19.—The arrival of an airplane in the village on Saturday afternoon, with the announcement that passengers would be taken up for a flight, the fee asked being somewhat more reasonable than has previously been demanded locally for this purpose, created a mild excitement, and attracted quite a number of citizens, particularly of the younger generation, to the field on Tupper street where a landing had been effected, and from which a takeoff was made.

Business was so brisk that all those wishing to experience this latest 'thrill' were unable to be accommodated on Saturday evening, and the Mills Brothers, who were operating the machine, decided to remain over night, continuing to make air trips through the greater part of Sunday

RESIGNATION OF INSPECTOR IS ACCEPTED

Schools Committee of United Counties Fails To Nominate Successor to Robert Boyes.

REGIMENTS SEEK AID.

Officers of Durham and Northumberland Units Present Cases To County Council.

(By Staff Reporter).

COBOURG, June 19.—The resignation of Robert Boyes of Campbellford from the public school inspectorate of East Northumberland was referred yesterday to the Schools Committee of the Counties Council, who in turn recommended its acceptance but declined to nominate a successor.

The committee in its motions and amendments gave the chairman, A. R. Willmott, Deputy-Reeve of Cobourg, a rather bad, if brief, session.

After the reading of the applications, Reeve G. Parker of Alnwick moved that G. L. Wagar, of Cobourg, be recommended to the Council. T. A. Davidson, Deputy-Reeve of Hamilton Township, seconded the motion.

W. F. Rickard, of Newcastle, started the argument that the committee should not have the right of selecting the new inspector. He contended that every member of the Council should have all the information that was laid before the committee and should have an equal right to vote.

Other members held that the committee had plenary authority to report an appointee and let the Council approve or reject the recommendation.

Urges Action Postponed.

J. N. Stone of Campbellford urged that action be postponed to enable himself and some other members to secure certain information they desired before making a decision. C. H. Curtis seconded his amendment to temporize but it was lost, and Mr. Rickard's motion carried.

Some members want immediate action by the Council last night because some of the applicants had been waiting for a day or two in the event of being called personally before the Council or committee.

After complicating details of exact shades of meaning had tangled the procedure, Mr. Willmott cleared the record sheet by reducing the several opinions to a motion calling for a decision by the Council last night, and an amendment that the appointment be left to a later day in the session and also that it be made on the "floor of the house."

The amendment carried.

Petitions from Regiments

Officers of the Durham county regiment of militia, including Col. P. H. Jobb and Capt. W. F. McMahon of Port Hope, appealed to the council for a grant to assist them in financing the band, the several messes, sports equipment and other equipment which had been used and had disappeared when the old 46th Durham regiment was virtually absorbed by the C.E.F. for service overseas in the first years of the war.

Deputy-Reeve Willmott of Cobourg, as a junior officer of the Northumberland regiment, which had been reorganized from the old 40th after the war, made a similar request.

FINANCE REPORT SHOWS DEFICIT

Presented For United Counties of Northumberland and Durham at Cobourg Meeting.

EXCERPTS FROM REPORT.

(By Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, June 19. —Although the auditors' report of the finances of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham mentions an apparent deficit of $174,245.56 at the close of 1928, this sum is reduced by the sale of the $125,734.46, recommended by the Finance Committee, to $48,511.10.

The report was prepared by Oscar Hudson and Company of Toronto, their charge being $300. Excerpts from it follow:—

"The year 1928 commenced with total cash liabilities of $299,338.36 and closed with total cash liabilities of $547,894.63. The actual deficit which at December 31, 1927, was $48,235.94 increased to $174,245.56 at December 31, 1928.

We understand the policy in regard to county road expenditures was charged during the year by entering into reciprocal agreements with certain minor municipalities, and that it is now intended to issue debentures for the total deficit which we presume will also take care of the deferred liability to the province which at December 31, 1928, amounted to $153,531.17. The indebtedness to the Bank of Toronto at December 31, 1928, was $390,000 whereas the amount of bank loans at December 31, 1927, was $142,000.

Revenue Account

The total income last year was $412,779.62 as compared with $357,971.84 in 1927. Levies on the minor municipalities increased from $274,470.07 in 1927 to $323,481.66 in 1928. Public school grants were up from $68,812.39 to $71,564.41 and administration of justice brought in $10,521.36 last year as against $6,239.42 in 1927.

Th. expenditure in 1928 was $538,789.24 and in 1927 the total was $390,122.11. County roads accounted for a sharp, vertical increase from $61,433.05 in 1927 to $179,931.36. Grants from the counties to high schools increased from $77,516.33 in 1927 to $99,051.85 last year. Grants to public and separate schools were also up fro $71,759.19 in 1927 to $73,944.95 last year. Interest on loans in 1927 was $8,344.89 and in 1928 amounted to $11,824.85

The auditors' report says:— "It will be observed that the increased expenditure is principally in connection with the following services: County roads $118,498, high schools $21,735; reforestation, $6,955; public and separate schools, $2,185 and interest on bank loans $3,480; a total of $152,852.

The actual expenditure for the year 1928 exceeded the income by the sum of $126,009.62 to which must be added the 1927 deficit of $48,235.94, making $174,245.56, the deficit shown in the statement herewith.

No doubt you are making arrangements by the issue of debentures to clear this deficit and the indebtedness to the province of $153,531.17, but it must be borne in mind that you cannot have an issue of debentures every year to cover deficits, and in future, care should be taken to strike a rate sufficient to cover the year's ordinary expenditure.

TREASURER'S ACCOUNT.

We are pleased to report that we found the records and vouchers in the usual satisfactory condition. On this occasion we missed the courteous attentions of your late respected clerk and treasurer. It was our pleasure to meet him in our capacity as auditors and he gave us all the help and information we required to carry out our duties, with that care and precision which was his outstanding characteristic. The counties have unfortunately lost a conscientious and upright servant who will be difficult to replace.

Road Accounts.

The statements are embodied herewith in their complete form. The appropriations for four contracts

BENNETT URGES EMPIRE TRADE

Would Develop System of Preferences, Conservative Chieftain Says.

Condemns Australian Treaty.

(By Frank Flaherty, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)

SIMCOE, June 19. — Promotion of Empire trade, without the granting of market preferences which would destroy Canadian industry, was advocated by Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader here last night as a solution of Canada's trade problems. He condemned the treaty made with Australia by the King government on the ground that it was destroying the Canadian dairy industry and said he did not consider Empire trade entailed the destruction of home industry.

The British Empire comprised one-fourth of the world's population and was completely self-supporting. If the various parts could be induced to trade with one another, and supply one another's needs they would be independent of all other nations. If elected to power Mr. Bennett proposed to bring this about by an economic conference of the empire. Through it could be developed a system of preferences which need not involve blanket preferences which might be used to destroy native industry.

Productive Tariff Urged.

Although Simcoe produced perhaps the largest political battle in the House of Commons in the lifetime of the present parliament, Mr. Bennett made no reference beyond some veiled facetiousness to the case of the Simcoe postmastership. George Whitaker, who was nominated for the post by the Civil Service Commission and rejected by the Postmaster-General, Hon. P. J. Veniot, was in the audience.

A protective tariff, he contended was the only solution for Canadian problems. Our tariff need not be so high as to impose needless burdens on the consumer but we had to have one which would give to the Canadian people an equal opportunity under fair competition to develop Canada. Canadians, few in numbers, he said, could not be expected to compete with the mass production of the United States in manufacturing. Neither could Canadian farmers, who had to keep their cows in barns during the winter, be expected to compete in dairying with Australia and New Zealand, where the cows were in pasture the year around.

INSTITUTE HOLDS BIRTHDAY MEETING

Mrs. H. McGinnis Hostess To Members of Omee Society At Sewing Bee.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

OMEMEE, June 19. — The birthday meeting of the Omemee Women's Institute was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. McGinnes, in the form of a sewing bee.

Several items of business came up for discussion which included the swimming pond, decoration Sunday, Tobermory request, printed programs for the society and exhibits for the Lindsay fall fair. Following the business, which was dealt with satisfactorily, the remainder of the afternoon was spent in sewing and a quantity of work was accomplished.

A pleasant social half hour was spent with Mrs. A. Sloan, Mrs. Wm. McQuade and Mrs. William Brandon as hostesses, while Mrs. McGinness poured the coffee. The dainty lunch was followed by an ice cream treat.

The July meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. S. Faulkner, with Mrs. J. Palmer, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. A. Sloan as hostesses.

Cars Damaged.

While returning from Lindsay on Friday evening, Cecil Cornell, who was driving a Ford coupe, was struck by a Willys-Knight sedan driven by Mr. Wenman, of Lindsay, near Walker's Corners, and as a result both cars were damaged, the former to the greater extent. Evidence of the car tracks went to show that the Lindsay car was at fault.

FIRING BY BORDER PATROLS CEASES BUT BLOCKADE OF FLEET MAINTAINED

DETROIT, Mich., June 19.—(C.P.)—The campaign against liquor smuggling from the Canadian to the American side of the International boundary which has been undertaken by the Federal Government with a score or more of coastguard vessels, each armed with a one-pounder KD machine gun, and this force, augmented by numerous cruisers, launches, etc., took on a new phase yesterday.

Instead of waiting boldly for the liquor-laden craft of the rum-runners to approach when they could be fired upon and seized, the United States' "forces" adopted the more conciliatory attitude of attempting to bottle up the vessels of the exporters on the Canadian side of the river.

Yesterday, while a score or more craft, large and small, all laden with cartons of Canadan beer, lay bobbing at their docks at Amherstburg, the armed flotilla lay outside just beyond the International line in Lake Erie. At times when the low clouds lifted they could be seen planly, then when the weather grew thick they appeared to vanish, only to reappear again.

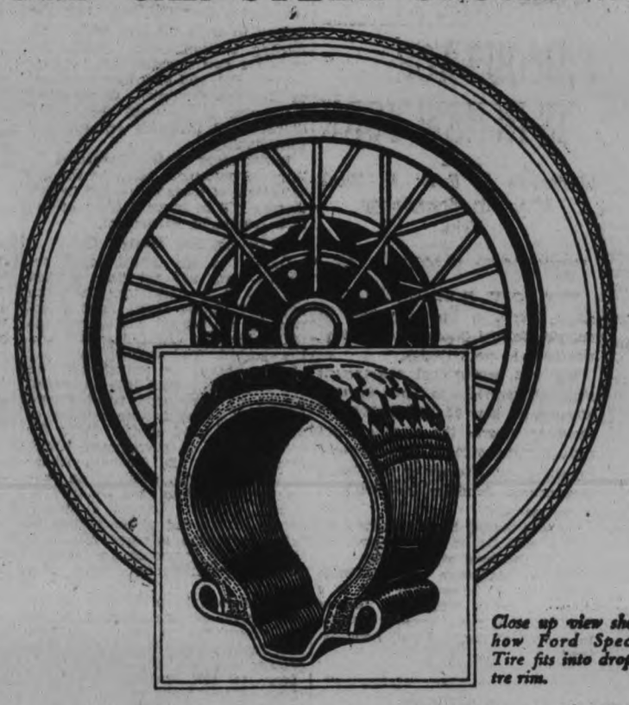
THE FORD CAR STEEL SPOKE WHEELS



Close up view showing how Ford Specified Tire fits into drop centre rim.

Greater Strength and Durability

THE Ford Steel Spoke (Drop Centre) wheel is an advanced step in engineering and the result of exhaustive experimental tests. It is smart in appearance, extra strong, having a lasting finish, easy to clean and provides a simple method for mounting and demounting the tire without tools and in a fraction of the time previously required.

The steel rods or spokes, ¼" in diameter, are electrically welded to rim and hub shell. The finish is enamel baked on steel. Possessing great resiliency and being one solid piece, these wheels have a sturdiness not approached by any other type.

The Ford wheel eliminates loose, squeaking spokes and rims, pinched tubes, chipped or peeling finish, necessity of tire flap, misalignment of tires due to carelessly mounted rims, and a host of other wheel and tire ills formerly encountered. It permits of easy steering and no drumming sound is created by the wind.

There is an enormous amount of careful work necessary to build strength and service into the Ford Steel Spoke wheel, and the results justify the engineering study and skill devoted to this feature of the Ford car.

LOYALISTS LAY CORNER STONE

ERECT MONUMENT.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., June 19 (C.P.).—Hundreds sweltered under ideal summer skies yesterday, the third day of the demonstration at Deseronto to commemorate the 145th anniversary of the landing of the United Empire Loyalists in Upper Canada.

The laying of the cornerstone of the United Empire Loyalist monument was the chief attraction and was attended by scores of grand lodge officers, prominent descendants of the early Loyalists, and officials of church and state. Col. W. N. Ponton, Belleville, the chief speaker, delivered a speech suitable to the occasion. The monument is to be a simple shaft, considered a fitting memorial to the early pioneers.

The wonderful heritage with which present Canadians are endowed and the foundations built by the Loyalsists were the themes of addresses delivered in the morning by W. C. Mikel, K.C., Belleville, and Rev. Canon C. R. Creegan, former pastor at the Mohawk reserve. Another feature of the morning was a bicycle race, in which 35 entrants took part. The winners were Jean Williams, William Argue and Marty Harding.

The disappointment of the day was the non-appearance of Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor; and the fact that J. A. C. Cameron, K.C., Toronto, President of the United Empire Loyalist Association of Canada, was unable to remain over from yesterday. W. S. Morden, K.C., who was scheduled to speak also failed to appear.

"When we go back they want to know why we stand for that kind of equalization when ours is higher than our local assessment.

Mr. Hooton was inclined to threaten an appeal to judicial intervention. His amendment, seconded by W. J. Jibb, of Hamilton Township, proposing acceptance of the existing assessment for this year and recommending to the Council that revaluaton be made for 1930 under the direction of the County Judge. The amendment, however, was defeated.

Warden's Warning.

Warden Wood interjected a note of caution just about that stage. Opinions as to the cost of enlisting the Judge to revalue the counties were hazy and rather apprehensive. The Warden said, "I have just been talking with ex-Warden M. J. Elliott, of Bowmanville, who recently had been in Milton. They had revaluation up there last year, and I think you should hear what he learned on his trip."

Three Judges Decided

"The council of Halton county meets on one day in every month," Mr. Elliott said. "It is composed of sixteen members representing nine municipalities. The township of Trafalgar objected to the equalized assessment and forced a revaluation. Accordingly, three judges sat on the revaluating commission. They met on September 17 and concluded their investigation on December 28th of last year. The cost in fees to the judges and witnesses was $15,874. Their basis of valuation was at the rate of $125 an acre for cleared land, $100 an acre for wooded land and $75 for swampy land. All the property was equalized at those prices. In the whole county assessment was determined at no more than it was worth. As an example of the urban assessments. Georgetown with a a population of 2,700 has an equalized assessment of $3,344,000, and Oakville's is more than $4,000,000, and the total equalized assessment of the county is $31,000,000. That's higher than the assessment of our two united counties. The debenture debt of Halton is $784,000."

Mr. Elliott added that Trafalgar township was not satisfied even with the revaluation and was talking of an appeal.

Mr. Hooton's last word was that Victoria county three years ago appointed three valuators paying them $1,500 each, and their report was accepted with complete satisfaction.

Reforestation Progress

The purchase of 299 acres at $7 per acre for the enlargement of the Durham forest plantation at Orono was recommended in the report of the forestation committee, read by Reeve N. R. Hartt of Murray township. This property is in Clarke township and completes a tract now comprising 1,000 acres. The committee also reported that they had obtained options on an additional 480 acroes at an average price of $5.79, the total cost being $2,780. The purchase of this property was a matter for the council to decide.

The committee recommended that the clerk petition the Minister of Lands and Forests to erect a house for the caretaker of the Durham forest. The report was adopted.

G. M. Linton, caretaker of the provincial forest station in Durham and also of the counties' planation of 1,000 acres, said that the purchase this year of 299 acres at $7 an acre was at a price $1.75 less than was paid last year. In 1928 there were 775 acres fenced and 250,000 trees planted this Spring. Mr. Linton suggested that the two plantations in Clarke and Hamilton townships be enlarged from year to year to the extent of at least 200 acres, thereby enhancing the reforestation asset.

In accordance with its policy the Ontario government takes over the counties land for reforesting, fences it and pays all expenses for the period agreed upon. Then the counties may sell the property to the government for its original cost; or the government will "go fifty-fifty" on all expenses and income; or the government will transfer it entirely to the counties for a sum that will cover the government's expenditure during its years of management and care..

Asked for $100 Grant

W. V. Drewy, President of the Campbellford District Cheese-makers' Association, asked for a grant of $100 to assist the association in buying prizes which are intended as a special incentive to the cheese-makers this year to make another high record of quality production.

J. A. Murray, instructor in the Campbellford district, supported Mr. Drewry's appeal, which was referred to the finance committee.

Hasting county gave their cheesemakers $150 for a similar purpose.

ford, introduced the Durham delegation. Capt. McMahon asked for a grant of $1,000, and cited the aid which other units received from their municipilities.

Peel county had contributed $500 a year for the last six years to the Peel and Dufferin Rifles; Peterborough City gave $800 a year to the Peterborough Rangers; the Brockville Rifles was another regiment that was helped by a council grant.

Military units in the larger cities received financial support from those cities, but rural regiments had to appeal to the county councils. The 46th was going to the divisional camp at Barriefield.

Mr. Willmott said he thought the request was a fair one.

"Both regiments are going to Barriefield this summer for training, and I know the officers would feel deeply appreciative to the counties council for assistance that will put them on something like equal footing with more fortunate units."

Reeve Hooton (Cavan) declared himself in favor of the petition from the regiments. He spoke, he said, as one who had been a soldier for 29 years.

"They should get the support of this council," he said. "These were regiments that helped us win the war and if it had not been for such soldiers we would not be in this place to-night."

The requests were referred to the finance committee on Reeve Fred Gray's motion, seconded by Dr. Wilson.

No Pensions Information

Warden Elliott informed Reeve N. H. Hartt (Murray) that no definite instructions had been received from the government regarding the details of the operation of the new Pensions Act. An enquiry had been sent to the Attorney-General, but without reply.

FINANCE REPORT

for paving were exceeded as shown below:

Village of Hastings, 1928 was $25,000; extras $485.92; and in 1927 extras $2,000.

Town of Campbellford, $75,000 with $10,000 extras; town of Millbrook, $50,000, with $10,000 extras.

We are pleased to note that the amount of 1928 expenditure carried over to 1929 was greatly reduced as compared with 1927, and only amounted to $2,012.65.

General Remarks.

We suggest for the consideration of the Council that the counties' solicitor make a schedule of the properties owned by the counties and examine and report upon their titles. We cannot find any record of this ever having been done and as a new clerk and treasurer has been appointed, it would appear to be an opportune time to ascertain if the titles are in order and the properties regularly vested in the counties."

Other observations and suggestions are included in the report. One of them says, "Many of the minor municipalities still omit to make the return to the Warden required by the Municipal Act in respect to monies paid to the counties during the preceding year. As we have previously pointed out this section of the Act is intended to assist auditors to make a more complete check and it is to be regretted that this duty is not carried out in a number of cases.

In conclusion we desire to express our appreciation for the courtesy and consideration extended to us by the officials of the counties during the course of the audit.

Further Details.

County road expenditure in 1928 totalled $358,808.99 of which the Ontario government paid $178,877.63, leaving the actual cost to the counties $179,931.36. And the instalment of the indebtedness for provincial highways was $60,000. The total payments for county and provincial roads in 1928 was $239,931.36.

Mothers' allowances cost the counties $13,347.50 as compared with $13,547.50 in 1927.

Education last year cost $179,421.67 as follows: High schools, $99,051.85; Public and Separate schools $73,994.95. Inspectorate $6,424.87.

For indigent patients the counties paid $4,115.03, half of which was charged to minor municipalities, leaving the counties' payment $2,057.52.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, June 19.— The cattle trade was somewhat slow at the opening of the cattle market at the Union stock yards yesterday, with the salesmen holding some of the late arrivals.

Bids on steers were steady at yesterday's advance at a shade to 25 cents a hundredweight on all weights. Choice heavies were worth $11.50 to $12.00 and light butcher steers were quoted at the same range as heavies, with heifers generally a quarter lower. Some fancy steers brought 12.15 to 12.25 cents a pound.

Cows were a shade easier than last week at 9 to 9 1-2 cents a pound for the best, the plain-to-medium ones off grass at 6 1-2 to 7 1-2 cents a pound.

Butcher bulls were firm at 8 1-2 to 9 1-4 cents a pound for the best, with bolognas at 6 1-2 to 7 1-2 cents. Best baby beef sold somewhat stronger than Monday with the odd top at 15 cents a pound.

Killers began moving to the scales with fair volume by 11 o'clock with prospects that everything offered will be taken before the close of the market.

The calf run was light and the prices were somewhat stronger than Monday. A load of choice veal sold at 15 cents a pound and a few fancy calves at 16 1-2 cents. The bulk of the good-to-choice calves moved at 14 cents a pound.

Lambs finished Monday at 17 cents a pound for the best. To-day's run was again fairly heavy and trade was somewhat slow at the 17 cents level, which is two cents a pound lower than last week.

Sheep sold unchanged at 6½ to 7 cents a pound for light butchers and 5 to 6 cents a pound for best heavies.

A share of Monday's hogs sold at 12½ cents F.O.B. and 13¾ cents W. OC. for select. The bids were steady to-day and it looks as if the bulk would be supplied at that price.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, June 19.—Prices on the local wholesale butter market again strengthened fractionally yesterday under fairly brisk trading throughout the day. Conditions in production continued to be about the same as has been the case since the first of the week, and the trade is stated by dealers to be normal in all respects. The price of No. 1 finest creamery was quoted as having advanced to 37½ cents per pound, with the No. 2 grade 1 cent per pound lower at 36½ cents. Warm weather has increased production noticeably in the past few days, but the demand has kept pace so readily that dealers have had no difficulty in moving all supplies at good prices.

Trading on the local wholesale egg market continued to be of a very desultory nature, with prices just holding their own at current levels. In the opinion of prominent local dealers, the hot weather if it continues, will in a week or so curtail production to an extent which will probably have a noticeable effect on prices, but expect none or very little alteration till that time. Dealers' quotations to country shippers for ungraded eggs, delivered and cases returned, are as follows: Fresh extras, 37 cents per dozen; fresh firsts, 25 cents per dozen; fresh seconds, 22 cents per dozen.

Conditions on the local cheese market remained firm yesterday, and the price of No. 1 large colored paraffined and Government graded was quoted at 20 cents per pound.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 19—The second day of the June make arrivals on the local cheese market was even quieter than the previous day. Despite a considerable drop in prices since Monday's business was light, and the English importers who purchase the bulk of this grade of cheese showed no inclination to buy. Prices hovered around 19¾c per lb. Receipts were the greatest this season, amounting to 15,576 boxes.

The butter market was unchanged. Receipts were 1,024 boxes as compared with 310 boxes for the same day last week.

Eggs were generally steady. Retail prices were: Fresh extras, 36c to 38c per dozen; fresh firsts, 31c to 33c per dozen; fresh seconds, 27c to 29c per dozen. Receipts were 4,883 cases, which compares with 4,011 cases for the same day last week.

Potatoes were easier, selling down at 45c per 90 lbs. in bulk for New Brunswick Green Mountains. New potatoes per barrel of 165 lbs. sold at $5.50 for No. 1 quality, $4 for No. 2 and $3.25 for culls.

The local grain market was unchanged.

Live poultry was cheaper, selling wholesale at 23c to 25c for light fowl, 25c to 27c for heavy fowl, 25c to 28c for light broilers and spring chickens, and 35c to 40c per lb. for heavy broilers.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 19.—Rains in the Prairie Provinces forced wheat prices down 1 cent at the opening of the market here yesterday but a flood of buying near mid-season brought the market up from the low marks to record gains at the close of ¾c to 1 1-8c for the day. Seaboard houses and Chicago interests were good buyers of our wheat.

Business was small in cash wheat, due largely to the scarcity of offerings. No. 6 and feed wheat, the only grades to show any activity, advanced about ¾c.

Exporters took an interest in oats, forcing the price higher. Barley, flax and rye held firm in a quiet market.

Rains were reported all over the West last night, with Saskatchewan receiving the heaviest downfall. Following the past week's dry spell, the showers will be welcomed by farmers, and they will be of great benefit to the growing grain.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 19. — Reports pointing to necessity for soaking rains in the spring wheat region south of the Canadian line led to late upturns in wheat values yesterday Besides there were persisten advices that parts of Alberta are yet badly short of moisture, and that farm relief plans are already taking shape. Under such circumstances offerings of wheat future delivery contracts here became scarce toward the last, and buyers were in a decided majority.

Closing quotations on wheat were strong, 1c to 1⅜c above Monday's finish. Corn closed ¾c to 1c up; oats at ⅝c decline to a shade advance, and provisions varying from 2c setback to a rise of 17c.

Highest prices of the day in wheat were reached just as dealings came to an end. The fact was evident that the Pit had been drained of surplus offerings early.

Unfavorable wheat threshing returns from parts of the southwest, principally Oklahoma, were a subject of considerable notice near the end of the day. In some quarters fear was expressed that recent high expectations concerning the wheat yield in Oklahoma would not be realized, and that a similar condition prevails in the southern part of Kansas.

Corn and oats sympathized with the late strength of wheat. Rural sales of corn to arrive were small, compared to what was looked for, and a good shipping demand here was in evidence.

Reports were also heard that a large organization of growers has advised the holding back of corn at present prices.

Provisions held within narrow limits, and developed only moderate activity.

COUNTY COUNCIL WILL CONSIDER

gaged in improving the roads, but not until after a lot of money was expended in filling up breaks, the result of truck traffic at the worst season of the year. The council moved in the matter last January and had all clerks of the counties notified of such action, soliciting their co-operation, but not many responses have yet been made, but I expect such will be done as soon as the June sessions are over.

"The chairman of the House of Refuge committee (Mr. Rye) will give a minute report of the conduct of the institution at the December session, but I am sure all would appreciate a verbal report from him for the first half of the current year.

"In conclusion, permit me to ask for a continued unanimous interest in the affairs of the county, the same having been in evidence up to the present, and again I desire to express my appreciation of your assistance to me in my duties as Warden, that you have honored me with by election."

A committee composed of Charles Tanner, H. Hawthorne and John Clarke was appointed to deal with the Warden's address.

The reading of the communications showed that several bridge building concerns are still harbouring the impression that the council was going ahead with the plans for a new bridge across Chemong Lake, since several requested information on the work with the intention of submitting their tenders.

Road Insurance

Frank Plaxton, of the Canadian General Insurance Company, and C. Pellatt, representing the Globe Indemnity Insurance Company, addressed the council in regard to road insurance. Both salesmen showed that the rates had been appreciably decreased. The matter was left to the consideration of the county roads committee to give their report before the close of the sessions.

It was in discussing the mill-rate to be set for bridge construction that H. B. made his strong plea for immediate activity in rebuilding the Bensford and Lock's bridges. "I am afraid of these two bridges, and particularly the lock's bridge," declared Mr. Rye. He waved aside the suggestion that a deputation should go down and inspect the need for new bridges saying, "Those bridges should be inspected by engineers and then a report can be submitted to this council."

Mr. Rye reported that ladies in the city had asked permission to install a high class radio in the House of Refuge. This will be a gift to the old people and will be made at once. Mr. Rye also said that the leader of the orchestra playing at his pavilion had asked if he might give a concert at the House of Refuge and the two homes for old people in the city.

The thanks of the council to the ladies in the city for their kind offer and also to the leader of the orchestra was expressed by Reeve Tanner of Lakefield.

It was moved that the council adjourn at two o'clock Thursday afternoon to allow those members that desired to join in the Business Men's picnic of Lakefield and also the Farmer's Picnic at Wallace's Point.

The council then adjourned at 5.15 p.m.

Best Service at lowest cost

THIS IS a season of great telephone construction activity throughout Ontario and Quebec.

The work of extending and improving the telephone system is now being vigorously carried forward. Before the end of this year the company will spend over $27,000,000 in construction, affecting almost every city and town in the two provinces.

It is the aim and effort of the company to give the best possible service at lowest possible cost. The present construction activity is part of this policy.

The rates paid by telephone users in Ontario and Quebec today are the lowest in the world for comparable service. The company earnestly desires that this condition will be maintained as the system expands year by year.

CHANGING PLACES.

A Toronto boy who stood up in a canoe to change places fell out and was drowned.

Recently two people at Stoney Lake, who attempted a similar operation, upset their craft and were rescued by a plucky woman when almost exhausted.

These accidents tell their own story that everybody who expects to use a canoe this summer should read and digest.

It cannot be too strongly emphasized that this type of water craft was never designed for such a ticklish manoeuvre as changing places in mid-stream.

It can be done by experts—and is sometimes through good fortune rather than good management done by amateurs.

It should not, however, be done by anybody.

If it is found necessary for occupants of a canoe to shift their positions, the only safe and fool-proof way to do it is to go ashore and perform the operation, and many a tragedy would have been averted by adopting that common-sense course.

Hundreds of Peterborough people will entrust their lives to canoes this summer; let them learn, therefore, to follow safety first principles and keep tragedy out of their vacation period.

GAMBLING WITH DEATH.

Columns are being written about the lamentable death of Ray Kreech, sensational American racing driver whose life was snuffed out in a race on Saturday, and there are numerous demands from editorial writers that automobile contests be abandoned.

Kreech was a driver who knew the perils of the "game" in which he was engaged, and was prepared to take his chances, as much possibly for the thrill he got out of racing as for the money rewards it brought him.

He gambled with his life and lost.

In the spectacular nature of his taking off, the fact is being lost sight of that thousands of motorists are gambling just as Kreech did on the highways daily.

They are taking chances through reckless driving, inferior equipment and other hazards that do not give them a greater assurance of safety than racing drivers possess when they open the throttle on a speedway.

And all over the continent lives are being taken by the hundreds through this insane gambling with life or death as the stake—cutting-in, speeding, racing trains over level crossings, faulty headlights, inadequate brakes, poor tires—all take their toll to such an extent that reports of automobile accidents are regarded by some newspapers at least as commonplace news.

THE SASKATCHEWAN SITUATION.

The wisdom rather than the propriety of Premier Gardiner of Saskatchewan remaining in office until the new Legislature meets is being questioned on all sides.

So far as the rights of the case are concerned the Saskatchewan Government is perfectly constitutional in holding to the reins of power until it has been outvoted in the House.

No one disputes that fact, and the Premier is needlessly wasting words in emphasizing that phase of the situation.

What he seemingly fails to understand is that by "hanging on" when the verdict of the electors is a plain notice to quit, he is making the position of his party decidedly worse in the eyes of the public.

The sporting thing, as well as the wise thing, to have done would have been to resign at once and give the new coalition a chance to try its hand at forming an administration and carrying on government.

In any event another election would seem to be unavoidable in the not far distant future, and into such a contest the Gardiner party would enter with a much greater assurance of success had it shown a desire to play the game instead of merely a greed for office.

Mr. Gardiner should remember what happened to Mr. Meighen and his shadow government when a similar spirit was displayed.

THE BUNION DERBYISTS.

The "Bunion" Derby, the coast-to-coast marathon promoted by the unusual Mr. Pyle, terminated on Sunday with a victory for Johnny Salo, United States policeman, by a narrow margin over Peter Gavuzzi, an Italian from Southampton, England.

This contest, the second of its kind, gave newspaper columnists plenty of material and volumes of ridicule have been written in regard to the race and the runners.

Naturally so, for the affair lent itself to the quip-making propensities of the writers who have taken full advantage of the opportunity.

But seriously, the men who completed that gruelling grind across the continent have shown amazing endurance, pluck and stamina.

Through all kinds of weather, over all kinds of roads, they have plodded their way westward, day after day reeling off from 25 to 75 miles.

There are people who maintain that marathon racing should be banned as too punishing in its effect upon contestants.

Yet a regulation marathon calls for a distance of a little over 26 miles.

The Pyle runners have been covering the marathon distance, and often twice or three times that distance, every day for months; an astounding performance when it is realized what is involved.

Whatever else they have, Salo, Gavuzzi and the others who finished have given a display of sheer courage and stamina that would be difficult to duplicate.

NO DAY DREAMING.

The concurrence given by the Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Highways, to the judgment of a county magistrate, that a motorist loafing along the highway in his car and thus impeding traffic should be compelled to use side roads, will be generally approved by the motoring public. It may seem like persecution to punish a man for driving his car at a leisurely gait that he may enjoy the scenery along one of the principal highways, but so congested have most of our thoroughfares become that an automobile driven at a very low speed causes so much congestion of traffic that accidents become almost inevitable. The speed fiend is a public nuisance, and he should be barred from the highways and the side roads as well. The slow going motorist is by no means a public nuisance, but if he wishes to use his automobile to study the beauties of nature, to do his soliloquizing, and build his air castles, he should take to the unfrequented bypaths where he may enjoy the pastoral charms to his heart's content. The highways will seemingly have to be reserved for "through" traffic.—Brantford Expositor.

ANGLO-U. S. NAVIES.

The new British Parliament was elected the last of May. Within one week Premier Stanley Baldwin resigned, Ramsay MacDonald took his place, announced the Cabinet and, even before the returns were complete, the Cabinet had been sworn in at Windsor Castle by the King.

A few days later, it was semi-officially declared that Premier MacDonald would visit the United States to confer with President Hoover and others relative to the naval question. In the middle of last week he went to his old home town of Lossiemouth, in the north of Scotland, for a week's holiday before getting down to hard work.

The day after Mr. MacDonald went north, Ambassador Dawes arrived in London to take over his new job. Two days later he presented his credentials to King George at Windsor, and a few hours later he boarded the train bound for Forres, a small town near Lossiemouth, to talk things over with the Premier.

Ten days of whirlwind happenings in the field of statesmanship and diplomacy. Truly, the world moves fast nowadays, and however leisurely and formal and precise the arts of statesmanship may have operated in the past, they are stepping lively to-day so far as British and United States representatives are concerned.

It has been the avowed declaration of Premier MacDonald that the naval question is, next to unemployment, the most serious subject that the British people have to face. J. H. Thomas is charged with the unemployment problem, and while he is scratching his head and wondering what he will do with his opportunity, the Premier is losing no time in the other matter of vital international policy.

Foreign affairs have always interested Premier MacDonald, and no aspect of foreign affairs has concerned him so much as Anglo-American relations. He believes, as many people believe, that co-operation and harmony between the English-speaking people of the world is the greatest instrument of world peace that can be fashioned.

And if Ramsay MacDonald takes a leading part in the fashioning of that instrument, Ramsay MacDonald will go down to posterity as a great British statesman.

But it is not self-aggrandizement that impels him to take this step. He feels that Anglo-American amity is the most urgent task of statecraft. Suspicion and jealousy must be swept away.

The chief difference of view between the representatives of the two nations is that relating to naval strength. It is quite probable that neither the men who represented the United States nor those from Great Britain at the Geneva conference represented the views of the nations as a whole. Each represented the naval parties of their respective countries, and naval men are notoriously unwilling to pare down the forces which they command. Had the Geneva delegates been composed of fewer admiralty officials on both sides, failure might not have been written across the result.

There are two ways of handling the naval question. One is for each of the two nations to go its own way and build the ships it deems necessary for the protection of its trade routes and for national safety, without regard to what the other does, basing that policy on the unshakable belief that if these are ever in action together, they will be side by side in the same great cause and not against each other; and the other policy is to mutually agree upon the reduction of both navies, based upon that same belief they will never fight each other.

Thus the same result would be arrived at by different methods. But between the two there is not the slightest doubt that the view of the people on both sides is for the plan of mutual reduction.

It would be by far the cheaper, it would eliminate any feeling of distrust, and it would tend in the direction of inducing other nations to scale down on armament expenditures.

The knottiest problem of any such conference is the interpretation of the principle of the freedom of the seas. On that, Premier MacDonald will go a great deal further than a Conservative Government would have done. Although Mr. Lloyd George Wagged a minatory finger at him a day or two ago and warned him against outrageous legislation, Mr. George is more likely to endorse what Mr. MacDonald does in this respect than to oppose it. In fact, the two leaders are virtually agreed on naval policies.

Whatever is the final outcome of the Anglo-U. S. negotiations, what the peoples want to see is a naval agreement that will never bring the two fleets together except on some such occasion as the joint enforcement of the Kellogg treaty, in the event of one of the signatories failing to submit its case to arbitration without reasonable delay for that purpose.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Bathing suits that "enable you to display your individuality" are being advertised. All in all, it promises to be quite a summer.

Mr. Ferguson declares that his new school plan is optional. Like Government liquor, you can take it or you can leave it alone.

Complaints of shooting along the Windsor border rather destroys the force of those speeches about the international line along which no guns are heard, etc.

A Toronto boy was drowned Monday because he stood up to change places in a canoe. Another tragic reminder that craft of this type must be treated with respect.

The Tule Marsh Murder

By NANCY BARR MAVITY

Story of a Missing Actress and the Taxing of Wits to Explain Her Fate

THE STORY THUS FAR: Don Ellsworth's wife, formerly the famous acress Sheila O'Shay, disappears, leaving no trace. Dr. Cavanaugh, the great criminal psychologist learns that their married life has been very unhappy.

Peter Piper a reporter on the Herald tried to get an interview with Dr. Cavanaugh. Instead he meets Barbara Cavanaugh, the attractive daughter, and finds that she was engaged to Don Ellsworth before his marriage. An unidentified body is found in the tule marsh outside the city. It has been burned by a fire in the marsh until it is entirely unrecognizable except for the fact that it is a woman. Dr. Cavanaugh is called in to help with the identification.

He has only a small piece of scalp from the body to work on. Don Ellsworth refuses to give him a hair of Sheila O'Shay's, but he secures one unknown and after examination tells Peter Piper that the body found in the marsh is that of Sheila O'Shay. Barbara, in whom Peter has become interested, faints when she hears this. Peter who is already half in love with her, is torn between his feeling and his suspicion that she knows something about the murder. Mrs. Kane ,Sheila O'Shay's waiting woman is arrested in the case and Peter is sent to interview her. He learns that Sheila O'Shay forced Don Ellsworth to marry her by threatening a breach of promise suit. Peter makes a social call on Barbara Cavanaugh. He is convinced that she knows something about the murder and his instinct is to protect her.

CHAPTER 23.

Peter parked "Bossy" in the gloom of a large shade tree at the corner, and extinguished the lights.

"If you do not get bumped, it can't hurt you very much. You've got to take your chances in this game, Bossy, old gilr" he remarked.

Then he marched debonnairely up the graveled driveway and rang the doorbell of the -Ellsworth house. When on business, Peter lost no time over doorbells. And he was on business now—on "detail" to cover the Ellsworth house and not to come back till ge hot something.

That it was now 9 o'clock in the evening and Peter's working day supposedly closed at 4, meant nothing to Jimmy. To be fair, it meant very little to Peter, either. His gray overcoat was worn smooth at the cuffs so that the criss-cross of threads was plainly visible to the observing, and one pocket was ripped half-way down by the jamming of copy-paper, folded magazines, and large apples into its capacious maw, but he wore it as jauntily as if it were an opera cape.

Peter on an assignment was not to be intimidated by men, angels or butlers.

The door opened with surprising promptness and revealed a young man with eyebrows done in charcoal, a sullen mouth, and eyes puffy from lack of sleep, whose hat and overcoat indicated that he was just leaving the house. He had the air of one not so much answering the doorbell as accidentally coinciding with it.

Peter stepped at once into the shaft of light that streamed from the open door

"Oh, you rang? Someone will answer the door in a minute." The young man would have brushed past if Peter had not obviously and bulkily stood in the way.

"I rather think you're the person I wanted to see," Peter remarked easily, with one of his friendlies grins. "In that case, mayn't we consider the door already answered? You're Mr. Don Ellsworth, I think."

"What did you want to see me about?" I'm in rather a hurry." The voice was brusque and noncommittal.

"I think it would be worth your while to wait for a few minutes," Peter said firmly.

"I don't believe I know who you are ——?" The young man, defensive but puzzled, peered at Peter's kindly and quite unabashed countenance.

"You don't. I'm Peter Piper of the 'Herald.' I'm sorry to have to trouble you at this time, when I know you must be busy and worried, but if you can give me a ten-minute interview, it will help greatly in putting your position in a proper light before the public."

"I have nothing whatever to say in which the public is interested." The voice was controlled, but the heavy brows drew together in a single line across Don Ellsworth's forehead.

"I'm sorry, but the public already is interested. It's painful to you, but you can't help it. Certainly I can't help it. It's news. That news will be printed, despite you and me.

"If it were news about somebody else, you'd read it. It happens to be news about you, and other people insist on reading it. Believe me, I'm not invading your privacy because it's my personal idea of fun. But if you answer my questions frankly, what you say will derive an immense advantage from being said by you of your own free will. You can't keep the public out of it, so you'd better have them on your side. I'm giving you your chance."

Peter spoke rapidly, emphatically, but without raising his voice. His head was thrust a little forward, his bright near-sighted gray eyes steadily fixed on the dark face before him.

He saw that face whiten about the lips, saw the veins bulge at the temples —and stepped back just in time to avoid the lunging sidewise blow whose impetus brought Ellsworth through the open door, which crashed shut behind him.

Don required Peter's steadying touch on his elbow to recover his balance and prevent his plunging forward down the steps. He was not even conscious of that briefly supporting hand.

"I may not keep the public out, but I can keep you out!" he said, turning toward the vague blot of shadow on the darkened porch which was Peter. "And every other newspaper, reporter, too. I've not one single word to give to the press, now or at any other time. That's my answer!"

"Very well," said Peter imperturbably; but he said it to Don Ellsworth's back, rapidly losing its form as a shadow among other shadows as he dashed down the driveway, his feet scuffling with vicious force on the unoffending gravel.

"And the worst of it is," mused Peter as he followed at a more leisurely gait, pausing to light a cigarette from a crumpled package which he exhumed from his overcoat pocket, he may have to give all those words to men from the district attorney's office, and they'll pass them along to us; and by that time they may not sound so well—not half so well. But Barbara's tip was certainly a good one. I almost think he doesn't like reporters—not one little bit he doesn't!"

Peter's evening assignment was by no means concluded. He returned to the park and almost invisible Bossy at the corner, and looked carefully up and down both streets before he decided that he might properly venture the glow of his lighted cigarette behind the side curtains.

He did not know precisely what he was waiting for, but he waited in a state of alert quiescence. If the police should force the pace and come with a warrant to search the house, Peter was going to be there.

They might let the Kane woman out —though that was unlikely; she was fairly sure to be held as a material witness, unless Ellsworth gave bail for her, and Peter was of the opinion that Ellsworth would bear with equanimity Mrs. Kane's absence from his house Or something altogether unforeseen might break. You never could tell. He might better have followed Ellsworth; but after all, he had nothing to go on there—and anyway, his present job was with the house.

It was neither the returning Ellsworth nor Mrs. Kane whose appearance brought Peter leaning forward in the front seat an hour later, but a small black coupe, from which emerged the broad shoulders and rotund form of Dr. Cavanaugh. He walked up the driveway with long, leisurely strides, and stood in parley for some minutes with the maid at the door.

Peter had closed Bossey's door gently behind him and was half way across the street when he paused.

"After all, I can't very well trail the doctor like a faithful pup," he pondered. "He's been pretty good to me, and I don't want to break the charm. It's just possible I might be in the way. While he still hesitated, the front door closed and the house turned to him a shut, impenetrable face.

Peter, however, did not recross the street. Instead, he turned the corner and gazed upward at the dark side of the house. A pergola led to a garden at the rear, and above the pergola to the left a faint gleam of glass indicated what was probably a sun porch.

A few lights still shone on the lower floor at the back—"servants' rooms," commented Peter—and a dimmer light, as if penetrating a dark room before reaching the street, indicated the front hall.

"Hm," meditated Peter. "Now where the Dickens did the great Cavanaugh go to?"

As if in answer a light-bright, definite, unshaded—flashed on in the room over the pergola, on the second floor.

"Now I wonder. Suppose I have a look—see. If it's none of my business, I can just climb down again. If it is, I'll crash the front door, ask for the doctor, and trust to him to let me in on it. Of course, if I'm caught on that pergola thing, it may take a fair bit of explaining."

It was the idea of that possible explanation that determined Peter. Jimmy would not back him up in any such performance—Jimmy, having told him to cover the Ellsworth house and not come back till he got something, would merely take his copy and read him a lecture if he got into difficulties. But the lecture would not be nearly so hard to take as if he didn't turn in any copy.

He could hear himself arguing with a bevy of frightened, indignant, incredulous servants, thoroughly enjoying the excitement of capturing a burglar redhanded. He could see himself submitting with sang froid to a ride to the station in the jangling patrol wagon, and the confronting the irate, spluttering, and friendly Captain Davis, who would ask him if he expected to get away with murder. Decidedly, such a culmination would not be without its points.

Neither, Peter discovered, was the pergola without its points. They were the sharp, half-inch points of a particularly stalwart variety of climbing rose. They made long claw-marks on his calves and his hands seemed to encounter them with unerring and painful precision.

"Gosh, what a cat-fight!" breathed Peter. "If I don't claim damages under the workmen's compensation act for this—"

He began his climb at the farther, garden end of the pergola, and walked, crouching, along the top, where progress was easier, except when his foot slipped through the squares of the lattice. And then, in a state which it seemed to him must be one of fluttering ribbons, he reached the house wall at last, and, squatting on his thighs, looked into the brightly lighted boudoir of Sheila O'Shay.

Why We Do What We Do.

WHY WE VALUE STATISTICS.

"The next time I come to the United States, I shall come armed with statistics," said a noted educator from Sweden. Wherever she went in this country people asked her about matters that had to do with figures and statistics. How large was the population of her country? How many automobiles did they have? How many radios? What is the average height of the people? The amount of insurance per capita?

We don't realize how fond we are of statistics. We measure everything in terms of size and quantity. It is our measure of value, the most obvious and the most childish measure.

We have every reson to be proud of statistics. More than half of the gold in the world is in the United States. We have more automobiles by far than all the rest of the world combined. There are nearly a million college students in the United States. Again, this figure is larger than the student body of the rest of the world. We have the champion boxers, the largest clock in the world, the biggest bridge in the world, the tallest building in the world, the most powerful lamp in the world, the largest bass drum in the world and the highest divorce rate in the world.

What greater mark of superiority could we ask? We are mad over statistics because they are so much in our favor in all things whether good, bad or indifferent. While we are quoting statistics we might mention the fact that the United States is the most deadly place in the world. The automobile and the gunman get approximately fifty thousand of our fellow citizens every year. This is equivalent to the number of Americans actually killed in the great war.

This fondness of statistics is a fad with us. It is more. It is an obsession. We are satisfied with nothing less than a world's record at every performance.

The psychology back of this state of mind is obvious. It means that we like to boast. It is a childish way of evaluating our achievements. Every boy boasts of his possessions as the greatest of the group. "See that sore thumb? I'll bet that's a bigger and worser sore thumb than you ever had."

President Hoover is a versatile man. He had many unmatched qualifications for the presidency which the people recognized when they elected him to office. All but one of these qualities has received wide publicity. But the one that has been overlooked is probably the one more than any other that elected him chief executive. He knows his statistics.

Why do you do what you do? Ask Dr. Thomson. Write him care of this paper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

THE IVY.

The ivy does not weary, climbs
Unchangingly the crumbling wall,
As once it did in better times,
Before the bricks began to fall.
Around the oldes ruin twine
The tender fingers of the vine,
Some ancient house remembered yet
That only human hearts forget.

The winter moans around the eaves,
The leaves of green are turned to gray,
But when with care the old house grieves,
The ivy does not turn away.
Through joys delayed, through wintry springs,
The ivy to the old house clings,
Through Marches cold, through Aprils wet,
For only human hearts forget.

We have our hopes and have our friends,
When fame and fortune we may boast;
And yet how many a friendship ends,
Just when we need a friend the most.
One windy day I came upon
A house deserted; love had gone,
But there the ivy clambered yet,
For only human hearts forget.

STANDARD LIST IS IRREGULAR

Strong Favorites Display Weakness While Lesser Stocks Show Unexpected Strength.

WRIGHT-HARGREAVES SAGS.

TORONTO, Ont., June 19 (C.P.). —Price trend on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day was irregular, with recent strong favorites displaying unlooked for weakness, while lesser stocks showed unexpected strength.

Wright-Hargreaves, despite optimistic reports concerning new discoveries on the property, experienced a wave of selling which forced it back 11 to 166. At one stage it sold as high as 180 only to slip back to 162 and recover to the noon price.

Ajax Oil was caught in the downward movement and sold at 180, a decline of 5. Waite-Ackerman dropped 40 to 535, while Granada-Rouyn eased 2 to 30½.

International Nickel was traded in extensively. Selling orders sent it down at first, but it later reacted to climb steadily to 50.10 for a gain of 1.25.

PRICES DROP AT NEW YORK

Growing Fears That Market Overbought Leads To Extensive Selling.

SOME ISSUES ADVANCE.

NEW YORK, June 19. — Growing fears that the stock market has been temporarily overbought as a result of the recent series of sharp advances led to extensive selling in to-day's sessions, giving prices a highly irregular appearance. Pools conducted their operations with caution because of the difficulty in obtaining public following and the increasing activities of "bear" trading, but they succeeded in marking up about a score of issues to record high levels.

The mid-year credit strain has been making itself felt. Gold shipments from the Argentine and Great Britain, including the withdrawal of another ten million dollars from Buenos Aires to-day would alleviate the situation. Call money renewed unchanged at 7 per cent and while the supply was not unusually large money brokers indicated that the rate might be maintained throughout the session.

NICKEL LEADS TORONTO CURB

Price Range Holds Steady in Turnover of 2,000 Shares.

TRADING REMAINS DULL.

TORONTO, Ont., June 19 (Canadian Press). — International Nickel assumed the active leadership on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day with more than 2,000 shares changing hands. The price range was steady and the noon close was ¼ lower at 48½. With the exception of Walkers, Brazilian and Ajax Oil, little interest was shown in the market.

Walkers with more than 2,000 shares changing hands slipped back ¼ to 18¾. Ajax Oil registered the widest loss of the day when heavy profit-taking sent it back 3 to 1.83. Brazilian continued active and steady at 58½.

B.C. Packers scored the largest advance on the list by jumping four to 26 on an odd lot transaction. Imperial Oil and McColl both firmed fractionally on light turnovers. Ford Motors A experienced considerable selling pressure and dropped back 1¾ to 46¾. Consolidated Smelters made one of its infrequent appearances on the board. It showed a decline of 5 to 400.

Petherick's Corners

(Examiner Correspondence.)

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, June 19 —A considerable crowd greeted the players of the St. John's Y. P. L. Dramatic Club at Sentinel Hall here on Friday evening, when they presented the three act comedy drama, "Aaron Slick from Punkin Crick."

The scene is laid in Oklahoma and the plot centres around Aaron Slick (Fred Palliser,) a rather clownish old chap, not as slow as he looks, in his efforts to make love to the boarding house mistress and widow, Mrs. Berry (Miss Velma Runnells.) Cis Riggs (Miss Audrey Cassan, is very interested in the courtship and her humorous acting throughout the play adds much to the success of the plot. Mr. Merridew (Melvin Booth) is very anxious to secure Mrs. Berry's property by hook or crook, believing that there is oil in the old spring. Aaron has placed seven barrels of oil there to fool him and the place is sold for a good figure. Gladys May Merridew, his niece (Miss Nettie Forde) is a very proud young person heartily detested by Cis Riggs. Clarence Green, the mysterious detective on the trail of Meridew is played by Walter Bibby. "The Girl in Red," a hotel guest, in the last act, is a sharper who is foiled in her efforts to lift Aaron's coin. This part is well taken by Ruth Taylor. A number of extra guests are present in the last act, when a musical program is presented.

Fred Phillips of Campbellford, is director of the group and deserves much credit for the able work of his proteges. He is already booking orders for future presentations.

The play was staged here under the auspices of Sentinel L.O.L. 2322.

The deal comprises one of the largest financial transactions in the history of the City of Toronto. The control of the company and its subsidaries will pass into the hands of Wood, Gundy & Co., and their associates in the transaction.

By taking over Simpson's Limited, they will acquire at the same time John Murphy Company, Montreal, the Robert Simpson Western Limited, Regina, the Robert Simpson Eastern Limited, Toronto and Halifax, the Keens Manufacturing Co., Limited, Toronto, and the Thompson Manufacturing Company, Limited, Toronto.

COOLER WEATHER IS PROMISED AFTER TWO DAYS' TORRID HEAT

Thunder Storms Reported in Northern, Eastern and Central Ontario.

94 AT OTTAWA.

TORONTO, Ont., June 19 (Canadian Press). — With a promise of relief from the heat of the last two days Ontario citizens breathed easier to-day. The weatherman promises cooler breezes by to-night, at least, and thunderstorms in Northern, Eastern and Central areas of the province.

Ottawa with a maximum of 94 degrees in the shade was the hottest spot in the province yesterday, and Toronto with 92 was second. A comforting feature of the heat wave so far has been the caution displayed by the majority of the thousands of bathers teeming the shores of the lakes and rivers seeking relief from the scorching sun. Drowning fatalities have been less during this heat wave than the previous one.

The promised cooler weather struck the eastern part of the province quite early in the day. Thunderstorms were reported in several districts. At Brockville a severe electrical storm caused considerable damage to crops and property. One farmer lost 17 head of cattle which were struck by lightning as they bunched together under a tree.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 19 (C.P.). —J. C. Ashley of Harrowsmith was burned to death in his barn this morning when the structure was struck by lightning. Ashley was in the barn when it was hit and failed to make his escape before the building was destroyed by flames.

The ruins are now being searched for his body. Ashley leaves a widow and family.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., June 19 (C.P.) — In a heavy electric storm that passed over this district early this morning, 17 head of cattle, standing under a tree on the farm of Elswood W. Joynt, Reeve of South Elmsley township, where struck and killed by lightning. The loss is estimated at $3,000.

11 Deaths Reported

NEW YORK, June 19 (C.P.).—With no immediate prospect of relief, the east to-day entered its seventh successive day of sizzling heat with a death toll of eleven for the last 24 hours.

Many others died of drowning while seeking relief from the oppressive weather at bathing beaches. Prostrations were numerous. It was the hottest day of the summer in most of the east and at some points the hottest June 18 ever recorded.

In New Yorok City the temperature reached 93 degrees, the highest of the year and an all-time record for that date. Fifteen persons were prostrated, but only one death occurred in the city.

MISSION ADDRESS.

Mrs. A. Haddow Addresses W. M.S. of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. A. Haddow who is in the city with her husband, the Rev. Mr. Haddow, on furlough from the missionary fields in Bolivia, was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, held in the Guild room. Mrs. Haddow outlined for the members the scope of the work in foreign fields, under the title of "Mothers in Bolivia."

The president, Mrs. W. R. Turner, was in the chair, and Mrs. Robert Hall led in prayer.

Miss Olive Cullen gave an interesting report on the recent Presbyterial meeting in Cobourg, and six little girl members of the Faithful Workers' Mission Band sang a pretty chorus, entitled "That's Why I Love Him So" with accompaniment played by the president, Miss Daisy Davidson.

At the conclusion of the meeting, which is the last until September, votes of thanks were moved to the speaker of the afternoon, when Mrs. W. Allan asked for the prayers of the members for the missionary endeavors, and also to Miss Cullen and Mrs. Susan Taylor. The splendid work done by Mrs. Allan in many of the church societies was also referred to and eulogized at length.

Refreshments were then served.

Wheat Prices Soar Under Active Buying

CHICAGO, June 19. —(Canadian Press).—With talk about proposed operations under the new federal marketing legislation acting as an incentive for buying, wheat prices averaged higher early to-day. Absence of rainfall in Canada was also a factor helping to lift values. Opening at the same as yesterday's finish to 1-2c higher, wheat afterward scored a moderate general advance, but then re-acted somewhat. Corn, oats and provisions were also firmer, with corn starting unchanged to 1-2c up and later showing gains all around.

Don't Pity Poor Young Men Pity Poor Old Men

GIVEN health and strength young people who are poor should not be an object of pity. Rather should one strive to arouse ambition in them. It is the poor old folks that require help.

You know of poor old mothers who are shifted around amongst sons and daughters for three or four months at a time, because they have no financial means.

Well, then, do you yourself want to be in this position some day? Do you want your wife to suffer? Not if you can help it! Then, provide now for an income for either or both of you while your earning powers permit it.

A reasonable premium will enable you to buy substantial protection in a Confederation Life Policy. Write now for pamphlet entitled "No Matter What Happens" which tells how this may be done. Address:

The population of the several townships composing the County of Peterborough in 1841 was as follows: Otonabee 1931; North Monaghan, (including the town) 1620; Smith 1349; Douro 856; Dummer 868; Asphodel 551; Belmont 115; Ennismore 279, and Harvey 50.

The estimate of the liabilities of the entire new district for the year 1842, including interest on the jail debt, did not exceed $6,000 for all purposes. These were times of comparative proverty, of impassible roads, small clearings, paltry prices, and low taxation. The gradual progress and development of the county, has to a great extent ameliorated the greater number of these conditions, and of necessity added largely to its burdens. The liabilities of this county alone for 1866 scarcely fell short of $18,000. But with increased resources, improved roads; and an excellent market, our people are better able to meet the larger scale of taxation to-day than they were the more moderate one of former years; and not a man in the community would be willing to return to the rates of the period referred to with all the concomitant circumstances of the time annexed.

A great deal of difficulty was found in the settlement of accounts between the new Colborne district and the old Newcastle district; and it was not until 1845, and after legal proceedings were about to be resorted to, that balances due this district were paid and the whole matter fairly adjusted.

Among the earliest by-laws passed by the District Council was one for the payment of its salaries of its officers, among whom are to be reckoned the clerks, assessors and collectors of the several townships. The Warden's salary was at first $80 per year; in 1844 it was increased to $160, and in 1847, during the first year John Langton, Esq., presided over the Council as Warden, the salary attached to that office was abolished entirely. It is but proper to remark, however, that some remuneration, in addition to the ordinary fees, has each year been voted to the Warden in lieu of a salary. In 1849 this honorarium was $200 and it has rarely if ever since exceeded that sum. In February of 1847, a silk gown was first provided for the Warden by order of the Council, and has been since worn by the gentlemen who have successively occupied that position.

The District Clerk's salary in the beginning of 1842 was $160, but in a few months was raised to $300, and in 1849 to $400 per year. In January, 1852, the offices of clerk and treasurer were united, the salary then being fixed at $500, which as the duties of the joint office expanded was in 1860 increased to $1200 yearly, at which it still remains.

The treasurer of the district, in its early days, was allowed four per cent upon all moneys passing through his hands, and also a fee of one shilling for every inspection of his books or accounts. In 1849 an annual salary of $400 was attached to the office, in lieu of all percentages, and other fees or charges.

The auditors in 1842 were paid $20 per annum. In 1850, their remuneration was increased to $30 and in 1856 to $40 each, at which it still remains.

The district surveyor was at first paid $1.75 per day while actually employed. In 1844 a fixed salary of $100 was attached to the office, which was slightly increased in subsequent years, and in 1849 rose to $150, but was abolished during the following year.

The clerks of the several townships were paid $12 each, during the first years of our district council, with the exception of that officer in Belmont who only received $4 per year. In subsequent years, and especially since the new municipal system was introduced in 1850, these officers, and also the assessors and collectors, are paid for the greatly increased duties, of later years, by the several municipalities for which they act.

The pay of the district councillors (or "wages" as they term it in the several by-laws relating to this subject), was at first $1.25 per day; in 1855 it was increased to $1.50; and now, for some years, has been $1.75 per day, with allowance of 15 cents per mile one way for travelling expenses.

ANNUAL CONVENTION HELD AT MARMORA

Delegates For North Hastings District Hear Reports on Year's Progress.

MADOC, June 18 (Examiner Correspondence).—The twenty-first annual convention for the district of North Hastings was held in Marmora on Wednesday, June 12.

Beginning shortly after 10.30 a.m. with community singing, followed by Maple Leaf and the Institute Ode, Mrs. George Bailey presided.

The address of welcome was gratefully tendered by Mrs. C. A. Bleecker, of Marmora, and fittingly replied to by Mrs. James Bailey, of Bannockburn.

The secretary-treasurer's report was received, on motion of Mrs. Moorcroft and Mrs. W. Whytock, auditors.

Resolutions were presented by Rhylston branch regarding compulsory teaching of music in public schools, and by Springbrook branch regarding a more satisfactory date for girls' judging competitions and coaching classes. These were endorsed by the convention assembled.

Reports were given by the eight different branches, all showing careful preparation and excellent local work completed. Eighty-four meetings were reported, an increase of 2; total attendance 1,961, increase 258; 193 papers and addresses given, increase 48; membership 331, increase 30; one branch has ceased to exist and one new branch organized.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session was opened by singing "O Canada." Correspondence was read from Mrs. Beatty and Mrs. Grass, district presidents of East and West Hastings, regretting their unavoidable absence.

A short discussion as to Belleville convention resulted in a motion that each branch be taxed two dollars for convention expenses. This was carried. There was no discussion regarding exhibits.

Miss Myrtle Potts, of Marmora, with Mrs. (Dr.) Thompson as piano accompanist, gave an excellent vocal solo, "Smilin' Through."

The election of officers was the next order of business, Mrs. J. R. Brown, of Bonarlaw, being asked to preside. Mrs. Barlow and Miss B. Meiklejohn were appointed as scrutineers. Many nominations were received, the results of the election being as follows:

President—Mrs. C. A. Bleecker, of Marmora.

2nd vice-president—Mrs. S. Meiklejohn, of Rhylston.

Auditors — Mrs. D. Moorcroft and Mrs. W. Whytock, of Madoc.

District directors—Madoc, Mrs. W. E. Connor; Marmora, Mrs. (Dr.) Thompson; Ivanhoe, Mrs. William Shaw; Wellman's, Mrs. T. M. Reid; Springbrook, Mrs. J. F. Baker; Bannockburn, Mrs. S. McEwen; Rhylston, Mrs. S. Meiklejohn; Cooper-Remington, Mrs. W. J. Rollins.

District representative—Mrs. S. McEwen, Bannockburn.

Federation representative—Mrs. J. R. Brown, Bonarlaw.

Joseph Wilsen then spoke briefly on girls' judging competitions, coaching classes, school fairs and how the Institutes might assist in these.

Mrs. Gawley varied the program by a reading, and some community singing followed.

Mrs. George Ferguson, of Cooper, then gave an excellent paper on "Teaching the boys and girls how to earn, spend and save money systematically," bringing out many fine and worth-while facts in the training of children.

Mrs. Deveney, of Vernonville, federation representative for subdivision No. 4, spoke earnestly and well on the varied opportunities of work advocated by the federation, and succeeded in giving most of the delegates a wider vision of the needs of the communities and the great opportunities and responsibilities of Institute members.

Mrs. Todd, of Wellman's, gave "Farmer Brown at the Women's Institute."

Votes of thanks were tendered to the Marmora members for their hospitality, to the speakers and to all who helped, and a hearty invitation was received from Mrs. J. R. Brown to hold the meeting next year at Springbrook.

THREATENED BY FERGUSON'S REFORM POLICY

S.S. No. 8, Nassagawega Township, Ontario, is threatened by the impending education reforms of Premier Ferguson, which would close small schools, consolidating them into larger ones. Layout shows: (1) the school in Nassagawega, which only has eleven pupils. (2) G. H. Finney, chairman and secretary of the Board of Trustees. (3) R. A. Finney, the teacher, and his small class of eleven.

The Whatnot

A Column for Little Bits of Everything of Interest to Women Readers

Conducted by Marion (Copyright)

NOW that the season of high egg production is here, a great many Peterborough housewives will be buying eggs for use next winter, and our country sisters will be storing their surplus supply to tide them over the high-priced period of next winter, so that as many as possible can be sold at a top price.

* * * * * *

The preservation of eggs for household use is a matter which has received much attention from scientists indeed experiments in egg preservation begun as early as 1898 at the Central Experimental Farm have been continued, almost without break, until the present time.

* * * * * *

In the course of this work a very large number of preparations—fluid and solids—sold as egg preservatives, have been under trial—with results good, bad and indifferent.

* * * * * *

The outcome of this investigational work is that two preservatives; Lime Water and Water-glass, have been proven eminently satisfactory and distinctly superior to the large number of preparations tested.

* * * * * *

Both are effective preservatives in yielding sound and wholesome egg but lime-water has given, in the majority of experiments, somewhat better results and moreover is cheaper and pleasanter to use than water-glass.

* * * * * *

In a circular published by the Federal Department of Agriculture and written by Dr. F. T. Shutt, Dominion Chemist, he states repeated trials, over many years, permit the confident recommending of lime-water as a reliable preservative for the putting down of eggs for winter use in domestic cookery.

* * * * * *

It is pointed out in the circular, that lime-water is prepared by slaking freshly burnt quick lime, thinning with water to the consistentcy of cream and further diluting, with constant stirring, to the desired volume.

* * * * * *

This lime-water may be used at once without settling, or allowed to stand for an hour or so and the clean upper fliud poured off from the deposit of undissolved or excess lime.

* * * * * *

By following these directions and using quick-lime at the rate of one pound to five gallons of water, a 'saturated' lime-water will be prepared suitable and satisfactory for the preservations of eggs. If quick-lime is not obtainable, slaked lime may be used.

* * * * * *

The eggs which have previously been placed in a crock, water-tight barrel, or other suitable receptacle, are covered with the lime-water and stored in a cool place.

* * * * * *

Of course, this has been by chemists, found to be the best method, but that does not say that we are forbidden to use water-glass or any of the other prepaartions. That is just merely a matter of choice as far as the keeping of eggs are concerned.

* * * * * *

We often hear women say they wouldn't be bothered putting eggs in lime-water or water-glass because their's would keep just as well wrapped in newspaper and packed in an egg case.

* * * * * *

I am sure many of the neighbors would be glad to hear of your way of preserving eggs for winter use, and at what time you commence to put them away. I know of one woman who has about ten or twelve dozen down in water-glass already, and still she has sold quite a number to some city friends who are desirous of packing them before they depart to the cottage for the summer. Others would rather leave them to be packed in the fall.

* * * * * *

Let us have your opinion, for this is a very important matter for the housewife when the winter comes and the prices keeps on soaring.

* * * * * *

After one worries and works so hard to get the housecleaning finished, either for our own satisfaction or the satisfaction of our neighbors, it is very aggravating to find the dust just pouring in our homes from the heavy traffic of the street.

* * * * * *

There is some satisfaction when the oil truck arrives on the scene but then one's nerves are almost racked by the feet marks which are tracked in from the street. After all, there always seem to be something to bother the housewife, doesn't there?

* * * * * *

Then too, when these warm days come, hubby and family look to you to keep the house nice and cool for them to eat lunch and dinner in; so you have the ventilation on your hands too.

* * * * * *

Often people are of the impression that as long as the windows and doors are open the house if properly ventilated, but they are far from right.

* * * * * *

If it were possible for us to see the circulation of air as we can water, we would see that often there is a steady stream of fresh air through certain parts while the air in other parts becomes stagnant.

* * * * * *

If we open half the window at the top and half at the bottom a much better circulation would be produced. I noticed in an office not long ago (where I was not on a very pleasant errand—a dentist's office) that he had a little pulley on which was a small rope attached to the top of the upper part of the window. When the bottom of the window was raised the top part came down accordingly, thereby making much better ventilation than if only the bottom part had been raised.

* * * * * *

We must not forget that warm air always rises, so that if we give this stagnant air in the upper parts of our rooms a chance to escape, the cooler our houses will be.

* * * * * *

Another good way is to leave the attic window open and also the door leading to the attic open so that the hot air may escape there. I have noticed that so many women think because the attic is so hot they should leave it closed during the summer, but in actual practice it has been found that when there is free circulation, this warm air goes out of the attic through the windows and the warmer air from the house is drawn up to take its place.

* * * * * *

Everyone is getting quite enthusiastic over Old Home Week, I heard one woman telling of a delicious luncheon dish which she had prepared andwhich she thought would be delicious to serve for her guests during the two weeks. This is the way she prepared it:

* * * * * *

Place a ramekin of chilled cottage cheese, topped by paprika in the center. On one side slice hard-boiled eggs and tomatoes on lettuce, with Russian dressing. On the other use cucumbers with watercress and French dressing.

* * * * * *

She then placed thin triangularfruit juices into ice cubes instead of chicken on the plate to finish it.

* * * * * *

Maybe you have something which your neighbor hasn't heard of in the way of preparing tasty luncheon dishes, why not let them know before the rush of visitors arrive? It will be difficult I know for some of them, to get something different for their guests each day.

* * * * * *

A lovely dessert is made by using ice cream as a base, topping the whole dish with fresh strawberries and using strips of almonds to mark off the top as if it were pie.

* * * * * *

For the children, fresh fruit shortcakes are an excellent dessert when made with graham crackers instead of cake. Top the upper cracker with whipped cream and a single berry and the children will be delighted.

* * * * * *

A cool drink, too, on the porch goes a long way, or seems to in making one feel cool. Try freezing colored fruit juices int ice cubes instead of water. They are pretty in fruit beverages and a pleasant surprise when one eats them.

Horoscope

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

Thursday, June 20, 1929.

(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syn.)

Benefic stars dominate to-day, according to astronomy which reads the early hours as exceedingly fortunate.

It is pre-eminently a day for those who exercise authority to make the best of their power.

The President of the United States now is subject to planetary influences that inspire and stimulate him to courageous decisions.

Prosperity is indicated for the United States in such abundance that even the most sanguine prophets will be amazed.

Expansion of ideas will be apparent in all activities, astrologers forecast.

Stupendous commercial enterprises will achieve marvels not even dreamed in the past, the seers foretell, and they declare that inventors will reveal almost unbelievable powers.

This is a day for making plans rather than for executing them, since vision should be keen and judgment reliable while this configuration prevails.

It is a day to be cautious in financial matters. The temptation to speculate which may be strong should be resisted

Africa is to command new interest and to attract many Americans who will become interested in development projects, astrologers predict.

The evening may not be fortunate for elderly persons who should avoid overexertions.

Heart affections of many sorts, physical as well as figurative, are foretold for the summer.

Many marriages will result from summer romances which may be of an especially intense and hasty variety.

This should be a particularly favorable day for the athleric girl who will win special favor on the tennis court or in swimming contests.

Persons whose birthdate it is, have the augury of strange and extraordinary experiences in the coming year which should be good for spiritual and intellectual development.

Children born on this day probably will be quick-witted resourceful and exceedingly sympathetic regarding the woes of humanity. Many may have poetic or artistic talents.

Mrs. F. J. Shepard (Helen Gould) was born on this day of the month, 1868. Others who have had this as a birthday are U. S. Senator Francis E. Warren, 1844; M. E. Bishop Matthew Simpson, 1811; Anne Letitia Barbauld, poet, 1743; Louis Marie Baader, painter 1828.

SUMMER WEAR FOR SMART YOUNG WOMEN

(1) When milady exchanges her broques for tennis slippers, she also slips into a smart sports model, similar to this simple frock of linen, which is also most sophisticated in its low-cut back. This one-piece frock has a shoulder yoke in front, and by its clever cut pretends a hip yoke, front and back. (2) When a mere maid goes near the water in a black and white polka dot suit of silk, she immediately comes into prominence. This suit is worn over black jersey tights. If the neckline is high in the front, it more than makes up for in the back, with a deep dip toward the waistline. (3) Miss Eleanor Smith, noted aviatrix, is seen wearing the specially designed flying breeches and blouse selected by her for comfortable summer flying. This flying ensemble includes a loose coat, helmet and pumps rather than the usual heavy shoes.

ATTRACTIVE WASH FROCK.

THE STYLE No. 2785 is something entirely new for mornings, porch and home wear. It is really picturesque in red and white tones in sprigged dimity with rolled collar that ends in revers that reach to waistline forming a deep V to give length to the figure, vest and cuffs of plain white pique. Vivid red bias piping of pique makes it so individual. Another charming idea is orchid chambray with white organdie. Tub silk, rayon novelty crepe, pongee, checked gingham, linen and cotton broadcloth in geometric motifs are interesting isuggestions.

THE PATTERN designed in sizes small, medium and large is offered at cost price 15 cents (stamps or coin) as a service to readers who sew. You'll enjoy every moment making this smart dress with the aid of the new Picture Chart included, for you simply follow the pictures for instructions as to how every seam is joined.

NEW FASHION BOOK containing all the latest styles is 15 cents, but may be obtained for 10 cents if ordered with pattern.

UNREASONABLE PUNISHMENT.

Punishment ought to bear some relation to the offense. First indeed we ought to be certain that there was an offense.

Boy was in disgrace with his teacher because he got bad marks in arithmetic. He pulled down the average and the trustees were very keen on having a good class average in arithmetic,—and other things. If the teacher wanted to teach another term in that school her class had to make good averages and she wanted to stay there. And Boy was so mean. He wouldn't work and he would get such awful marks.

The teacher kept him in and made him work the examples again and again. And again and again he got them wrong. The longer she kept him in the worse the examples came out. Then the teacher called at the house and told her sad story. Father was outraged that Boy should be so mean as to worry the life out of a perfectly good teacher of arithmetic and gave him a whipping. But the work was no better. It was worse.

The teacher wracked her brain to find some way to MAKE Boy do his arithmetic eighty-five per cent. good. She remembered that he was anxious to get his airplane club. He loved that. He made planes that went all the way across the shop and the teacher said he was the best mechanic of the crowd. Boy was happy in the shop. "If you don't get eighty-five in arithmetic Friday you can't go to shop for a week," said the teacher. Of course he didn't get eighty-five or near it and of course he didn't get to the shop.

"You can stay home and study your arithmetic," said his father and mother kept silent. Boy sat on the back steps and cried as if his heart would break. The shop teacher missed him and sent for him and the message was sent back that Boy, having failed in arithmetic could not go to shop.

When the shop teacher heard that he grabbed up a ragged old cap from the bench near by, dashed out of the room without stopping to take off his apron, and thumped at the front door of Boy's house.

"So the messenger said. But I've come for him. He needs to make airplanes. If you found he couldn't dance would you cut off his hands or would you help him develop them? If you found he was shy on one kind of power would you cut off the power he had? This is the only way open for Boy to grow. He's got to come to shop."

"I'm with you," said father. "But will you please square things up with the arithmetic teacher?"

I suppose he did. Anyway, Boy makes fine airplanes. And he got a passing mark in arithmetic, by the grace of an easy test and all afternoon to do it in. That is something. Just how much arithmetic will Boy need to get him through this world? How much do you use daily. The four fundamentals, some exercises in the use of money, a few tables that can be found in a book,—and why so much to do?"

That Body of Yours

(By Jas. W. Barton, M.D.)

TREATING GOITRE BY LOW AIR PRESSURE.

As you know the higher up in the air you go, the lower becomes the pressure of the atmosphere, and this fact has been used in the treatment of severe cases of goitre.

Dr. H. Lax tells us that he experimented with forty patients by placing them in a room for four hours daily, where the atmospheric pressure was the same as it would be on a mountainof 3280 feet.

He placed two patients in a room at a time, and so arranged the ventilation that the lower atmospheric pressure was maintained.

In order to get the patients used to the treatment, the atmospheric pressure was not lowered at first. As the patients became used to remaining in the room the pressure was gradually lowered.

The treatment was continued from three to four weeks.

As a result, twenty nine of the forty patients showed a marked improvement

Fourteen patients had no subsequent complaints whatever, even nine months after the treatments.

Adding up the number of hours that these patients spent in the lower pressure it would equal about three and one half days.

However, three and one half days in the mountains would not improve the condition of a patient to the same degree as by the use of the room with lowered pressure.

Dr. Lax states that the frequent change between high and low pressure that is by going in and out of the low pressure room—is more effective than the uninterrupted low pressure of the mountains.

Now this knowledge is worth something because of the great number of cases of exopthalmic goitre which may be helped.

As you know the nervous symptoms are alarming to the patient, his family, and to the physician also.

When the heart symptoms become too severe it means an operation for removal of a part of the thyroid gland.

This operation is naturally dreaded by all concerned, although it is not nearly as dangerous as in former years, due to improved treatment before, during, and after the operation.

It has been found that daily rest periods, and the use of iodine, has so helped these cases that many operations have been avoided, or rendered more safe

The use of this treatment by lowered atmospheric pressure should be another step forward in the non-surgical treatment of these case.

OLD SONGS

THAT PIECE OF SONG, That old and antique song we heard, last night.

"I Want to See the Old Home Again"
(Contributed by "Unity".)

Dear home, far across the sea,
Day and night for thee I'm sadly yearning,
Loved ones all in all to me
Fondly wait the hour of my returning.
As I watch the swallows on their homeward way,
Speeding o'er the restless foam,
Fain would I be flying, for O, my heart is sighing,
Sighing for the dear old home.

Chorus

I want to see the dear old home again,
The cottage in the little winding lane,
I can see the roses climbing, I hear the sweet bells chiming,
And I'm longing for the dear old home again.

Long year cannot soothe my pain,
Absence only makes the heart grow fonder,
Oftentimes down the village lane
In some happy dream I seem to wander,
Loving lips are meeting in a tender kiss;
Loving souls with rapture thrill
Eyes are brightly glowing and tears of joy are flowing,
Then I awake an exile still.

THERE'S nothing else like Bon Ami for cleaning white shoes—all kinds except kid. It removes every trace of dirt and grass stains—doesn't hide the blemishes under a chalky paste.

Just apply the Bon Ami with a well moistened brush. Let it dry a moment, then dust off with a dry cloth—and the task is done quickly and easily. Your shoes are as spotless as new!

When the original whiteness has gone, avoid that pasty look by cleaning with Bon Ami before applying a whitener.

FATHER, BEFORE THY THRONE

LAKEFIELD, June 18.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The following is the beautiful hymn composed by F. M. Dela Fosse, of Peterborough, especially for the golden jubilee of "The Grove" school at Lakefield. Appropriate music was composed for it by E. de C. Fletcher, of Lakefield.

FATHER, BEFORE THY THRONE

Father, before Thy Throne we raise to Thee,
With welling hearts our hymn of jubilee;
For all the blessings of the bygone years,
For sunlit youth, unstained by sorrow's tears,
For manly precepts gleaned in form and field,
For hope that triumphed—for firm faith our shield,
Great God of Hosts, to endless years the same,
We praise and magnify Thy glorious name.

We thank Thee, Father, for Thy love sublime,
Whose priceless tokens light the path of time,
For shelt'ring groves, deep woodlands, vales and hills,
The rush of torrents and the lilt of rills;
Sweet songs of birds, and psalms that ever leap
From Nature's breast in diapason deep,—
In youth we learnt these glories to extol
With the warm raptures if the wakening soul.

And when stern winter's winds blow keen and cold,
When the loud tumult ceas ed in wood and wold,
And whitened landscapes glowed serenely fair
In the rapt silence of the moonlit air,
Thy voiceless challenge filled the gem strewn sky,
Again our voices made the glad reply—
"Father, to Thee we owe our varied store, Grant that we learn to praise and love Thee More"—

(All kneeling)—

Lo, now in humble prayer we seek Thine aid—
Keep us, Thy children free and unafraid,
Imbue our minds, with constancy to Right
To walk unswerving in the Central Light;
As days press on and son succees to sire,
Let firm affection's call each heart inspire,
And make this school through year's unnumbered stand
A living witness to Thy guiding hand.

INTERESTING SONG RECITAL TO-NIGHT

Pupils of Dorothy Allan Park Will Present Concert in Conservatory.

A most interesting song recital is to be given to-night by the students of Dorothy Allan Park in the Conservatory of Music Hall. Many of these students are already well-known to the public of Peterborough, their services being constantly in demand to aid worthy causes. It is interesting to note that amongst these earnest students, who realize there is no end to musical education and knowledge, are numbered no less than seven gold medalists and four silver medalists. In addition to these medalists, a scholarship was won by one of the students in competition with over one hundred competitors who came from all over Canada. The four singers who also won the first prize for the ladies' quartette in the recent Kiwanis competition are among these students. There is every season new and interesting pupils to make known to the public and some of these will sing to-night. Many of the audience attend these recitals each year, and find it most interesting to note the progress made by the students, not only vocally, but in style, interpretation and poise. A fine program is to be presented, and will comprise songs by such noted composers as Handel, Mendelssohn, Purcell, Schubert, Dvorak, Rubenstein, Strauss, Grieg, Tschaikowsky, Spohr, Bishop, Vaughan Williams, Lehmann, Spross and others.

Dorothy Allan Park and Charles Peaker, Mus.Bac., F.R.C.O., organist and choirmaster of Rosedale United Church, Toronto, will be at piano.

FASHION SERVICE

Embroidery in varied tones gives interest to this afternoon frock, which has smart new sleeves and graceful bows at shoulder and waist.

EMBROIDERY GIVES CHARACTER TO AFTERNOON FROCK.

By Mme. Havet of Agnes.

Embroidery is one of my favorite means of giving character to a frock. I have used it in this afternoon gown to suggest a gracefully curved line in the bodice as well as to indicate a color contrast. The sleeves of the frock are also of interest, as much for their embroidered tops as for the full bell portion below the elbow.

BLACK ACCESSORIES.

A lacquer red flat crepe frock is belted by a broad girdle of black satin, topped by a black hat and is worn with black gloves.

BLACK TRICORN.

A paillasson straw, in black, makes a low tricorn, with flaring corners. An embroidered veil hanging from it, adds to the chic.

It surely is a summer of polka dots. An evening frock of sheerest cream chiffon uses round crystals in all the pastel shades to polka dot the bandings of its low decollet age.

DON'T GO DOWN IN THE MINE, DADDY!

Down, down in the bowels of the dark earth! It was intolerably hot, and the evil smelling air was heavy with moisture. Others of his kind were pressed close against him. Their labored breathing smote his pallid cheeks and filled him with revulsion. Off in the distance the rumble of machinery was heard, while lights flashed here and there.

There was a long journey through dark tunnels. Then through revolving gates, a shaft, and at last the light! Covered with dust, his clothing torn, and physically exhausted, another commuter stumbled out of the subway to his home in the Bronx.

Thursday night will see the Western Clock and K. of C. hook up in a softball game at Central School grounds. Both teams have smart outfits. The Western Clock have one of the smartest teams in the league and are capable of playing real ball. The K. of C. have strengthened since their last engagement and hope to turn out a winning aggregation.

All the teams in the league are strengthening up and the six teams represented this year should turn in smart ball. Tomorrow night's game is called for 6.30 o'clock.

TORONTO DROPS OPENING GAME OF CAT SERIES

HERD WINS OUT 8-4.

Wings Batter Bears in Free-Hitting Game—Collect 22 Hits.

JERSEY CITY, June 18.—A penchant suddenly developed for hitting home runs, which came very close to giving the Skeeters a victory over the Rochester Red Wings in the champions' final game of a series here Monday, cropped out at Westside Avenue Park again yesterday in the first of a six-game series which Toronto is playing here, and was responsible for a 6 to 4 defeat of the Maple Leafs in the opener.

Julian Wera and Jimmy Walsh were the home run hitters. Wera's homer, with one aboard, climaxed a three-run rally that gave the Skeeters a 4 to 0 lead in the fifth. In the eighth, after being shut out by "Lefty" Shoffner for seven innings, the Leafs came to life and tied the score with a four-run rally that had Shoffner out of the box before the side could be retired.

Toronto's chance to win was short-lived, however, for Abe Martin came on in the eighth inning to relieve Clarence Fisher, who had started, and had his first delivery smashed beyond the confines of the playing field by the veteran Jimmy Walsh. The drive cleared the left-field fence with something to spare. Ralph Shinners made a gallant effort to get under it, and was somewhat shaken up when he rammed into the fence with his hands vainly uplifted. Walsh's drive was enough to win, but the Skeeters added another run for good measure.

KEYS WIN OPENER.

READING, June 19 (Canadian Press). — Reading slammed out a 9 to 4 decision to open the Montreal series here yesterday. The Keys pummelled Herb. Thormahlen, a southpaw, for 13 hits before he was removed at the end of the sixth.

Eddie Lautenbacher, making his first start for the Keys, allowed 12 hits, but kept them scattered.

HOMERS FEATURED TILT.

BALTIMORE, June 19 (Canadian Press). — Although the Orioles outhit the Buffalo Bisons in the opening game of the series here yesterday, the visitors gathered in the laurels by a score of 8 to 4.

Home run clouts by John Barnes, Moore and Fisher were responsible for six of the visiting runs.

SWAMP BEAR HURLERS.

NEWARK, June 19 (Canadian Press). — The league-leading Rochester Red Wings had a field day at the expense of three Newark pitchers yesterday, 22 hits rattling off the bats when the Red Wings opened the series with a 19-to-7 victory.

LAKEFIELD TEAM DIVIDES PROGRAM

Public School Team Plays Return Softball Game With Hastings.

LAKEFIELD, June 19 (Examiner Correspondence).—The return softball games with Hastings were played on the public school grounds on Saturday afternoon and, in spite of several showers, were much enjoyed by players and spectators. The first game was Lakefield's all the way and the second game reversed the luck and Hastings won an easy victory.

The first game, between Kennedy's team and the Hastings' Stars was notable for five home runs; Norman Graham and Carson Webster each had two and Joe Blewett one.

The visitors were good sportsmen and won and lost like gentlemen and displayed a desire to fraternize with their hosts in pleasant intercourse, which was heartily reciprocated by the home team.

Hastings—G. Scriver, p; I. Doonan, c; C. Redford, 1b; A. McKee, 2b; E. Fox, 3b; R. Stickles, ss; R. Scriver, rf; E. Richardson, lf; C. Jeffries, cf.

Lakefield.—N. Graham, p; J. Blewett, c; G. Kennedy, 1b; C. Webster, 2b; J. Leonard, 3b; G. O'Neil, ss; T. Graham, rf; R. Matthews, lf; G. Chappell, cf.

Umpires—C. Scriver at the plate; Ray Pearson and A. Sutton at bases.

Score by innings:—

Hastings.. .. ..0 0 0 1 3—4
Lakefield.. .. ..4 3 1 2 x—8

The second game, like the radio program "followed immediately" and was a seven innings' fixture by request. G. Scriver and N. Graham each scored a home run, but otherwise the game was very one-sided as Hastings had the edge all the way.

The line-up was as follows:

Hastings.—H. Wilson, p; G. Scriver, c; I. Bonds, 1b; L. Miles, 2b; F. Sargent, 3b; R. Walsh ss; H. Fowlds, rf; B. Collins, lf; J. Montgomery cf.

Lakefield.—N. Graham, p; R. Kemp, c; D. Chads, 1b; G. Kemp, 2b; H. Morrison, 3b; G. O'Neill, ss; R. Kennedy, ss; C. Hurl, rf; T. Graham, lf.

Umpires—C. Scriver at the plate; P. Marsden and Ray Pearson at bases.

Score by innings:—

Lakefield .. ..0 0 0 0 1 0 1—2

SISTERS ARE DEFEATED IN GOLF TOURNEY

Misses Cecil and Maude Smith Lose Out At London Hunt Club.

STRONG COMPETITION.

Mrs. Douglas Weld, Representing Toronto Club, Wins Golf Title.

LONDON, Ont., June 19.—Women golfers from Toronto made their presence known in no uncertain way here yesterday in the second annual invitation tournament of the London Hunt Club when they captured more than a fair share of the honors attached to the 18-hole medal competition. The opposition was strong, as the Toronto delegation was opposed by a field that numbered nearly a hundred, the greater majority from clubs in this city and west of London.

Mrs. Douglas Weld, a native of London, and a member of the Hunt Club until less than a month ago, played her first match under the colors of the Toronto Golf Club at the Toronto city championship last Wednesday, and then returned to her former haunts, and led the field with a sparkling 84. Going out Mrs. Weld, who was paired with the recent winner of the Ontario championship, Miss Maude Smith of the Toronto Golf Club, was one over par on the first, third, fourth, sixth and seventh, but a birdie at the eighth enabled her to make the turn in 44, which was not bettered by any other competitor, and coming home she played close to par, taking one stroke over on the fifteenth and seventeenth, and playing the last nine in 40, only two over par. Her card was:

Out—5 4 5 6 3 6 6 4 5—44
In —5 5 4 5 3 4 4 4 4—40—84

Too Many Putts.

This gave her the safe lead of six strokes over her nearest rivals, the Smith sisters, each of whom had 90. Cecil lost her chance to be second by taking three putts on the seventeenth green, while her sister did likewise on the home green. Mrs. W. S. Hunt, of Sarnia, was fourth with 91, and she was the only player in the first seven who was not representing a Queen City club.

In addition to the gross-score prizes, the Toronto Golf Club, as usual, walked off with the team event, as the four named players, Mrs. Weld, the Smith sisters, and Mrs. Jones, were among the first six players, and Mrs. Victor Sifton was in a three-cornered tie for seventh place.

To make the Toronto victory all the more complete, the Rosedale team won the net-score event. In addition, Toronto players carried off the honors in several of the other competitions that were staged.

Miss Betty Farncombe of the Hunt Club won the net-score prize with a well-played 97-27—70, but she was closely pressed by Mrs. Lake of Ridgetown, who had a net 71.

Following the completion of the driving and approaching and putting competitions the prizes were presented to the following winners by Mrs. George C. Gunn, president of the ladies' section of the Hunt Club, and Mrs. Allan McLean, the ladies' captain:

"LIBERTY HORSES" MARVELS IN ARENA

Patience is the watchword, and a goodly supply of it must have been very essential in the training of sixteen—or rather seventeen to be exexact—"liberty" or "rotation" horses, for horses, let it be known, are just as moody as the most temperamental Prima-Donna.

Sparks Circus contracted with John T. Benson, American representative of the famous Hagenback Trained Animal Farms of Stellinghen, Germany, for a group of sixteen "rotation" horses for the modest sum of fifty thousand perfectly good American dollars—half of the horses to be chestnuts and the other half greys, and none to be over the five year age limit. First of all the horses must be perfectly matched in pairs, and of pedigreed stock, for animals with a superior brain prove to be more susceptible to the art of the wily trainer. It required just eight months of difficult scout duty by the Hagenbeck lieutenants before sixteen perfectly matched horses were obtained and even the sacred precincts of the Kaiser's private stables were invaded in the quest. They were then turned over to the world's master trainer, Prof. Ernst Kloske, with instructions to educate them to a degree of perfection never attained by any other equine group. After fourteen months post graduate course in the trained animal school of Hagenbeck at Stellinghen they were proclaimed by the world's most competent horsemen to be trained to the very highest degree of perfection and ready for their American debut with the famous Sparks' Circus, where they are now presenting a series of astounding evolutions and manoeuvres that are absolutely the most marvellous the world has ever seen, and all without the command of man. Sparks' Circus exhibits in Peterborough, June 24, afternoon and night, and an entire mounted section of street parade is comprised of this famous battalion of thoroughbreds. Tickets both general admission and reserved can be secured circus day at Bond's drug store, same price as at the show grounds.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 19 (Canadian Press).—The Boston Red Sox fought the New York champions of the world to an even break here yesterday, setting the Yankees back another half game in the pennant race as the Athletics won. After the Hugmen had helped themselves to the opener by 9 to 0, the Red Sox took the nightcap by 7 to 4.

Fred Heimach scattered seven Boston hits in the opener to register his second shut-out of the season. Gehrig hit 1,000 in this game, including among his hits his eighteenth homer.

PICTORIAL GOLF

TIGHT LEFT HAND GRIP SHOULD BE MAINTAINED THROUGHOUT SHOT.

A very common fault in golf is the habit of relaxing the grip on the club with the left hand. This causes the club to fall down and oftentimes so far that it hits the right shoulder a very sharp blow. Nearly always it touches the shoulder.

This appears to be difficult to cure as it is a growing habit with most golfers. One player had done this so long he never felt as if he would make any kind of a success out of the shot unless he touched his shoulder. This seemed to assure him that he had taken the club back just the right distance, as a matter of fact he had actually thrown the club off the line. He might as well have started the swing with the club posed at the top of the swing instead of swinging back.

NORTH ENDERS WIN OUT 7-5

Dormer Pulls Cats Out of Hole in Fifth By Strike-out Route.

SPECTACULAR FIELDING.

Harrison's team grabbed a win from the Bridgenorth Wildcats in the twilight softball fixture at Central school grounds last evening by a 7-5 count. The game was a ding dong affair with the boys from the North end coming from behind to clinch the battle in their favor.

The first innings for both sides was scoreless and it loomed like a real battle, Harrisons failed to score in the second while Gillespie for the Wildcats poked a neat single and came in on Baird's double who later scored on a long drive from Forsythe's willow. The third innings was scoreless for both sides.

In the fourth the Harrison men, now two runs down and with a zero in their score column, began to feel Forsythe's offerings and chalked up two runs to tie the score. Errors on the part of the cats assisted Harrisons, in no small way to score.

In the fifth Bridgenorth was again held scoreless, while Forsythe went up in the air, being touched for a double and walking three men to fill the bases. H. Dormer, with two down and the bases full took over the hurling and pulled the Cats out of a hole when Dorington struck out. Two more runs were netted in this fram, making the score four for Harrisons and two for Bridgenorth.

In the sixth the Cats were still held scoreless while Ward and Dobson added two more counters to the Harrison score card, making the total six for them while the Bridgenorth men still had only two counters. Both sides failed to score in the seventh.

The scoring honors were evenly divided in the eighth, Harrisons and Bridgenorth each grabbing a counter. The first half of the ninth looked like a rally for the Bridgenorth team and looked for a minute or two as if they would tie the score. The North Enders started to be somewhat erratic while Baird and Forsythe scored another brace of counters for the Cats but the team lacked the final punch to score enough runs to tie things up, resulting in the final score of 7-5, for the North Enders.

When Forsythe retired from the mound for Bridgenorth in the last of the fifth, H. Dormer took the mound and Galbraith moved to first while Forsythe covered right field.

Vinette in left field for the Harrison men made a pretty catch of Galbraith's long fly into left field, when he leaped a bench and caught the sphere for a put out. Montgomery at centre also did well handling any hits coming his way.

Ross at second for the North Enders played about the headiest game on the field. He was credited with numerous assists and putouts.

Gillespie at centre field and Weese on second were the outstanding players on the Wildcat team.

Line ups:—

Harrisons—Dorrington, 3b.; Dundas p.; Ward, s.s.; Dobson, c.; Ross 2b.; Vinette, l.f.; Montgomery, c.f.; Smith 1b.; Clark r.f.

GOOD WATER SPORTS PROGRAM.

The Old Home Week water sports should be one of the big events in the extensive program that has been planned. There will be speed boat races, paddling and rowing races and swimming will have a large place. The swimming season has officially opened at Inverlea park, the water being warm, and the young swimmers will have plenty of opportunity to practise their fastest strokes for the races.

EXHIBITION GAME AT LINDSAY..

Harrison's team pulled another victory in the Softball League last evening, defeating Bridgenorth Wildcats, one of the strongest nines in the circuit, 7 to 5. Percy Harrison will take his team of fast steppers to Lindsay on Thursday night to stage an exhibition game with the leaders of the Softball League of the Scugog town. The North End lads are playing a tiptop brand of ball and expect to win handily when they invade the Lindsay stronghold.

DOUBLE HEADER AT DELORO TO-DAY.

Oshawa and Deloro hook up in another ball festival at the Smelter town to-day. It will be a double header. In Oshawa last week the teams spit a two-game series. It's a close race in the Central League and so far it has been win and win in turn.

OLD TIME LACROSSE GAME(?)

The old lacrosse players, who were formerly stars in Canada's national game, and who emblazoned the city's name across the sports world as the greatest lacrosse town in these parts, should not allow the suggestion of a game between two old-time teams to drop. Nothing has been heard of the game lately but it is to be hoped that some of the enthusiasts are quietly working out their plans and will spring this game of the ages as a surprise during the big week.

Campbellford is desirous to arrange an exhibition game with a local team for Old Home week, but as yet no team has come forward to oblige them. Three teams were formed in the C. G. E., but no games have been played to date, and there have been very few practises, if any.

SIMPSON WILL MEET WILLIAMS.

Despatches from Vancouver state that George Simpson, the Ohio State student, who was recently credited with doing the 100 yards in 9 2-5 seconds, has consented to go to Vancouver to meet Percy Williams in special races in connection with a big athletic carnival to be staged on July 12 and 13.

While it will bring together the two fastest men in the world, it will also give Simpson a chance to show just what he can do without the aid of starting blocks. He will also be running on a grass track, as they have no permanent athletic oval in Vancouver.

Percy would have liked to come here and give an exhibition of his speed during Old Home Week. This was found to be impossible, but he told Fred Whitcroft, an old Peterborough boy and friend of his, that he would be glad to come some other time. It now appears that Percy will have a busy session from now on getting in form for the races with Simpson.

ATHLETICS AWAY TO THE TOP.

The Philadelphia Athletics dropped their second game in a row on Monday for the first time this season. Yesterday they trimmed Washington 7 to 6, and will likely continue on their winning streak. This is one of the reasons why they are setting a .755 clip and away out in front in the American League.

LEAFS RELEASE SATTERFIELD.

Satterfield, pinch-hitter and relief twirler of the Toronto Leafs, was released Monday. He is the last of the famous 1926 team, which under Dan Howley, made a record in winning the little world's series in five straights. Satterfeild was tried out as a fielder last season, and while he was in there with the stick, he could not move fast enough to catch flies.

ONE OF WRIGHT'S STRONGEST OPPONENTS

Jack Guest, the Argonaut Club sculler, who competed in the Diamond Sculls at Royal Henley last year and was beaten in the semi-final by his club mate, Joe Wright, Jr., has been in England for some months and has been training daily over the Henley course in company with Lee and other English scullers. Guest is entered for the Diamonds this year again and is counted upon as being one of Wright's strongest opponents. The Toronto boy has probably become acclimatized by this time and should show to even better advantage than last year. Naturally there is the greatest interest in Toronto in the outcome of this year's race with two local scullers competing.

CAMPBELLFORD MAY HAVE GOLF COURSE

Those Interested Discussing Plans For Construction of Course.

(Examiner Staff Correspondence.)

Campbellford, June 19. — Heat and plenty of it, has been the order of the weather man as delivered here for the past two days. The result has been that in every office and indoor place of business people have been resorting to every conceivable cooling device available. Farmer folk have started to worry about a possible dry spell which will burn up the field crops. Office men have started to discuss the attractions of a golf course on such days as these. The result of this will probably be a meeting held in the near future.

Golf is not a new thing in town. It has been tried on at least two previous occasions. At one time a short course was marked out on the fair grounds. This lasted for a short while, and then a longer nine hole course was laid on the west side of the river just north of the corporation limits. Lack of funds was apparently the reason for the final failure of both projects.

At the present time, Campbellford is fortunate in having among its business men, one who has had some experience in laying out new courses, and is also an ardent golfer. He expressed himself as being very much in favor of a local club. Speaking of the matter he took into consideration the fact that there was a new course opening in Havelock, and supposed that Campbellford golfers could obtain membership. This was one way of getting in a game of golf but it would be hard for the members here to get in on the club schedules, and enjoy the full hospitality of the club, when they lived at such a distance.

In his opinion the American tourists and visitors from our own cities were mostly golf enthusiasts, and if Campbellford had a club, it would be an added attraction and also have a tendency to make the visitors stay longer, and come oftener. Thus the venture would not only be a means of recreation for the membership of the club, but an asset to the town.

Miss Helen Wills Becomes An Artist

LONDON, June 19. — Helen Wills, the artist, eclipsed Helen Wills the tennis champion, today when an exhibition of her tennis sketches was opened to public view in a Bond street gallery.

Helen even gave up her regular afternoon practice at Wimbledon to watch, with a happy grin, spectators and art critics file past her 34 water colors.

She smiled with some embarrassment at two large placards hanging from the walls on two sides of the gallery. The placards announced: "The price of the sketches is 12 guineas each" (about $60). All the sketches were of tennis stars in action, including four of herself in different poses and six of her great rival, Susanne Lenglen.

DECISIVE VICTORIES IN QUEBEC TOURNEY

Miss Virtue, Titleholder, Wins Her Match in Golf Championship.

MONTREAL, June 19.—Eight players, five of whom are considered serious championship threats, advanced to the second round of match play for the Provincial ladies' golf crown at Summerlea course yesterday, with decisive victories over their first-round opponents. With one or two exceptions, however, none of the eight matches resulted in upsets, the lower-handicapped players winning out in the majority of the matches.

Chief among the matches in which the outcome was considered doubtful was Miss Doris Taylor's 3 and 1 victory over Miss Helen Bernard, one of the most experienced tournament players competing for the championship. Another triumph that occasioned something of a surprise was Mrs. S. T. Blaiklock's 3 and 2 win over Mrs. H. R. Pickens.

BIG SIX STANDING.

Although the Athletics preserved their charm over the Washington Senators, Jimmy Foxx had no hand in it, so far as safe hits were concerned, and his average slumped under .400 for the first time in weeks. Foxx rested at .396 after five hitless attempts, and Frank O'Doul, his rival on the other Philadelphia team, gained two points to .390 by getting two out of four against Boston.

Rogers Hornsby went hitless and dropped below Ruth into fifth place with .320.

ACCEPTS CHALLENGE FOR AMERICA'S CUP

Yacht Races To Be Held Off Newport in September, 1930.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge for a series of races for the America's Cup, most coveted of all yachting trophies, has been accepted by the New York Yacht Club. The races will be held in September of next year.

The measurement, scantling and racing rules of the New York Yacht Club will prevail. The competing yachts will be 76 feet rating. There will be no time allowance.

The races will be sailed off Newport, R.I., best three out of five, with the first race on Sept. 3, 1930.

Acceptance of the challenge has been a foregone conclusion, but considerable interest was aroused by the announcement that the competing yachts would be of identical type and measurement, thereby obviating any necessity of a handicap for one or the other of the contestants.

Lipton Delighted.

London, June 19.—Sir Thomas Lipton expressed great pleasure when he was informed by the Associated Press of the New York Yacht Club's formal acceptance of the Ulster Yacht Club's challenge for the America's Cup.

"I'm very glad," said the veteran Irish sportsman, "to be able to renew my old efforts to bring back the cup to this country."

Plans for the design of the English challenger had been held up for final decision regarding competing yachts, but with the type of boat decided upon for the race, plans for the English boat are expected to be announced shortly.

GRETNA GREEN NOW PROSAIC.

Elopment of an heiress and a Cambridge undergraduate to Gretna Green recently has revealed that the famous hymenial haven has lost its romance. The couple are reported to have traveled in the most prosaic manner by automobile, and on arrival they were received, not by the historic blacksmith at his anvil, but by his wife, with a form to fill out about the duration of their residence in Scotland. No more do ardent grooms-to-be defy highwaymen and shoot down the horses of pursuing fathers. Weddings at the old anvil are decreasing to such an extent that last year Carlisle municipal authorities invited seven couples to be married at the forge under the auspices of the "Civic Week Publicity Committee."

Crookston

Mrs. Mary Geary and Miss Mabel Williamson are visiting friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Chambers of Whitby, spent the week end with relatives at Eldorado, Ivanhoe and Crookston.

Mr. Harry Lancaster, of Bancroft, visited with friends here on Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Savigny and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Simpson, of Peterborough, motored to Crookston and spent the day with Mrs. F. E. Geary.

The many friends of Mrs. Edward Twiddy will regret to learn that she is very seriously ill at the home of her son at Ivanhoe.

Mrs. Albert Wilson, who has been visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Geary, of Crookston, returned to her home in Peterborough on Sunday.

"Torchy" Peden of Victoria—if he has any other name than "Torchy" no one ever heard it—jumped from amateur to pro- cycling rank and landed with a splash right out in the front ranks of the foreign invaders who are riding at the cycledrome in Toronto. He had the unique distinction of winning his last amateur event and his first pro- event in the one week. Right on the heels of his sensation team victory with Bobby Walthour in the 25-mile pro. team race Peden announced that he would be an entry in the Wrigley-C.N.E. fifteen mile swim. Peden is an all-around athlete with a record for being a top-notcher in everything he has tackled in the athletic line.

Kid Chocolate Faces No Easy Task Monday

TORONTO, June 19.—If enthusiasts who have seen Jackie Johnson at work in the Midland training camp are not wide of the mark the Toronto boxer will give Kid Chocolate a great battle here next Monday night, when these stars tangle in the international tilt at Maple Leaf Stadium, Johnson, with the chance of a lifetime beckoning him on, has trained conscientiously and he has had the benefits of expert advice.

The Canadian is one of the heaviest hitters of his weight in the ring, but Chocolate is also a clouter, par excellence, and one or the other may find himself in a horizontal position ere the tenth round is reached. It is said that Chocolate has tender hands and that his bones are rather brittle. He had, however, better be in tip-top condition for this engagement.

STRICKEN INDIAN BREAKS WIRES

Waited Patiently For White Man To Come and Repair Line.

GIVEN HOSPITAL SERVICE.

By Thomas Wayling
(Special to The Examiner, Copyright)

OTTAWA, Ont., June 19. — The Minister of Public Works looked up from the huge pile of government contracts he was wading through and remarked, "Telegraphs? Do you know that the public works department has ten thousand miles of telegraph lines reaching up through the northern wilderness to keep the isolated folk up there in touch with civilization."

Your correspondent admitted having heard this and that it was a government line which carried the news when the transatlantic plane Bremen landed in the wilderness at Greenly Island.

"A curious report came to me the other day" mused the Minister. "Did I tell you about it. No? Well here it is. We have a line running north from Hazelton, B.C., and during the winter the wire went dead. It had grounded somewhere and so one of our men had to dig out his snowshoes, get a dog team and hike along the line.

"After travelling for some considerable time he finally found the break. It was not a frost break or anything like that. The wire had been deliberately taken off the pole and grounded. He started to investigate.

"The snow had been falling and there were no tracks, but at last he found what seemed to be a little trail into the bush. He followed this and found at the end of it a shack.

'Inside the shack was an Indian very seriously ill. The lineman with his mind on the ground wire said: 'What did you pull that wire to the ground for?' and the Indian replied, 'Me very sick. That was only way I get somebody come help me'."

"Talk about the simple Indian, that Indian knew that if the wire was tampered with some white man would come along to find out why."

"What happened then" we asked.

"Oh, the man fixed his wire, then loaded the Indian on his sled and took him back down to Hazelton where he was given medical care. The Indian recovered and went back to his shack."

And the Minister went back to his contracts.

ANCIENT MINES YIELD RICHES.

Modern mining science is making possible the working at a profit of ancient mines in Mexico that were deserted as exhausted generations ago, according to a report of the Mexican chamber of mines. Among them are those once worked by slaves to fill the tribute lists of Montezuma before the discovery of America. These are considered more important than any recent discoveries of metal deposits. The early miners tapped only the richest veins. Ventilation of shafts was unknown, illumination was accomplished by oil lights or tallow candles, and the ore was carried out on the human back. When mining by these expensive methods became unprofitable the mines were deserted, and new ones opened.

Salient Points of Bidding

Auction: North's bid of three Spades on the second round was a preference bid, not an assist. South rebid Spades on the strength of his own hand.

Contract: East supporting his partner's Heart bid by bidding three Hearts. South is compelled to bid four Clubs to show the two-suited nature of his hand, a bid fully justified by the values held. West bidding four Hearts, North can soundly bid four Spades in support of his partner's two-suiter.

The Play

West opens the King of Hearts, upon which East plays the Queen to induce his partner to continue with a low Heart. West should read East as holding the Jack and should lead low to the second trick. Accordingly he leads the 5, his original fourth best Heart. South trumps and analyzes the situation before leading to Trick 3. He readily sees that game cannot be made by cross-ruffing Clubs and Hearts, nor by the establishment by this means of a long Club, assuming the most favorable distribution (4-3) of the outstanding Clubs. His only alternative is to establish the Diamonds in Dummy, employing the Ace of Spades as the card of entry on the third round of Spades to make the established Diamonds. Therefore, as the Ace of Spades must be conserved for this purpose, he must lead a Diamond from his own hand, and thus sacrifice a possible Diamond trick that might be made by finessing, in order to make a greater gain in that suit later on. Accordingly he leads the King of Diamonds. West plays the Ace of Diamonds and then forces South with another Heart. South leads his remaining Diamond and effects the establishment of the suit in Dummy, East's Queen winning the trick. East leads the King of Clubs and Declarer comes up with the Ace. Declarer takes three rounds of trumps, winning the last round with Dummy's Ace. The adverse trumps all falling. Dummy's four good Diamonds take the remaining tricks.

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS OBSERVES TWENTY-SECOND ANNIVERSARY

Choir of Fifty Men Renders Special Music At Both Services.

MILLBROOK UNITED CHURCH

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, June 19.—A congregation of fully seven hundred people gathered in the United Church at evening worship, in connection with the special "Laymen's Sunday" on June 16, when the Men's Organized Bible Class observed its twenty-second anniversary, initiating this manner of marking the birthday of the organization, the afternoon gathering at 2:30 o'clock being also largely attended.

A choir of fifty men led in the singing both afternoon and evening, and at night the orchestra from the George Street Sunday School, Peterborough, under the leadership of W. H. Cunningham, was present and gave a number of musical selections besides playing for the song service from 7 until 7:30, and for the hymns during the regular worship period.

The soloist for the day was G. Douglas Carlisle, of Peterborough, who sang twice in the afternoon, his selections being: "The Earth Is the Lord's", and "The Lord is My Shepherd", and twice again at night, the first number being, "Nearer My God to Thee", and following the sermon most appropriately, Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar", set to suitable music. The male quartette, H. W. Johnston, W. H. Combe, M. McDowell, and V. C. Lambert, also sang at both services, choosing "River of Life", for the afternoon, and "Jesus Saviour Pilot Me", for evening worship.

Beautiful floral decorations were placed at the altar of the church, and in the entrance hall, where a vigilant reception committee extended a warm welcome to the incoming worshippers. A billeting committee was also in readiness to see that any remaining over for the evening service were entertained in the homes for the tea hour.

Associated with the pastor, Rev. W. W. Jones, B. D., on the pulpit platform were the speaker of the day, Frank C. Sharpe, of Toronto, general secretary of the Big Brotherhood Movement for the Dominion; the class president, W. O'Brian, and the Sunday School superintendent, W. Fred Fallis.

Rev. Mr. Jones offered the opening prayer, Mr. Fallis read the Scripture lesson, and on behalf of the Men's Class Mr. O'Brian extended a hearty welcome to everyone present, explaining that 'Laymen's Sunday' will be an annual event, and mentioning appreciatively the fine service rendered by the two teachers who have led the class in Bible study during the twenty-two years of its existence, the late Miss Agnes Hampton, who was instrumental in its organization and taught effectively for seventeen years. When illhealth compelled her resignation, her sister, Mrs (Dr.) H. Rae took charge and is still carrying on the work with marked success, changed lives giving evidence of what is being accomplished for God and His Kingdam. The men are anxious to increase the membership of their class, approximately forty being now enrolled, and the president made it plain that a very cordial welcome will be given any who desire to join with them in an hour's study of God's Word each Sunday during the year. The willing help given by the pastor and superintendent was also referred to by the speaker.

Mr. Sharpe chose "Foundations" as the subject of his afternoon address, basing his remarks upon the Master's sermon in Matthew 7,24-29 where the story is given of the wise man who built upon a rock, and the foolish man who was content to erect his dwelling upon a sandy base. The difference in the principles of architecture, as applied by the speaker, was that between life, and making a living. "It all depends upon foundations whether or not we would be ashamed to have our friends gaze upon an intimate picture of the unseen things which go into a day's life, if these could be painted upon the walls of our rooms when the night falls, and retiring time has arrived."

"A background of religious teaching and duty makes for an enduring foundation when the day of testing arrives. Unexpected calls come and test the preparation days. These are sometimes extended and filled with sacrifice, the reason to us being unknown until He reveals His purpose that we may accompany Him in putting His message across. He is depending on us; if we fail, He too must fail, for the time being, in carrying out His plans. Let us stand firm for our Christian principles, and when the emergency arises the foundation of Christian character we have been building through the years will bear any strain."

Ten of the members of the Tuxis Square acted as ushers for both afternoon and evening services.

Evening Service

"World Service" was Mr. Sharpe's subject at night, the text being: I Chronicles 29; 5, "Who then is willing to consecrate his service this day unto the Lord?" Presenting Jesus, the One who alone among men can forgive sin, taking a human derelict and setting him upon his feet again, the speaker went on to mention the claim which Christ has upon the lives of those whom He has created, suing the ringing challenge, 'Is there any greater call than this to consecrate all to Him who is our Saviour and Lord?' God puts up with a good deal from human beings, but there is one thing He will not suffer, and that is to take second place in any life. If we are transformed inwardly, we will show it by an outward expression; as we come nearer to our Master, we come nearer to mankind. As Jesus Christ come in, everything that is unfit to bear His presence goes out.

The members of the class and their wives, with their teacher, Mrs. Rae, served lunch in the class rooms at the close of evening service, the and redeemed by His own blood, isguests including Mr. and Mrs. Sharpe, the members of the orchestra with their pianist, Miss Laura McFarlane, and others, the opportunity for becoming acquainted and enjoying an hour's social intercourse being greatly appreciated. The formal vote of thanks to all who had helped in making the day's services such an outstanding success was moved by Mrs. Rae, seconded by the secretary of the class, James H. Might, and heartily endorsed.

The offering for the day was about Sixty Dollars, and will be used to help in defraying the expense incurred in marking the anniversary occasion of the Bible Class.

'HUSKY'S MADE ME FEEL BETTER THAN I HAVE IN YEARS'

"I Had Suffered With My Stomach for So Long and Now I Feel Like New," Says Ontario Man.

ALFRED PUDDIFOOT

"Even a meal of rich foods doesn't hurt me now I'm taking Husky," said Alfred Puddifoot, of 20 Valmuto St., this city, as he told how he had suffered from indigestion and stomach trouble for years and then gotten complete relief in a few days by using Husky.

"I had had a bad stomach for many years," he said, "and practically everything I ate soured on my stomach and gave me a heavy, sick feeling. I spit up parts of my food and had such severe attacks of heartburn. My appetite was just about gone entirely and I didn't have enough strength to do anything. I had suffered this way for 10 long years and nothing I did for my trouble gave me much relief.

"I began using Husky because my friends were talking about it and they said they felt sure it would help me because it was such a fine medicine. I have been using it regularly and it has just about given me a new stomach. I haven't felt so well in years. Husky has built up my strength and appetite wonderfully and food does not hurt me one bit. I sleep better and feel good all over."

Begin using Husky to-day and note how soon your food tastes better, sleep is more sound and restful and you feel stronger and better in every way. It is marvelous what this medicine will do for you in a few days. Husky can always be obtained at Bond's Drug Store and at other good drug stores everywhere.

REGISTER

Of Social and Business Meetings

The Register is published to enable organizations planning major meetings to know in advance, and reserve, evenings on which there are no rival attractions. It will pay Peterborough organizations to consult the Register prior to settling dates. Responsible officers should mail notices well in advance.

Before deciding a date for any event, consult the Register to ascertain that there is no conflict with other events—and then send in YOUR date quickly so that other organizations will not use it.

BIG NATIONS SEEK PEACE SAYS PREMIER

World Learns Little More About Conversations Over Week-end.

MACDONALD SPEAKS.

General Dawes Urges Early Agreement On Naval Reductions.

LONDON, June 19 (By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer).— The world learned a little more last night of those conversations whch Premier Ramsay MaDonald and General Charles Dawes, new United States Ambassador to Great Britain, held on Sunday afternoon in distant Forres, Scotland.

In the speeches which both made last evening, the Prime Minister at Lossiemouth and the Ambassador in London, there was an expression of the common desire for the deepest Anglo-American friendship. "The hands we clasped," said Premier MacDonald, "were not cold with official correctness but warm with a friendship inspired by a common enthusiasm for service in the cause of international goodwill and commonsense.

"Let's be hopeful for the cause of world peace and for the progress of civilization," the Prime Minister said further. "For in the joint hands of the English-speaking peoples rests not only their secure guaranty, but as well the ark of the covenant of human freedom."

But to the details of the conversations last night's speeches added little to what had already been announced. There was no intimation of a possible visit by Premier MacDonald to the United States, and of conversations between himself, President Hoover and Premier Mackenzie King of Canada at Washington. As in Sunday's statement, indeed there were hints rather of a general conference.

All Nations to Gather.

"We met," the Prime Minister said, "inspired by the hope that we might be instrumental in preparing a board around which other nations might ultimately sit in co-operative fellowship, studying ways of gaining a sense of security, not by arms, but by the absence of arms. As to the wide world purpose of what is known as the Anglo-American conversations, I hope that neither the large nor small states will have any doubt that they are not exclusive—they are inclusive."

Ambassador, speaking at greater length at the Pilgrims' Club dinner in London, urged outstanding importance of an early agreement on naval reduction. It would seem to be the next step towards world peace. Its successful accomplishment required the co-operative employment of two distinctly unrelated talents—that of naval technical experts, and that of statesmen, he declared.

The contributions of the naval experts should be definitions of abstract equality, General Dawes asserted. "Thus, for instance," he said, "one might find a yardstick with which to determine the military value of individual ships. Thees ships might differ in displacement, size, guns, age, speed, and other characteristics as to make it possible to compare for example cruiser fleets or combined fleets of two navies and establish a party between them."

OBITUARY

MAURICE LOWRY.

The friends of Maurice Lowry in this city were shocked to hear of his sudden death at Ottawa yesterday. The deceased was born in Ashburnham, and for a number of years was with the Peterborough Hardware Company before taking his present position as representative of a Galt manufacturing concern, where he resided with his family.

Mr. Lowry was in the city visiting his mother and sister on Sunday last, and appeared in the best of health.

His wife was formerly Lulu Scott, also a resident of Ashburnham, who survives with three boys.

The funeral will take place in Galt.

On Monday afternoon, June 17th, at half-past one, the marriage was solemnized at Park Street Baptist Church, of Irene Irwin, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Irwin, Monaghan road, to John Coit, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Coit, Cross street.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles V. McLean.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Coit signed the register.

After a honeymoon spent at Gull Lake the happy couple will reside in Peterborough.

MILK REPORT IS FAVORABLE

Board of Health Will Notify Ten Property Owners To Instal Sanitary Conveniences.

That the milk being supplied to the homes in the city by the milk peddlers is only slightly above average in cleanliness was indicated by the report of Dr. C. B. Waite, read at the meeting of the local Board of Health held yesterday. Dr. Waite's report showed that nearly all the milk tested was clean, several were "slight," and one was "a little sediment." The inspector will check up on these cases.

A report was read from R. H. Parsons, city engineer, stating that cause of the complaint of E. Freeman, 718 Elcome Crescent could only be removed by installing a septic tank. Permission was granted for such a tank by the board.

Notices will be sent to ten property owners in the city requesting them to instal sanitary conveniences in their home and to connect these conveniences with the city sewers. The motion was carried that the city instal sanitary conveniences in the home of Walter S. Hamlin, 184 Lock street, and W. J. Moher, 238 Caddy street. The cost of the work will be referred to the Public Health Department of Ontario.

The attention of Dr. J. A. Morgan, Medical Officer of Health for North Monaghan township, will be drawn to the open drain leading from the premises of a resident on the Port Hope highway. This step was taken to abate the nuisance of the open drain.

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter

.. .. ..BRIGADE CALLED. .... ..

The fire department was called to 573 Bolivar street at 7.45 this morning to a fire that started in a rubbish box. No damage was done.

NOT THE RIGHT PLACE.

Although a great variety of licenses are issued at the local Chamber of Commerce, marriage licenses are not among them, as was discovered by an old gentleman on applying there for one to-day.

CEMENTING FLOORS.

A portion of the concrete floor adjoining the new hardwood flooring in the fire hall is being renewed by the firemen. With this work complete the floors will be in condition to give service for many years.

NEW HOMES FOR BIRDS.

The iron standards supporting lights on George street are serving a double purpose. The castings near the top are so designed that they contain a hollow space with a convenient entrance through a hole in the side. Consequently the poles furnish homes for many sparrows and a few swallows.

WILL ERECT ROAD SIGNS.

The Peterborough Auto Club is preparing for its yearly job of putting up road signs. About 850 signs that will cover municipalities, routes, resorts and lakes within a forty mile radius of the city are being sorted for erection and work will be started later this month.

AFFECTS DANCE PAVILIONS.

Daylight saving is adopted not without some adjustments. Some of the dance pavilions in the vicinity are finding a little difficulty in deciding which would be the best time to adopt.

According to Chemong pavilion authorities, it seems that nine o'clock daylight saving time seems rather early for the dancers, because at that hour it is so light that the people do not feel enthusiastic about dancing. They derived these conclusions from observations last Monday night, and so are at present undecided which plan they shall adopt.

Melody Inn at Lakefield is on standard time. The village itself is on the old time, and that means an hour longer for dancing on Saturday nights, as twelve o'clock standard time is one o'clock daylight saving time.

STOP SIGNS ERECTED.

In the west end of the city a number of new stop signs have been erected. Reid and Park Streets are now through highways, and all vehicles entering on those streets are required to come to a full stop before proceeding.

BOULEVARDS DECORATED.

The decoration committee for Old Home Week have started their work on Charlotte Street, the main entrance to the city, and have placed pots of flowers at each end of the avenues which run from that street.

DOUBLE DANCE BAND.

Melody Inn at Lakefield drew a good crowd last evening when they featured two orchestras with square and round dancing. Red Monerief and his orchestra provided the music for the square dancers, while "Rick" and his Melody men supplied their incomparable music for the more modern toe trippers.

REDUCED TO RANKS.

The old steam pumper, once the spark throwing, flame belching pride of the Peterborough Fire Department, while it has been displaced by the more modern motorized fire-fighting apparatus has not yet passed beyond its stage of usefulness.

Although like an old fire horse who has been ousted by the automobile, its task now is one that is not so spectacular as flame fighting, it still puffs, grunts, throws sparks and belches smoke as in the "good old days."

At present it is at the corner of Homewood and Walton Street, pumping water from a drain pipe, but the machinery runs like clock work. The engine is a sorry looking sight as when compared with its shining splendor of other days. The nickel work has dulled, the red paint has worn off and its glory has departed. It is no longer a respected member of the fire department, but is now merely a laborer.

BEAUTIFY GRASS PLOTS.

Little urns of flowers have been placed in the small grass plot immediately east of Hunter Street Bridge, which adds greatly to this small oasis.

FOR SUMMER WEAR.

The girls of the modern generation go from one extreme to the other. Just a short time ago three stockingless members of the weaker sex attracted a great deal of attraction on the main street, while last night two other girls were noticed strolling nonchalantly around in white ducks and sport sweaters. The old saying rings true, "The man who understands women hasn't been born yet."

BATTLE OF MUSIC.

A large crowd of dancers was attracted to Chemong Park pavilion last night, to witness and to participate in the Battle of Music as staged between Mowry-Steers and their Silver Collegians and Ken Morris with His Playing Parsons.

An additional stand was built outside of the dance floor directly opposite the regular orchestra platform, where Ferdy and his men held sway.

Alternate dances were played by each band, and the crowd, from the applause and the number dancing, and as well the large crowd of listeners, seemed to enjoy the musical feast. The attraction of dancing to two entirely different tempos went over big, and further attractions of this nature will take well with the dancing set of Peterborough and Chemong.

The last few dances were played by the massed bands of twelve pieces. Ferdy and his five musicians and Ken Morris and his seven players, from opposite sides of the pavilion, produced some of the snappiest and most fascinating rythmns that have been played locally for some time.

PORTRAIT OF COL. MACNACHTAN PRESENTED TO COUNTY COUNCIL

Son and Successor Makes Presentation To United Counties.

HAD FINE CAREER.

Tributes Are Paid to the Deceased By Warden Wood and Others.

COBOURG, June 20 (By Staff Reporter).—The hall of remembrance of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham received last night the picture of the late and still deeply lamented clerk and treasurer, Col. Neil F. MacNachtan. It was presented to the Counties Council by his son and successor in office, Edward L. MacNachtan, and the kindly eyes of the old "Colonel," looking from the life-like portrait, quickened the memories of his former associates to whom he had been an impartial friend, guide and philosopher.

The picture will be hung in the Council Chamber in the numerous presence of other silent servants of the two counties, former wardens, clerks and solicitors, among them his father, E. A. MacNachtan, who was clerk of the counties from 1863 to 1873 and clerk and treasurer from 1873 to 1891.

Major MacNachtan made the presentation to the Council near the close of last night's session. In a quiet voice that faltered in its reference to his father, he said it was a custom to include in the Council's gallery of honor picures of clerks and treasurers who had passed on, and because of his father's long service and the esteem in which he was held, it was fitting that his father be similarly remembered.

The picture of Col. MacNachtan was formally accepted by a resolution moved by Reeve W. H. Nelson, seconded by Reeve N. R. Hartt, with an expression of gratefulness to his son.

Tributes to the personality and efficient service of the late Col. MacNachtan were expressed by Warden Wood, Col. Fred D. Boggs, K.C., counties solicitor; ex-Warden M. J. Elliott of Bowmanville, Reeve W. H. Nelson of Percy Township, Reeve J. M. Bygott of Campbellford, L. C. Murphy of Cramahe, A. S. Williams of Darlington, M. J. Holman of Clarke, Deputy-Reeve G. T. Hancock of Port Hope, J. N. Stone of Campbellford, and N. R. Hartt of Murray Township.

Mr. Stone recalled that he had first met Colonel MacNachtan in 1906 at the opening of the House of Refuge, and subsequently as representative of Percy and Campbellford.

"There is no more honorable picture on these walls," Mr. Stone said. "He was one of nature's gentlemen. It never seemed a bother when we asked him for help and information. He seemed to take a pleasure in it."

W. H. Nelson—"He liked promptness and also dignified order in this Council; the rules and order we observe to-day is largely due to his leadership. I think his son will make a capable successor."

Col. Boggs spoke particularly of Col. MacNachtan's splendid military career and of his signal distinction in receiving the Victorian Order when he took his battery to England. Only one other man in Canada shared the honor at that time.

Prince Is Permitted To Drive In Stanley Park

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 20.—(Canadian Press)—His Royal Highness, Prince Henry was given permission to-day by his physicians to take a short drive in Stanley Park. His fractured collar bone is rapidly mending, but his arm is still in a plaster cast.

No decision has as yet been made as to when the Prince will leave Vancouver for Eastern Canada.

OLD PICTURES ARE EXHIBITED

W. S. Merrill Intends Placing Two Portraits of Former Days in Store Windows.

CHAMPION LACROSSE TEAM.

William S. Merrell is about to establish a precident that it would be well for other merchants in the city to follow for Old Home Week. There will soon be on display in his store windows two pictures, which will carry the citizens of the city back to the times when champion lacross teams blazoned the name of Peterborough in championship letters across the continent, when the fire brigade was a volunteer force and used to fight the flames with their hand drawn reels.

In the years of 1879, and 1880 Peterborough, boasted of a lacrosse team that was never defeated. The picture of this team is one that will soon grace Le Brun's window. H. Lebrun was the president of this noted aggregation at that time and it is a coincidence that the picture should appear in a store that has carried his name for over fifty years.

The personnel of the team as in the picture is—Back row—W. Rudkin; J. Coughlin; R. H. Forsythe; H. Halpin; H. Phalen. Centre row—J. Joyal; M. McDonald; H. Lebrun; W. Sanderson; P. Rudkins; P. Sheehy. Bottom row—C. Rutherford; P. Donahue; Simpson.

These men were Central Ontario Champions for three years, during which time they were undefeated. In 1880 they were the winners of the Gildersleeve Cup. Their fame brought them invitations to play games in such cities as Quebec, Montreal and Toronto, where they upheld the reputation which they had earned.

First Volunteer Fire Department

The second picture is one that goes back beyond the memory of the majority of a number of the present citizens but which can be remembered by some of the older residents. It is the first volunteer fire department that Peterborough boasted of. These men held sway during the years of 1881 and 1882

Y.W.C.A. CAMP IS ONE OF COMFORT

New Home For Girls Opened

Summer Camp at Eaglemount, Stoney Lake, is Beautifully Situated.

WELL LAID OUT.

Pretty White and Green House Is Surrounded By Evergreens and Conifers.

It would be hard to find a lovelier summer home than the one recently purchased by the Young Women's Christian Association at Eaglemount, Stoney Lake. Yesterday was the official opening day for the new camp, and those who attended were, without exception, charmed and surprised by the beauty of the surroundings and the comfort of the home itself.

The situation, from the point of view of scenery and natural loveliness could hardly be surpassed. The pretty white and green house, surrounded by evergreens and conifers, with its sloping approach of pink granite rock softened by moss and lichens, nestles in its bower of green and looks out at the blue waters of the lake, lapping its shores. Directly in front, some distance away, is a long island, with low shrubbery, and behind it, about five minutes run by motorboat, is McCracken's Landing.

The house is picturesque and very pleasing in appearance. Skilful hands have built up the rock and the stone walls that make little garden spots, while its natural growth is graceful in outline and not too heavy or sombre. There are spacious verandahs that surround the upper and lower storeys and there are plenty of windows and doors. Nothing seems to have been forgotten in the making of this a very pleasant place.

The cool winds from the lake, on even such a sultry day as was yesterday, steal through the screened doors and windows and loiter on the broad verandah with its comfortable wicker furniture and swinging chairs and hammocks.

Large Living Room.

The front entrance is into the living room and this room strikes the note of tasteful furnishings, simple but very comfortable and effective, that dominates the whole house. There are softly-flowered cretonne window curtains and coverings for the green wicker furniture, light floor rugs, books in low wall cases and flowers on the table, while the pictures are well hung and show excel-

Patient Turns the Tables On Chicago Physician

CHICAGO, Ills., June 25. — (Canadian Press).—"What you need," said Dr. F. Siegfried Jaskson, examining a transient patient at his office last night, "is to have your tonsils taken out. I'll operate to-morrow."

"And I," said the patient, drawing a pistol, "will operate now."

Somewhere in Chicago to-day there is a man with $210 of Dr. Jackson's money and a pair of tonsils that need taking out.

WOMAN'S BODY BADLY BRUISED

Oshawa Man Being Held As Result of Fatal Drowning.

CRAFT UPSETS IN LAKE.

WHITBY, Ont., June 20 (Canadian Press).—Frank Bruno, Oshawa, is today being held by police as a material witness, following a drowning fatality at Whitby Harbor last night, when Mrs. Frank Kobernick, also of Oshawa, lost her life.

According to police information, Bruno was with Mrs. Kobernick in a flat-bottomed punt. The circumstances of the upsetting of the craft and the drowning of the woman are being investigated, as numerous bruises were found on the woman's body, some of them, according to Dr. C. F. McGillivray, being the result of direct blows.

Prior to the accident, Bruno had returned with another woman, Mrs. Fialka, Oshawa, and her two children to shore. He and the dead woman, it is said, were in the punt alone when the fatality occurred.

11 KILLED IN STORM

Colt Pays Four to One

Famous Ascot Gold Cup Will Remain in England.

U. S. HORSE SECOND.

French Entrant Runs Three Lengths Behind Second. Winner.

ASCOT, Eng., June 20 (Canadian Press)—The famous Ascot Gold Cup will remain in England for another year despite the attempts of French and United States horses to annex the trophy which is the feature attraction of the Ascott meeing.

For the second successive year the British colt Inversnin, owned by Reid Walker, won the historic cup here to-day from a field of thirteen horses including the best French and United States colts. Inversnin finished strong, two lengths of Reigh Count, leading United States three-year old of last year and favorite for to-day's race. Palais Royal II, a French entry, captured third place three lengths behind Reigh Count.

Reigh Count was the favorite before the race at four to one. Inversnin paid eight to one while the odds on the French horse to win were ten to one.

The Gold Cup, run over a two and a half-mile couse paid 2,500 sterling (about $12,500) to the winner in addition to the cup, valued at 500 sterling or about $2,500.

CAPITAL SWEPT BY RAIN STORM

Torrents Bring Relief To Parched Land and Crops.

CIRCUS DAY IN CITY.

OTTAWA, June 20. (C.P.) The torrents of rain which fell last night while a severe electrical storm hovered over the Ottawa district, brought welcome relief to the crops of this vicinity so that the benefits greatly exceeded the damage done. The strawberry crops, the root fields and the grain fields, as well as the pastures, were all rescued from the drought which the extreme heat wave of the preceding days had brought about. The grain was not far enough advanced to be injured by the pounding of the rain, driven by a wind so strong that many trees in and around the city were broken.

The telephone company reported 800 lines were put out of commission by the storm in and around the city. The lights were out in several districts for a considerable time. A residence on Carling avenue was hit by lightning but no serious damage was done to it. A barn belonging to Charles Lozier in East Hull, Quebec, was also hit and completely destroyed by fire.

Panic Feared at Circus.

It was circus day in Ottawa and the evening performance had just started when the storm hit the "big top" with all its fury..

It looked for a few moments as if a panic was in the offing but the circus announcers assured the audience that the great tent was safe and the bands hit up lively tunes. The only tent to fall before the wind was a small one housing a side show and no person was hurt although many were drenched by the rain.

The subways on Bank street and Elgin street were both flooded. The former had four feet of water. Motor cars became stalled in it before the drivers realized how extensive the flooding had been. Some lads made history by swimming in one of the streets.

Commander Byrd Sends Message To French Flyers

PARIS, June 20.—(Canadian Press).—The three flyers of the Yellow Bird, French trans-Atlantic plane, were congratulated by Commander Richard Evelyn Byrd in a message relayed from the Antartic to-day.

The radiogram was addressed to Jean Assolant, pilot, Rene Le Fevre, Navigator, and Armeno Lotti, radio operator and financial backer. It said: "My heartiest congratulations to you all for your brilliant flight in the Yellow Bird."

PREMIER FLIES BACK TO LONDON

New Labor Prime Minister Takes Up His Special Duties.

DAUGHTER STAYS BEHIND.

HENDON, Eng., June 20 (Canadian Press).—Premier MacDonald arrived at Hendon airdrome, just outside of London, at four o'clock this afternoon, returning from his vacation at Lossiemouth, Scotland, to take up his official duties as head of the new Labor government. He made the entire trip from Lossiemouth by airplane, with a stop at Catterick Camp, Yorkshire, for luncheon.

LOSSIEMOUTH, Scotland, June 20.—(Canadian Press).—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald completed his holiday here this morning and left aboard a military airplane for his London desk.

The Premier found a large crowd awaiting him at the taking off field where the bomber in which he was to fly and the small scout machine to act as escort previously had landed.

He, his daughter, Ishbel, and his secretary mixed for a few minutes with a delegation of children from the school he once attended as a boy. Then he donned his new flying coat, helmet and goggles.

Miss Ishbel helped to strap a parachute to her father's back and he bade her goodbye, entering the plane. The pilot, Lieutenant Hislop expressed pleasure at having so distinguished a passenger and said the weather conditions high up were fairly smooth and he expected to make a good trip.

The Premier's daughter was unable to accompany him by airplane because of a British Army regulation forbidding women to make flights in military planes.

TEST BRAKES BY MACHINE

Recent Convention Has Been Installed At Imperial Oil Service Station.

MADE BY THE RAYBESTOS.

The first brake testing machine in Peterborough has recently been installed at the Imperial Service Station at the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer streets, as an extension of service to motorists of the city. The machine is the only one of its kind in the vicinity and is manufactured by the Raybestos Company, Limited.

It consists of two raised tracks upon which the car to be tested is run. The front wheels and the back wheels of the car rest on two sets of sliding plates. To test the brakes, the brake pedal of the car is pressed down and, by means of air pistons, the plates on which the wheels are resting are set in motion. The effect is that of the road moving under the car instead of the car moving over the road. The brakes resist the motion of the plates and their power of resistance is measured by indicators and lights on the side of the apparatus. Any uneveness in the resistance of the four brakes is recorded.

The principle used in this testing machine has proven to be the most practical for the purpose. It is a much more satisfactory method than the old system of skidding the car on the pavement, on which local motorists have had to rely. Police throughout the province endorse the machine as a safeguard for car owners. The management of the local station states that there is no charge for testing brakes.

EMPIRE TRADE WILL INCREASE PRESENT BELIEF

Government's Attitude On New Tariff Is One of Watchful Waiting.

Increase British Preference.

Changes Upward in Canadian Schedule Can Only Be Made By Parliament.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 20. (C.P.) — While the progress of the United States tariff legislation is being followed here with close attention there is no disposition to act hastily. The attitude of watchful waiting which was adopted by the government before the introduction of the last Robb budget, is being maintained. There is no tendency to ignore the proposed changes in the United States tariff schedules, and their probable effect on Canada's trade is being noted but the process now going on is one merely of gathering information. The Tariff Advisory Board is at work, but it is stated that the board is engaged on the iron and steel, coal and fish schedules, etc., which were the subject of inquiry at recent sittings. Naturally, the modifications in the United States tariff have a bearing on some of these schedules, and their effect is being noted.

Changes Made by Parliament.

Changes upward in the Canadian tariff can only be made by Act of Parliament. Consequently, if the government should consider it advisable to meet some of the United States increases by upward revision here, such changes would have to wait the next session of Parliament. The view held here is that there will probably be no finality in the United States tariff until the fall. Then it will be time enough to settle down, and determine exactly what the effect on Canada will be. That once determined, the government has intimated it will be prepared to act in the best interests of Canada.

Hon. James A. Robb, Minister of Finance, is out of the City at present, and the chief commissioner of tariffs in the Finance Department is away in the Maritime Provinces.

The attitude of the government, however, appears to have been stated by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, at Grand Bend yesterday when he said that the fiscal policies of Canada would be shaped at Ottawa, and not dictated by Washington. Mr. Robb himself intimated during the past session of Parliament that Canada must trade with those countries which will trade with Canada.

Increase British Preference

While there has been no announcement of a definite nature either during the session or since, it seems probable that the policy of the government will be one of greatly increasing trade within the Empire. The logical step to achieve this object is increased British preference. If the United States shuts out Canadian commodities, a market for these commodities will be found elsewhere—preferably within the Empire. This seems to be the viewpoint held here.

But there will be no hasty action, and the only effort at present, as far as Canada is concerned, seems to be to find out what the United States' final action will be.

MONTREAL LOAN FLOATED ON LONDON STOCK MARKET

LONDON, June 20 (Canadian Press Cable). — It is expected that possibly 60 per cent. of the City of Montreal loan floated here a few days ago will be left to the underwriters. The issue amounted to approximately $10,500,000, issued at 92½ per cent., and bearing interest at 4½ per cent. The first loan of its kind since the war to be raised here for Canada, it had been hailed with much gratification.

Search For Guns on Boats

Solution Rests With Federal Authorities Crown Attorney States.

TOUGH ONES REMAIN.

Dock Lessor Is Charged With Receiving Stolen Cameras.

WINDSOR, Ont., June 20 (Canadian Press). — Search of their boats by Canadian customs or immigration officials was recommended to-day by Crown Attorney James S. Allan, as a move against gun carrying by the Detroit River rum smugglers. The solution rests with the Federal Government, the Crown Attorney said, in connection with the kidnapping of a Border Cities photographer by suspected rum runners on Tuesday, and by the same token that solution would prevent much of the liquor smuggling. At the present time the stricter enforcement by the United States river patrols has weeded out the weakened rum runners. No longer is the old-timer of the river front engaged in this remunerative pastime.

"Instead the gangs now at work are undoubtedly the toughest of the rum runners, fellows who will not be frightened by talk, and I think it was men of this calibre who were responsible for Tuesday's affair at Amherstburg. The point that puzzles me, however, is that Federal Government places officers at the ferry docks to scrutinize and question each person coming in the country that way and yet these men can come over in boats and land unmolested and unquestioned. There is no doubt that if the boats in which they arrived were searched for contraband and that if the boat operators themselves were searched the number carrying weapons and the number of armored boats would be decreased materially.

Take 2—Search .....

Dock Lessor Arrested

Alfred J. Woods, lessor of export docks at Amherstburg, was arrested by Provincial police at noon to-day and charged in police court with receiving cameras stolen from a Border Cities photographer, was remanded without bail to the Essex County jail at Sandwich. Woods, who was arrested at his home by Constable Farrow, was taken immediately before Justice of the Peace W. A. McCormick.

He was not asked to plead and while he has not made application for bail, Crown Attorney James S. Allan has opposed any bail at this time. He wants Woods questioned in connection with the alleged kidnapping of Horace Wild, photographer, by suspected rum runners in Amherstburg last Tuesday afternoon. Wild's cameras were taken from him at that time, it is charged.

BRIGHTER COLORS ARE RECOMMENDED FOR CADETS

LONDON, Ont., June 19.—In an effort to popularize Cadet training for the sake of its physical advantages, Major James Jeffrey, Cadet Inspector for Military District No. 1 has advised schools purchasing new uniforms to replace khaki with more vavid colors.

More colorful uniforms make the Cadet Corps more interesting to boys, says Major Jeffrey, in suggestion to the Windsor-Walkerville Technical school authorities that uniforms featuring the school colors be secured to replace the worn-out khaki suits.

LIGHTNING STRIKES CHURCH.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., June 20. — In a very severe electric storm last night, lightning struck the steeple of the First Presbyterian church, and ripped off numerous slates without setting fire to the building. Public utilities services were temporarily disorganized by the force of the storm, which was accompanied by a heavy rainfall, and which blew out electric generators and other apparatus throughout the town.

WORKMAN LOSES HIS LIFE ATTEMPTING TO SAVE CHILD

Painter Tries To Snatch Little Chap From Path of Car.

INQUEST IS HELD.

Verdict of Accidental Death is Returned By Coroner's Jury.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 20.—(C.P.)—Two lives were lost and a heroic act of self-sacrifice was made in vain here yesterday when Frederick Deyies, 48, Cataraqui painter and 4 year old Kenneth McCrowe, also of Cataraqui were killed by an automobile on the provincial highway near here. When he saw Kenneth McCrowe walk from behind a truck across the path of an oncoming motor Deynes who was painting by the side of the road, hurled himself forward to snatch the child from danger. He was a second late and the car dragged both for a considerable distance. The car was driven by Miss Ora Mae Baird, 18, Lapper, Ich. She brought her machine to the side of the road in a frantic effort to avert a fatality and precepitated it with its five occupants into a ditch. Deynes was killed with terrible injuries and the child died four hours later. The autoists escaped injury. A verdict of accidental death was returned at last night's inquest.

The Weather

TORONTO, Ont. (Meteorological Office), June 20 (Canadian Press).—An area of high pressure is spreading over the western portion of the continent, while an extensive depression covers Northern Canada. Thunderstorms with high temperatures have occurred in Ontario and light showers in Manitoba; elsewhere the weather has been fair and comparatively cool.

Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner to England, to check up her belief that her son, Alfred, was one of the seven victims in the airplane crash over the English Channel on Monday. Mrs. Smith states that her son was on a tour of the world as secretary to a wealthy New Yorker and as far as she knows his last stopping place was Melbourne.

An old Peterborough boy from Montana already here for the festivities, drove up to the Armouries to have Mr. Garstang decorate his car the best to be had. This is enthusiasm for you.

Citizens who have cars can get ideas from the book store for the decoration of cars, which add greatly to the parade. Many people are arranging to decorate their cars for the occasion.

Picnicker Loses Life When Head Hits Pole

TORONTO, Ont., June 20 (Canadian Press).—His head striking against a trolley pole when he leaned from the window of a fast travelling electric train, Albert Sidney Hadden, 13, this city, was killed yesterday between Eastville and Meadowvale, Ont. The boy was one of a large party of picnickers from a local Sunday school bound for Eldorado Park. The train was travelling at about 50 miles an hour when little Hadden, eager to see the scenery, leaned too far out of the window.

Provincial Police Will Search All Rum- Runners For Firearms

WINDSOR, June 20 (C.P.).—Rumrunning boats leaving export docks are to be inspected to determine whether the crews are armed. Inspector Arthur Moss of the Provincial Police, announced yesterday following a gun battle in the Detroit River between rum-runners and a United States customs patrol speed boat.

Inspector Moss says that the carrying of guns on Canadian waters is a violation of the Criminal Code and that a determined effort will be made to see that the law is enforced.

This announcement came on the heels of a warning from Attorney-General Price that crime would not be permitted within the borders of the Province of Ontario.

Meanwhile, with the United States blockade tightening, rum-runners were continuing their activities along the border last night. Reports told of feverish activity at the export docks as cargoes of liquor destined for United States river and lake ports were being loaded.

Young Stowaway Regrets His Action; Is Accompanied To Boat-Train By Lotti

PARIS, June 20 (Canadian Press).—Only one of the Yellow Bird flyers, Armeno Lotti, Jr., accompanied Arthur Schreiber, who stowed away on the plane on its Transatlantic flight, to the Leviathan boat train to-day as he left Paris for the United States.

The stowaway seemed contrite and somewhat anxious. He shook hands with Lotti before the photographers, and they kissed each other on both cheeks.

Schreiber said: "I am glad to go home, but I am sorry I can't go with a little different story."

"I did a fool stunt and I am heartily sorry for it," he said. "The only consolation is I have found such a good friend in Lotti here, one of the men who suffered from my foolishness."

He was handed his ticket at the last minute. He wore a new striped blue suit with a gray fedora hat, and carried a new suitcase in which was believed to be his new evening clothes, ordered for him by M. Lotti, but never used.

CANADA TO INCREASE BRITISH PREFERENCE

EXPEDITION BEING PLANNED TO VISIT UNCEDED LANDS

Department Authorities Will Make Treaties With Indian in Patricia District.

MUST VISIT ALL TRIBES.

Each Family of Five Entitled To Square Mile of Reservation.

TORONTO, Ont., June 20 (Canadian Press).—Bound on a peaceful conquest of the only remaining unceded Indian territory, W. C. Cain, Deputy Minister of Lands and Forests; Capt. W. R. Maxwell, Director of Provincial Government Air Service, and J. G. Rutherford, Provincial Government movie photographer, will take off from Toronto Bay next Tuesday on a mission to the Indians of Patricia district. With H. W. Awrey, Deputy Minister of Indian Affairs at Ottawa, Mr. Cain is charged with arranging a treaty with 3,000 Indians who occupy the vast section lying north of the Patricia River in the English River and Patricia district by which 128,320 square miles will be brought under the British Crown.

The treaty-makers will take one month, during which they will fly 1,800 miles to visit all the Indian tribes. Owing to the fact that ownership of this territory was long disputed by the Ontario and Manitoba Governments, the Indians of Patricia have never been brought under agreement. Mine claim staking heretofore has been done on Indian lands. The commissioners will try to give ample protection to the interests of prospectors and claim holders in the prospected district and it is not expected that the Indians will demur at signing. A careful account of the Indians must be made because under the law each family of five is entitled to one square mile of reservation. The chiefs will likely ask for strategic points, including probably prospected areas, but the officials will endeavor to move the reservations further north in Patricia. Under the law the Indians have the rights to base metals found on their lands, but these rights come under the control of the Dominion authorities.

Besides the treaty signing, Capt. Maxwell is commissioned to choose bases for the future expansion of the aviation service. Besides taking pictures of the negotiations, the photographer will get photos of miles of scenery never yet seen through lens. The Dominion Deputy Minister will be accompanied by two doctors, who will report on the physical condition of the Indians.

WELLAND, Ont., June 19 (C.P.)—H. Lavaux, Loreda, Texas, walked 3,800 miles in two months and 24 days to win a bet of $500 made with the Mayor of Lodera, that he could travel the distance within three months. Lavaux arrived here to-day and explained the trip would cost him $12, as his expenses amount to $512. However Lavaux has one consolation of seeing his fiancee, a young woman of this city, who was mainly responsible for his long hike. The Texan confided to reporters that he was hoping to take the young woman shortly as his wife.

GOOD PRIZES IN MARATHON SWIM

Will Be Feature Attraction of Campbellford Old Home Week.

TRIANGLE COURSE.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 20 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — One of the big attractions for the Campbellford Old Home Week is expected to be the three-mile marathon swim. This is scheduled for Friday afternoon, August 2, and the prizes are to be money, and are believed to be sufficiently large to attract many professional swimmers of note. The present scene for the swim is in the wide part of the river just north of the concrete retaining walls. The course will be laid out in the form of a triangle.

The winner will win $500, or if a woman wins, one hundred dollars will be added to that amount. Second prize is $250, and from there the amount becomes less. There are five prizes in all, and a special prize of one hundred dollars for the first woman to finish the course.

This is the first venture of its kind that has been attempted here, and it seems to be meeting with general approval.

Freak Costumes Seen During Recent Hot Spell

TORONTO, June 20.—(Canadian Press).—The heat wave which has prevailed in Ontario for several days has had a repercussion in the appearance of freak styles of street attire for men and women.

At Hamilton citizens started in amazement yesterday as four bareheaded girls sauntered along clad in "sailor" pajamas. Sleeveless dresses with a wide v at front and back and sailor trousers composed the outfit.

At Tillsonburg a citizen, after first asking the chief of police whether his costume was within the law, appeared on the street in short blue pants, bare legs and sandals, silk shirt with open neck and short sleeves and a straw hat.

Eskimos Happy Says Missionary

OTTAWA, Ont., June 20 (Canadian Press). — Christian Eskimos are the happiest people in the world, said Bishop Lucas in an address recently in Richmond, Ont. The Eskimos held life cheaply 25 years ago, infanticide was rampant, and the murder of old people was not infrequent among them, but Christianity had changed their natures and all this had disappeared, the Bishop said. They are model parents now, and the old people are well looked after. The Eskimos are hospitable to a degree, too, the Bishop said, and in these days they meet white men as equals.

Bishop Lucas has been a missionary for the Church of England in the Mackenzie River District, the largest diocese in the world, for 35 years. His diocese comprises 600,000 square miles, with a population of 6,000, one person to every 1,000 miles.

BUY IN EMPIRE IS THE ANSWER TO U.S. TARIFF

Minister of Justice Addresses Big Liberal Rally in Huron.

NEW TRADE TREATIES.

People in United States Still Require Our Products Declares Mr. Lapointe.

GRAND BEND, June 20 (C.P.).—Unmistakable heralding of a Canadian increase in the British preference as a partial Canadian answer to United States tariff increases against the Dominion was given here yesterday by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice in the Mackenzie King Government.

Speaking at a monster Liberal picnic gathering yesterday in this riding of South Huron, the Minister of Justice, after counselling against the psychology of fear, declared Canada would maintain her trade position, "through increase in the British preference, and trade treaties with other nations of the world.

He added this note, which brought applause from his big audience: "The people of the United States will still require our products, tariff or no tariff. God and nature has so ordained it. And no one may long fight against God and nature."

Displays Government's Defence.

Just as surely as Hon. Richard B. Bennett, Conservative leader in his House of Commons speech, showed the attack strategy of the official opposition in the election campaign anticipated for next year, Mr. Lapointe yesterday displayed the government's defense. It was, as already said, a heralding of increase in the British preference; new trade treaties with world nations; and an urge not to ape the United States in any fiscal policy, thereby implying fiscal and financial dependence on the States and conceding United States leadership.

Three Federal Cabient ministers, in all, faced the throng of South Huron and neighboring constituency voters, assembled in the entrancing Grend Bend Nook in the Lake Huron shore, here yesterday. The others were Hon. John C. Elliott, Minister of Public Works, and Hon. William D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue. That the United States tariff policy will be the predominant note in the next election—necessarily so, because of Mr. Bennett's assault along that line—was clearly demonstrated yesterday when all three ministers made it the biggest single point of reference in their remarks.

Messrs. Elliott and Euler, however, made no further indication of Mackenzie King government policy than to assure the voters they could depend upon it that the administration and parliament would take steps to meet the new situation. But the anticipated United States tariff increases were not through Congress as yet. And more people, said Mr. Elliott, had died through fear of anticipated plagues than had ever died of a plague.

CHALLENGE IS ISSUED PREMIER BY TORY LEADER

Hon. R. B. Bennett Wants To Know if Government Is Going To Stop Dumping.

RUINING VEGETABLE MEN.

Act Was First Put Into Force By "Shadow Government" of Meighen.

(By Frank Flaherty, Staff Correspondent Canadian Press.)

BRANTFORD, June 20. — Hon. Richard B. Bennett, leader of the Conservative party, yesterday threw down a challenge to Premier King and his government to say what they intended to do with regard to the anti-dumping Act," designed to prevent the importation of fruits and vegetables under unfair competitive conditions.

"I ask the government now through the press," he thundered, "whether they intend to enforce that Act this year or not; are they going to protect our fruit and vegetable growers from having their markets swiped by products produced in the United States, where the season is earlier, and which are now dumped into Canada just at the time Canadian fruits and vegetables are coming on the market?"

Enforced by Meighen

The Act, Mr. Bennett explained, was passed in Parliament after it had been introduced by Hon. Jacques Bureau, former Minister of Customs. It was not brought into force until the so-called "shadow government" of Right Hon. Arthur Meighen passed the necessary Order-in-Council in 1926.

Then after the return of the Liberals to power it had been repealed on a demand from some Western supporters of the government. The Conservatives tried to have it restored but were out-voted. The Conservative chieftain argued the fruit and vegetable growers and market gardeners were being driven out of business because of the dumping of United States products in this country. In many cases such products were being sold here below the cost of production. They were sent in just as the Canadian season was opening and forced prices down.

Mr. Bennett addressed two meetings yesterday, a picnic in the afternoon at Port Stanley and last night a large crowd in the Brantford Armouries.

Opposes Ambassador.

W. F. Cockshutt of Brantford presided at the meeting here. He declared he was wholly opposed to sending ambassadors from Canada to foreign countries, on the ground that it was likely to impair the solidarity of the Empire. Canada, in this respect, he said, was setting a bad example to the rest of the Empire when, as the senior member she should be setting the others a good example.

He failed to see, he said, how the presence of a Canadian Minister at Washington had improved the situation between the United States and Canada. There was a genuine cause for alarm in what was now going on along the border between the two countries. "There are," he said, "shootings and killings and Canadian boats are being stopped. These things do not indicate friendliness, and I think the time has come for Canada to notify the United States that we cannot go further in helping them to carry out their prohibition law."

PAVE HIGHWAYS INTO MILLBROOK

County Council at Cobourg Let Contract To Dufferin Construction Company.

WORKING AT WARKWORTH.

(By Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, June 20.—The Dufferin Construction Company's tender for paving the road between Millbrook and the Peterborough-Port Hope highway at a cost of between $73,000 and $74,000 was recommended by the Roads and Bridges Committee Wednesday morning and was approved in the afternoon by the counties council. The road will be 18 feet wide and of the same structure as the highway.

The tenders had been called for a 16 foot road and two bids were received, one from the Dufferin Construction Co. for $66,999.00 and the other from the Goddison Construction Co. for $76,644. The committee agreed that an 18 foot road was preferrable for the traffic over that road. If the contract is awarded it will be on condition that payment will be deferred for six months.

3.41 Miles Long

The Millbrook road is 3.41 miles long. It was not included in this year's paving program, but the proximity of the Dufferin Company now completing the highway from Fraserville to Bewdley was an opportunity, Warden Wood said, for saving about $10,000. The council had decided to pave the road within the next three or four years. For these reasons the county roads commission had advertized for tenders for the council's consideration.

Reeve W. J. Jibb moved in committee that the Dufferin Construction Company's tender be accepted. R. J. McKnight, deputy-reeve of Cavan, seconded the resolution, which was adopted without opposition. W. F. Rickard of Newcastle presided.

The work will be started about the first week in July and will be completed in a month, Warden Wood stated.

Working At Warkworth.

The contracts for county road pavement in the villages of Warkworth, Colborne and Brighton were returned from Toronto yesterday with the approval of the Department of Highways, and work will be begun at once in Warkworth and also Colborne or Brighton. It is likely that this program will be carried out simultaneously in the three villages.

The Ontario Amesite Company's bid had been accepted by the counties road commission, but this action required the sanction of the Department. George Greer, Road Superintendent, informed the Examiner that Wm. Taylor, of Toronto, chief engineer with the Amesite Company, went to Warkworth yesterday to look over the ground as a preliminary to immediate operations.

extends from the northern limit of the village to a point 1,50 feet east of Norham. This is, of course, a county road. The distance to be paved is two miles and the estimated cost is $42,866.80.

The pavement in Brighton will be 1.67 miles from the north end of the village to Grimmes corners and will cost approximately $34,887; and in Colborne 1½ miles will be paved at an estimated cost of $35,782. It will extend from C.N.R. to a point 2,300 feet north of the northern limit of the village.

The type of road in Warkorth is the same as that which was laid in the village of Hastings.

House of Refuge.

The report of the Board of Management of the House of Refuge, read by A. E. Morton, deputy-reeve of Clarke township, estimated this year's expenditure for wages, salaries, repairs, etc., at $20,000. There were 67 inmates on June 1st, 33 women and 34 men; 16 died during the year and 13 were admitted.

Remuneration of local ministers for holding religious services at the House of Refuge was fixed by the Board at $2 a Sunday.

Four tenders were received for fire escapes, and the lowest, $1,020, was accepted. The material will be shipped to Cobourg this week for erection.

Deputy-reeve W. H. Carruthers, of Bowmanville, presented the report of the County Property committee. It included an arrangement made with Magistrate Floyd of Cobourg, whose complaint that his accommodation was entirely inadequate, was strongly supported by the provincial inspector of such offices.

Col. Floyd puts up with a desk in the windy grand jury room. In a conference with a sub-committee of Cobourg and counties representatives the magistrate modified his demands very materially. He will continue to use the present room, which will be repainted and otherwise improved and equipped with a telephone and new desk. These changes will cost about $400, of which Cobourg shall pay half.

Warden Wood congratulated the committee on its negotiations with the magistrate.

BETHANY WINS FROM HASTINGS

Visitors Knock Three Men From the Mound To Win 16-3 Victory.

TAKE EARLY LEAD.

HASTINGS, June 20 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — When Bethany visited Hastings yesterday, it only required six innings for the visitors to take home the bacon to the tune of sixteen to three. The home team used three men on the mound in an attempt to keep the situation in hand, but the visitors led the way from the beginning, and when Scriver gave up during the fifth things looked pretty blue for Hastings. O. McCarthy relieved him on the mound, and did good work in the sixth innings, allowing only one run and one man on first. The visitor started the game with the regulation nine and played all the way through without a change. Hastings carried one sub and made several changes on the line up during the play.

Bethany batted first and landed out five runs off Harrington. The next frame was not so good, and the visitors were held scoreless. The same thing occurred in the third. In the fourth they got going again and counted four more. In the fifth, things were even better. With one man out, one run scored, and two men on bases, Scriver was told to exchange with the first baseman, and he quit the game. O. McCarthy went to the mound, and after allowing five more runs, held the visitors to a single counter in the sixth.

The home team were having a day off. Their fielding was ragged in general or else the batters placed them just where nobody was. Bill Wellman changed his twirler three times, and couldn't seem to get things working to suit him. Harrington started as pitcher and Scriver relieved him soon after the game got under way. When Wellman called Scriver to change with first base, he walked off the diamond, and O. McCarthy took over the mound for the remainder of the game. After the first two innings, the home team did not seem to be able to hit their stride.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, June 20.—Including a lot of cattle that arrived late there was some 1,200 head held over from Tuesday, and these together with fresh arrivals made an offering of some 1,800 head at the opening of the market at the Union stock yards yesterday.

Trade was slow at the start with bids a shade easier on everything but the very best killers. A few tops sold strong, but there was not much movement to the scales up to 11 o'clock. Continued warm weather was held to be responsible for the slightly easier feeling.

The calf trade was dull with bids 50 cents a hundred-weight lower than Tuesday. Choice veals sold from 13½ to 14½ cents a pound. The offering was light and plain calves were a very slow sale.

The lamb sales showed prices steady at Monday's decline. Choice lambs brought 17 cents a pound, medium quality 15 ½ to 16 cents. A few yearlings sold at 12 to 13 cents a pound.

Sheep prices were steady with a few of the best selling at 7 cents a pound and most good clipped ewes sold from 6 to 6½c.

Bids on hogs were steady at 12½ cents f.o.b. and 13¾ cents a pound weighed off cars for select.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, June 20. — Conditions on the local wholesale butter market remained about the same yesterday, although prices again gained substantially. Local dealers state that the height of summer production has now been reached and that the quality of all supplies to reach the market is of the best. Trading was brisk and showed strength all through the day, the price of No. 1 finest creamery rising to 37 3-4c per lb., and No. 2 grade 1c per lb. lower at 36 3-4c. No difficulty was encountered in moving all supplies to arrive at the market, and the situation was declared to be normal in every respect.

Eggs Steady.

Prices held steady on the local wholesale egg market, although trading was very slow all through the session. Receipts from country points continue to be fair despite the advent of warmer weather and there still appeared no demand for eggs for storage purposes. Consumptive demand has also dropped, due to the heat, and brokers yesterday encountered difficulty in moving supplies with any amount of ease. No spread has yet appeared between extras and firsts although extras are decreasing in volume, and dealers are quoting country shippers for ungraded eggs, delivered and cases returned, as follows: Fresh extras, 27c per dozen; fresh firsts, 25c per dozen; fresh seconds, 22c per dozen.

Cheese Holds Advance.

Cheese prices remained steady at Tuesday's level, although the demand was not as brisk as it has been in the last few days, home demand appearing to have about reached its limit and export demand being slightly lower. The price of No. 1, large, colored, paraffined and government graded cheese was quoted steady at 20c per lb.

OLD HOME WEEK.

With Old Home Week rapidly approaching, Peterborough citizens are looking forward to seven days and nights of gala entertainment and wholesome fun, and the program of the week's activities offers no reason for fearing that these anticipations will not be realized.

It will be holiday week in Peterborough, and the carnival spirit will have full play—but it is not necessary to say that the city's reputation for sensible behaviour and orderly conduct can be trusted to see that liberty does not degenerate into license.

There will be entertainment, amusement, fun in abundance, and Peterborough will welcome her old boys and girls with cheerful hospitality and the warmest of welcomes.

Every citizen is expected to enter thoroughly into the whole affair and play a part by extending friendly greetings and showing courtesy to all the guests within our gates, whether they be former residents or neighbors from surrounding cities and towns who drop in to help us celebrate.

It is everybody's week—and everybody should have a share in the fun and frolic of the re-union.

SENATOR GRAHAM HONORED.

Canadians generally will be glad to learn that Right Honorable George P. Graham, of Brockville, has decided to accept the honor conferred upon him by the Dominion Government in asking him to drive the last spike in the construction of the Hudson Bay Railway next autumn.

It is fitting that this tribute should be paid to Senator Graham, one of Canada's grand old men, and a statesman who, as Minister of Railways during the Laurier administration, played a large part in the development of the Hudson Bay scheme.

He it was who turned the first sod on the construction from The Pas northward in 1910, and it is particularly appropriate that nineteen years after he should have the distinction of making the last stroke in the completion of the great adventure in railway pioneering.

The selection of Senator Graham as the leading figure in this ceremony does credit to the present administration of Canada's Department of Railways and Canals and to the Government generally, and will be applauded throughout the country as a deserved recognition of great services rendered the State by the veteran former Minister.

THE MOST BRITISH CITY.

The argument between the respective mayors of Toronto and Kingston as to which is the most British city is one of those controversies that get exactly nowhere and accomplish no useful or desirable purpose.

The Kingston contention is that the Limestone City wins the argument because its population is almost entirely British, and because there are Communistic activities evident in Toronto.

The reply of Mayor McBride—a childish answer it seems, too—is that Kingston is only a village as compared in size with Toronto, and that so far as the Reds are concerned, the steps taken to keep them in check is proof of Toronto's British spirit.

The whole controversy is meaningless.

So far as the evidence produced by the rival contenders is concerned, Peterborough has as much right to make the same claim, inasmuch as over 95 per cent. of our entire population is of British or Canadian descent, while all the Reds in the community could hold a convention in a telephone booth and still leave room for a press table.

But we're satisfied to let the rest do the fighting—referring anybody who questions the British spirit of this city to the recruiting record established during the war.

GIVE THE BOY A HOLIDAY.

Hackneyed, but neverthe less true, is the old copybook motto about all work and no play making Jack a dull boy.

It is to be hoped Peterborough parents will keep that fact in mind with the holiday season at hand.

Many children secure temporary positions during the long vacation—a course that has much to commend it in the lessons it teaches of the importance of work, the value of money and that sort of thing.

But it is a mistake to devote the whole holiday period to work.

The boy who gets a couple of weeks away both from temporary employment and from school and receives the benefit of an outing at one of the many summer resorts the district boasts is going to do better work in school next term, and incidentally he is likely to gain in health and strength as well.

Let the boy go to work for part of the summer if thought fit—but see that he has a real holiday for the rest of the vacation season.

Peterborough boys have an unique opportunity in this respect through the activities of the Rotary Club, whose camp at Clear Lake offers camping at cost to the boys of the community.

There is no reason why every boy in Peterborough of camp age should not have the time of his life at Skookum this summer.

THE SLOW DRIVER.

A man has been fined $25 in an Ontario police court for driving his motor car on a public highway at a speed between ten and fifteen miles an hour. The case has caused much comment; but, on the whole, it would seem that the majority agree with the magistrate who imposed the fine, on the ground that the slow-moving vehicle is just as much a menace on a busy highway as the car which exceeds the speed limit. Traffic officers appear to be almost unanimous in their approval of the verdict, though a Safety League official thinks the decision wrong. He contends that special circumstances should be taken into consideration—the condition of the car, etc.—and in this he is doubtless right. No magistrate, it is safe to assume, would convict a driver when he was powerless to avoid the offense complained of. But, under ordinary circumstances, the car which travels along the crowded highway at about ten miles an hour is abusing the rights of the road and interfering with the comfort and safety of others.

It is objected that motorists ought not to be in such a hurry as they usually are; but it must be remembered that the law provides for driving at thirty-five miles an hour, and often the distances traveled are great. One dawdling car may hold up the procession for long stretches. Where the highway is wide and the slow driver does his best to allow others to pass him, the annoyance is certainly not so bad as in the case of one who obstinately refuses to get out of the way; but there is always a certain amount of danger in cutting-in and it is the slow drivers who are responsible, very often, for the practice, since they have to be passed, and it is not possible, under all circumstances, to do so in absolute safety. It is time that an example was made of this form of highway offense, for few will deny that it brings about dangerous situations, in addition to the annoyance it causes. Slowness is not synonymous with safety, though there are evidently drivers who believe it is. It is to be hoped they will be disabused of the idea, through the corrective action of this Ontario magistrate.—Hamilton Spectator.

VALUE OF OPPOSITION.

In evident determination to change the previous situation in which one party for many years ruled in undisputed power and was able to employ steam-roller tactics at the slightest sign of opposition, the electors of Saskatchewan have gone to the other extreme. The provincial elections have resulted, it would seem, in something which has all the earmarks of a nearly perfect deadlock. As in Great Britain, no party will be able to carry on without support from outsiders. But in Saskatchewan there is every indication that the smaller groups—Independents and Progressives—will be split in their allegiance, while in Britain the third party is in a position to indicate fairly definitely, in its own good time, which of the main parties it will unitedly support. The people of Canada's most populous Western Province, however, may be consoled in the thought that instability in the party situation in the Legislature is not likely to react so seriously or directly upon the economic welfare of the community as a like situation might in the national parliament of Britain. It is likely that some understanding will be reached which will allow of the carrying on of the administration by one party or the other. In fact, many people of all political complexions will be of the opinion that the new situation is an improvement over the old one-sided one, even from the point of view of the welfare of the Liberal party. A huge majority and a weak opposition over a period of several Legislatures generally result, irrespective of the personal character of the men at the head of things, in the development of a "system" of party domination which, as time goes on, is bound to take on undesirable characteristics. And when the "break" does come—as was the case in Ontario early in the century—it usually results in the utter rout of the party and its relegation to opposition benches for many years to come. Mr. Gardiner and his followers may in the long run be benefited by the fact that the blow has fallen now rather than at a later date. For even if they cannot carry on the government, they can provide a very strong chance for a comeback at an early date. At the same time all Canada will congratulate Dr. Anderson upon his wonderful up-hill fight and wish every success to whichever leader is able to command a sufficient following to carry on the government.—Brantford Expositor.

THE SESSION.

"It was a session barren of result, and much legislation deferred," writes the correspondent of a well-known Conservative newspaper in referring to the prorogation of Parliament yesterday.

Then in a liberal newspaper we read: "Constructive work of present session has set a record."

The independent view is that "the third session of the sixteenth Parliament of Canada has not been particularly spectacular, nor has it produced any great volume of important legislation, but by no means has it been a mediocre or insignificant session. As a reflection of the condition, sentiment and progress of the country it will claim more than an average place in Canadian parliamentary history."

So there you are, ladies and gentlemen.

It is fairly safe to say that the next session will be much more interesting than the one that closed yesterday, because the next session, in all probability, will be the prelude to a Dominion election campaign. Such a campaign is definitely looked for in the fall of 1930, although it has been hinted by those in authority that the appeal may be postponed until 1931, when the Government's legal term of office expires. Everything will depend, of course, on how the situation looks to the Liberal leaders a year hence. If the nation's prosperity is continued, if there are no issues that might prove dangerous, the chances are about a hundred to one that Mr. King will take the plunge toward the end of 1930. As a consequence, we may look for important announcements at the next session, such as further reductions in the income tax, probably the abolition of the sales tax, decreasing the excise duty on cigarettes, and other changes calculated to score a hit with the public. Mr. Robb has a reputation for preparing attractive budgets, and he may be expected to put his best foot forward in any fiscal announcement that immediately precedes an appeal to the electorate.—Border Cities Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Say it with your car during Old Home Week—and make our guests' visit memorable.

Mr. Bennett doubtless realizes by this time that into every statesmen's life some hot weather must come.

"A road for every settler in the North Country" reads better in a political speech than in a financial report.

Now that Mr. Ferguson says that his school plan is optional, Mr. Sinclair will have to tear up all his old speeches and prepare to attack from a new angle.

There may be a June lull in other branches of production, but everything seems to be hunky-dory with the murder output.

A Thought

THE PRESENT

Why do we not gather the flowers which lie in our path, rather than hanker for those that are beyond our reach? The first may not be the choicest, but if we take the trouble to look at them carefully, we shall discover in their calyces many unsuspected beauties of color, shape and fragrance. So it is with our everyday life, yet many find it tame, if not actually dull. Is it not largely because we expect too much, that discontent, sometimes devastating, makes us so blind to "the blessings of this day," and prevent us from bearing patiently and sweetly the annoyances that life brings in its train? If we would only accept what is with equanimity, we should find ourselves well advanced on the road to contentment.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

THE PESKY FLY.

Yes, there's that pesky fly again,
That flits around the heads of men
Whenever men are doing what
They know they shouldn't, like as not.
When something wicked we're about,
It buzzes in, and buzzes out,
And makes us sorry that we came,
That fly—and Conscience is its name.

It hangs around the stolen jam,
It lights upon the great I Am
Who likes to brag, it brings the thief,
The wayward boy or girl, more grief
Than all the laws in all the land,
For here's a law they understand.
Man knows whenever wrong he does,
For Conscience soon begins to buzz.

And yet the fly's a better friend
Than all the tempters that attend.
It does not wait until the wrong
Is done, to warn us with its song.
How many paths of pain and care
The heart might take, take unaware,
That listened to the words of men—
But there's that pesky fly again!

Why We Do What We Do.

WHY WE THINK WITH OUR BODY

When psychology was born it was called the science of the soul. That is what the word psychology means in Greek. It was supposed to describe the activities of the inner self or soul. But nobody could discover such a separate inner self apart from the rest of the total personality. So that notion was dropped.

Next the psychologist looked to the nervous system and more especially to the large brain in the head as the seat of intelligence. But the behaviorists and other investigators came along and knocked this theory into a cocked hat. They proved that the brain is merely a connecting center that is acted upon and never initiated an act.

The most up-to-date theory is that we think with our whole body. Thinking is a physical as well as mental process. It takes in the whole man. The healthier we are, the more acute our senses, the more closely co-ordinated our nervous system, the more evenly balanced our glands and the rest of the internal apparatus, the better we are able to think

The notion that we think only with our minds is a useless concept because no one knows what the mind is. You can't tell where it is located nor anything intelligible about it. The term is retained in the vocabulary to designate the total process of personality. We know that mind has to have the aid of the large brain, the spinal cord, the whole nervous system and without doubt all the sense organs and possibly the whole organism to function properly. How much more there may be to mind, no one can say positively. Some venture the hope that the "more" includes the soul, the true self that is independent of the body at death.

The purely mechanistic school of thinkers deny that there is any "more" to it. They claim that mind is body and body is mind. In other words, there is no such thing as mind. There is body and that is all. We eat and think and walk and carry on all our functions with the body, including the brain of course.

Psychology ,like all other sciences, has to grow. This necessitates many changes and restatements that are a bit perplexing to the novice and even to the expert. But that is the price of all true progress.

We cannot help sympathizing with the wag who wrote that, "First psychology lost its soul, then it lost its mind, then it lost consciousness; it still has behavior, of a kind."

PECK'S BAD BOY

LONDON, June 20.—Lads at the House of Detention on Pentonville-road got a kick recently when one of their number attempted to escape. He crawled out on the coping of the roof of a neighboring house and when the superintendent of the home came after him he took off his shoes and threw them at him. It took the fire brigade to dislodge the unruly youth.

The Tule Marsh Murder

By NANCY BARR MAVITY

Story of a Missing Actress and the Taxing of Wits to Explain Her Fate

THE STORY THUS FAR:

Don Ellsworth's wife, formerly the famous actress Sheila O'Shay, disappears, leaving no trace. Dr. Cavanaugh, the great criminal psychologist learns that their married life has been very unhappy.

Peter Piper a reporter on the Herald, tries to get an interview with Dr. Cavanaugh. Instead he meets Barbara Cavanaugh, the attractive daughter, and finds that she was engaged to Don Ellsworth before his marriage.

An unidentified body is found in the tule marsh outside the city. It has been burned by a fire in the marsh until it is entirely unrecognizable except for the fact that it is a woman. Dr. Cavanaugh is called in to help with the identification.

He has only a small piece of scalp from the body to work on. Don Ellsworth refuses to give him a hair of Sheila O'Shay's, but he secures one unknown and after examination tells PeterPiper that the body found in the marsh is that of Sheila O'Shay, Barbara, in whom Piper has become interested, faints when she hears this. Peter who is already half in love with her, is torn between his feeling and his suspicion that she knows something about the murder. Mrs. Kane, Sheila O'Shay's waiting woman is arrested in the case and Peter is sent to interview her. He learns that Sheila O'Shay forced Don Ellsworth to marry her by threatening a breach of promise suit Peter makes a social call on Barbara Cavanaugh. He is convinced that she knows something about the murder and his instinct is to protect her. Peter, watching the Ellsworth house, sees Dr. Cavanaugh go in. He climbs up the porch to see what is doing on and finds Dr. Cavanaugh in Sheila O'Shay's boudoir.

CHAPTER 24.

Dr. Cavanaugh's broad back loomed directly in the field of Peter's vision. He was seated somewhat absurdly on a very small chair whose long spindling legs and short back gave it the distorted look of something that had started out to be tall and had stopped growing.

It was the sort of chair peculiar to ladies' dressing tables, but as this was the first time Peter had ever seen a lady's dressing table, it appeared to him something of a monstrosity.

Dr. Cavanaugh's solid bulk clad in its usual sober black, projected beyond his insufficient seat; he looked, Peter thought, rather like a block of granite balanced on the top of four far too slender stakes.

The dressing table itself—a glass-topped, triple-mirrored affair on which at the present moment the doctor rested a nonchalant elbow—was covered with a surprising multitude of objects, each of which looked like something else.

The glass bottle of rose colored bath salts had the form of an elephant; a squat object which should have been a jar of cold cream masqueraded as an overblown pink rose.

A long stick with a wide flat circle of powder puff at the end was painted with the face of a black-and-pink, very exotic lady.

Peter's entranced gaze veered to a small stand nearby, on which rested a telephone book in a tapestry cover bound in gilt braid, together with another larger doll concealing the telephone instrument.

The electric light brackets by the dressing table were shaped like candles, with small pointed globes, and the reading lamp by the bed cast its rosy glow through the frosted petals of a cabbage-shaped flower.

Peter shifted his weight from one cramped leg to the other.

"Gosh!" he breathed. "What a way to live! No wonder somebody bumped her off!"

His change of position brought him within sight of the door, where stood a girl in maid's uniform. Her round flushed face was a study in alarm, pleased excitement and admiring awe. It was a larger number of emotions than that ingenious countenance was used to expressing at once, and the effort had widened her eyes to the roundness of very blue marbles. She stood fiddling with the door-knob, obviously seeking an excuse to remain n the room. The stolid set of Dr. Cavanaugh's shoulders and his relaxed attitude before the dressing table indicated bland and patient waiting.

In the darkness Peter grinned.

"She'd give her eye teeth to stay, and the doctor is calmly sitting her out," he opined.

The window was closed and he could not hear what was said, but in another moment the maid, with a broad smile making her cheeks bulge rounder than ever and a lingering gaze of extreme respect towards the figure at the dressing table, withdrew, closing the door behind her.

Peter eased himself to his knees and reached for the upper ledge of the window. He had no intention of spying a He would open the window and tell the doctor he was there. Then, if he wasn't wanted, he'd depart along the thorny path by which he had come.

Dr. Cavanaugh's eye reflected in the wide mirror of the dressing table, suddenly met his—met them without change of expression, but with an unmistakable glance of recognition. In another instant the window was quietly opened from within.

"You might as well come in—you seem to be a fairly ubiquitous young man, by the way."

Peter felt exactly like a small boy caught in the farmer's apple orchard and required to make an ignominous decent from the tree. Stiffly he thrust his long legs over the window sill. His first words seemed to himself absurdly inadequate to the situation.

"But—but you couldn't possibly have seen me in that mirror!" he stammered. "I was behind a window at least fifteen feet away, and in the dark."

The doctor gently closed the window before turning to the astonished and shame-faced Peter.

"You have a good mind," he said gravely. "You have seized on the one factor that seemed inexplicable. As a matter of fact, I didn't see you. I merely looked encouragingly in the direction where you were most likely to be."

"Most likely—!" Peter flopped heavily on the lace-spread bed in his astonishment. He completely forgot that he might have been expected to make, rather than to ask for explanations.

The doctor's heavy face was illumined by one of his rare and genial smiles.

"I saw you start to follow me across the street, and then think better of it. Well, I've observed that you are a young man who never thinks better of getting things—only of the best means of getting them.

"You didn't follow me in at the front door; therefore you would follow me at the rear. I've known Don Ellsworth for years.

"I've walked under that pergola—though I never tried your mode of progress along the top. From the looks of you, I don't think I ever shall."

"I'll go if you say so," Peter strove to keep his tone matter-of-fact, but there was no banishing the wistful eagerness from his shining, expectant eyes.

"It's housebreaking, you know. God and the police look with disfavor on it."

Peter leaped to his feet, his stiffness forgotten.

"God and the police may not like it, but Jimmy surely will!" he chortled. "Gee, what a tragic waste of talent it is that you're not on a newspaper. Dr. Cavanaugh! You'd be a wow as a reporter."

There was not a trace of irony in Dr. Cavanaugh's response to Peter's earnest tribute—the highest it was in his power to pay.

"We're both very lucky men," he said. "We're doing the thing of all the things in the world that we'd choose to do. Most men are less single-minded—or less lucky, which reminds me that you haven't asked me what I'm doing at this moment, in the boudoir of a lady with whom I am only slightly acquainted. Has it occurred to you that we may be just two house-breakers together?"

"At least I can be flattered to meet such a distinquished fellow burlar," Peter said with cheerful impudence. "I'll bet a dollar you thought you'd come around before the police got to it and take a look at those breach of promise papers!"

"I hope most of your investments are sounder than that one," said Dr. Cavanaugh. "Because in this instance you'd lose at least fifty cents of your dollar."

"But what about the other fifty cents?" inquired the unchastened Peter.

LAUGHS FROM LIFE

DUTIFUL RUM RUNNER: Wasn't it great that we had the parachutes!

The Lady Driver Takes the Air

"Isn't it just a perfect day for flying, Milly?....Don't you love this new plane of mine? It's really the last word—inspired by the engineering genius of Joshua P. Snoofler, you know....Oh look at the dress on that clothes line down there! I'll just dip down—I want to see how the collar's made—OOP! Say, wouldn't you think people would build their chimneys lower? I hope it didn't dent my new wings; this is the third set I've had to get in a month. Why, last week I was flying along at less than 140 and I happened to think of something I'd forgotten, so, of course, I turned right around and there was this perfect fool right behind me—and I'm going to sue his heirs for damages, too!....Want to see this bus stunt? Watch, now—well for pity's sake, where did he come from?.... Look at the clumsy way he opens his parachute! Honestly, men haven't the first idea of flying....Oh, let's hop over to Idaho and see Muriel's new baby—let's see, we go to the right for Idaho, don't we? Or is it the left? Well, I'll try the left —MY LORD!— .... Well, of all the idiots! Did you see that dirigible? We went right through it! And the driver hasn't any parachute, poor thing! Well, it serves him right—perhaps he'll know better next time—....Can you see the wreckage out that side? I guess I'll—....Oh there's a poor little bird—oh, I must dodge it oh my! — OOOOOOO! There! I was afraid I'd hit that plane—see him turn over and over—....Isn't it terrible the people they give licenses to? ....Well, we've got to be getting along—you'll just love Muriel's baby —OOP!....Did I hit that one? .... The awful idiot!....But isn't it a divine day for flying?"

THE TRUE STORY OF MANKIND

PREFACE.

Far away in a distant land there is a great castle called Bellevue, A dwells in the castle who spends his time drilling a squad of goldfish, and teaching petulant dinosaurs to decorate Christmas trees. When he has succeeded in his task, then a Frenchman will have had time to drink one book.

THE SETTING OF THE STAGE.

We live under the shadow of a gigantic dollar sign.

How much are we worth?

How long is a price level?

What effect does Santa Claus have on big business?

Slowly, but with infinite sagacity, we have been pushing this dollar sign farther towards the twelve-figure mark.

We have not gone very far.

We are now worth about $.98.

* * *

One day the first living cell floated upon the waters of the sea. For millions of years it drifted about within three miles of shore. One day it met a ground swell who had naughty habits. The poor little cell was easily led astray and it took up its abode in the wet, wet ocean, where it founded a family.

One evening many billions of years later, old grandfather Padded Cell was unusually harsh. Two of the youngest cells, Verma and Imba, were spanked for reading the Elsie books, so they decided to run away from home. They left the cellery and became amphibious, which means that they could go without liquor although thev'd just as soon have some. After many wonderings they settled in the land of the dry cell. In other words they became mammals.

These mammals finally developed into MAN. Soon man started going about in groups and learned to balance himself on his hind legs. Great was the joy of Verma Cell and Imba Cell when they saw this, you may be sure, although they themselves were more anxious to learn how to sit down as they were very tired after founding the human race.

You may hardly believe it, but everything you see about you sprang from these two little runaway cells. Many people think they should never have left old grandfather Padded Cell to drink himself to death. These people are not progressive.

MINING ISSUES REMAIN WEAK

Little Trading Is Featured On Standard Mining Exchange.

NORANDA DOWN 10.

TORONTO, Ont., June 20 (C.P.).—Lack of authoritative bullish news and apathy on the part of the speculative public were reflected on the market on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day and as a result trading lacked feature. The volume of business was lower than usual, and recent favorites were neglected to a large extent.

The low-priced issue, Stadacona, was the most active stock on the board, with a turnover at noon of some 57,000 shares. Buying orders held the edge over selling and the stock pushed forward 1½ to 11½.

Ajax Oil continued under pressure and fell back 3 to 176. It was the second most active issue. Newbec continued to hold a leading position in the trading and held firm at 46¾, down¼. Sylvanite dropped 6 to 1.15 on a small turnover.

Noranda, after displaying early strength, fell back to 53.50, a decline of 10, while Dome Mines, despite yesterday's announcement of the usual quarterly dividend, dropped 5 to 9.95. Mining Corporation slipped back 10 to 4.00, and Hollinger Consolidated 5 to 5.60.

Amulet was more active than usual. Its price trend was irregular though strong. After selling as high as 1.27 it dropped back at noon to 1.20, a gain of 2. Amity climbed 2½ higher to 29. Sudbury Basin was 15 higher at 8.30, while Wainwell pushed forward 2½ to 47½ under extensive buying. Wright-Hargreaves showed signs of recovery and after opening at 1.70 it eased back to 1.66, a gain of 4. Central Manitoba was 3 stronger at 45, and Nickel jumped 50 to 49.50.

International Nickel Is An Active Feature

TORONTO, Ont., June 20 (C.P.).—International Nickel, Walkers and Canadian Oil were the active features in an otherwise dull market on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. The price trend was generally firmer with losses being confined to fractions.

Nickel with more than 2,000 shares traded in held fairly steady. The noon close, showing a decline of ¼ to 49¼. Walkers held around the 18 point mark and at noon was fractionally stronger at 18¼.

Canadian Oil was both an active and strong feature, jumping 4 points to 51. B. C. Packers sold 1½ higher at 21½, Standard Steel continued its upward movement and at noon was selling 1¼ higher at 75. Ford Motors "A" gained ½ to 46½, while Maple Leaf Milling spurted 3 to 198 in light trading.

Brazilian Traction was inactive but stronger at 58½, which was a gain of one. Dominion Power held its early gain of 2 to 65.

The oil and brewery stocks were irregular in price trend though fairly active. Home Oil 5 higher at 21.50, B A. Oil ¼ at 47½, and International Petroleum (New) ½ to 23½. McColl eased ½ to 41½, while Seagrams declined fractionally to 17⅝.

MINING NEWS.

Waite-Montgomery looks better than ever with diamond drilling now under way already indicating 2 and possibly 3 new ore bodies running from 5 to 6 per cent. copper profits of at least $60,000 per month being made now on daily shipment of 130 to 150 tons.

June production at Noranda expected to reach over 5 million pounds copper plus $200,000 in gold. This will be new record.

Howey power line expected to be completed by December 1.

Wright Hargreaves mill heads for May averaged close to $10, with probabilities that this figure will be higher in June.

Barry Hollinger officials claim to be opening up the best ore yet located on the 1,500-foot level over width of 8 feet. Drift in 35-foot length of ore averaging at least $20.00.—Stobie, Forlong & Company.

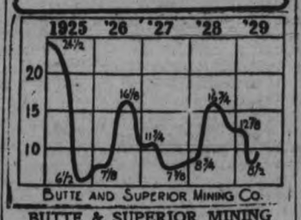
BETTER GAS EXTRACTION

United States Government officials reported having devised new gasoline separator which will increase gasoline recovery from natural gas 25 to 50 per cent. This may work out in very important way in recovery of naphtha from Turner Valley wet gas.

Standard Oil Sets New Dividend Mark

A new high record for the cash dividend disbursements by the Standard Oil group of companies has been established during the second quarter, according to a survey by Carl H. Pforzhiener & Co. The total for the quarter is $66,047,877, about $3,000,000 more than the total for the first quarter of the year. The dividend total paid by the group is greater despite a reduction of $6,963,500 in dividends paid by the Standard Oil of Indiana, compared with its first quarter payments. The company paid $8,704,376 as the regular dividend of 62½ cents a share, compared with $15,667,877 in the preceding quarter, when an extra dividend of 50 cents a share was paid.

STOCK A DAY



BUTTE AND SUPERIOR MINING CO.

BUTTE & SUPERIOR MINING COMPANY.

The Butte & Superior Mining Company is a zinc and copper producer and also recovers from its ores a certain amount of gold, silver and lead. It has stock holdings in the American Zinc, Lead & Smelting Company and the California Zinc Company and owns a majority of the stock of the North Butte Extension Development Company. The property of the company itself includes 29 claims covering 170 acres of mineral lands and surface rights on 34 additional acres.

In 1927 it produced nearly 80,000,000 pounds of zinc and 8,000,000 pounds of copper. In the last three years the company has been taking steps to reclaim ore left behind as unprofitable in the early days of operation. These will add materially to ore reserves. However, commercial copper ore reserves were almost entirely exhausted towards the end of 1928 and zinc reserves had been materially decreased while no new ore bodies had been found. The property is regarded as essentially a liquidating proposition and this is reflected in its dividend policy.

Net income in 1927 amounted to $272,911. This compared with $496,004 in 1926. For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1928, net profit was $48,000. This compared with $204,000 for the corresponding period in 1927. There is no funded debt. Capital stock outstanding totals $2,901,977 in shares of $10 par value. The dividend rate is $2 a share per annum payable quarterly.

As of Jan. 1, 1928, total current assets, of which $1,476,845 were in cash, amounted to $1,707,866. Total current liabilities were $162,758 and net working capital $1,545,108. Book value amounted to $17.50 a share.

MINING BRIEFS

A Special Service to The Examiner

It is reported that the directors of Amulet met in Montreal Tuesday and finally decided upon plans for the construction of a 300-ton concentrator. The question of further financing was also said to have been decided upon and it is expected that the plan will be made public within two weeks. It is expected that the financing will take the form of an offering to shareholders. The actual work of construction on the concentrator was delayed until completion of certain negotiations now underway. The Financial News Bureau could not get in touch with any Toronto directors of the company as they were all out of town. This gives further credence to the report.

As regards Amulet, a despatch from Rouyn states that rumors of a reduction in Amulet's ore reserves, are false. The total tonnage is said to have been added to since the publication of the last repot. In well informed circles it is believed that tonnage will be about the same as last year.

Recent developments at the Noranda are said to have proven that the "H" ore body continues through the diabase dyke while a drive running eastward for about 220 feet is said to average between 5 per cent. and 6 per cent. copper and $1.50 in gold over the drift width with the full width not yet known.

Information coming from official sources is to the effect that Stadacona's cross cutting is approaching the section where good results were secured in diamond drilling. Good values are said to be coming in, the last assays running $14.90 and $12.40 in gold over good widths. Preparations are being completed to open up their property beside the Newbec and also their property east of the Waite-Montgomery on which excellent showings are said to have been found.

Present operations of the McVittie Graham Mines are said to consist of exploratory diamond drilling horizontally from the drift at the 250-foot level of the Moose Lake. Recently Walter E. Segsworth, consulting engineer, paid a visit to the property. It is understood operations are proceeding in a satisfactory manner.

John Shaw, engineer for Mining Corporation, has gone into the Shonlah-Cat Lakes region to examine a property staked for the organization by Dan Kearney, when prospecting for the company. Charles Baycroft, representing the Atlas Exploration Co, flew into Shoniah Lake last week when an examination of the Smith-Watson property was made.

Wheat Prices Strong With Reports Of Rain

CHICAGO, Ills., June 20.—(C.P.)—Unwelcome rains in the harvest region southwest led to increased buying and to early upturns of wheat prices to-day. There were also advices that considerable Kansas wheat had gone back 20 per cent. and in low lands would be a complete loss. Opening the same as yesterday's finish to 3-4c. higher, wheat afterward scored material gains all around. Corn, oats and provisions were likewise firmer, with corn starting 1-3c. off to 3-8c. up and subsequently showing a general advance.

Don't Pity Poor Young Men Pity Poor Old Men

GIVEN health and strength young people who are poor should not be an object of pity. Rather should one strive to arouse ambition in them. It is the poor old folks that require help.

You know of poor old mothers who are shifted around amongst sons and daughters for three or four months at a time, because they have no financial means.

Well, then, do you yourself want to be in this position some day? Do you want your wife to suffer? Not if you can help it! Then, provide now for an income for either or both of you while your earning powers permit it.

Stock Issues Recover After a Heavy Opening

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 20 (Canadian Press). — The recovery in the stock prices was resumed to-day, after an early period of heaviness, as a result of the growing speculative belief that the mid-year credit stringency will be considerably less severe than expected and that a gradual easing of credit conditions is in prospect after the turn of the month. Pools resumed operations with confidence in a select assortment of public utility, food, chain store, automotive, and electric equipment shares a dozen of which were lifted to new high levels for the year.

Call money renewed unchanged at 7 per cent., and seemed destined to stay at that figure all day despite recent intimation of bankers that the rate would go higher in mid-week, while there was little in the overnight news to influence the price movement, a much more cheerful feeling regarding the market was apparent from the start of trading.

COHEN WINS DECISION FROM FRENCH CHAMPION

World's Champion Loses Bout When He Strikes Low Blow in Sixth.

MONTREAL, Que., June 20.—Jackie Cohen, smart little New York featherweight, who has been fighting his way to the top of the class, was awarded the decision over Andre Routis last night, when the world's champion struck a low blow in the sixth round of a scheduled ten round encounter. Up to that time the fans had been treated to a clever exhibition of boxing.

The bout was the feature of a card promoted by the Canadian Hockey Club. The title held by the French lad was not at stake. Routis showed a much more finished style than Cohen. The latter absorbed heavy punishment, in an effort to get in and land one that might bring him a victory over the champion.

A Call for United Action!

CITIZENS OF ONTARIO

have saved the province many millions of dollars in the past few years in their efforts to rid both town and country of WEEDS.

Millions of Dollars are still being lost, however. The work is only begun. Farmers, knowing their personal loss through weeds, co-operate to end the nuisance. Municipal councils and individuals in villages, towns and cities are wholeheartedly joining in the fight against the common enemy—WEEDS.

NOW is the time to strike, to prevent most weeds from seeding. Cut the weeds down BEFORE they flower and seed.

Fight weeds as you would fire! You wisely protect yourself from losses by fire . . . which are a possibility.

Protect your property from heavy losses by weeds. Neglect makes these losses a certainty.

Weeds spread like wildfire if neglected. Destroy all noxious weeds on your lands. Notify your municipal council or weed inspector of weed growths found on roadways, vacant properties, cemeteries and other public places.

WARNING Under the provisions of the Weed Control Act, every occupant of land and every owner of unoccupied land is required to destroy noxious weeds before their seeds ripen. Road Authorities are required to destroy all weeds growing upon the highways.

REPRESENTATIVES FROM EVERY TOWNSHIP TAKE ACTIVE PART IN ANNUAL EVENT AT LAKEFIELD

Three Girls Chosen To Represent County at C.N.E. Inter-County Contest.

PRIZE WINNERS ANNOUNCED.

Competitions Divided Into Two Classes, Domestic Science and Livestock.

The most successful annual judging competition for Peterborough County yet held, took place at Lakefield Tuesday when fifty-two boys and thirty-eight girls, representing every township in the county, took part. At nine o'clock in the morning the young people assembled at the Lakefield town hall and began their work under a cloudless sky. The competitions continued until late in the afternoon.

The competitions for the boys were confined to judging of livestock and grain while domestic science judging was for the girls. The livestock judging was divided into five classes, heavy horses, dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep and swine. The domestic science competitions for girls was divided into three branches, nutrition, clothing and house furnishing.

Arrangements for the event were in the hands of J. B. Nelson, the representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, from the local branch. He was assisted by Representatives D. A. McKinnon, M. H. Winter of Lindsay, J. Y. Kellough of Durham County, Walter Smith, of Brighton, and J. Wilson of Hastings. Miss Edith Hopkins of the Women's Institute branch in Lindsay took charge of the girls' contests assisted by Miss Betty Wallace of Toronto, Miss McManus of Brockville and Miss Powell of Whitby.

Livestock Competitions.

In the livestock competition, any junior farmer under 26 was eligible. The stock was judged in the morning and the reasons for the various choices made by the boys were heard in the afternoon. The domestic science competitions were also limited to those under 26. Their method of procedure of the girls' competitions was the same as that of the boys.

In judging the livestock, four animals of each class were led before the boys and after a few words of instruction on judging, the boys proceeded to make their awards. They indicated their choices on cards which were gathered up and compared with the correct awards agreed upon by the officials. Marks were awarded for these cards.

The boys also had to give oral reasons for their choices to the judges and were awarded more marks depending on the correctness of their answers.

To those judging horses, instructions were given by Mr. Smith on how to go about the work. He pointed out that the boys should stand back and take a good view of all the animals in the class before making the awards. "It should be remembered", he pointed out, "that the horse should be built for power and able to draw heavy loads. He should have a strong body and stand on strong, well-placed legs with well-formed feet and have a strong constitution." The shoulders and pasterns on which most of the strain comes, should be especially sturdy.

The boys went to the farms of Joe Allan and Gordon Mann to judge cattle. Mr. Winter and Mr. Kellough, who handled this class both stressed utility in judging cattle. Beef cattle, they instructed, should be built to provide the largest possible amounts of high quality meats while dairy cattle should be of a confirmation and disposition making for a high production of milk.

The desirability for using the select market hog as a type in judging hogs was stressed by Mr. McKinnon. He said "that a good market hog must be within the bacon weights, have a long deep confirmation and in proper finish."

The last class of livestock that was judged was sheep. Mr. Wilson instructed the boys that there were two sources of income from sheep to be considered, namely, mutton and wool. The good mutton animal has somewhat the same build as a good beef animal. The wool should be of an even quality all over the body with as long and dense a fibre as possible.

Domestic Science.

The domestic science competitions were held upstairs in the public hall and the same method of judging was employed as in the case of livestock. Five divisions of the three main classes in the judging were observed.

The house furnishing class included "Living room plans" and "Kitchen plans." Clothing was subdivided into "Parade" and "Wardrobe" and under nutrition was "School lunches an menus."

Several pictures of living room and kitchen plans were exhibited and the competitors judged which where the best plans. For the clothes judging, models were dressed in several different types of clothes and the girls made their choices of the outfits they thought suitable for each of the various occasions indicated. For the judging in the nutrition class, several lunches were on display for judgement.

WASTE OF MONEY.

Editor of Examiner:

Sir: If the county taxpayers wish to find out how their money is being wasted it would have paid them to have taken a drive fom the end of pavement to Chemong Park Tuesday night.

They would have seen hundreds of dollars of trap rock being blown into the farmers' fields. Residents on the east side of the road were nearly smothered with the dust.

Now, why all this disgraceful waste of material and money, when there is oil or some other mixture to bind it?

There are yards and yards of gravel and broken stone that cost a lot of money to place there, being plowed into the ditch.

The money that is being wasted would have paved the road easily.

DEPUTATION SEEKS GRANTS FOR FALL FAIR

Members From Lakefield Agricultural Society Visits County Council.

TO INSPECT BRIDGES.

Council Discusses Advisability of Making Grants To Bridges.

The session of the County Council was continued in the Council Chambers at the Court House yesterday morning, with Warden J. F. Breckenridge presiding. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

A deputation from Lakefield was present and asked the Council for a grant in aid of the Agricultural Society. Mr. Gallivan, the other member of the deputation, and secretary of the association, stressed the work that was being carried on, and believed that assistance should be granted.

Mr. Clark moved that the matter be referred to the Finance Committee. This was seconded by Mr. Parker, and carried by the Council.

Warden Breckenridge issued an invitation to the County Council to attend the unveiling of the war memorial in a body during Old Home Week.

The Council went into committee on roads and bridges. Mr. Leakey, chairman, occupied the chair. The chairman gave the following report:

"As chairman of such committee and acting upon directions from the committee, and individual members of the Council, the following bridges were visited by myself and other members of the Council.

"I will briefly refer to such visitations, and the Reeves where those bridges are situated and such members of the Council as attended, will, following this reference, discuss the matters fully, and deal with them as the majority of you decide.

"Bridges in municipalities as follows were visited:

"McColl's Bridge in Burleigh, Union Creek and another boundary bridge in Galway, Comstock's Bridge and other bridges in Asphodel all bridges in Norwood, Preston's, Taylor's, Deer River, North River, and boundary bridge in Belmont.

"No doubt you will decide early in the session as to what permanent expenditure in order to give Mr. Hawthorne a chance to provide for the same in his finance budget before the close of the session.

"I have ascertained as a result of observation during my visitations to the above bridges that in passing through, it is something I did not heretofore appreciate, that is, the net work of waterways necessitating such a number of bridges in the county, not only numerous county bridges, but township bridges also, and I must place myself on record by herewith stating that the former County Councils of this County are to be commended for the provision so far made and also to their credit a very nominal debenture debt left for successors to meet.

"I can assure you that I appreciate the source of education to a chairman in conferring and acting with a body of not only experienced but intelligent and patient colleagues, and I desire to thank you for your unstinted assistance."

Discussion took place about the Elm Street Bridge over the Ouse River in Norwood, which was not a county bridge, but which Reeve R. Tedford asked the county to assume. A motion to this effect, put by R. Sanderson, and seconded by J. Hawthorne, was carried.

Reeev A. Humphries, of Asphodel, asked for a grant for two small township bridges in Asphodel, but withdrew the request after a discussion took place, and when H. B Rye made the statement that the Council were establishing a wrong precedent if they were to take over all the small bridges. M. Smithson led the way in this action when he said that Otonabee would assume the responsibility of all the small bridges and culverts in that township. The motion that no action be taken on frontier county township culverts was made by Reeve H. B. Rye, and seconded by H. Coons.

Inspect Locks Bridge.

Mr. Rye moved that the county engineer be instructed to make a thorough inspection of the Locks Bridge and the Bensfort Bridge, which he believed to be unsafe. This was seconded by Mr. McIntyre, and carried.

Mr. Cavanagh moved that the Burnham Bridge, north of the Keene Road, be inspected. J. Clark seconded this, which was carried.

A. Humphries reported to the Council that the county teams had cut up the Asphodel township roads when they were drawing gravel for the county road.

Mr. Clark moved, seconded by Mr. Parker, that the McColl Bridge in Anstruther be rebuilt.

J. Edgar of the Children's Aid Society and F. D. Kerr, K.C., who were in Toronto recently representing the city in regard to an abandoned child, told the council of the case.

It was one of a school teacher in Chandos, who in the past years was teaching in the northern part of the county. A baby was born and placed in a Toronto hospital and since that time the mother cannot be located. At a juvenile court held before Judge Mott of Toronto the case of this child was brought up to decide which county would be responsible for the care of the infant.

The place of residence determined the county to look after the child and as some of the mother's clothes were left at her boarding house in Chandos, the Judge ruled that it was her intention to return and as the elapsed time had been over a year Peterborough county was the residence of the child. However as some of the evidence was hearsay he rested his formal judgment until next Wednesday.

The fatner of the child is under agreement to pay $2.00 a week and hospital expenses. Mr. Kerr expressed the suggestion that a small committee be appointed to investigate the case and to secure further evidence to bring before Judge Mott next week. A committee was appointed to include the Warden, the Reeve of the township, the county solicitor and Mr. Edgar.

Insure Roads.

The county road commission reported both policies that were presented yesterday were legally favorable. The council decided to insure the roads through the medium of Plaxton-Hueston and Company, Insurance Brokers, in the Canadian General Insurance Company.

E. A. Peck, county solicitor, was then heard on the Old Age Pension question. While started in the Dominion House it is of provincial interest, he explained. If a province undertakes to pay these pensions the Dominion government will pay 50 per cent of the gratuities. A local commission is to be appointed to pass upon the applications but as no definite information regarding such a body has been received, Mr. Peck did not feel inclined to give any legal advice on the matter until he investigated it and received definite word on the number of men needed to act in such a capacity.

The attention of the meeting was called to the fact that a binding contract is made each year with some bank to borrow money to meet the current expenditures. The Canadian Bank of Commerce is the one with which the county has been doing business and the question arose, since the contract is signed by the Warden and the treasurer, if it is proper for the treasurer to draw checks in his name only. The matter was not decided upon at this session.

Warden Breckenridge reported on some property that was held by the county in Havelock, which was sold in April 1929. The buyer was being held for the 1928 taxes which amounted to about $61. He did not feel it was fair that he should pay these and Mr. Breckenridge asked the feeling of the council on the matter. It was decided that the county pay the back taxes.

MONUMENT IS UNVEILED TO INDIAN BRAVES

U. E. Loyalist Celebration Closes At Deseronto With Mohawk Day.

22 KILLED IN WAR.

Colorful Pageant Depicting Arrival of Mohawks Is Presented.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., June 20. — (Canadian Press)—Deseronto's United Empire Loyalist celebration closed yesterday with "Mohawk Day." All the activities were devoted to the Indians and chief actors were from the reserve which is within half a mile of the town.

At an unveiling of a monument to the early Indians in the church, Dr. Duncan Campbell Scott, Superintendent of Indian Affairs for the Dominion spoke of the loyalty of the Indians to the empire. "They have received protection but little assistance and we can only ascribe their progress to their own ability and initiative" he said. "They have progressed through their school system from an illiterate period and their intellectual state is now most striking. Through all these years the loyalty which caused them to migrate from their native valley burned with a brighter flame. During the war of 82, Mohawks from the Bay of Quinte district joined local units and 22 of these were killed." The tablet was presented by Briggen Cruickshank of the historic site and monument board of Canada and was unveiled by John and Helena Sero, the eighth Generation of pure bred Indians.

A pageant was held depicting the progress of the Mohawks since 1784 and a number of war dances, religious exercises and athletic contests rounded off the program. A band concert and dance in the evening ended the celebration.

In the morning Indians in full war paint began the pageant when they paddled up in eight war canoes to reproduce the landing of the Mohawks in 1784. The landing took place on the spot where the tribe is said to have first reached Canadian soil. After landing the Indians spread their communion cloth and smoked the pipe of peace.

DANCE NOVELTIES TO FEATURE BALL

Local and Visiting Artists Will Add Attraction To Reunion Event.

The Examiner to-day learned from those in charge of the community dance the full story of the feature dance and frolic which is to be held on Wednesday evening, July 3rd.

It is now unquestionably assured that this will be the most gorgeous social event ever held in this part of the country. Possibly no event during Old Home Week will compare with it for brilliance and surely nothing has been attempted in this part of the province to equal it, for novelty and display.

In order to insure the best possible music the committee have engaged the "Paladians" direct from the Palace Theatre of Montreal, where they are now playing an engagement under the personal direction of Jerry Shea, maestro. This outstanding musical organizatzion was the one chosen to supply the music for His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, on his last trip to Canada, and also for the entertainment of Premier Baldwin. The party is comprised of 15 people, including several entertainers.

DON'T BLAME THE SUMMER

Drowsy, Tired, Sick Feeling Goes if You Take "Fruit-a-tives"

Summer heat isn't to blame when you feel drowsy, tired, headachy and bilious. Your digestive system is out or order. Mr. Jas. Page of Quebec found relief after taking one of "Fruit-a-tives." He writes:

"One box of this wonderful medicine gave me complete relief. Fruit-atives gives results as nothing else does."

The basic causes of most illnesses are lazy bowels, sluggish liver and inactive kidneys. "Fruit-a-tives" works naturally and gently to correct these conditions. Try it. 25c and 50c at all druggists.

The pianist of this orchestra is the famous Bobby Booth, for four years organist of the Capital Theatre, New York, and Eric Zimmermal, solo violinist on many radio programs. This orchestra supplied the first six National broadcasts this season for the Canadian National Railways.

The decorations on this occasion will compare most favourably with anything that might be seen in the larger centres. Three experts from Toronto are being brought here for the decoration of the Armories. These are the same men who decorated the Coliseum for the Winter Carnival in Toronto. The layout of the decorations as shown to the Examiner convinces one that this alone will be something out of the ordinary.

The color scheme embraces every conceivable color and in addition to this the entire electrical equipment from the Grand Opera House together with special lens brought in from Chicago and Toronto, which will be used for changing the color scheme throughout the evening.

As for the features of the dance itself, one of the greatest will be the Mardi Gras Pageant which will take place around midnight when the Queen will be crowned and the Pageant Parade takes place.

During the evening there will be six dancing acts which will have as chief ballet dancers Daignault and LaFrance. These girls are students of Leonidoff, the famous Russian ballet dancer, and Miss LaFrance has played in the famous Roxy Theatre in New York.

An added attraction is the juvenile ballet dancer, Patsy Hanrahan. This child entertainer has been recognized inasmuch as she was recently starred as a solo dancer at the Russian ballet held in the Princess Theatre.

Twelve local girls will comprise a ballet second to none, either professional or amateur, that has appeared in this city. They are being trained under the personal direction of Andy Purman. Included in their numbers is the Swing Dance, where the girls will swing to and fro over the crowd as they dance. This will indeed be a very attractive number.

The committee have given every type of dance consideration. There will be a few square dances, with a special square dance orchestra brought into the building in a novel fashion for those who desire to take part. On top of all this there will be the special Radiolite Dance, the Rain Dance, and novelty dances of various descriptions.

The Examiner is thoroughly convinced that the entertainment alone without any dancing is sufficient to satisfy the most exacting. Above all, it is the desire of the committee that the air be permeated with sociability and good-will, at the same time in a dignified manner befitting the occasion.

Special attention has been given to the floor, and this matter is under the personal charge of a committee, and also the cooling arrangements for the building.

The committee feel that if the present arrangements are carried out, and there is no question but what they will, that the public in this community are going to attend a social event that will compare in brilliance and novelty to anything held in Toronto, New York or elsewhere.

NEW HOME FOR GIRLS IS OPENED

lent taste in their arrangement and subjects. All the pictures in the house strike an artistic note, and the woodwork throughout is of fine and even grain.

Directly behind the living room, with the front door giving a vista of its high-light, a huge stone fireplace, is the dining-room. This big built-in fireplace of rough stones is topped by a pretty clock and the panelling of the woodwork here is in the fine clear ash that lends itself so admirably to a summer place. There is appropriate, unelaborate furniture for this room, with a distinctive touch in the old-time wooden shoulder yoke used for carrying water pails.

At the left of the living room opens out the director's office, with its pleasant atmosphere of friendly business-like cheer and its tiny corner 'tuck' shop, where the girls can purchase gum and chocolates, and stamps and hair-nets.

Across the verandah from the dining room is the kitchen, isolated from the rest of the building to a certain extent, with three doors and two large windows, and an adjoining, convenient wood-shed. Other conveniences in use are the under-balcony, stone cellar, cold and stony, the water house, where a gasoline engine pumps the water into a large tank, the bathhouse and boathouse, with its boats and punts, all carried out in the same pleasant color scheme of green and white, with natural rock foundations.

On the second floor are the main bedrooms and these have been named for the colors which decorate them. They are attractive little rooms with the same note of cosy comfort in pretty pictures, rugs, hangings and furnishings. There is a rose room, and a yellow, a green, and a blue room, while across the verandah are two smaller little rooms with cool, breeze-swept interiors. The verandah here is as wide as the one below and is screened at the back, with plenty of space for further sleeping arrangements.

A great convenience is the provision of water taps for each floor, with drains for waste.

Above this again is a large square room and right at the top is a small enclosure reached by a steep stair. Here are four small windows, three paned with red glass and one with white. At night a light inside warns boatmen to beware of the red-paned sides and make their landing way by the safe north shore with its white radiance.

Behind the house is the vegetable and flower garden, and a number of berry bushes. A little distance away is a large sloping rock, where games may be played. A program of softball, basketball, archery, croquet and deck tennis has been planned for this place and table tennis for the verandah. Another inviting smooth rock has been named "Bonfire Point."

Groups of girls are expected at the Camp for the summer months and a director will be in charge whose duties will be merely those of a watchful supervisor of the safety of the inmates. No set program is planned but there are so many things to interest and entertain at this restful summer place that it would be impossible to make it much more comfortable or pleasant. With its picturesque approach its solid comfort and its soothing atmosphere, it fulfills all the requirements of a summer home of rest and enjoyment.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Arnott have been appointed as caretaker and housekeeper for "Inglestane."

MAKE USE OF VACANT LOTS

"Necessity is the mother of invention." A number of motorists on Homewood avenue who have been unable to use their garages on account of the paving of the street, have taken advantage of the vacant lots on Hunter street west, and in the evening some of these present the aspect of a community parking place.

MAKING GOOD TIME

The County Council made time yesterday morning. The meeting was called for ten o'clock standard time, which is eleven o'clock daylight saving time. The men convened at that hour, but when twelve o'clock daylight saving time rolled around, some of the members felt as if they had accomplished two hours' work, and the noon whistles whetted the appetites of those present, so after starting on standard time they finished on daylight saving time.

IMMEDIATE SETTLEMENT

Plaxton-Hueston and Company, insurance brokers, who were successful in obtaining the insurance for the county roads, is the first company in Canada to establish an adjustment service by air. The company owns a moth plane and employs two pilots. When a serious accident occurs in any district covered by them, the company makes immediate settlement over the air line. In the case of minor accidents, the usual channels of adjustment are used.

MAKING RAPID PROGRESS

The paving operations in the west end of the city are making rapid progress. The concrete base has been laid on Gilmoure street, Monaghan road and was completed yesterday on Homewood avenue.

ANNOUNCED OVER RADIO

The broadcasting of Peterborough's Old Home Week announcement over radio station C.K.G.W., Toronto, last night was received very clearly by local radio fans. The announcements were repeated several times during the Canadian General Electric hour from 9 to 10 o'clock.

INVERLEA BEACH OPENED

Inverlea Park beach is now officially open for swimmers and bathers of the city. E. Adair, who acted as lifeguard at the beach last summer, has accepted the position again this year, and has now been on duty a week. Mr. Adair received commendation last year for his daring and quick-minded work on several occasions and his return to the position this summer will be welcomed by the bathers.

NO FIRES

No fires were reported yesterday afternoon or this morning.

ADVANCE CAR HERE

An omen of the lively time that will be had in Old Home Week is to be seen around the city in the form of the advance car of the Harry Lotteridge Shows. The car is a large Packard finished completely in red.

FAST DRIVING IS DENIED

Accident On Chemong Road Not As Serious As First Reported.

Well On Way To Recovery.

Contrary to street rumors the accident on the Chemong road last Saturday night has not resulted as seriously as reported. Wild and exaggerated reports of the almost fatal injuries of some of those in the cars and even of the death of one of the young ladies were current on the street, but it is now stated that those involved in the accident were not seriously hurt and that no serious consequences are expected. Stinson and Colley deny the extreme speed of the cars driven by them, which rumor had exaggerated to a considerable extent.

The Examiner is informed that those injured are practically fully recovered and that what seemed at first to be an accident of a very grave nature can now be greatly minimized.

POLICE CELEBRATE 100TH ANNIVERSARY

LONDON, June 20 (Canadian Press). — The Times, in an editorial on "The Metropolitan Police," which recently celebrated the 100th anniversary of its establishment by Sir Robert Peel, comments on the early days of the police and the changes that have come since then. The celebration, as is already known, was in the nature of a centenary parade by more than 12,000 members of the force, under Viscount Byng of Vimy, former Governor-General of Canada, now at the head of London's famous civilian force, which was reviewed by the Prince of Wales in Hyde Park.

The Times says, in part: That the Metropolitan Police are now the envy of the whole world, and objects of deep popular pride and affection at home, hardly needs saying. For this, however, some of the credit is due to the law-abiding nature of the people among whom they work, and from whom, as picked men, they are taken. It has not been found necessary to expand their number in proportion to the expansion of London, and in a population of 8,000,000 or so there are not quite 20,000 of them. If at various intervals in their history absorption of other forces, like the mounted men and the river police, and constant recourse of new scientific resources have helped them, the improved habits of the people have also been their allies.

The nature of much of their work has greatly changed since 1829. The mendicants who once disfigured the streets have long since disappeared; drunkenness, one of the temptations of the Force formerly, and a public nuisance for many years afterwards has fallen to a very low ebb, and statistically, if not sensationally, robberies, thefts, bulglaries, and housebreakings are fewer than they used to be. Crowds still have to be handled on public and semi-public occasions, but the art of handling them has been perfected.

The growth of modern traffic, however, has found much fresh work for the police to do; indeed, most of the breaches of the law of which they have to take cognizance now arise from this source. There have been untoward incidents and some scandals, admittedly; but the particularity with which they have been recruited — Peel's requirements have been supplemented since by various others—has always given the public a fundamental confidence in them.

DAYLIGHT SAVING

I've lost an hour!
It's gone, I cannot find it;
I've searched and searched
With no success at all.
Friends say, "Who cares?"
"You really should not mind it."
But still I search
And heed not duty's call.

I had it here
And was prepared to use it;
It disappeared—
I cannot tell you more.
I moved the clock,
But did not think I'd lose it;
The hour, I mean,
It left not by the door.

The day is long
And I should now be working.
But, puzzled still,
I search inside and out,
A mind at peace
Keeps one from duty shirking.
There is no rest
Where hope is met by doubt.

Could I be still
All would go on as ever;
The rising sun
Still greets my waking thought;
The day speeds on
And I need trouble never,
Remembering
That night will come unsought.

No use to try!
I thought reward to offer,
But none can help
In such unrest as mine.
I'll sleep in peace,
Since knowing that my safety
Is in the hand
That rules with power divine.

Let losses come
Or earthly gains be many,
I'll journey on,
While He rules over all;
And find at last
My losses were not any,
The hour now gone
I'll regain in the Fall.

LOSERS HOSTESSES AT JOLLY BANQUET

Good Program Provided at Social Evening Held in Fraserville.

The Young People's League of Fraserville started a contest in January, the object of which was to increase the attendance. Each side was to get new members, and the losers to serve a banquet to the winners. This event took place on Friday, June 14, in the Orange Hall, Fraserville.

The tables, at which about fifty-five young people sat, were laden with delicacies, while roses, iris and lilacs added greatly to the decorations. After all had partaken of the bounteous repast, the toast-master, Mr. Willard Waterman, proposed a toast to the King. The league replied by heartily singing one verse of "God Save the King." Frank Lackie then proposed a toast to the winners, and Miss Roberta Wood ably replied on behalf of that team. Rev. Mr. Swayne, although he could not tell which were losers or winners by the faces of those present, proposed a toast to the losers. Mrs. Swayne replied on behalf of the losing team.

A program was then enjoyed by all. Several piano solos by Miss G. Johnson, Centerville, were one of the outstanding features of the evening. Readings were given by Miss Ruby Cunningham, Miss Olive Carl, and Miss Mabel Henry. Miss Majorie Swayne and Rev. Mr. Swayne gave several instrumentals. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Finlay sang a duet.

The remainder of the evening was spent in contests and playing games.

Among those present were: Misses M. Henry, R. and M. Holden, A. Coburn, O. and P. Carl, R. and R. Snelgrove, V. Romanoff, A. Moore, M. Atchison, M. and R. Wood, G. Johnson, A. Trotter, M. HINT TO MEEK HUSBAND

AKRON, O., June 20.—Matrimonial ventures, in which the husband asserts himself and turns "bossy," turn out to be successful more often than if he allows his wife to lord it over him, according to Professor George L. TORONTO MAN IS APPOINTED NORTHUMBERLAND'S INSPECTOR

SEVEN APPLICANTS

Report of School Committee Is Accepted By County Council.

COBOURG, June 20 (By Examiner Staff Reporter).—Allan Alexander Martin, B.A., of Dewson street public school, Toronto, was appointed inspector of public schools in East Northumberland last night by the Counties Council. He succeeds Robert Boyes of Campbellford, whose resignation was received at this session.

Six other applicants sought the position, the most active being G. L. Wagar, M.A., teacher of mathematics in the Cobourg Collegiate Institute. The appointment was made by open vote in the Council, and only two names were proposed.

Mr. Martin was nominated by Deputy-Reeve C. H. Curtis of Percy and seconded by C. M. Finkle, Reeve of Colborne; and Mr. Wagar by Reeve Parker of Alnwick, seconded by Reeve Jibb of Hamilton.

Of the 39 members of the council, 30 voted for Mr. Martin and 6 for Mr. Wagar. Three were absent. The six supporters of Mr. Wagar were T. A. Davidson, Deputy-reeve of Hamilton; W. J. Jibb; W. H. Nelson, Reeve of Percy; Gordon Parker, Reeve of Alnwick; and the two Cobourg representatives, Reeve G. Thompson and Deputy-reeve Willmott.

Youth Gets Preference

Mr. Martin is 32 years old, and Mr. Wagar is in his sixties; and as C. H. Curtis remarked, this is an age of youth. Mr. Willmott, on the other hand, spoke of the need of experience in years and pedagogy as a qualification of an inspector whose duty was to guide and more or less train other teachers.

Other applicants were W. C. Jones, Toronto; W. H. Carlton, Toronto; Jos. A. Gibson, Toronto; W. J. Marshall, Toronto.

Addressing the council after Warden Wood announced and confirmed the appointment, Mr. Martin said, in part: "I trust you will not regret your choice. If hard work will make me a success, I shall be a success, for I certainly intended to work hard."

Mr. Wagar was the first to congratulate Mr. Martin. To the Council he said: "It is a splendid thing that one of his young age should be stepping into such an important position, one of the most important in our educational system. You have made a very excellent choice."

The initial salary for the inspector is $3,000 a year.

Schools Report

Deputy-reeve W R. Willmott of Cobourg, chairman of the schools committee, presented his report last night as follows:—

"We recommend payment of the following cadet grants for the current year:—

Colborne High School	$50
Bowmanville High School	$50
Campbellford High School	$50
Campbellford Public School	$50
Millbrook Continuation School	$50

"We recommend payment of the sum of $2092.13 to public schools and $62.38 to Separate Schools within these United Counties. These amounts are equivalent of the legislative grants for accommodation and equipment for the current year.

"We recommend payment of the following amount for maintenance of counties' pupils for 1929:—

Cobourg Collegiate	$13,174.65
Campbellford High	$11,442.67
Bowmanville High	$10,495.87
Brighton High	$ 5,111.18
Port Hope High	$13,453.95
Newcastle High	$ 1,732.32
Colborne High	$ 6,785.04

"We recommend payment of the following amounts, being for maintenance of county pupils attending Continuation schools, also schools outside the counties, for 1929:—

Millbrook Continuation	$4,844.50
Orono Continuation	4,831.63
Blackstock Continuation	3,159.46
Frankford Continuation	1,355.68
Omemee High	193.77
Port Perry High	320.09

"We recommend that the counties' clerk and treasurer send out the latest collegiate(high school and Continuation forms to the respective school board secretaries and that he return to such Boards any forms that have not been completed on the most recent forms, the intention being to have uniform returns.

"We recommend that a letter of appreciation be sent to the retiring school inspector, Robert Boyes, of Campbellford, thanking him for his long and faithful services as inspector in Northumberland county, and that this motion be recorded in the minutes.

Owing on Highways

A typographical error in the report of the treasurer's statement indicated that the counties owed the Highways Deparment for provincial highways the sum of $531.17. This should have read in The Examiner $153,531.17. The three most important figures had been lopped off.

$500 to the Militia

The Finance Committee yesterday recommended a grant of $250 each to the Durham and Northumberland regiments, and $100 to the Northumberland Cheese-Makers' Association.

When the temperature is freezing, or 32 degrees Fahrenheit on the earth, a mile above the earth it is 16 above, 2 miles up 16 below, 4 miles up 32 below and 6 miles up it is 62 degrees below zero.

COUNTY RATE IS INCREASED

Paving Program Commences To Show In Tax Bills of United Counties.

Restrict Traffic in Spring.

COBOURG, June 20 (Staff Reporter). — The comprehensive paving program of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham begins this year to insinuate itself into the tax bills of the ratepayers.

The total counties rate is higher than last year, and the increase appears in the county road rate column.

Last year the general rate was 8½ mills and the county road rate 2 mills, a total of 10½ mills, with .008 mills for special school rate and .00012 mills for debentures.

This year the general rate is 8½ mills and the county road rate 2¾ mills, a total of 11¼ mills.

As the equalized assessment aggregates $30,000,000 in round numbers, one mill on that total would yield $30,000 and 11¼ mills will provide $350,000, which is approximately this year's requirement. The 2¾ mills will raise $255,000 for county roads.

Big Advance in Four Years.

These are the salient financial facts for the attention of the property owners of the twin counties; and it may be of interest to point out that the rate has advanced virtually 50 per cent. in four years. In 1926 the general county rate was 6½ mills and county roads 1½ mills, a total of 8 mills. And this year the corresponding rates amount to almost 12 mills, an increase of almost 4 mills in four years.

Agrees With Peterborough.

Peterborough County Council's initiative to restrict heavy traffic on the roads in early spring, when the frost and wet weather are conspiring in havoc, was endorsed yesterday on George Van Volkenburg's motion, seconded by Gordon Parker. The county road commission was instructed to co-operate with Peterborough and other counties in representations to the government.

George Greer, county road superintendent, was dubious of results.

"I don't think you'll get the government to do anything," he said. "Anything but light ton trucks should not be allowed on ordinary roads when the frost is going out."

J. M. Bygott—Could we demand a weight certificate of any truck?

George Van Volkenburg—We could suggest that licenses be issued for just eleven months.

Other members agreed that some action should be taken to prevent the spring damage and consequent loss to the municipalities, but they could not propose an obviously easy method.

Gluttons for Work.

With the Warden's excursion setting the closing session for Thursday afternoon or evening the council in open sessions and included a Tuesday night session and went back again last night to appoint an inspector for the schools of East Northumberland.

Warden Wood had urged speed at the outset and the members accepted his advice so literally, that he expressed the opinion Wednesday night meeting was unnecessary. However, W. F. Rickard of Newcastle, suggested that the appointment be disposed of witnout waiting until Thursday.

Car for George Greer.

The council approved the proposal of Reeve Rickard's committee on roads and bridges to buy a car for the use of the county roads superintendent, George Greer. It will also be used by the county roads commission in the performance of their supervisory duties. The commissioners will receive 5c a mile instead of 10c when they use the car.

IDEAS FOR THE DYE-WISE

PRIZE LETTER — FOR WISE DYEING

Dyed 10 Garments —Spent 65 Cents

"I decided to try Sunset Dyes and Dytints. Having a faded blue crepe kimona, began on that with Bright Blue Sunset. It came out beautiful, bright, clear blue.

"With a camel's hair paint brush I renewed the blue flowers on my summer hat. I purchased one cake of Bright Blue Sunset, one cake of Heliotrope Sunset, one package Peach Dytint, one Blue Dytint for silk only. A discoloured white Crepe Romaine dress was dipped into Peach Dytint. A rich peach colour was obtained. Then a wash satin night gown and a pair of scanties went into the same bath and a beautiful colour resulted.

"I tinted a white crepe de chine trimmed with white lace using Blue Dytint for silk only. The result was lovely. I put in a dotted swiss dress, faded blue dots on white; this weak bath just brought back their original blue. I dyed my faded blue georgette, using Blue Sunset with Heliotrope. This dress looks better than when new. I boiled a faded Swiss dress in soap solution to extract the original colours and tied knots in it. I dyed it with Bright Blue Sunset. The blue with white is very effective. I dyed a figured Crepe de Chine Heliotrope with a Blue cast.

"For sixty-five cents I have dyed one kimona, one night gown, one pair of scanties, six dresses, one hat."—Katharine G. Summerson.

For fast dyeing use Sunset Soap Dye—15 cents a cake. For beautiful tinting use Dytint, wonderful new tint, in big box, 10c. Made in Canada.

That Body of Yours

(By Jas. W. Barton, M.D.)

INSULIN PREVENTS TISSUE DESTRUCTION.

Perhaps when you have read a newspaper headline which says "insulin is not a cure for diabetes" you wonder why so much importance was attached to Banting's discovery, and whether or not it really saves lives.

Now although the number of cases of diabetes is not decreasing, nevertheless the death rate is decreasing, because insulin prevents diabetic patients from dying. It supplies the necessary substance that enables the body to use sugar instead of throwing it out as waste in the urine.

Further, in the case of young people, where formerly diabetes was rapidly fatal, insulin actually cures the condition and they are enabled to live withoutthe use of insulin.

You see the cause of diabetes is a destruction of part of pancreas, that organ that is so important to digestion.

You will remember that its juice acts on meats, starches, and fats. Insulin, in young folks, steps in before too much damage has been done to the pancreas, and that is why young folks are cured.

In older folks too much damage has been done and the insulin, by applying the necessary juice, makes up for what the damaged pancreas cannot manufacture.

However, the discovery of insulin has so stirred up research workers that they are experimenting with insulin for many forms of trouble in the body.

You have been reading about "rickets" that distressing ailment due to softness of the bones, and the deformities that follow from it. You have read about how sunlight and cod liver oil have been able to prevent this condition in children.

And now it has been shown that insulin tends to improve the building processes of the body and prevent the "acidosis" which is so destructive to tissue growth.

It is this acidosis that prevents the lime from being deposited in the bone and also tears down the lime salts already formed in the blood. You can thus see that insulin then is not only a wonderful discovery in itself, but it has been the greatest stimulus to research workers in their efforts to discover other gland substances that may be of help in preventing illness.

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

YOU CAN'T, YOU SILLY.

Children, boys and girls alike, think they can do things when grown-ups know they can't. That is, the grown-ups are quite sure they can't. Well, they are almost certain they can't. Sometimes the children put them to confusion in after days. But that comes later.

Betty dresses in all the finery she can lay hand upon and poses before the mirror. She is acting. She is the heroine of the last book she read, the last movie she saw, the last story she heard told. She strides up and down her room making funny gestures and uttering strange sounds. She is a great actress.

Or she is an opera singer. She trills and tralla-la's, making dreadful sounds She thinks she is doing very well indeed. She hears the applause of the great audience. She bows to the president in his box, to the foreign prince on her right, to the family on the left. She tastes the sweets of success.

Brother Ben sharpens his sword and is a pirate bold. He changes according to the latest book. Now he is Tom Mix riding on the air; now he is a great surgeon saving the king's life; performing the most delicate and intricate operations with an airy gesture and endearing himself to the nation. Ah, if he had been there when Lincoln was stricken he would have saved him.

"Let me, let me," youth cries and struggles against its weakness, its ignorance, its helplessness and we shrug and say, "You can't, you silly. Who do you think you are? Duse? Melba? Columbus? Shakespeare?"

Better not do that. When you see a child dreaming great deeds, when you see him striving to be somebody, create something, let him go. Go your way in silence and pray that he succeed for the dream of greatness is the beginning of great things sometimes. Not always. But sometimes and one ought never to spoil a chance like that.

When a child expresses himself in any such way there is a reason. Something within him is driving him or her to sing, to act, to experiment in this field or that. There is a reason for this seeming silliness, this presumption. Why should it be called presumption for a child to try to be great? He is answering some deep laid urge and that expression is to be permitted its freedom because it is good.

All fine work starts in this way. The child feels he must sing and he cannot sing, just makes noises, never mind. Let him sing himself, act himself, dream himself through this stage to his satisfaction and from it will spring another form of the idea and when that has grown to maturity, it may take an hour, a day or a lifetime, another form and a higher one opens up.

Remember that when a child expresses himself this way, he believes in what he is doing. He thinks he is doing as well as the model. Let him alone. In this way his growth develops. And it may be his talent is budding just below. Give the child that chance and don't call him silly. That is just what he isn't.

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

Friday, June 21, 1929.

(Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syn.)

For this first day of summer, the planetary government is fortunate, according to astrology which finds that benefic stars dominate.

Neptune now in Mars seems to presage for Europe a great advancement of the people who may protest strongly against future wars.

Over the United States Neptune and Mars are seen in aspects that seem to forecast international problems causing confusion. Danger of diplomacy that is not altogether clever is foretold.

If the stars are rightly read, much propaganda regarding foreign countries will be disseminated in America which is to gain world attention.

Revelations of graft and political corruption will be made in many cities, it is foretold, but little permanent reform will follow.

Later, a national reform movement independent of political parties will take place, the seers prophecy.

There is a sign read as uncovering in its influence, and for that reason many scandals touching private as well as public life are indicated.

While adverse stars are read, however, the benefic aspects continue strong. The youth of the land is to give a marvelous account of itself.

Since it is the abnormal or unusual that is exploited most conspicuously in the newspaper, the seers stress the fact that the majority of American young men and young women represent a standard higher than any previously attained in this country.

This is a day most auspicious for starting any difficult task, particularly if it requires special training.

Experts in every line of work belong to the new era in which supreme achievements are to be recorded, astrologers declare, and for this reason college graduates have the promise of success.

Under this rule the advice of elders may not be so wide as it should be, and youth will do well to consult its own possibilities, while relying on its own judgment.

Persons whose birthdate it is, have the augury of a profitable year in which land investments should be fortunate.

Children born on this day, probably will be conscientious, industrious and altogether reliable. The subjects of this sign often succeed in scientific pursuits.

Daniel D. Tompkins, Vice President of the United States was born on this date, 1774. Von Humboldt, the astronomer, first saw the light on this day, 1767.

Retail chain stores along American lines are being developed in Denmark.

Now she is no longer anaemic

ARE you worried about your daughter? Is she growing too fast for her strength? Is she pale, thin, anaemic?

You can build up her blood supply with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They contain the vital, life-giving nourishment which anaemic blood cries out for.

"I do not think that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have an equal for building up the system," writes Mrs. Albert Powers of Picton, Ont. "I gave them to my eldest girl when she was anaemic, pale and thin and had no appetite. They restored her to health and later when my youngest daughter was run-down after diphtheria, I again brought them into use. My daughter was thin, pale and extremely nervous but the pills soon set her right."

Annie
(You're Just Like My Mammy)
(Contributed by "Unity.")

Duncan fell in love with Annie Laurie, Oh!
Met her one day coming thru' the rye.
He just popped the question there and then, but she,
Said I dinna ken why you want to marry me.
Duncan flush'd and murmur'd with a sigh.
Just listen, and I'll tell you why.

Chorus

Annie, you're just like my mammy,
You've the same sweet eyes of blue,
When you smile at me I can see,
The smile of mammy too.
And if you make me as happy
As my mither did in days gone by Then I'll not be sorry that I met Annie Laurie
Coming thro' the rye.

Duncan gazed at her and then he gave a sigh
Murmur'd, "Now I've seen you Annie dear,
I know why the poet said in that old song
You are just the fairest that e'er the sun shone on,
If you'll only say you'll marry me,
For you I'll lay me down and dee.

BUTTONED-OVER FLAPS FORM THIS TAILORED FROCK.

In this little woolen frock, I have used buttoned-over flaps to give an interesting character to sleeves and to the long scarf-like fold of material which is held in place at the hipline. The flaring skirt, as you will see, wraps around and in the back and is held in place by buttons.

YOUNG WOMEN HOLD MOST ENJOYABLE PICNIC

Fifty Members of Trinity Society Gathered at Home of Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Moncrief.

Trinity Young Woman's Auxiliary held a most enjoyable picnic Monday evening when fifty members and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Moncrief, Provincial Highway. It's success was largely due to the efforts of the committee in charge Mrs. A. R. Brown, Mrs. H. S. Derry and Mrs. H. K. Clifton. After supper had been served, Mrs. A. F. Bookhout gave a short address describing some features of the work of the Woman's Missionary Society of the United Church. The thanks of the organization to Mr. and Mrs. Moncrief for their hospitality, was voiced by Mrs. A. Parker and Mrs. A. R. Brown.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

RICHARD DIX WILL BE HEARD IN HIS FIRST ALL-TALKING COMEDY, "NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH" AT THE CAPITOL, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

Richard Dix's first all-talking picture, "Nothing But the Truth" is undoubtedly one of his best, and that is saying something, because the handsome Dix has made more than thirty films.

At the Capitol on Friday and Saturday jubilant audiences will look and listen to his artistic acting.

"Nothing But the Truth" is that favorite of farce successes revamped for the screen and refurnished with newer and better comedy situations and an adequate trimming of music, singing and dancing.

Dix plays the part of the young man who makes a wager that he can tell nothing but the truth for 24 consecutive hours. He wins the bet after going through a veritable circus of bizarre and uproariously amusing situations.

The play is chockful of rich humor and does not lag for an instant.

Helen Kane's singing in her famous "baby talk" manner is an agreeable feature of the production. She turns in a fine comedy characterization, as do Louis John Bartels, Ned Sparks, Berton Churchill and Wynne Gibson.

"Nothing But the Truth," then, is one "look and listen" film you should not miss.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, and Mr. Sproats, with his bride, left for a honeymoon trip to Hamilton. On their return, they will live on Romaine street.

SLIPS BENEATH MOVING CAR.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., June 20.—(C. P.) — Norman Edwards, railway brakeman, was killed here yesterday when he slipped beneath the wheels of a moving freight car at Innerkip. The car was just being "dropped" and while Edwards was running along outside he stumbled and fell beneath the wheels.

Given the sunshine vitamin by Ultra-Violet Rays

Muffets . . . whole-wheat cereal . . . now healthful in a different way.

THE bone-building vitamin "D" of sunshine in a breakfast food! This is the newest contribution of science to your health. Muffets, the whole-wheat cereal, is irradiated with Ultra-Violet Rays, so that it passes on to you sunlight's healthful Vitamin "D". The process is that developed by Professor Steenbock of the University of Wisconsin and called by nutritionists the most important food development in years.

Muffets . . . each is a "ribbon" of cooked whole wheat, rolled up and baked and toasted to a crisp brown. Crumbles easily in the hand. Eaten with sugar and cream, with berries or fruit added . . . Um-m-mm! What a meal!

Now this cereal brings you that mysterious "something" in sunlight which makes teeth grow sound and hard; bones grow properly. Children must have Vitamin "D" if their bodies are to develop correctly. Adults, likewise, benefit from the "sun vitamin". The Ultra-Violet Rays of the sun cannot penetrate through ordinary window glass, and they are effectively stopped by fog or smoke, and even by the clothes you wear.

Eat irradiated Muffets for your own health. Serve them to your children. Irradiation does not change the taste or appearance of Muffets in the least. They are simply a delightful, wholesome, whole wheat food, made more healthful by the "sunshine" treatment. All grocers have irradiated Muffets, and all Muffets are irradiated, and there is no increase in price!

All Muffets on your grocer's shelves have been irradiated, whether so stated on the package or not. There are two Muffets packages, but only one kind of Muffets—in every package the same irradiation, the same quality, the same wholesomeness of the whole wheat.

If children are not full of "pep", playful . . . . perhaps it's "sunshine starvation". Health experts report increased vitality, better spirits, in children whose "sun ration" had been increased.

Petes Play Loose Ball To Drop 7-3 Decision

NATIONALS FINALLY SUCCEED IN WINNING GAME FROM PETES LOSERS TOSS AWAY CHANCES

Belleville Win 7 to 3 After Game in Which Petes Play Some Bad Ball.

HARRISON'S HOMER.

Petes' First Baseman Makes Longest Wallop in Belleville History.

(By F. D. C.)

Before yesterday's Central Ontario League game at Belleville Peeney Mills somewhat bitterly ruminated that the Petes saved up all their good baseball for use against the Nationals.

Mister Mills was wrong for once for the Swanston crew went out right after and demonstrated that they could also play the other brand against Belleville, and as a result of some decidedly dumb baseball on the part of the Petes and some lusty clouting by the second division of Belleville's batting order Walter Gerow's men beat the Petes for the first time this season and the third in nine starts this year and last.

The victory was registered at the expense of Jeff Hardill, who had previously hung up a record of four wins out of five games pitched against the Nationals this season and in the 1928 campaign.

Hardill was hit harder than usual by the Belleville clouters, allowing thirteen safeties, but in spite of that fact it took some decidedly bad ball to give the Gerowmen the verdict for the Petes presented them with a couple of runs by loose defensive work and kicked away two or three more by dope base running.

Playing heads up ball Manager Swanston's talent would have offset the Belleville hitting, especially as Vinny Utronki was by no means a mystery and was touched up for eleven hits. The Petes' own mistakes on the bases, rather than Utronki's pitching pulled the ex-Renfrew heaver out of more than one tight corner.

It was the tail end of the National batting order that gave the most trouble, especially Alex Weir, who poled out two triples and a long single, the two extra base socks playing a prominent part in the Belleville victory.

All the long distance hitting was not done by the National crew, however, for the afternoon was made notable by Hap Harrison hitting what the natives claimed was the longest home run ever seen in Belleville. This record breaking smash came in the second frame when, with two out and nobody on, Harrison met one of Utronki's submarine slants and drove the spalding to the uttermost fringe of the park. The Belleville outfield were playing him deep as they always do, but the ball sailed far over Alex Weir's head, took a hop over the fence around the race track and rattled up against the horse stables on the other side of the track. It was a terrific wallop and the Belleville crowd gave the big first baseman a real hand when he trotted in.

Up to Belleville's half of the sixth it was a tight battle. Twice the Petes came from behind to tie the score, and when the Nationals went to bat in their half of that frame the teams were deadlocked 3-3. Three big runs then salted the game away, but even then the losers had a royal chance when they filled the bases with nobody out in the seventh and then tossed the opportunity away.

That was a sad inning, mates. With three on the sacks Swanston drove a long fly to left for what should have been a perfectly good sacrifice fly. Instead Rose, who was on second and Hollingsworth on third both ran wild on the smash. The latter was so far off third that he hadn't time to go back and touch the bag and then score while Rose ran almost to third and was doubled off second after the catch. And then when Ash's roller was fumbled by Scott, Hollingsworth forgot there were two out and instead of scoring was caught going back to third. Instead of a big inning that might have changed the complexion of the game the whole thing was turned into a washout.

The Scoring Details.

The Petes lost a chance in the first. Red Hollingsworth fanned but Rose was hit and after Hall had fouled to Mills, Swanston singled to centre sending Rose to third. Ash rolled to Scott to retire the side.

Belleville got a lucky one. Scott was safe on Rose's error, went to second on Verne Weir's sacrifice, to third on a passed ball, and scored on Peeney Mills' single to centre. Harry Mills singled to left but Sonny Green fanned and Blakely rolled to Rose.

In the second after Legon and Hardill had flied to M. Green came Harrison's mammoth homer to deep centre, tieing the score. Sweetman fouled to Mills.

The Nationals went ahead again in their half. After M. Green had rolled to Rose A. Weir tripled to centre, a long high one over Legon's head. Utronki hit to Rose whose throw home was too late to get A. Weir. Utronki was, of course, safe on the play and stole second. Scott struck out but V. Weir shot a single into right centre to score Utronki. W. Mills' liner to centre was right at Legon.

The Petes got one back in the third. After Hollingsworth had fanned Rose singled to centre and stole second, and although Hall flied to left Swanston followed with a single to centre to send Rose home. Ash beat out a roller to Scott for a hit. Scott fumbled Legon's smash, but recovered in time to force Swanston at third.

For Belleville Harry Mills popped to Hardill. Sonny Green singled to right and was forced at second, Hollingsworth to Rose on Blakely's tap. Blakely stole second and third but M. Green fanned.

In the fourth Hardill bounded to Utronki, Harrison fanned and Sweetman rolled to V. Weir.

In the Nationals' half Alex Weir led off with a single and a steal but Utronki flied to Legon. Scott rolled to Rose and V. Weir fanned.

There was nothing in the fifth. H. Hollingsworth popped to Utronki, Rose fouled to W. Mills and Hall struck out.

W. Mills rolled to Hardill. Harry Mills was hit but was forced at second when S. Green hit one to Sweetman. Rose tossed out M. Green.

The Petes tied it up in the sixth. Swanston was safe when M. Green dropped his drive after a sharp run. Ash singled to left. Legon struck out. Harrison crashed a single over second, scoring Swanston and sending Ash to third while he took second himself on the throw to the difficult corner. L. Hollingsworth batted for Sweetman and rolled to Utronki to retire the side.

The Nationals lost no time in taking the lead again. Successive triples by M. Green and A. Weir sent one run in and Utronki's high fly back of short went for a double to score A. Weir. Scott singled past Harrison and stole second. Weir struck out. Utronki scored while Hollingsworth was tossing out W. Mills. H. Mills rolled to Rose.

The Petes tossed away a great chance. H. Hollingsworth led off with a double to left and Rose followed with a single. Hall bunted for a sacrifice but Scott threw high to second and the bases were full. Swanston's long fly to M. Green should have scored a run but Hollingsworth was caught far up the line and had to stay on third while Rose was doubled off second on the play. Scott missed Ash's roller, but Hollingsworth instead of going home tried to run back to third and was called out when Blakely recovered the ball and threw to Scott. Terrible base running pulled Utronki out of a bad hole.

Belleville added another in their half. S. Green walked and went to second on a passed ball. Blakely doubled to send the run in. M. Green singled but A. Weir struck out. Utronki rolled to Hardill and after Scott drew a walk V. Weir fanned for the third time in a row.

Again the Petes filled the bases but couldn't score. Legon singled to left and Hardill was hit. Blakely went far out to make a nice catch of Harrison's fly to short left. Johnston dew a pass, filling the bases, but H. Hollingsworth struck out and Hall flied to Sonny Green.

W. Mills flied to H. Hollingsworth and H. Mills to Ash. S. Green was safe on Johnston's fumble and Blakely doubled to right, but M. Green flied to Legon.

Jimmy Hall started the Petes' half with a single to centre, but it did nothing except to keep his record of hitting safely in every game this season intact. Swanston and Ash both hoisted flies to Blakely and Legon ended the game with a drive to M. Green.

DELORO SPLITS DOUBLE HEADER WITH OSHAWA

First Game Is Won By Home Team Three Runs to Two.

VISITORS GET ONE HIT.

Ibey Pitches Sterling Ball in Second Fixture To Lose 2-1.

Playing almost errorless ball, behind star twirling, Oshawa and Deloro turned in two of the smartest games played to date in the Central League at Deloro yesterday. Again the teams split their double bill, Deloro winning the first game 3 to 2, and Oshawa the second 2 to 1. In the humid heat of the summer afternoon both teams turned in great exhibitions in the shadow of the Smelter's tall chimney.

Carl Wood and Osborne opposed each other on the mound in the first game. Both pitched heady ball to come through in the pinches, and were tendered great support.

Deloro scored the first run of the game in the third. With one down Brown hit over first base and Wood hit to centre field. Brown scored at the plate on Ralph's rap to short.

Oshawa scored in the fourth. McCallum got first when G. Scott, after fumbling his grounder through to first and Hughes dropped the ball. Matthews clouted a double into centre, scoring McCallum.

Deloro got two runs in their half of the same innings. With one down Art Quinn drew a walk and Regan scored him on a triple into right field. Hughes hit for two bases scoring Regan.

The teams played along without an opportunity to score until the eighth, when Oshawa sent their other run across. With one down Gray hit a single and McCallum followed suit. Gray went to third on a pass ball and scored on Theo Elliott's rap to short.

Oshawa a Single Hit

Oshawa got but one hit from Ibey in the second game; Penu, a pinch hitter, doing the trick. Although Ibey pitched sterling ball, his own wildness at critical stages and two errors by his team mates cost him the game.

Opposing Ibey was Ogden, who was making his debut in the Central League. Deloro nicked him for only four hits and his team mates supported him without an error.

In the fifth innings, after two were down, Bob Elliott threw wide to first on Theo. Elliott's rap and G. Scott allowed Matthews' roller to go through him. Elliott scored on a wild pitch by Ibey.

Bob Elliott tossed in the feature play of the two games when he stole home with the tieing run in the sixth. First up, Elliott clouted a long triple into right field. Quinn filed out and Regan struck out. With G. Scott at the bat several attempts were made to squeeze the run in, but they failed when all Scott's raps were fouls. Then with three and two on the batter, Elliott raced home.

Oshawa won the game in the last innings. Rowden first up, drew a walk. He advanced to third on two raps by Young and Quinn and scored on Penu's single into left field.

With two down in their half Deloro had a great chance to score two runs to win the game. Wood drew a walk and stole second and third. Ralph was walked and he went to second. Buck the next batter crashed out two long fouls, one hitting the post out on right field foul line. He then struck out and the game was over.

To the Motorist Who Has Denied Himself Goodyear Tires

THIS is a direct message to those motorists who do not buy the world's greatest tire—the Goodyear All-Weather Tread—because they think it is high-priced.

Goodyear Tires cost less today than "cheap" tires cost two or three years ago.

Goodyear Tires cost no more than so-called "standard" brands.

And Goodyear mileage is today the greatest in the history of the tire industry.

If you have been going without the safe, sure traction of the All-Weather Tread; if you have been going without the long, trouble-free service of Supertwist Cords; if you have been putting up with the troubles of less perfected tires—because you thought Goodyear prices were high, see the Goodyear Selected Dealer. You will probably find that the world's greatest tire costs no more, or very little more, than you have been paying.

In every town in Canada large enough to support a good tire dealer there is at least one Goodyear Selected Dealer.

LOCK MAKERS WIN OUT 3-2

Industrials Stage Garrison Finish To Defeat Kiwanis in Junior Battle.

PITCHERS' DUEL.

Staging a garrison finish on Hall's second hit of the game, which scored Burke who was resting on first, the Lockworks scored a 3-2 victory over the Kiwanis in a city league junior fixture at James Stevenson Park last night. Both hurlers did well on the mound, with Westbrooke pitching himself out of several holes. Stellar fielding on the part of the Industrials was a feature of the game, the Lockworks working several double plays which hindered the Club crew's chances of scoring.

The Kiwanis scored their first run on a poor play by McDonough and O'Brien, while the Lockworks tied the score a few innings later. The next run came in the fifth when the Lockworks filled the bases and Crary walked a man, forcing in the run.

In their half of the sixth Deanard's team evened the score with a couple of timely singles. The Lockworks emerged winners in the last half of the seventh when Burke singled and Hall clouted a deep drive between short and third, scoring Burke for the winning counter.

Line-ups:

Lockworks — Morrocco, c.; Westbrooke, p.; O'Brien, 1b.; Hall, 2b.; McDonough, s.s.; Barry, 2b. and s.s.; Whaley, 3b.; Dunkerly, r.f.; Burke, c.f.; Murray, l.f.

JUVENILE BATTLE TO-NIGHT.

To-night marks another feature program so far as the junior baseball is concerned when Canucks and Moose tangle in a juvenile city league fixture at James Stevenson park, the game to be called sharp at 6.30. Fans who are in any way interested in junior ball should make it a point to attend these games as they are top-notchers.

Troops Out On Winning Streak in Campbellford Softball League.

LOOP STANDINGS.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 20 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — Now that the Troops have broken the ice, they appear to believe that the water is fine. After a season of nothing but losses last year, and two losses to begin with this year, they started out to give a good account of themselves by defeating the Mill team and the next night sending the Presbyterians to defeat. There were plenty of hits and plenty of runs on both sides, but the Soldiers led the way right through the eight innings when the game was called on account of darkness.

St. Andrew's started out with the modest count of two runs in the first time up. The Legionaires tallied eight, and in the second frame added thirteen more to that number. From then on, it was heavy going. They did not take their last batting, but counted seven runs in the other five innings, and when the smoke of battle cleared, had won by a score of twenty-eight to twenty-four. By this victory they have consolidated their third position in the league, and should the Clerks lose to the Mill on Friday, the Legion will be tied for second.

Pitchers Are Hit Hard

Flett Relieves Gower on the Mound After the Rays Score Sixteen Runs.

MAUDSLEY GOES STRONG.

Good Support is Given Both Hurlers—Final Score 10 to 4.

In a game when both pitchers were hit freely in the first inning Raybestos beat the Oshawa crew of the Lakeshore League to the tune of ten runs to four at the Exhibition Grounds last night. "Sailor" Maudsley got away to a bad start in the first when he hit Crosset the second man up, walked Hubbel, and Elliott came along with a triple and McDougal a single, scoring three runs for the visitors.

Gower, a southpaw, started for the Oshawa crew and before relief was sent in he had allowed seven runs to cross the plate. Flett, who relieved him, pitched steady ball until the last of the sixth when he was touched for three hits and three runs.

Both teams gave their pitchers good support and outside of the first and last inning air tight ball was played Maudsley struckout five while Flett did the same, being at his best in the fourth when he retired the only three Rays to face him by the strike out route. Elliott was the hitting ace of the game, securing two triples in three times to bat, while Moore for the home team got a single and a double in four times at the plate.

In the second for Oshawa, Gower singled and went to second on Broad's sacrifice. Batten got Gummow's drive and Crossett struck out.

Rogers was out, Gummow to Hubbell. Collins singled. Corrin made first but Collins was caught at second, and Mein flied to left.

Hubbell, the first up, struck out in the third. Elliott tripled. Flett lifted one to Maudsley and Elliott was out at the plate.

BRINTON WINS FROM QUAKERS IN LEAGUE TILT

Carpet Boys Add Two More Points By Reason of 5-2 Victory.

NEW PLAYERS.

Porridge Men Dominate Play in Last Period of the Play.

The Quaker Oats lost another two points to the Brinton eleven last evening, in the local soccer league, at King Edward Park, by the score of 5 goals to 2. The winners took advantage of the ten men against eleven in the first half when they added five goals to their count, but in the second half the Quakers reduced the lead when Hepburn and Galloway scored with a full team doing duty.

The Game

The spin of the coin went against the Quakers and they kicked off facing the sun. Both goals went under a bombardment in the early stages which tested the qualities of the defence.

Two Goals in Two Minutes

Before the newly-arranged team of the losers got settled, the Brinton forwards took advantage of the weakness in settling down to their respective positions. On an individual effort by Robertson, he beat along the wing to evade the backs, who failed to stop the ball when it came across, but Jones connected on the misjudgment. From the kick-off, James gained the decision on a tackle and travelled to the Quekers' citadel to put his team two goals ahead. Immediately thereafter, the Quakers pressed the Brinton boys into their own area to gain three flag kicks that brought nothing. At this point, the full backs were too far up the field, thereby allowing the opposing forwards a splendid opening that they grasped by a timely pass from James to Jones to get the third goal.

Brintons Added Two More

The Brinton team went on a scoring rampage within the next ten minutes, when Darling rattled a hot drive from the wing into the net. Then Hawthorne broke up an attack in the centre and broke away fast with the ball at his toe to land the ball in the net. After this sudden elapse, the Quakers got accustomed to their positions and kept the Brinton defence on the alert to prevent a tally just before the interval. Brintons, 5; Quakers 0.

Half Time

On resuming, the Quakers had the advantage with the sun at their backs and it was evident that the winners were in for a hard tussle. Bill Hepburn took up the inside position to complete the Quakers' eleven in the second half.

Missed a Penalty

On a raid on the Brinton goal, McPhate was brought down in the dreaded area and was was alloted the spot kick, but he failed to hit the mark with his parting shot that went past the post on the outside. Play was of a ding dong nature for the next twenty minutes, with the Quakers holding their own.

Hepburn Reduced the Lead

From a right wing pass, Hepburn completely deceived Curtis with a dropping shot that found the far corner of the net. Encouraged by their success the losers added another to their count when Galloway picked the corner of the net for the second goal. The Quakers tried hard to improve the tally in the score column, but failed to get any more for the remainder of the encounter. Brintons, 5; Quakers, 2.

Goal scorers.—Jones (2), James, Darling and Hawthorne for Brinton. Hepburn and Galloway for Quakers.

Quakers.—Killingbeck, goal; Cross and Ward, full backs; Budworth, Galloway and Fowler, halves; Watkins, Dyer, Hepburn, McPhate and Williams, forwards.

Brintons—Curtis, goal; Lucas and Sharmen, backs; Cherrill, Hawthorne and Creighton, halves; Robertson, James, Jones, Bayliss and Darling, forwards.

POLAR BEARS NOW ARE CIRCUS STARS

Wonderful Training Achievement in Sparks Circus is Work of Franz Woska.

If there were no other reason—and there are one thousand—you should visit the Sparks Circus and look at ten thousands pounds of bear meat. No human has ever seen so much bear meat as is assembled this year with the Sparks Circus. The group of performing Polars alone are worth more money than the average menagerie carried with the ordinary circus, when you stop to think that a Polar bear rug costs from two thousands dollars up. Can you imagine what one Polar bear costs—or what an entire group of shaggy white giants from the frozen North that have been educated to a remarkable degree of intelligence would bring? There is no doubt that the hide of Bolivar—the largest bear ever known—would bring from four to five thousands dollars. Bolivar is a live and healthy with the circus. You will not have to ask Franz Woska, the trainer, to point him out—he is so big he will scare you into knowing his name. The Sparks Circus evidently has cornered the market in bears of all species and all will be seen in the world's longest parade at 11 a.m. on Monday, June 24 in Peterboro and they include bears that box, bears that wrestle with human beings, bears that perform with such docile animals as Shetland ponies and dogs—each an inimitable actor in the numerous wild animal acts presented under the Sparks Circus "Big-top."

Tickets both general admission and reserved can be secured Circus day at Bond's Drug Store same price as at show grounds.

Inversin Winner Of Ascot Gold Cup

ASCOT, Eng., June 20.—(A.P.) Inversin, winner of the Ascot Gold Cup last year, repeated his performance to-day at the Royal Ascot. Reigh Count, Mrs. John D. Hertz's American colt, was second in the field of 13.

Inversin, which is owned by Reid Walker, won by two lengths from Reigh Count, while the American colt finished three lengths in front of Palais Royal II, which was third. The 1928 gold winner was quoted at 8 to 1 in the betting while Reigh Count was a 4 to 1 favorite. Palais Royal II paid 10 to 1.

The Gold Cup, run over a two and one-half mile route, was worth 2,500 sterling (about $12,500) to the winner in addition to the cup valued at 500 sterling or about $2,500.

Central Ontario League Chatter

By F. D. C.

As a result of yesterday's games the Central Ontario League race is all tied in a knot with one game representing the spread from top to bottom. Belleville, who have played two games less than the rest of the pack are on the top with a slight persentage margin over Oshawa, who are in second place while right behind the two leaders, the Deloro and Peterborough teams are tied. The standing is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Belleville	3	2	.667
Oshawa	4	3	.571
Peterborough	3	4	.429
Deloro	3	4	.429

Games Saturday:
Deloro at Peterborough.
Belleville at Oshawa.

Jack Ogden, whom the Petes knocked out of the box in Oshawa last week, was Oshawa's victorious pitcher against Deloro in yesterday's double-header, while Osborne, who beat Deloro two weeks ago, lost the decision in the first game of the twin bill.

Jack Shea, former Deloro pitcher, was in uniform at Belleville yesterday and will soon be able to give Utronki a breathing spell. The Renfrew boy has pitched all four games his team has played and has turned in three victories, the Petes beating him twice in three starts.

This is a tough league on the scorers owing to the number of players with the same names. Belleville has the Mills brothers, two Weirs and two Greens. The Petes have the two Hollingsworths. There are two Scotts on the Deloro team and another on the Belleville line-up. Art Quinn, the Deloro catcher, and Jimmy Quinn, the Oshawa backstop, are brothers. And then here is Theo Elliott with Oshawa and Boy Elliott covering second for Deloro.

This Oshawa Elliott is a handy man to have around. The Motorists have already used him in three roles, behind the bat, at second and at first, and he has looked good in all three positions.

Home fans who gave Hap Harrison the well known raspberry for failing to hit in the pinches last Saturday, will be interested in learning that the first baseman leads his team mates in batting in runs. Although he was out of the heaviest hitting game the Petes have been engaged in this season, Harrison has driven home six counters so far this season.

NO MORE PILES

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief to pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store and druggists everywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee.

DELORO OUTFIT TO MEET PETES HERE SATURDAY

Local Crew Will Have To Come Back To Form To Beat Smelters.

NEED A WIN.

Petes Have To Grab This One To Stay Up in the Race.

The Petes' clash with Deloro at James Stevenson Park on Saturday and will have to take a fall out of Bill Regan's fast going Smelters outfit to climb back up near the top of the heap again. The defeat of the Petes at Belleville yesterday when the Nationals finally shook off the jinx and beat their old rivals and Deloro's good showing against Oshawa stirred up the standing and the local crew have to grab off this week end fixture to stay with the pacemakers.

Manager Swanston's team have dropped their last two games but they are confident they will end their week's losing streak by stepping into Inky Wood and Company on Saturday when the Deloro team make their second appearance of the year here.

Deloro are playing fast ball and the Petes will have to be right back in form to turn the trick.

Wood is expected to get the call for Deloro while Angie Macdonald, the Petes' left-hander or Al Heckman will do the twirling for the home talent.

The game will be called at 3 o'clock sharp and should be among the most interesting of the season.

PAULINO WILL ENTER AVIATION

Basque Decides To Specialize in Air When He Quits the Ring.

MAY BECOME AGENT.

HOOSICK FALLS, N.Y., June 20.—Believe it or not, Paolino, when he quits the ring, will go in aviation. The Basque woodchopper, far from being the dumbell some of those who do not know and understand him have made him out to be, is a pretty shrewd, intelligent fellow. He believes aviation holds forth alluring prospects and wants to get in on the ground floor.

Before he got into his big Stutz to drive to Albany, where he boarded the Fairchild amphibian for Mineola this afternoon, he showed correspondence he has been having toward the purchase of an airplane, which he want to drive himself.

"That will be for pleasure alone," declared Paulino through Dr. Para, the interpreter. "But when I get through the ring I want to go into the business of building airplanes or operating aerial passenger and freight lines. I believe there will be a big market for American planes in Europe, and I would like to become an agent. Whatever branch of aviation I will go into does not matter, but I do know that when I quit the ring I will specialize in some branch of aviation."

Salient Points of Bidding

Auction: Following North's negative double of West's Spade bid, East, holding five probable tricks in support of Spades, jumps to three Spades to show this holding and to shut out if possible South's expected Heart response to the double. The jump assist proving effective, the bidding is concluded.

Contract: West bids four Spades for game following East's jump assist.

The Play

North opens the King of Clubs. Declarer passes the trick. North continuing with the Queen of Clubs, Declarer plays Dummy's Ace and then takes two rounds of trumps, leaving North with the good Queen. Declarer plays his three high Hearts discarding Dummy's remaining two Clubs. Declarer then throws North in with the Queen of trumps. North is now compelled to lead a Heart or a Club, giving Declarer a ruff and discard, or else to lead away from his Major tenace in Diamonds. Whichever may be North's selection, Declarer can lose but one more trick and therefore goes game on the hand.

NEW DEVICE FIRE ALARMS

Simple Invention Was Demonstrated at the Fire Hall Yesterday.

SIX MODELS MADE.

A new development in fire alarm devices was demonstrated at the fire department yesterday by George H. Carson, representing the Dominion Automatic Fire Alarm Company, of Toronto. It is an instrument that the makers believe will answer the great need for a means of preventing the heavy loss of life that is suffered in cases every day where occupants of buildings are trapped by fire, and lose their lives, because the alarm is not sounded soon enough.

The new mechanism is an automatic alarm that embodies the thermostatic principle now in common use in radiator controls and iceless refrigerators. The device is an individual unit that can be placed at any point in a building on account of its convenient size. A suitable place for such alarms would be over the transoms of doors where heat from a fire is apt to reach it most quickly, the demonstrator suggested.

The instrument can be set to alarm at any given temperature. When heat is applied the thermostatic bar, which is a bar of metal of such a nature that it bends when heated, releases a spring mechanism that operates a loud bell. There are six models of the apparatus designed for use under different circumstances. Separate thermostatic units may be had to distribute throughout a building to operate by electricity a common bell or siren.

Mr. Carson says that his company is planning to build the alarms at a cost so low as to enable everyone to own one. The price of the machines will be from $3 up. It is an instrument he believes that should be in every dwelling, plant, farm house and barn in the country, and that if called into use only once in a dozen years it would be well worth its cost. He pointed out that the new alarm had many advantages over the expensive and cumbersome electrical ones now in use.

Mr. Carson has been interviewing fire chiefs and others in Ontario that might be interested in an attempt to estimate the demand for the article. He stated that the alarm is being endorsed by the fire authorities everywhere. Chief Gimblett expressed the opinion that the idea was sound and that there was a great need for such a device.

To demonstrate the sensitivity of the mechanism, Mr. Carson applied the heat generated in a cigarette butt to the alarm and the bell immediately commenced to sound an alarm.

It is a Canadian invented machine, says Mr. Carson, and is made in Canada. It will be placed on the market next week by the newly formed company.

ORVAL SHAW IS SENTENCED TO FOUR YEARS

JOWITT TO RESIGN SEAT

LABOR CABINET IS DRAWING UP KING'S ADDRESS

First Time in History of Country That Labor Has Framed the Speech.

UNEMPLOYMENT BIG ISSUE.

Believed Application of Trotzky Was Further Considered By Members.

LONDON, June 21. — (Canadian Press Cable)—The new Labor cabinet to-day met to consider the terms of the King's speech from the throne at the opening of the new parliament on July 2, this being the first occasion on which the framing of the speech has fallen to a Labor government. The former Labor administration had no opportunity of presenting its legislative program in the form of a speech from the throne.

No reports of cabinet meetings are issued for the public, but it was further believed the cabinet to-day considered the application of Leon Trotzky former Bolshevik leader and now an exile from Russia, for admission to England to pursue his "scientific studies" and superintendent the preparation of his new book on Russian Sovietism.

While negotiations with the United States and other naval powers looking to further reduction in naval armaments are the chief questions in the foreign field, the Labor government's main domestic concern is the unemployment problem, which has been turned over to Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal.

It is expected the speech from the Throne will provide for legislation on unemployment probably raising the school age from 14 to 15, and thus keeping possibly 400,000 out of industry for another year, and at the other end of the scale making it possible by supplementary pensions for workers of more than 65 years of age to retire, relieving the labor market of another 350,000.

Ex-Service Men Visit Thomas.

Mr. Thomas in his capacity as Minister of Employment is already busy conferring with railway managers on the possibilities of extensions and improvements in the railways, and to-day he received a deputation from the ex-service men, headed by Earl Jellicoe, which stressed the unemployment situation as it affected ex-service men.

Will Stand As Labor Man

Sir William Jowitt Elected As a Liberal, Resigns Seat in House.

TO SEEK RE-ELECTION.

Advisory Laborite Committee in Preston Is Considering His Candidature.

PRESTON, Lancashire, England, June 21. (C.P.) — The Daily Post says that Sir William Jowitt, elected to Parliament from this district as a Liberal, but now Attorney-General in the Labor Government, has resigned his seat, and will seek re-election for Preston as a Laborite at a by-election.

Councillor W. E. Morris, secretary of the Preston Labor Party, said that Sir William had written a letter to the Liberal Council, saying he was resigning.

"He has offered to stand as a Labor candidate at a by-election, and the advisory committee of the Preston Labor Party is recommending his adoption to the executive committee, which meets to-night," says Morris.

"Frankly, Sir Williams wants to fight Preston, and if the Executive decides to ask the Trades and Labor Council to adopt him, Sir William will attend a meeting of that body next Thursday."

Nothing to Say.

Questioned in connection with the report that he intends to resign his seat in parliament as one of the two members for Preston and seek re-election elsewhere, Sir William Jowitt, Attorney-General, to-day declined to discuss the matter.

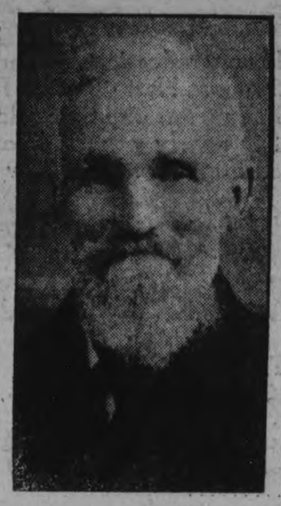
Labor headquarters to-day said no announcement could be made at present.

PLANT FOREMAN ELECTROCUTED.

THREE RIVERS, Que., June 21.—Frederick Mean, aged 38, electrical foreman at the Wayagamack Pulp and Paper Company plant, was burnt to death when he picked up a high tension live wire which had been considered a dead wire for some time. Mean was from Bathurst, N.B., and served overseas.

JOSEPH WEARING SPEAKS ON LABOR CONQUEST OF BRITAIN

PIONEER RESIDENT.



David Byers, who celebrated his 93rd birthday recently.

Local Citizen Speaker At Kiwanis Luncheon in Montreal.

TRACES OUTLINE.

Party Has Steadily Increased From One Member To Hold Power in House.

MONTREAL, June 21 (Special to The Examiner).—Hearty and spontaneous applause rocked the Spanish Room of the Queen's Hotel, Montreal, yesterday afternoon at the conclusion of the address of Joseph Wearing on "Labor's Conquest of Great Britain." Before the Kiwanis club, Mr. Wearing traced the rise of common man from the days of serfdom and slavery in England, drawing comparison between these dire times and to-day, when he makes and unmakes governments, and has issued a definite challenge to the herjty ruling class, with success as shown in the recent election when the Labor party composed of former working men, to a great extent at least, ousted the historic party that has shared, with their Liberal rivals, privilege and responsibility of rule since the days of the introduction of constitutional government.

"The growth of the Labor party is most interesting," affirmed the speaker, "and I cannot think of a more romantic tale than the accession to power, within a single generation of Labor in Britain." In the happy and spacious days of Queen Anne there was plenty of work for all, but at the end of the medieval period there came about the overthrown of the manorial system bringing in its wake a great industrial revolution which was controlled by the capitalist class of to-day under this regime. Things went from bad to worse; the old guild craftsmen were unable to compete with the new industrial system which could easily undersell the old fashioned hand worker; the peasant class disappeared, and was divorced entirely from the lake. The outcome was that workhouses, child labor, and slums sprang into being overnight with all the ghastly things that these words suggest to the mind.

In 1840, the beginning of trade unionism was effected in much the same form as we have it to-day, but it was contrary to the present union ideals, and a happy if not long-lived lull followed. The foundation of the present Independent Labor Party and the appearance of direct representatives of Labor and the Trade Unions was referred to by Mr. Wearing. Keir Hardie, the founder of the party was the only Labor member in 1892 in the House of Commons. In 1910 there were 40 and election after election saw a steady increase until a month ago it became the largest party in the House of Commons.

Two principal reasons were assigned by Mr. Wearing to account for the remarkable progress of the Labor Party. One was the eclipse of the Liberal party which until the war came into power as a matter of course on the swing of the pendulum from Conservatism; the other was the prestige lent to the movement by its attraction for so many members of the intellectual class. Numerous men of national and international fame like Shaw and Wells extolling it and adding helpful criticism.

Reminding his hearers of the fact that the British were intensely practical where politics were concerned he prophesied that the MacDonald Ministry would be given a fair chance to make good and would receive the cordial support even of opponents in every measure seen to be for the common good.

Charles Fyon, president of the St. Lawrence Club, voiced the thanks to the assembled members and finished up by issuing a challenge to Mr. Wearing to a round of golf.

GENERAL'S BODY LIES IN STATE

High Officers of the Salvation Army Conduct Brief Service For Late Commander.

HUNDREDS WAIT IN LINE.

LONDON, June 21. —(Canadian Press).—While a line of quiet and reverent men and women stood outside, high officers of the Salvation Army to-day conducted a brief service over the body of the late General William Bramwell Booth, their former commander, lying in state in Congress Hall, Clapton.

General Edward J. Higgins, who succeeded General Booth as head of the Salvation Army after his deposition recently, conducted the service from the platform above the dais on which the body rested. General Booth died last Sunday at Hadley Park, after a lingering illness.

When the doors opened for the first public view of the dead leader, women with shopping baskets and solemn men with hats in their hands fyled past the great oaken coffin and took a last look at the countenance of the former commander.

Four uniformed Salvation Army officers stood guard with bowed heads.

General Higgins and his fellow officers waited with quiet homage while the public fyled by the body. It will lie in state until to-morrow.

TORY LEADER CLAIMS HE IS NO PESSIMIST

Hon. R. B. Bennett Answers Charges Made By Liberal Ministers.

READY FOR TARIFF ISSUE.

U. S. Congress Is Legislating in Interests of the People He Declares.

PALMERSTON, Ont., June 21 (By Farnk Flaherty, Canadian Press Staff Writer). — Striking back vigorously at the charges of pessimism and gloom levelled at him yesterday at Grand Bend by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Customs, and Hon. John Elliott, Minister of Public Works, Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Dominion Conservative Party yesterday addressed two audiences, among the largest he has met so far in his Ontario tour. He spoke in Wingham this afternoon and in Palmerston last night.

"I am not a pessimist," he declared. "I have no tale of woe to tell about my country. I have no criticism of this great and goodly country of ours—this vast heritage. But I have criticism of the men who are governing this country. They say I am a pessimist so that you will not think about what they are doing. I ask them to tell you why 67 cents out of every dollar we send out to purchase goods goes to the United States, while only a small part of the money we receive for goods comes from that country."

In Interests of People.

Mr. Bennett spoke at length of the tariff situation and of the effect the proposed upward revision of the United States tariff would have on Canadian trade. The United States Congress was legislating in the interests of the people of the United States, and said Mr. Bennett, "What Canada wants is a Parliament that thinks of Canadians and Canada only. The Conservative Party has no ill-will towards others. Neither had the United States any ill-will towards us. But the basis of respect for others is self-respect. Your country cannot be treated in that way (referring to the proposed tariff barrier against Canada by the United States) and still be expected to send 67 cents out of every dollar it sends abroad to the United States."

The Conservative chieftain declared he was ready for an issue on the tariff situation. He believed the Canadian people were ready also and was confident they would condemn an administration which does nothing but lower tariff tolls to make it easier for the citizens of the United States to steal our markets and dispossesses us of our heritage.

Will Face Second Trial

Hermit of Skunk's Misery Is Sentenced On Four Counts.

4 YEARS FOR THEFT.

Is Given Two Years For Jail Breaking From Chatham.

LONDON, Ont., June 21 (Canadian Press). — Four years in Portsmouth Penitentiary was the sentence meted out to Orval Shaw in County Police Court to-day when the famous "Hermit of Skunk's Misery" appeared for sentence before Magistrate Hawkshaw. For jail-breaking from Chatham, Shaw was given two years in Portsmouth, and received a concurrent sentence of four years for the following three offences: Receiving ammunition known to be stolen from French's Hardware, Elora, on December 28; stealing a car from McCallum's Garage, Glencoe, December 31, and stealing a car in Hespeler on February 1. This sentence, for all Shaw's misdemeanor during the long time he evaded police in the celebrated barnyard derby amounts to four years.

At Chatham Shaw is likely to have a term of two years added to this total; six months for breaking parole, and 18 months in the Ontario Reformatory, Guelph, to which he had been sentenced when he escaped from Chatham before he could be removed to the reformatory.

A very optimistic meeting of the General Committee for Peterborough's Old Home Week celebration was held last evening in the city buildings. All the chairmen of the various sub-committees reported that everything was in tip-top shape and that the festivities were going over big.

All that remains to be done is the final word to go, and a week such as the city has never enjoyed before will be under way.

Each committee has reported hard work but work that has produced the desired results and they are assured that Old Home Week is going to be full of surprises and entertainment that has not been surpassed in the city.

Motor Car Boiler Explodes At Long Beach Garage.

CAR BLOWN TO PIECES.

TORONTO, June 21. (C.P.) — A terrific explosion in the boiler of a steam motor car which was standing outside Lehman's garage at Long Branch early this morning, resulted in three men being injured, the car literally blown to pieces and the garage badly damaged.

The injured, all of whom were rushed to St. Joseph's hospital in Toronto, are Alex. and Wilfred Leveiller, brothers, Toronto, owners of the machine, and a garageman, Frank Rust, of Long Branch Park. Wilfred Leveiller suffered a badly crushed arm while his companions were badly cut and bruised.

At the time of the explosion, which occurred while air was being forced into the water tank of the car, the vehicle was standing in front of the garage. The Leveiller brothers were working over the water tank with the air hose, it was said, while the garageman, Rust, was standing near by.

The sudden blast shattered the entire front part of the car, a closed model, and hurled the machine sixty feet, while other sections were showered in all directions. The windows of the garage were shattered from the force of the explosion.

CANADIAN MILITARY OFFICER IS ORDERED TO LEAVE MEXICO

Major Kingsford Was Arrested On May 19 As a Pernicious Foreigner.

PRESIDENT ISSUES DECREE.

Negotiations Are Proceeding in Hope of Having Order Rescinded.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 21.—(C.P.)—Major W. R. Kingsford, former Toronto resident and an officer of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, has been released from a Mexican prison and placed in charge of the British vice-consul at Guadalajara, Mexico. Following an order of President Portes Gil of Mexico for the expulsion of Major Kingsford from that country as a pernicious foreigner, the Canadian officer had been under incarceration since May 19. The order of the Mexican president was as a consequence of objections by the authorities in the State of Jalisco to the presence of Major Kingsford in that State.

Annoucement of the release from prison of Major Kingsford was made last night by the Department of External Affairs on receipt of advice from the British Consul at Mexico City.

Negotiations are now being proceeded with by the Canadian government in the hope of having the decree of President Portes Gil for the expulsion of Kingsford from Mexico cancelled.

Strong expectations are held out that the order will be withdrawn, and that Major Kingsford will be allowed to remain in Mexico, conditional on his staying out of the State of Mexico. All negotiations of the Department of External Affairs are being carried on with Mexican authorities through the British Consul at Mexico City.

HOMES TO BE DECORATED FOR OLD HOME WEEK EVENT

Many Citizens Already have Arranged to Add Color by Decorating.

There is no doubt about down-town Peterborough during Old Home Week being a blaze of lights and color with store fronts magnificently decorated, as every co-operation is being given Ald. Cotton and his Decoration Committee by the merchants. In addition hundreds of residences will not only show a flag or two but will be given special attention by their owners.

So much can be done this year in the matter of decorations at a greatly reduced cost than formerly, that hundreds of homes and grounds will be brighter and more attractive than for any previous holiday or demonstration.

DECORATED CARS ARE DESIRED FOR PARADE

Bookstores of the City Will Give Advice and Ideas.

The parade for July 1st morning has already shown astounding results, both as to numbers and quality and the committee, still anxious to make it the most colorful and attractive parade possible, desire the addition of a number of decorated automobiles. This can be done with a small expenditure for crepe papers and designs to be had at all the bookstores where ideas can be had and some assistance given.

You may never have the opportunity of participating actively in another Old Home Week demonstration as they are few and far between, so let us all make this occasion the huge success it deserves.

New Issue Has Already Been Rejected Twice By Parliaments.

CONFLICT IS EXPECTED.

Certain Revisions Will Go Along To Bishops.
To Bishops

LONDON, June 21. — (Canadian Press Cable.)—The possibility of a recurrence of the conflict over the revision of the Church of England's Book of Common Prayer was envisaged by the Daily News to-day, when it reported the Bishops at a meeting at Lambeth Palace last week decided to recommend to the Convocation of Bishops the use of the new prayer book, "subject to certain revisions."

The convocation meets from July 10 to 12 and undoubtedly the recommendation will arouse stormy discussion. The revised prayer book, on which the former Archbishop of Canterbury, Most Rev. Randal Thomas Davidson, labored long and earnestly, was flatly rejected by parliament twice.

In December, 1927, the revised book was first rejected by a majority of 33 votes. On June 14, 1928, the book was again submitted with some slight modifications, but was rejected by a majority of 46 after an intensive two-day debate.

The next sensation was the declaration of the House of Bishops, after four days' deliberations, that "until further order be taken," the Bishops could not regard as inconsistent with loyalty to the principles of the Church of England the use by clergy "of such additions to or deviations from the paryer book of 1662 as fall within the limits of the proposals approved by the House of Convocation on the employment of the re-

Pension Boards Named

JUNE SESSIONS ARE CONCLUDED BY COUNCILLORS

United Counties Prepare For Old Age Pension Act.

TWO BOARDS NAMED.

George Greer, County Road Superintendent, Is Appointed Weed Inspector.

COBOURG, June 21 (Staff Reporter).—With the appointment of old age pensions boards for Northumberland and Durham the Counties Council concluded its sessions Thursday afternoon.

The Northumberland Board is composed of William S. Grills, Campbellford; C. H. Curtis, Warkworth; Harry B. Phillips, Brighton; O. C. Pomeroy, Castleton, and J. H. Davidson, Cobourg.

The Durham Board is T. H. Knight, Bowmanville; J. J. Clark, Pontypool; M. J. Holman, Clarke Township; H. B. Lawson, Port Hope; J. A. Vance, Millbrook.

The personnel of the committee that enquired into the details of the new Act was: J. N. Stone (chairman), A. R. Willmott, W. H. Nelson, G. H. Hooton and L. C. Murphy.

The committee recommended the formation of two boards of five members each, one for Durham County and the other for Northumberland. It was decided that members of the Council might be included, and also that the personnel should not be chosen with regard to district representation, but as representatives of each county as a whole.

Meet July 4.

The reeves of the two counties will meet here on July 4 at 10 a.m. in conference on the equalized assessments. They will each be accompanied by one other representative of their respective municipalities, either deputy-reeve, clerk or some one else who is experienced in assessment conditions.

The purpose of this special meeting is an effort to modify the equalized assessments so as to satisfy and remove rural objections, and thereby avoid recourse to the County Judge as demanded by the Reeves of Cavan, South Monaghan and Cartwright. Skeptics in the Council, including Warden Wood, predict the failure of this conference plan. However, it is an earnest effort to avoid the indefinitely greater expenditure involved in a revaluation by the Judge, requiring the summoning of witnesses and other costs.

Before the adjournment, Warden Wood thanked the Council for their co-operation in completing the sessional business so expeditiously. The County Roads Commission had just received the last of their paving contracts bearing the approval of the Department of Highways. It was a great satsfaction to get these preliminary details settled. The Commission would have more time in future to devote to other phases of the season's program which had been subordinated to the essential negotiations with the Department for approval of the county road pavement contracts.

Weed Inspector.

George Greer, county roads superintendent, was appointed weed inspector on the roads under his charge.

The council appropriated grants of $50 each toward two O.A.C. scholarships, the same as was done last year.

An equivalent amount is contributed from the Massey fund to assist two Junior farmers, one from each county, in attending the Agricultural College at Guelph for one year. The scholarships reduce to about $250 the student's cost of tuition for his first year.

J. Y. Kellough, representative in Durham of the Department of Agriculture, appeared yesterday before the Agriculture Committee of which Reeve Hooton is chairman, and explained the details of the scholarships. Young farmers who apply for them are required to try a practical examination, and the applicant making the best standing is chosen. The examiners are the district representative, the Warden and a third man who is selected by them.

Mr. Kellough said that this scholarship plan was operating with encouraging results as evidenced by the interest aroused among young farmers, and also by the college record of those who won the scholarships.

Two Boundary Bridges.

In response to the request of Reeve Fred Gray of Manvers the county Roads Commission and Mr. Gray will meet Victoria county deputies in regard to assuming two Manvers bridges as county and boundary roads. They are on the 14th concession, which although not the boundary between Victoria and Manvers is used as the boundary road.

Mr. Gray contends that Victoria should bear half their cost.

Deputy Commissioner Cuddy Is Sent To Investigate Trouble At Windsor Border

TORONTO, Ont., June 21. — (Canadian Press).—Alfred Cuddy, deputy commissioner of the Ontario Provincial Police, was yesterday afternoon instructed to proceed to Windsor and make a report to the Attorney-General on the crime situation there as revealed by episodes in which rum-running fraternity have been the principals.

While the provincial authorities maintain that the liquor export business brings these undesirable men to the Canadian side of the river and that the Dominion government is indirectly responsible for the conditions there, they claim they have been conducting campaigns to keep the district as free as possible from the undesirable element.

The Deputy Commissioner has gone to Windsor to investigate the abduction of the Border Cities Star Camera man and the carrying of firearms by the rum-runners while on Canadian territory. The Attorney-General also wants to know more about the recent shooting episodes around Belle Isle and Amherstburg.

CO-OPERATION IS KEYNOTE OF ADDRESSES AT U.F.O. PICNIC

Cavan and South Monaghan Clubs Hold Gathering At Wallace's Point.

ORGANIZATION NECESSARY.

Educational Secretary of United Farmers of Ontario Deliver Fine Address.

In the days of "the glory that was Greece" orators whose names are famous in history talked to their disciples on the grassy slopes of Athenian shores.

It is a far cry from the Parthenon to Canada, but a recollection of those ancient days when out of door eloquence was acclaimed and admired came back to one member of the audience yesterday at the U.F.O. picnic at Wallace's point, when, surrounded by listeners who sat and reclined on the greensward, the speechmakers unrolled their ideas from a low platform. Hatless and coatless in most instances, the men, two hundred or more in number, sat in a half circle on the grassy slope that goes down to the river, while the women occupied the benches and children ran up and down or played on the teeter-totters swinging chairs.

Their number augmented by a picnick-supper and evening-dance crowd, the attendance swelled out to nearly five hundred at the annual picnic yesterday of the Cavan and South Monaghan U.F.O. Clubs. A program of games, races and horseshoe pitching filled in the intervals, and the dance in the pavilion in the evening was played for by Herb. Cardwell's orchestra. Mine Host Cardwell and his wife looked after the wants of the picnickers in their usual excellent style.

Visiting speakers of the day were H. H. Hannam of Toronto, Educational Secretary of the United Farmers of Ontario, and Bruce McNevin of Omemee, president of the provincial U.F.O., George Morrison, president of the Cavan and South Monaghan U.F.O. club acted as chairman, and also passed the vote of appreciation to the speakers, at the conclusion of the addresses.

Co-operation is Keynote

Insistence on the ideas of co-operation and organization as combined in the platform of the U.F.O. was the keynote of the two addresses yesterday.

Mr. Hannam was the first speaker and introduced his remarks by a reference to the rapidly-changing standards of the age in which we live.

The old idea, declared the speaker, was to conduct a war of leadly competition among men in the same business, but the modern idea is to meet competitors in annual conventions and fraternize with them, while exchanging ideas along lines of betterment of their respective businesses.

"But the competition of to-day is not within industries, but between industries. You know from the radio of the war between the cigarette and candy manufacturers, which had its birth at the time when the 'Lucky Strike' cigarette people put out the

THREE MEN DIE IN PLANE CRASH

Elder Son of Lord St. Vincent Is Drowned in River St. Lawrence.

AIRPLANE STRIKES WIRES.

MONTREAL, June 21. (C. P.) — Capt. the Hon. J. C. Jervis, M.C., elder son of Lord St. Vincent and former aide-de-camp to the former Governor-General of Canada, and two companions, were instantly killed when a seaplane crashed in the St. Lawrence river yesterday between Point St. Charles and Nun's Island. The other victims were Pilot C. S. Caldwell of Canadian Vickers, Ltd., and Dr. William D. Morris, 28, of Montreal.

The plane was flying down river at a very low altitude when it struck two high tension wires carrying electric power from the city to Nun's Island. According to eye-witnesses there was a burst of flame just as the machine dashed into the river and turned over. Rescue parties were quickly on the scene but without the necessary facilities for getting at those imprisoned in the cabin of the plane, and it was nearly two hours before the first body, that of Dr. Morris, was taken out. Two hours later the body of Captain Jervis was recovered.

Dr. Morris came here two years ago from Victoria, B. C., where his parents reside. He was a graduate of the Universities of Alberta and McGill.

DUSTLESS COAL IS PERFECTED

Treatment For Making Cleaner and Healthier Coal Is Discovered.

Retailers Hold Convention.

TORONTO, Ont., June 21.—(Canadian Press).—The advent of dustless coal, both anthracite and bituminous was described to the 350 Canadian delegates attending the 25th annual convention of Canadian Retail Coal dealers here yesterday.

J. W. Hackett, Petrolia told the convention that a treatment for making "clear and healthier coal" had been discovered four years ago but it was not unil last January that a successful system of application had been perfected. The coal is made dustless by the application of a treatment of water mixed with variety of chemicals.

Alfred Hawke, Scranton, Pa., delivered a paper prepared by R. W. Clark, Scranton in which Canadians were urged "not to discriminate against us Americans because we are without the empire. Let us not allow that imaginary line between us to assume the formidability of a commercial barrier but instead let us rise above it to the higher plane of sympathetic broadmindedness."

Col. K. R. Marshall, Toronto, declared that coal would soon supersede all other household fuels. President Thomas H. Colgate stressed the value of such associations as this one in trade co-operation and in the enforcement of codes of correct practices.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 21.—Strong Liverpool cables and dry weather in the Western Provinces continued to push wheat prices forward yesterday. Gains of 2¼c. to 2 7-8c. over Wednesday's close were recorded at the end of trading. The October future had the widest advance, moving up 2 7-8c.

Very little exoprt business was done in wheat or coarse grains.

Cash wheat trading was dull, with prices unchanged. No. 1 and No. 2 feed oats were in good demand at prices ¼c. to ½c. higher. Barley was quiet, but firm. Rye future advanced about 2c. in sympathy with wheat, but trading in this commodity was small. Flax also recorded fractional gains.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 21.—Orders to buy swept into the wheat market yesterday like a tide and carried values 8¾c a bushel higher compared with forty-eight hours before.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 2¾ to 3c above Wednesday's finish. Corn closed at ½c to 1¾ to 1½c gain; oats ¼c to ¾ advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10c.

Complaints of untimely dry weather in the Northwest creating uneasiness that the spring wheat crop in that section might fare no better than winter wheat Southwest were also a disturbing factor yesterday. Both in the States south of the Canadian boundary as well as in sections of Saskatchewan and Alberta the dearth of moisture was being watched with anxiety.

Profit-taking sales in the late dealings brought about something of a reaction from yesterday's top level level of wheat prices, which had ranged from 7¾ to 8¾c above Tuesday's bottom figures. The market, however, readily absorbed yesterday's late selling; speculative operators with bear proclivities being more or less held in check as a result of talk about possible farm relief steps with Government backing. Meanwhile, export business yesterday in wheat from North America was announced as totalling about 700,000 bushels, chiefly Canadian.

Corn and oats proved responsible to wheat market advances and to reports of the corn crop being seriously backward. Cash demand for corn was active. On the other hand, favorable weather for corn growth prevailed, and there was much selling of corn future deliveries against simultaneous buying of wheat.

Strength of cereals tended to restrict selling of provisions.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, June 21.— A sudden drop in cheese wholesale prices was the feature of the local dairy and produce markets here yesterday. Exporters report bids of 18½c. to 18¾c. for No. 1 Eastern white and colored, and No. 1 Western colored 19¼c. per lb. Receipts were 6,600 boxes, compared with 4,031 boxes for the previous day a week ago.

The butter market was unchanged. Receipts were 801 boxes compared with 1,085 boxes for the same day last week. Retail prices were unchanged at 38c. a lb. for solids and 39c. for prints.

Eggs to the retail trade were steady, selling at the following prices: Fresh extras, 36c. to 38c. per dozen; fresh firsts, 31c. to 33c. per dozen; fresh seconds, 27c. to 29c. per dozen. Receipts of eggs were 2,263 cases, compared with 1,479 cases on the same day last week.

Potatoes were ruling steady. New potatoes from Virginia were selling, per barrel of 165 lbs., at $5.50 for firsts, $4 for seconds and $3.25 for culls. In old potatoes, New Brunswick Green Mountains formed the bulk of business, selling in carlots at 45c. per 90 lbs., in bulk.

The poultry market was unchanged.

Spring wheat flour advanced 10c. a barrel following the continued strength of the wheat markets. Wheat was up 2c. a bushel on the local cash grain market, with other lines unchanged.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, June 21—Butter prices on the local wholesale produce market continued their upward movement yesterday, the price of No. 1 creamery being quoted at from 37¾c to 38c per lb, and the No. 1 grade 1c lower at from 36¾ to 37c per lb. Production is right at the season's peak now, although receipts are still lighter than at the same time last year or the year previous, and prices are practically even with those of the last two years. All supplies were moved with no difficulty into consumptive channels and dealers are looking forward to a continuation of the active market of the past week or so.

Prices maintained their current levels on the local wholesale egg market yesterday, although demand was very poor and little activity in trading was evidenced. Production was still on the downward grade and local dealers state that conditions will probably alter within the next week on account of the indications of approaching the scarcity of the fresh extra grade and the effects of the hot weather on the trade in general. Dealers were quoting country shippers for ungraded eggs delivered and cases returned as follows: Fresh xtras, 27c per dozen; fresh firsts, 25c per dosen; fresh seconds, 22c per dozen.

The situation on the local wholesale cheese market remained unchanged, with a fair amount of trading in evidence and the price quoted on the No. 1 large colored paraffined and Government graded class was steady at 20c per lb.

advertisement: 'Reach for a 'Lucky' instead of a sweet.'

Agriculture's Place

"And how is agriculture meeting this new competition? Formerly all farmers were competing with each other and it was to the advantage of the buying public to have this condition continue, because when the farmers sold their produce singlehanded, they made their own prices.

"But agriculture, which is really the most important and the strongest of industries, is the slowest to change. It is the oldest member of the family of industries but often it is the case that the youngest member of the family runs the show and the oldest has not as much to say as he should have. This is because it is more difficult to organize the farmers than in any other business, and this too has its cause in the fact that farmers are scattered and they get into a habit of individual living and thinking. They are slower to handle and get together, than other people.

"The farmer was always told that his business was to produce and he practically sold his produce at the gate and lost control of it there. Those who marketed his goods had their own interests at heart."

Mr. Hannam, referring to a questionnaire sent out by the U.F.O. last winter, which was as yet incomplete in its returns, said that it was experimental in its origin and was designed to find out just what living rewarded the work of the farming community. It asked (1) the number of farmers (2) the number who had Hydro on their farms (3) the number who had hot and cold running water. Sufficient answers had already been received to prove that only about five per cent. of the total number possessed these conveniences, which were regarded as being far from luxuries, but rather the necessities of life.

Organization Necessary

The speaker went on to exhort his hearers as to the necessity or organization within their ranks. One farmer could do little if he went to the Government with demands, but if he had the united force of thousands of men behind him, he might do much. The most unfortunate thing about co-operation, declared Mr. Hannam, was the fact that it required human beings to operate it, and thus mistakes were bound to creep in.

In the educating of a child, the spirit of competition was paramount. The baby naturally reached for the biggest and brightest toy, ahead of his brother, and later in school years, prizes were awarded to those who could snatch them from other hands. Races and contests of all kinds developed this competitive instinct. But those who engaged in games found that a personal viewpoint was useless. It was the man who could play in the spirit of team work who helped to win and thus the spirit of co-operation crept in.

"The only way to develop this spirit of co-operation is to think about it and talk about it and study it and practice it, all the time."

The Keynote

"Comfort and success follow closer on the heels of organization and consolidation than they do on the heels of hard work" declared the second speaker, Bruce McNevin, dairy farmer of Omemee, in following out the same line of thought as the previous speaker.

The weak spot in the Provincial U.F.O., declared the speaker, was fact that with 140,000 farmers in the province, only about 40,000 of them had at any time joined the U.F.O. Club ranks, and at the present time, only about 18,000, including the women's and young people's clubs, were members

"In numbers is strength, and I don't think that the rural people have just the right attitude toward their organizaion"

Referring to the Toronto difficulties between carpenters and contractors, when bricklayers joined the dispute by walking out in sympathy with their fellow-workers, Mr. McNevin asked: "How many dairy farmers in this province, for instance, would make no use of their product for six weeks simply because their wheat-growing comrades were in difficulties?"

The first move in organized labor, declared the speaker, started in England in the sixteenth century when a few farm laborers at harvest time said that they would do no work on the harvest unless their wages were raised, and were thrown into prison in consequence. But, although the farmers saw all about them workers in other walks of life organizing to protect themselves, they did not get together and their standards of living were low in consequence.

Ontario stood first among the other provinces in the way of agricultural products and the farmers of Ontario had large investments in their industry, with about $800,000,000 in land, $459,000,000 in buildings and about $169,000,000 in implements. "Surely men with such an investment in the country should learn the secrets of success that come from organization and consolidation."

But the affair was not to be approached hurriedly said Mr. McNevin, referring to the case of certain Western Ontario farmers who some years ago became dissatisfied with prices for hogs and went into the business of processing their own pork.

Immediately the packers started in to cut through the competition and they did it by raising prices in that community by 50 to 75 cents on the hundredweight, until the independent packers were frozen out. But prices in other communities were lowered at the same time, and the packers came out ahead of the game, after all, while the farmers, without the support of their fellows were beaten.

"When we start upon a new enterprise, we should give it ten or fifteen years of a solid chance before we let it go."

Mr. McNevin spoke of the peculiar situation in the livestock department, where a rising market found a decrease in shipments and a falling market brought an increase in co-operative shipments. A change was being sought, in hope that when the market was rising and things were good, shipments would increase.

Another instance of the manner in which their comrades in labour failed to support their efforts for the common good was quoted in the case of the dairymen of York County who started an independent industry in this line, to give service to the men who milk. But later, when the interests were held in a few hands and higher dividends became the watchword, the Farmers' Dairy was the last to come forward, in a re-organization process attempted among the others, to say, "Yes, we will pay a better price for milk."

Mr. McNevin spoke of the assistance rendered by the women in farm organizations and closed his address with a reference to the time, fifteen years ago, when none would have believed that the farmers of the province would transact business to the tune of $20,000,000. "But we have just scratched the surface when it is remembered that the total produce of the province in this line amounts to $482,000,000."

Even before you leave the train or the Rhine steamer, you hear of the marvels accomplished at the Beauty Salon of Sterck-Schinzel in Cologne.

Situated on the "high street," near the Köln Cathedral, it has been the most renowned beauty establishment in the Rhine district since 1889.

Sterck-Schinzel of Cologne

finds new way to safeguard lovely skin

"I always advise my clients to use Palmolive because it is a pure blend of olive and palm oils, both of which have been recognized for thousands of years as wonderful cleansing agents and emollients."

Schinzel

KOLN, HOHESTRASSE 135

SCHINZEL of the House of Sterck-Schinzel of Cologne explains why he features Palmolive Soap in his shop, why he always advises its use for the care of the skin.

"A skin which is properly cleansed every day with soap and warm water will respond the more readily to treatment and improve remarkably in quite a short space of time," he announces.

"Not that I recommend all soaps indiscriminately. Many soaps contain harsh ingredients that are definitely harmful to the skin. I always advise my clients to use Palmolive because it is a pure blend of olive and palm oils."

In recommending Palmolive, Sterck and Schinzel join an international gallery of beauty specialists who advise this twice-a-day treatment: massage a creamy lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water, then with cold. "Use this as a basic treatment before applying any cosmetics, if you'd retain a smooth, lovely skin," authorities tell you—in all the great capitals and resorts of Europe, Canada and the United States!

THE WEED CROP.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture is conducting another campaign against weeds, a drive that should earn the support of the whole agricultural community.

Considerable progress has been made in this direction in recent years, but much yet remains to be done, and because the farmers will receive the most benefit from successful efforts along this line, the activities of the department should enlist the co-operation of all rural Ontario.

It is difficult to estimate the annual loss occasioned by weeds.

The total must run into millions, and the loss, like the waste represented in Canada's fire loss, is preventable if the fight against noxious weeds is whole-heartedly waged.

The Weed Act calls for every occupant of land and every owner of unoccupied land to destroy the weeds before the seeds ripen, while road authorities are required to destroy all weeds upon the highways.

Were these regulations effectively carried out the loss from this nuisance would be very materially reduced.

Noxious weeds are a common enemy and should be fought vigorously.

YOUNG BATHERS.

The attention of The Examiner is called to the fact, and the warning is passed on to parents, that little children unable to swim are bathing at places in the river where conditions are dangerous for non-swimmers.

There is a supervised swimming beach at Inverlea Park, and while it is not an ideal bathing place in its present condition, it is the only beach that offers comparative safety to those who have not learned to swim.

Parents should see to it that their children bathe there rather than at places where there is no supervision, and where the water is deep and the conditions far from safe.

Places like the foot of Dublin street, long a favorite with swimmers, may be all right for those who have learned the art of swimming well, but should be shunned by small children.

The water deepens rapidly at such points, and bathing is too hazardous to be permitted in the case of youngsters.

Make sure that your boys and girls who have yet to learn to swim bathe at Inverlea where supervision is provided.

READ THIS AND FEEL WEALTHIER.

When public speakers in this section of Canada refer to Ontario as the banner Province they have more justification for the boast than spread-eagle orators often have for similar statements.

Certainly the official figures show that Ontario is the wealthiest Province.

Statistics in regard to the national wealth of Canada, covering the year 1927 and issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, indicate that the wealth of Ontario was $9,560,775,000, or 34.53 per cent. of the whole national wealth, this total placing this Province well in the lead so far as absolute wealth is concerned.

Per capita figures tell a little different story, however, and here we have to yield place to British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan, all of which are able to show more wealth per head of population than Ontario.

British Columbia has $4,032; Alberta, $3,660, and Saskatchewan, $3,586, for every man, woman and child in their population, whereas the Ontario figure was $3,000 per capita.

The national wealth of the whole Dominion for the year under review is estimated at $27,687,000,000, or nearly a billion dollar increase over the estimate of the previous year.

SHOULD MAKE IT CLEARER.

The statement of J. G. Lethbridge, Progressive leader in the Legislature, leaves no doubt as to where the Progressive party stands in regard to the liquor question.

That party believes in the total abolition of the manufacture, sale and importation of liquor in the Province, Mr. Lethbridge declares.

But in making the position of the Progressive party clear, the leader of that party has left some doubt as to the new attitude of Mr. Sinclair toward the Liquor Control Act.

It will be remembered that recently the Ontario Liberal leader made a speech that was interpreted by most of the newspapers and many of his own party as rejecting the Liberal prohibition plank of 1919 and as accepting the principle of Government control.

Mr. Lethbridge, however, refuses to believe that the temperance policy has been discarded by the Liberal chieftain.

"I did not see where he said one word about the principle of the Act, whether it was good or bad," declares the Progressive leader.

It would look as if a more definite statement from Mr. Sinclair was in order, for certainly most people have read into his first speech on the subject much that seems to have missed the eye of Mr. Lethbridge.

CASH AND INSPIRATION.

Louis Arthur Cunningham, himself a writer, spoke some plain truths to the members of the Canadian Women's Press Club when they were discussing fiction at their St. John convention. Nobody but a fool, he declared bluntly, ever wrote except for money, and nobody but an artist "at least of sorts" ever made money out of writing.

Broadly speaking, and with conspicuous exceptions, the statement is true. If all literary compositions were the property of the State and returned no profit to the writer it is certain the vast ouput of wordage would suffer a remarkable shrinkage. The neophyte of letters writes for glory as well as cheques. As he gains experience and sophistication gladly would he trade his "by-line" for a higher rate of remuneration. Men whose pens have made them wealthy are interested in the cash returns just as frankly as the young writer who needs the money if he is to eat regularly. They drive hard bargains with publishers and they assess the public all the traffic will bear; for which, of course, they are open to no criticism unless we hold that nobody should make personal profit out of his brains and his energy.

Mr. Cunningham believes that the man who makes money out of writing of necessity must be an artist. There are many species of artist, and not all of them write novels or poems. The advertising pages of the newspapers and the magazines make it plain that some are devoting their talent to encouraging the sale of automobiles and bath-tubs. Others give their artistry to the evanescent newspaper story or to magazine work which is almost as fleeting. But it is fair to assume that the ability to make a living from one's pen implies a considerable professional skill in the use of words which constitutes an artist—"at least of sorts."

Finally Mr. Cunningham had something to say about Canadian literature which, he said, was "innocuous," and he believed some "much-heralded Canadian writing was purely American in philosophy and expression." True: inevitably true. If the writer wields his pen for money—and he does—it follows that the Canadian writer has in mind the vast potential market for his work in the United States. If he writes for the restricted Canadian field he makes less money than if he is able to interest the American millions—and so, for all practical purposes, it matters little whether he writes in Toronto or Los Angeles, Ottawa or New York. Consciously or unconsciously he cultivates the "philosophy and expression" which appeal to a large buying public rather than to a small one and there seems nothing in the world to be done about it.—Ottawa Journal.

HOLDING ON.

While the situation is not, of course, the business of the people of this Province, and can be of little or no concern to us, political observers here believe that Premier James G. Gardiner, of Saskatchewan, is making a serious error in deciding to cling to office despite the moral defeat that his administration suffered at the polls a few days ago.

Mr. Gardiner, in a formal statement following a Liberal caucus, bases his decision on the following points:

That the Government comprises the largest group in the House.

That the Government was supported by a considerably larger popular vote than was received by any other two groups combined.

That the election is not yet completed, all the official counts not yet being in, there being recounts and two deferred elections still to be held.

As a consequence of these points, Mr. Gardiner has taken the responsibility of advising the Lieutenant-Governor to summon the Legislature at as early a date as possible after August 12, when the deferred Cumberland election will be held. To adopt any other course, Mr. Gardiner argues, "would be to deny the right of the people to express their views and govern themselves in the manner provided for by the constitution, namely, through their elected representatives, and in accordance with well-established parliamentary procedure."

Most persons are surprised that Mr. Gardiner has decided to remain in office at Regina. It is true, as he says, that the Government has elected the largest group of members—26—as against the second highest group, the Conservatives, with 25. But it is also true that the number of candidates elected in opposition to Gardiner Government candidates number 35, a majority of nine over the present administration. The present administration can win both the deferred constituencies and still be in a minority of the whole Legislature. True enough, its opponents are divided. There are Conservatives, Independents and Progressives—25 of the former, as we have said, five of the second class and four of the third. There is still another member who is described as an Independent Conservative. It may be argued that in a Legislature of so many groups, the only possible course is for the one with the largest number of followers to retain or assume command. The Liberals happen to comprise this group. No amount of argument, however, can get around the fact that the Gardiner Government was defeated by the people of Saskatchewan.

Immediately after the election it was freely predicted—by Dr. Anderson, the Conservative leader, and others—that Mr. Gardiner would at once resign. The Premier, however, is doing nothing of the kind. Perhaps Ottawa's wishes in the matter may have had something to do with his decision. This is suggested from certain quarters that say the Federal Cabinet is not a little agitated by the impairment of party prestige in Saskatchewan, where, by the way, even Premier King has his seat. Mr. Gardiner, on the other hand, may see wisdom in delay, with popular excitement cooling off and a possibility of some of the Independents and Progressives, elected in the recent appeal, changing their minds and deciding to keep the Liberals in office. It is hardly understandable, however, how either Independents or Progressives could do this because, as we have said, they were elected by voters who wished to express their disapproval of the Gardiner administration, and who could hardly be expected, a few weeks later, to approve of their own members keeping Mr. Gardiner in office.

There is still another angle. Looking at the situation from a coldly political standpoint, many Liberals in the East believe the Premier would have been better advised to step out at once and let Dr. Anderson grapple with a situation that must be a tough one for anyone who tackles it. The Conservatives, of course, would have to resort to some sort of coalition, and coalition ministries seldom work well or long. As things stand now, Mr. Gardiner lays himself open to two serious accusations. One is that of disregarding the expressed will of the people; the other, that he is not a good sportsman. Both can injure him.—Border Cities Star.

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

Saturday, June 22, 1929.

Except early in the morning the planetary government is adverse in its effects upon dwellers on the Earth, astrologers announce. It is a day for vacations rather than work.

There is a good luck sign for those who embark on long voyages to-day. Pleasant experiences appear to be presaged.

It is a day auspicious for serious reflection and ambitious plans. The mental vision is supposed to be clear while this rule prevails.

Women are subject to an unfavorable sway that may be especially perilous to flirtations or even serious romance.

Under this direction of the stars the feminine mind may be too much given up to frivolities to discern what is wise, the seers warn.

This is not an auspicious rule for the production of new plays. Even the best offerings may be received apathetically.

Warning is given that unusual weather may be expected next month when high temperatures will benefit summer resorts.

Freakish pranks of nature are foretold for the summer. Sudden storms and even earthquakes are prognosticated.

Pride and arrogance are believed to be encouraged under this planetary government. It is not a good time to ask relatives for favors.

Slips in diplomatic matters are easily made under this day's aspects. It is well for American statesmen to watch their steps.

The evening is rather a hazardous time in domestic circles since disagreements may be easily started in the family.

Dissensions in business as well as in political organizations may be numerous as the month ends. Campaign rewards may be elusive.

Persons whose birthdate it is, may be too popular in the coming year for their best interests. It is not a lucky time for courtship or marriage.

Children born on this day probably will succeed best in ambitious projects. The subjects of this sign are not well adapted to small enterprises or insignificant niches in life.

Why We Do What We Do.

WHY WE ARE NOT ALWAYS THE SAME.

One correspondent says "Please tell me what to do for the melancholy mood. I have them quite often and then they go away as quickly as they come."

This type of question is asked over and over again. The blues are as common as humanity and humannature. We might go further and say they are as common as all nature, for the whole universe is subject to rhythmic changes. We have the seasons of the year, night and day, warm and cold, ebb and flow, phases of the moon, etc. Life and death are fundamental rhythmic processes.

The strange part is not that we are not always the same. The queer thing is that we are able to maintain as even a keel in life as we do, that changes in moods do not come more often and come more violently than they do.

Of course there are those who are mores steady in their emotional life than others and hence change less often. But normal people experience moments of depression when life does not hold much worth of or value and then they have their opposite moods when they are sitting on top of the world and seeing everything through rose-colored glasses. This is especially pronounced in the life of great artists and geniuses in general who have a reputation for being temperamental.

Were it not for this rhythmic change, life would be a terrible thing. None of us could stand the strain very long. We need release from strain and monotony to give the organism a chance to build up lost energy and worn-out tissue.

The melancholy mood may be due to fatigue or to disease and illness. It may be due to physical causes or it may be due to psychic causes or to both. Even a tired and sick man can have the opposite feeling to melancholy on hearing that he has just inherited a million dollars or that his patent has proved successful. On the other hand, a perfectly well man physically may be quite melancholy on the heels of loss and defeat.

The melancholy mood, no matter how caused, tends to slow up the human machine in order to repair the loss, whether it is physical or mental, even as we temporarily block off a street to repair the pavement. You simply can't go on indefinitely at top-notch speed.

The melancholy mood is a blessing in disguise. It is very common, and quite necessary in the interests of health and happiness. It is one of the important conditions of life. 'The next time you have the blues, compare yourself to the spoke of a revolving wheel which is bound to be on top very soon.

The Tule Marsh Murder

By NANCY BARR MAVITY

Story of a Missing Actress and the Taxing of Wits to Explain Her Fate

THE STORY THUS FAR:

Don Ellsworth's wife, formerly the famous actress Sheila O'Shay, disappears, leaving no trace. Dr. Cavanaugh, the great criminal psychologist learns that their married life has been very unhappy.

Peter Piper a reporter on the Herald, tries to get an interview with Dr. Cavanaugh. Instead he meets Barbara Cavanaugh, the attractive daughter, and finds that she was engaged to Don Ellsworth before his marriage.

An unidentified body is found in the tule marsh outside the city. It has been burned by a fire in the marsh until it is entirely unrecognizable except for the fact that it is a woman. Dr. Cavanaugh is called in to help with the identification.

He has only a small piece of scalp from the body to work on. Don Ellsworth refuses to give him a hair of Sheila O'Shay's, but he secures one unknown and after examination, tells Peter Piper that the body found in the marsh is that of Sheila O'Shay. Barbara, in whom Peter has become interested, faints when she hears this. Peter who is already half in love with her, is torn between his feeling and his suspicion that she knows something about the murder. Mrs. Kane, Sheila O'Shay's waiting woman is arrested in the case and Peter is sent to interview her. He learns that Sheila O'Shay forced Don Ellsworth to marry her by threatening a breach of promise suit. Peter makes a social call on Barbara Cavanaugh. He is convinced that she knows something about the murder and his instinct is to protect her. Peter watching the Ellsworth house sees Dr. Cavanaugh go in. He climbs up the porch to see what is going on and finds Dr. Cavanaugh in Sheila O'Shay's boudoir. Dr. Cavanaugh discovers him and invites him in.

CHAPTER 25.

"The other fifty cents," said Dr. Cavanaugh, "is safe. I did come, among other things, to look into the matter of those papers. But Captain Camberwell is responsible for my presence in this unconventional fashion. He didn't quite fancy leaving the survey of the last spot where, so far as we know, Mrs. Ellsworth was seen alive to the estimable detectives promoted from the traffic squad. And the rest of the department, in a rare burst of diplomacy, backed him up. It's rather a ticklish case, this, from their point of view. Mr. Ellsworth has not given them what you'd call co-operation. He was not at all cordial to the sergeant who came in response to Mrs. Kane's call. To be exact, he turned him out of the house."

"Yes," Peter agreed with a reminiscent grin. "He's rather good at that. I'd like to have been present at the interview—it must have had its dramatic moments."

"Doubtless. At any rate, Ellsworth has them rather baffled. The department is shy about sending a couple of uniformed policemen to batter in the door of a prominent millionaire, flourishing a search warrant unless they have something more definite to go on than they have with Ellsworth. He might make things too uncomfortable later, if they were on the wrong track. And yet it is obviously necessary that a thorough investigation be made of the scene of Mrs. Ellsworth's disappearance."

"Camberwell is thoroughly competent to undertake the job himself, of course; but Ellsworth, I'm afraid, would not have greeted him with the respect his very high talents deserve."

"No," Peter grinned again. "Respect for people who come to interfere with what he regards as his private affairs, is hardly one of Mr. Ellsworth's outstanding traits I've notice that myself."

"Well, the upshot of it all was, that at Camberwell's request, I was called upon to fill the breach. Camberwell has an all too flattering opinion of my abilities. But at least I have the advantage of personal acquaintance with Ellsworth.

"He'd hardly shut the door in my face—provided I arrived when he was here to shut it at all, which in the circumstances, I thought would be hardly tactful."

"I'm armed with a deputy sheriff's badge and a search warrant to use as a last resort—but I rather think our police friends had faith that I'd manage to get along without what I believe are sometimes referred to as strong arm methods. In return, I stipulated that my services, such as they are, must be taken strictly as a favor. I prefer to have an entirely free hand: and the police accept that little idiosyncrasy, albeit with a certain reluctance."

"I'll bet they do!" Peter looked across at the doctor, who had resumed his somewhat precarious seat on the dressing table chair, with a very boyish enthusiasm. "They're like the transcendental female who told Carlyle she 'accepted the universe,' and the old bird said, 'Egad, she'd better!' The police, if I know them will take whatever you choose to give them, and be grateful. But what's your idea about Ellsworth, anyway? Does-this-er, visit mean that we're getting the dope on him?"

"We haven't what you call the dope on anybody yet; and I make it a point not to have too many ideal in advance of the evidence."

The faint emphasis on that "we" brought a quick embarrassed flush to Peter's cheeks.

"You know I didn't mean—" he faltered, feeling more than ever like a small boy.

"Quite. You wouldn't be here at this moment if the "we" were disallowed. I did my own bit of housebreaking precisely because I haven't a fixed idea about our young friend. But I don't want him to run into more trouble than is strictly necessary, so I was willing to take the part assigned me in conducting this more or less official preliminary survey, ... the same time following a little idea of my own. If he's left those papers alone, well and good. If he's taken them away, he may be a panicky fool or—something else. In either case, I can do more good by taking my time in looking about before the police wind the whole place up in yards of red tape and regulations. By the way, at the present moment you're not representing a newspaper. That's understood?"

"I'll take back to the office exactly what you give me permission to take," Peter assured him.

"We might as well begin, then. The safe won't be locked, so that part will be simple."

"But you haven't tried it yet!"

"No, look at this," Dr. Cavanaugh turned to the dressing table and lifted the ornate roof from a box which was a replica of a French cathedral. Peter leaned over his shoulder. The chest was filled with a higgledy-piggledy assortment of jewels—a strand of pearls entangled in the points of a diamond and platinum brooch, bracelets and rings piled in a helter skelter mass.

"You see, she didn't even turn the key in her jewel case—the sort of person, I fancy, whose possessions were usually in a state of confusion. She gave up keys, because she always lost them. She had no fear of thieves, because the things that people are robbed of, came easily to her. She could always get more. I'll put a nickel on the safe being unlocked—just a little private bet with my own judgment." Dr. Cavanaugh drew out the nickel and laid it on the smooth glass top of the dressing table.

"But mightn't Ellsworth have locked it?" Peter suggested.

"If he came here, he'd be in a hurry—and it would be his instinct to leave things as nearly as possible as he found them." Dr. Cavanaugh rose to his feet with a little sigh. "I suppose we might as well find out. It's always more interesting to work out a problem than to check it. But facts must have their day."

"There's another chance, you know," Peter suggested. "The dame with the trick teeth may have been lying all along. Perhaps there never were any papers, nor any threat of a breach of promise suit. Perhaps Ellsworth married because he wanted to, like anybody else—though I will say,"—Peter cast a scornful look upon the row of silk-flounced dolls on the dressing table—"I don't think much of his taste."

"It was a taste, at all events, in which a good many people shared," Dr. Cavanaugh reminded him. But you musn't let Mrs. Kane's teeth prejudice you. Ellsworth's marriage differed, I am optimistic enough to believe, from most marriages that are still in the flush of their first year. If Mrs. Kane has not given us the right key to it, I still believe that a key of some sort is needed. She may be concealing something—a good deal, in fact—and she may be quite capable of lying. But on this one point I'm inclined to think she was telling the truth—if only because it burst out of her unintentionally, when she had made up her mind to keep those teeth safely in place behind closed lips."

The wall safe was obvious enough, its front being merely concealed for decorative purposes behind a square of tapestry, through which the bulge of the knob was plainly visible. Dr. Cavanaugh motioned to Peter to hold up the corner of the tapestry, and confidently pulled at the handle. Peter found that he was holding his breath. The doctor reached behind him with his free hand and pocketed the nickel.

The door swung open.

The safe was empty.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

THE CHASM.

I see so many grow away,
Wives from their husbands day by day,
Husbands from wives. Their work, their play,
Divide them while they hardly know;
But day by day apart they grow,
Until too late they learn their loss,
And find between them, widening so,
A chasm that is hard to cross.

There are some men who buy and sell
Cotton, and grain, and wives as well,
And houses, though their own house fell.
There are some women in this life
The more the mother, less the wife;
But when the child is up and gone,
And gray years bring their special strife,
Find little then to lean upon.

I see so many grow away
Because to-morrow they can say
The thing they ought to speak to-day.
To-morrow he will leave his friends,
She spend with him the time she spends
With hers. And so their paths divide,
And so it is the matter ends—
Someday the chasm grows too wide.

Why Farmers Prefer Endowment Insurance

HAVING insured farmers for nearly sixty years, we do not know of any group of men to whom life insurance has been more beneficial. Our experience has been that the average farmer lives out the term of his policy, and profits personally from his thrift.

The most popular policy with farmers is the Endowment Policy. It is generally bought for the amount of any mortgage that stands against property, so that funds to pay off the mortgage will be available at maturity; or in the event of premature death.

Every farmer who is physically fit should own life insurance, and if he buys a Confederation Life policy we can and will arrange for premiums to be paid at convenient times.

Write for a pamphlet entitled "Wm. Matheson Was a Farmer." It tells of his experience with a Confederation Life Policy guaranteeing Total Disability Benefits. Address:

Wheat Prices Gain Under Heavy Buying

CHICAGO, Ills., June 21. (C.P.) — Fresh early upturns in wheat values to-day followed brisk buying coupled with announcement of reduced estimates in the world wheat production this season. Meanwhile unfavorable crop reports from domestic winter wheat territory southwest continued, as did drought complaints from spring wheat sections northwest.

Opening at 1-4c to 1 1-4c higher, wheat afterwards scored additional gains; corn, oats and provisions tended upward also, with corn starting at 1-8c to 5-8c advance, and subsequently rising further.

PUPILS PRESENT SONG RECITAL

Very Pleasing Program Is Put On By Students of Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park.

SANG WITH EASE.

One of the very pleasing Song Recitals in which pupils of Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park excell in their presentation of attractive music, in an artistic manner, was held at the Conservatory of Music hall on Wednesday evening. There was a large attendance and every number on the program was accorded an enthusiastic encore.

Mrs. Park's pupils have a smoothness and finish in their presentation of pretty songs that adds much to the attraction of their recital programs. They sing with ease and confidence, entirely from memory, with a careful enunciation, pure diction and degree of poise that is exceptionally pleasing. With a clear, pure tone exact attention to rhythmic quality and tempo and much dramatic interpretation, they always present an interesting and entertaining program.

Placed first on the program were the junior singers and those whose training is of recent commencement These displayed a number of promising voices, well trained.

The senior singers demonstrated the manner in which improvement from year to year is marked in Mrs. Park's pupils and their skilful rendition, in sweet tones, of difficult songs, was exceptionally attractive.

An outstanding contribution to the evening's cycle of music was that of Miss Bertha Hill, who combines a striking degree of dramatic interpretation with a sweet contralto voice. Miss Hill sang Quilter's "June" and the very difficult and forceful number, "I Am Fate!"

Other senior singers who made a profound impression on their hearers were Mrs. George Richmond, singing "A Page's Road Song", by Novello, and Bohm's "Still as the Night"; Miss Freda Allison, in Campbell-Tipton's "The Crying of Water", and "Down Vauxhall Way"; Miss Margaret Wolstenholme, in Handel's "Come and Trip It", and Tschaikowsky's "None but the Weary Heart"; Miss Mildred Magee, in two very sweet and graceful numbers, Dvorak's "Songs my Mother Taught Me", and "A Pastoral" (Old English); Miss May Jory, in Purcell's "Nymphs and Shepherds", and Spohr's "Rose, Softly Blooming"; Miss Helen Lytle in "The Little Red Lark" (Old Irish), and Spross' "Will o' the Wisp"; Miss Helen Lazzb, in "Thro' the piazetta", and Rubenstein's "Romance"; Miss Daisy Davidson, in Vaughan-Williams' "The Roadside Fire" and Bishop's "Bid Me Discouse"; Miss Emma Meiklejohn of Campbellford, in Grieg's "Eros" and O'Harra's "Leetle Bateese"; Miss Margaret Dickson in Schubert's "Angel of Beauty" and Del Aqua's "Chanson de Provencal"; Mrs. Mary Dickson Free of Campbellford, in Schubert's "My Abode" and Beach's "Ah! Love, but a Day"; and Mrs. Charlotte Hanson Doig, in Strauss' "Night", and Mendelssohn's "Hear Ye, Israel" from "Elijah."

The program opened with Miss Doreen Magee's number, "My Gentle Child" by Del Riego, followed by Miss Elizabeth Harrison, singing "The Cuckoo Clock"; Miss Helen Frisk, in "Golden Stars that Shone in Lombardy"; Miss Grace Sargent, in "Time's Roses"; Miss Jean Hurl, in "Early One Morning"; Mrs. W. F. McWilliams, in "Thoughts Have Wings"; Miss Dorothy Bamford, in Schubert's "Wiegenlied"; Miss Eleanor Brown, in "From the Heart," and Quilter's "Slumber Song; Miss Isabel Connolly, in "All Thro' The Night" (Old Welsh); and Miss Jean Cameron, in Schubert's "Who is Sylvia?" and Grieg's "I Love Thee."

A small boy scprano, Master Jim Houghton of Toronto, was a pleasant addition to the program, with his pleasing, clear voice, used very effectively in Geehl's "A Spring Carol" and the favorite old song, "The Kerry Dances"

The accompaniments for the singers were played by Mrs. Park and Charles Peaker, Mus.Bac., F.R.C.O., of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough.

At the conclusion of the recital, a lovely basket of flowers from her pupils was presented to Mrs. Park.

TECK-HUGHES.

Opening up of the twenty-fifth level, 2,980 feet, is well under way. Drifting over 100 feet each way from the crosscut has been in expected grade of ore. Importance of this work does not appear to be fully appreciated by the public.

Summer Season Enters With Vigor

While Commander Byrd and his expedition far in the South are experiencing their shortest day to-day, Peterborough people are enjoying their longest. Old Sol came forth at 4.36 this morning to grace this section of the globe with his brilliant light until 8.03, standard time to-night. That he inaugurated the summer in a typical fashion, all those who walked under his rays to-day will agree.

United States Steel Is In Big Demand

NEW YORK, June 21. — (C.P.) — Brisk demand for U. S. Steel common and Anaconda Copper, coupled with the buoyancy of a few high priced industrials, featured the resumption of the upward price movement in today's stock market. Trading showed a marked expansion in breadth and volume, which was construed as an indication of increasing public participation.

Call money renewed at 7 per cent. but the supply at that figure was small, and there was a possibility that the rate might work higher. There was no change in time money and commercial papers. Despite the recent easing of the money rates, federal reserve officials insisted there was no change in its credit policy, calling attention to the reduction in holdings of bills and government securities.

Merger of the Fleischmann, Royal Baking Powder and Y. W. Gillette Companies, in the third consolidation effected by the J. P. Morgan & Company interests within the past week, was widely interpreted as an indication that leading baking interests saw signs of increased prosperity. Wall street also derived encouragement from the substantial increase in tobacco sales in May, and in the high volume of freight car loadings.

In Police Court

After having weighed the evidence as given in the trial of Dalton Dolan in police court last Monday charged with keeping and exposing liquor for sale, Magistrate Langley this morning found Dolan guilty and sentenced him to six months in the common jail. It was Dolan's second conviction on the same charge, having been found guilty and fined on April 21, this year. R. R. Hall, K.C., counsel for Dolan, is appealing the case.

Ray Stinson and Reuben Colley, charged with criminal negligence as a result of the accident on the Chemong road last Sunday morning, appeared and were again remanded when they refused to plead.

Even the effort required to get out of one's armchair and tune in the Radio, is now being eliminated.

The Engineering Department of the Kolster Radio Corporation has perfected a new and entirely unique device for the remote control of radio sets, and is making it a feature of one of the Kolster models now being manufactured. According to Dr. Kolster., Chief Research Engineer, the new device is simple enough to be operated by a child and makes possible unlimited enjoyment on the part of the entire famil, due to the convenience of operating the set from any room in the house. A small ornamental box, having several buttons designated for selected stations, can be placed in any part of the home to control the radio receiver without leaving the favorite armchair. All operations, including adjustment of volume and on-and-off switch, are handled from this control box.

PRETTY NURSES HELP TO AMUSE ROYAL PATIENT

Prince Henry is Experiencing Pleasant Convalescence in Vancouver.

HAS BROKEN COLLARBONE

From His Window the Prince Enjoys One of City's Finest Views.

(By Roy Brown)

Vancouver, B.C., June 21th, (Special to The Examiner, Copyright).—Convalescent in his luxurious quarters on the eighth floor of the Hotel Vancouver, Prince Henry, Duke of Gloucester, has not been finding time heavy on his hands during the days which have passed since his horse came crashing to the ground at Brighouse polo field and left him with a broken collar bone.

From his windows, facing north and west, the Royal patient enjoys one of Vancouver's finest views. He looks out over the harbor to the Lion's Gate where a steady stream of ships come and go; ships that vary in size and color, from the great empress boats of the Pacific to grimy tugs toting car barges across the gulf. Two beautiful nurses helped him through the first painful hours of convalescence and they now, along with members of his staff, do their part to keep him amused and at the doctor's very strict orders, quiet. In such surroundings the first impatience of the Royal visitor to start his eastward journey, at once gave place to resignation. Now he is quite glad to stay and dates of departure, discussed constantly a week ago, have ceased to be a matter of immediate consideration. A date a week hence has been considered in a tentative way.

The Prince is not confined ro his bed. But, he has not quitted his apartments since the accident. Although deluged with invitations he has adhered to his physician's advice and there appears little chance that he will leave his rooms until he boards the train which will take him east.

Out of consideration for the Royal nerves, Mayor W. H. Malkin has silenced the street traffic control bells which rang for twelve hours each day not far from the Royal suite. When he is musically inclined, the Royal patient finds solace in turning on the radio, specially installed in the suite.

The efforts of the hotel staff to make his convalescence as easy as possible have been more than rewarded by his marked gratitude. In their judgment he is an ideal guest and his nurses are ready to say "an ideal patient."

IMPERIAL TRADE PREFERENCE HAILED AS DOMINANT ISSUE

Dominion to Strike Back at U.S. Tariff Laws, is Present Belief.

LITTLE LEGISLATION PASSED

Political Parties Claim Various Platforms or Provide Lively background.

Ottawa, June 21, (Special to The Examiner, Copyright).—The next session of the Canadian House of Commons can hardly fail to be the most portentous of any since the war. Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King and his government may decide to go the country on the major issue of free trade within the empire, to be brought about by a gradual increase in imperial preference. Such is the word animating the communiques of well-informed political correspondents.

The Dominion tariff policy, changed ut little by the current Robb budget, is admittedly an agency which may have to be radically overhauled when the House meets next. Canadian and United States relations have been regarded as undergoing a development which in another year may require adjustment in the policy of the two countries, one toward the other.

Canada Best Customer

Canada is the best customer of her neighbor to the south. The two nations are an economic entity, however strong may be, and is, the ties that bind the Dominion to the Imperial link, so that this country feels that "retaliation" is necessary so long as the United States persists in her tariff legislation.

Meanwhile the third session of the sixteenth parliament of Canada, passed into history with the distinctive record of having done less than any other session to encumber the statute books of the country.

Changes in tariff and taxation have been enacted, and important laws, notably the amendments to the grain act and to the elections act, have been adopted. None the less, however, it remains true that the interest of the session has been rather in its discussion than in its legislation, in the problems which it has been approaching rather than in any decisive action which it has taken upon any one of them.

Government ministers and members of the commons alike have felt during the session that they were in the midst of circumstances which were rapidly crystallizing but would yet not reach the stage for action until another year. Events of major importance have been seen as crowding the future.

Politically the session was quiet. The government was never in danger of defeat. Some uncertainty was interjected in the situation by intimations from Hon. Mr. Robb and other ministers that the government may take the initiative in raising the country's tariff. As a result, Hon. Mr. Bennett Conservative leader, has orated on protection more extensively than in any other session, with the purpose, evidently, of establishing a prior claim to the policy when the next election should come. This date, incidentally has remained one of the enigmas of the session. Whereas an appeal to the country was at one time thought possible this fall, it is certain now that it will not be made until next year, with persons close to the government even declaring that in view of the recent Saskatchewan election result it will not come until 1931

LET MOUNTED POLICE CLEAN UP SITUATION

Attorney-General Disapproves of the Criticism made of Provincial Police at Border.

TORONTO, Ont., June 21. — "If the Royal Canadian Mounted police are so good why doesn't the Dominion Government send some of them to clean up this situation at Windsor?" asked Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, when interviewed yesterday, discussing the criticism levelled by a Toronto paper against the provincial police in connection with the present rum-runners.

The paper said the provincial police were "not on the job" in the same way as the R.C.M.P.

The whole rum-running question was a Dominion matter, said Col. Price. "I have already said that a hundred times," continued the Attorney-General, "why should I have to repeat it?"

History of Peterborough

Written by Thomas W. Poole, M.D., and Published in Peterborough 1867

CHAPTER X.
THE NEW COLBORNE DISTRICT

In the early years of the District Council, the onerous duties entailed by a seat in that body do not appear to have been sought after so eagerly as in more recent times. Among the earliest by-laws of that period, is one "to determine the penalties on persons refusing to serve as Councillors"; and in 1845 we find one entitled "A by-law to enforce the attendance of Municipal Councillors," which, however, was repealed in 1848. The former of these imposed a fine of not less than one dollar, nor more than forty, for neglecting or refusing to take and subscribe the oath prescribed; and the latter a penalty of one dollar for absence from any of the sittings of Council, and two dollars for absence during an entire day, without permission of the Council.

One of the first projects espoused by the District Council was the construction of a plank road from Cobourg, round the head of Rice Lake, to Peterborough, and thence to Chemong Lake. But this, like many other projects since mooted, was ere long abandoned. The chief records of the Council are made up of the then important, but now uninteresting, details of the opening up or establishment of new lines of road, repairing bridges, arranging and remodelling the boundaries of school sections ,and the numerous other matters common to the business of all councils.

During the year 1844, John Darcus, Esq., a Justice of the Peace, who till then had acted as District Clerk, was found guilty of frauds which not only deprived him of that office, but obliged him to abandon the neighborhood, if not even to fly from the Province. His peculations were trifling, and must have been entered upon in an unguarded moment. They occurred in this wise. It is customary when any person kills a wolf to take the scalp to the nearest magistrade, who signs a certificate to the effect that a wolf has been killed, and the recipient, on presenting this document to the County Treasurer, is entitled to a bonus of six dollars for the service thus rendered to the country. Mr. Darcus forged seventeen of these certificates, inserting the names of settlers at a distance, and drew the money in their names, which, of course, he retained. Soon after, one of the persons whose name had been unwarrantably used, was congratulated on his success as a hunter, when he denied having killed any wolves, and on further inquiry, the discovery was made, which resulted in the withdrawal from the country of the unfortunate gentleman who had allowed himself to be guilty of the base transaction. We mention these circumstances more in sorrow than in scorn, and to "point a moral" rather than "adorn" this narrative.

The County Treasurer was thereupon instructed to publish annually a list of the names of persons mentioned in such certificates, with their place of residence, a precaution at all times necessary to guard against a repetition of such fraud.

On the removal of Mr. Darcus, James McCarroll, Esq., acted as County Clerk for a few weeks, when the permanent appointment was conferred upon Walter Sheridan, Esq Dr. John Gilchrist continued to act as Treasurer until October, 1846, at which time Frederick Ferguson, Esq was appointed to that office, which he retained till the close of 1851 when the two offices of clerk and treasurer were united; and the duties of both have since been very faithfully and efficiently discharged by Mr. Sheridan, who still retains them.

On the retirement of Mr. Ferguson, the Council expressed their entire confidence in his integrity and ability, and their regret at dispensing with his services, which was rendered expedient by the amalgamation of the two offices. Both Dr. Gilchrist and Mr. Ferguson acted in turn as Government Land Agent, an office subsequently held by the late Col. Crawford, and abolished in so far as the older townships of the County of Peterborough were concerned, within a few years of thte present time.

MERCANTILE ADJUSTERS FORCE THE POPULAR SUKLOFF STORE INTO A GREAT CRUSHING CRASH FOR CASH

Beginning Saturday 9 a.m. Daylight Saving Time

Another of those devastating business tragedies that are visited upon popular stores in troubled times like these—that zero hour when prices are forced to tumble below the levels of business reason. Why?—because a mercantile adjuster, into whose hands a great store's fate is cast, must throw aside all respect for what the owner paid. Stocks must be turned into money, even in the face of killing losses. Such is the case here.

Lets Talk Facts

(1st) We want to raise $2,000 the first day at any cost.

(2nd) This man Sukloff has been given orders to sacrifice stocks accordingly.

(3rd) It is a critical moment and a simple case of "MUST"—when a man must face the situation with the determination to accept heart-breaking losses on his entire stock.

(4th) We are placed in charge to see that goods are sold and we guarantee real bargains. Now people it's up to you.

LEGIONAIRES HOLD BIRTHDAY DINNER

Lieut.-Col. C. H. Ackerman Speaker of Evening at Campbellford Gathering.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 21.—(Examiner Staff Correspondence).—Hot weather was generally accepted as the reason for the small attendance at the second birthday dinner of the Campbellford branch of the Canadian Legion held last night in the parish hall. Lieut.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, Peterborough, the president of the Provincial Command, was the speaker of the evening. Major the Reverend James Belford, ex-M.P.P., was also present at the speakers' table. George Free, president of the local branch, occupied the toastmaster's chair. The dinner this year took the form of a ladies' night and the ex-servicemen with their wives and sweethearts sat down to an excellent dinner catered by Long. The event is not a money-making scheme, but solely for the purpose of celebrating the birthday of the local organization. Musical numbers were furnished by Albert Hazel and John Storie. Community singing also figured in the line of March. After the dinner was eaten, the speeches digested and the tables removed, there was dancing as long as anyone wished to indulge on such a hot night.

The Program.

After duly honoring His Majesty King George V, President Free as toastmaster, welcomed the guests and expressed a slight disappointment at the small attendance that he believed was the result of the hot weather. N. Alex MacColl was the first speaker. He proposed the toast to the Legion. In his remarks he considered it an honor to have his name so closely associated with that of Col. Ackerman on the list of speakers. His speech was mainly relative to pensions. He compared the famed British justice and the legal court procedure to the method at present in use in dealing with pensions. He was of the opinion that many returned men did not get a square deal and quoted cases to substantiate his remarks. He expected that in the near future the system would be changed and the men would get a better showing. It was necessary, he claimed, that the returned men stand together in order that the Legion might be a success.

Col. Ackerman

In responding to the toast, Col. Ackerman said it was almost a responsibility to attend a dinner on such a hot night, and he would use this as an excuse for the brevity in his remarks. He also complimented Alex McColl for the splendid address he had made in proposing the toast and said that it indicated that the local branch understood what the Legion was for and what it was doing. There were men, he thought, whose troubles were very real. Many returned men had been associated with former organizations of returned soldiers and had not found them satisfactory. These were reluctant to join another and wanted to know what the Legion was and what it was doing. He had found this to be the case in many of his travels. In order to explain this, he referred to remarks spoken by His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, Patron of the B.E.S.L., who said that it was not easy to sum up the attributes of the British nation, but all Britishers had several in common, sportsmanship, team work, love of justice, toleration. It was the same spirit which took Britain into the war. She respected her own word and expected other nations to do likewise. The men who fought overseas took a chance like real sportsmen. He thought it was up to a nation of sportsmen to keep its word to these men.

Returning then to his own remarks, the colonel said that it must be remembered that many veterans were aged beyond their years. Some have no disability other than that. They have larger families, many of them. In some cases the government had no real obligation of any concrete nature. This was one of the reasons why the Legion must be a success. Governments all over the world were watching the organization and its operation. It was a tremendous task for the government to administer the pension fund, and the Legion was trying to assist. In order to do this, the Legion must retain the confidence of the government. There existed a chain of responsibility which was even more necessary now than during war times when it was so remarkably efficient.

Much, said the Colonel, could be done through sportmanship. There was a responsibility resting with the returned men. They also had the ability. It was for them to instil into the coming generations, the true British traditions. There were some people who objected to military and patriotic display, but these people had been and probably would be again, ready to hide behind the men in uniform. British traditions, the colonel explained by an illustration from the surrender of the German fleet at Scapa Flow when a British sailor is reported to have struck one of the German navy men. In closing, Colonel Ackerman thanked the local branch for the invitation to dinner and hoped that he would be invited again and have the privilege of seeing some two hundred and fifty members. "The Legion", he said, "was not a social organization but a service organization just as the Canadian Corps was for service during the war."

In proposing the toast to the Ladies, the Rev. N. Clarke Wallace, rector of Campbellford and chaplain to the Governor General's Body Guards, was inclined to be humorous. After relating a few humorous and highly entertaining events, he proposed, in a very few sentences, the toast to the ladies.

Major, the Rev. J. F. B. Belford, Codrington, said he was proud to propose the toast to the men who had fallen in the war. It brought them vividly to his memory. They had gone over with a song on their lips and joy in their hearts. They had been filled with bravery such a none but those who saw them i action might understand. These me who had not returned had set up standard for us to follow. The bes of the country had been laid as sacrifice on the altar for right an the cause for which men could di We who live, had still the oppor tunity to uphold the principles fo which they died. They fought fo Canada and their homes and w must weld the numerous races o Canada's population into one grea Canadian Nation. It is possible, h claimed, if we stuck to true Britis ideals, Canada did not want an national flag. She had the Unio Jack. It was her duty to keep th memory of the men who died, gree and fresh since Canada's greates treasure is across the seas unde the rows of crosses in the cemeteries which are all too large.

Two minutes silence and the Las Post, sounded by Trumpeter Lowe were the responses to the toast.

WOMEN INSTRUCTED IN ILLNESS CAUSES

Miss Roberts, of Toronto, Lectures to Women's Institute on Common Ailments.

MOUNT PLESASANT, June 21.—(Examiner Correspondence).— Th first aid and home nursing class under the direction of Miss Roberts of Toronto, held by the Women's Institute in the Women's Institute Hall, opened on Monday afternoon.

The necessary rulings for the class to be arranged the first day were

That the class start at 1.30 o'clock each afternoon, leaving ladies from the country ample time to return home to prepare supper; and on motion it was decided that no examinations or special prizes be given, that the time got to the beenfi of the class.

It was also decided that a social time be spent toegther the last afternoon.

In Miss Roberts opening remarks she stated the benefit derived by attending these classes and urged that as many as possible avail themselve of the opportunity to educate themselves along a line that would always be a benefit to others.

She stated that the cost of these classes were on an average of $100 and it cost just as much to teach a dozen as it did to teach seventy-five.

The classes are free except that the necessary expenses incurred must be met by the class. The small fee of fifty cents is charged to non-members of the Institute and this entitles the person to membership for one year. Institute members are taxed twenty five cents.

To all attending the class for every lesson a certificate will be given.

During the afternoon Miss Roberts lectured on "fainting" and "hysteria" telling what to do and how to do it, explaining the difference between "hysteria" and "epilepti fits."

She explained the causes of "rheumatism" or (arthrites) which caused by an infection "focal" (meaning in the head bones) th sinus bones in the skull, and an trims going across the cheek, als through the tonsils.

Pus may come from the teeth o tonsils, and it is essential that both be x-rayed in order to find th trouble and bridges in teeth should be removable so that they may b cleaned daily. Permanent bridge are almost sure to be holding bac something.

When vitality is low, germs ar sure to bet in, will gather in ba tonsils and will travel down to th appendix and up to the gall bladde and will cause serious trouble.

Miss Roberts also impressed th class very earnestly about the use o the common drinking dipper in th water pail. "Don't have a dippe in the drinking water. Germs an bacteria will live and thrive on wet dipper, but they can't on a dr one."

The handling of money is anothe germ catcher. Never handle mone while at the table, always was your hands after handling money be fore you eat or handle anything t be eaten.

Cancer.

Regarding cancer, any unusual discharge, bloody or not, in man, woman, or child, a white patch, sor spot, a red area, a wart or feve blister which does not quickly hea on the lip or tongue or any par of the body any lump which can b felt in or beneath the skin should have medical advice once noticed an removed while still in its miniature state. There is only one cure o cancer, that is the knife, and th longer a person has it, the deepe it will go.

Cancer is not contagious.

Miss Roberts also touched on skin disease among teen age boys and girls, and emphasized X-ray treatments. Her lecture was well received and although two hours had passed the time seemed only too short.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Sourness, Gas and Pain. How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

DISTRICT CHURCHES

BETHANY UNITED

WARSAW, June 21.—(Examiner Correspondence)—Bethel Church was well filled both morning and evening for the anniversary services on Sunday. Rev. W. R. Archer, of Havelock United church conducted the services, and preached appropriate sermons.

In the morning the choir, which is wholly composed of young people, including a few young married couples, sang "The Awakening Chorus" and Rufus Payne sang "Face to Face."

In the evening the choir sang "Soldiers of the Cross", and Henry Batten sang "The Touch of His Hand on Mine." Mr. George Taylor played for the soloists, and Miss Velma Payne, the Bethel organist, played for the choir.

At the close of the evening service Rev. Mr. Archer complimented the choir on its excellent work.

The church was very pretty with decorations of peonies, lilacs, and other flowers.

Rev. H. B. Herrington took Rev. Mr. Archer's work at Havelock on Sunday.

ACTION NEEDED TO FIGHT WEEDS

Tax Levied by Weeds on Agriculture of Province Mounting Yearly.

FARMERS START CAMPAIGN

(Special to The Examiner by Professor J. E. Howitt, D.A.C., Guelph)

GUELPH, June 21. — The weed menace in Ontario has markedly increased during the past few years. It is not an exaggeration to say that in certain parts of the Province certain weeds like the Perennial Sow Thistle are driving men off their farms. The tax levied by weeds on the agriculture of the Province has been mounting yearly. One of the chief reasons why the weed menace has increased with each succeeding years is the undeniable fact that in the past vast quantities of weeds have been allowed to ripen seeds on roadsides, in school-yards, on waste and vacant lands, along our lanes and headlands and in our fence corners and odd spots here and there on the farm.

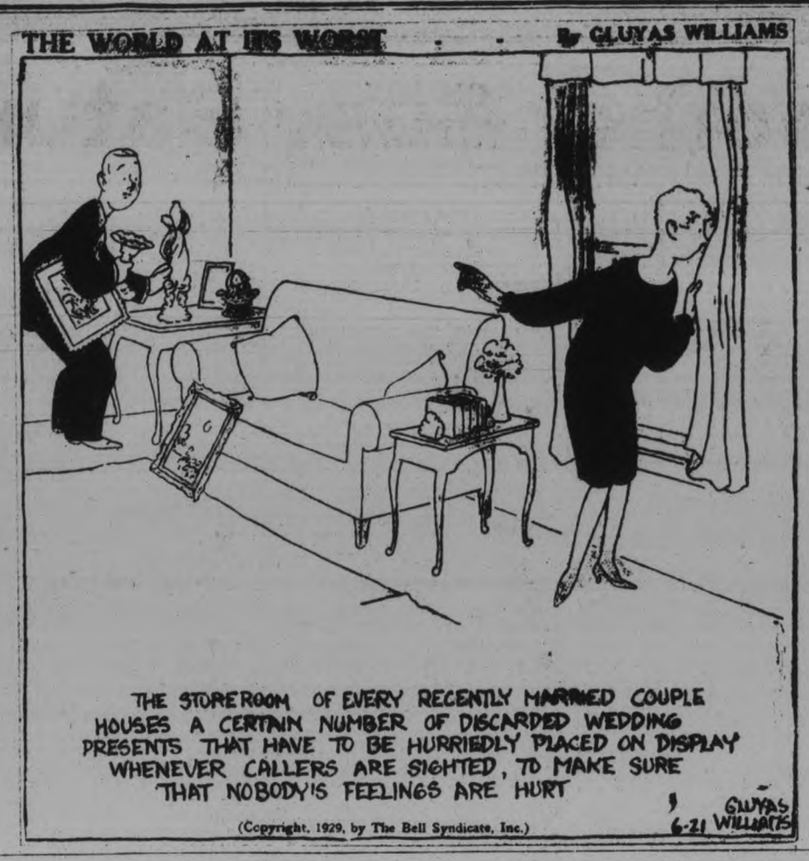
The following are the number of seeds produced by single plants of average size in one season: Canada Thistle, 3,500; Curled or Yellow Dock, 17,000; Common Ragweed, 5,000; Chicory, 3,000; Perennial Sow Thistle, 2,000; Wild Lettuce, 8,000; Stinkweed, 20,000. Every weed that is allowed to mature produces at least 1,000 seeds and most of them ripen several thousand seeds. In the past weeds by the millions have been allowed to mature in this province and scatter their billions of seeds far and wide. Is it any wonder that the weed menace has increased in Ontario?

Are we going to tolerate this state of affairs any longer in Ontario? No. The farmers of the Province have raised their voices in protest. An Act has been passed by the Legislature to enable them to meet the situation. United action is what is required now. Every municipality, every farmer, every land owner in town or country must unite in the war against weeds and see that they are cut early and often enough to prevent them from seeding. When the weed inspectors send out notice that it is time to cut weeds let no one lag behind or neglect his duty.

Promptness is necessary to prevent all weeds from seeding. Many weeds, if cut after they have passed full bloom, will mature their seeds. In order, therefore, to secure the greatest results from the time and labor expended, everyone concerned should see that weeds are cut just as soon as possible after the inspector gives notice.

United action is required so that no weeds be left uncut on roadsides, vacant lands, railway tracks, school-yards or waste places. Every patch of weeds that is left uncut is a menace to the farms and gardens in the neighborhood, an eyesore and a costly monument of neglect, signifying that some one has failed to do his duty to his municipality and to his neighbors.

Community pride and regard for the rights of others should serve as incentives to prompt and united action on the part of all concerned. When such is secured the weed menace will be much decreased, our farms will be cleaner and more profitable and our highways and byways will become attractive beauty spots, indicating individual and municipal pride and prosperity.



THE OLD HOME TOWN

It's official—right from my old Home Town—
A kind invitation, "Be sure and come down;
We're holding Centennial for nine straight days,
You're sure to enjoy it a thousand ways.

• • •

"With sports of all kinds and monster parades,
Something for everyone, old men to maids,
Trips through the Lift Locks, Moonlights, too—
All for the Old Boys—and this means you.

• • •

"With boat races, horse races all the week through,
Community dancing—old style and new—
A key of the city we've started to make
When the Old Boys arrive, it goes into the lake.

• • •

"You'll greet the Old Timers, meet with the new;
There won't be a minute with nothing to do;
We've spent time and money to make this a hit;
It's up to the Old Boys to come do their bit."

• • •

It's a pretty safe bet that I'll be right there—
I'll see the Town Clock and the old Market Square;
I'll drive past the Police Station hitting in high—
I spent four hours there, so I'm now rather shy.

• • •

Then up to the Oval—see a game of lacrosse
Where men 'played the game' nor considered the cost.
I'll make for old Riverside, see a ball game
Where ole Yebby Flaherty first made his name.

• • •

Over to Burnham's Point for a real dip
Where I squandered my youth tryin' to learn the back flip.
I'll take a quiet stroll up the old spur line
Where we view with each other diving for dimes.

• • •

Down to the Fair Grounds I'll just have to go
(This time I won't beat my way into the show),
You remember when Circus Bills filled you with laughter,
Played havoc with homework for days fore and after.

• • •

There are plenty of places I'm longing to see,
'Seats of my youth' when the world seemed carefree,
The Auburn, the Quarry, the Wintergreen Patch—
The old Brock Street Rink, scene of many a match.

• • •

The Murray Street Grounds, the Dump at the Bay,
Where I darn near was drowned when I schemed school one day;
Victoria Park — Rupert Gliddon's good band
That produced the best music in this grand old land.

• • •

Bradburn's Theatre, Marks Brothers' Shows,
Uncle Tom's Cabin and—dear only knows!
Ashburnham, the Locks Bridge and Chamberlain's Field
Where amateur Ruths the willow did wield.

• • •

I'll never forget the eventful day
Our white horse broke loose and started to stray;
He rolled in the black muck on Paterson street;
When we got him back he was surely 'dark meat.'

• • •

I'm just like a kid as the great day draws near.
It's what I've been hungerin' for year after year.
I'll enjoy every minute—yes—second, you bet.
There'll be one week of innocent pleasure and yet—

• • •

There'll be old-timers missing though in spirit there.
Who have gone on ahead, their stewardships to square;
To write of them all just couldn't be done—
I'll finish this poem by mentioning one.

• • •

There's no policeman whose record has never been beat;
The gamest and fairest you ever could meet,
He catered to no one—he treated you square:
"Old Boy McGinty" will not be there.

—W. J. MOHER, Toronto.

Reliability and low upkeep

LAVISH use of ball and roller bearings in the Ford car greatly reduce friction and contribute to easier operation and longer life of the car. Note the coasting ability of the Ford car as compared to any other automobile in its weight class.

Examination of the chassis will at once show the advantages of these bearings. On the rear axle pinion and differential all the taper roller bearings are held to such close limits that adjustment is unnecessary, pinion and ring gear always being held in proper mesh.

Spiral roller bearings are used in the rear hub because of their large bearing surface and ability to carry heavy loads. One is also used on the drive shaft at the universal joint end, to assure perfect alignment.

Taper roller bearings in the front wheels have a simple adjustment. Roller thrust bearings on the spindle bolts make for easy steering. Two bearings, one above and one below, take up the thrust on the steering worm.

The fan shaft operates on a roller bearing. The generator, the transmission, the connection between the spline and drive shafts, the clutch, the flywheel—all these important parts are made more efficient and enduring through the use of ball and roller bearings.

These bearings form a striking illustration of the engineering skill and care used in building the Ford car.

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

A CHILD'S GARDEN.

If you live where your children can have gardens let them have them. A garden is a fine activity for a child. Digging, preparing the ground, setting seeds, cultivating, weeding, harvesting, all of the various gardening joys are precious experiences for children. But too often the child's garden experience is more harmful than otherwise.

First he is given the poorest possible bit of ground, away off back, in the shade, in poor soil, far from water. That won't do. If the gardening is to be a success the conditions must be right. If the child is to get right ideas about gardening, about plant life in general, the conditions must be good.

No child can dig and prepare virgin soil for a garden. That must be done by a garden laborer, an adult, whose muscles and mind have been trained to the task. Nor can any child properly prepare soil for seeds. He must be helped with the choice of the soil, with the sifting, the smoothing, and the dampening of it. Again the services of the experienced adult are needed.

All this is very troublesome to the grown-up gardener. The best way out is to share a garden bed with the children. Let them help the grown-up gardener.

When they can set a plant, let them do so; when they can firm the earth about one, let them do that. Talk to them as you work so they will insensibly learn the reason for all the many tedious steps taken. When they are in their early teens, if there is any gardening sense in them, they will show profit from their experiences and want to have the fun of doing things all by themselves, then give them a little plot of good garden soil, well prepared, and let them go to work. But don't tell a child that he can make a garden of his own back there under the trees where nobody can see his mess and leave them to it. If you do, he will never learn to know the joy of a garden. And he will have stored a series of experiences that are not true.

Nobody like to have children tramping down a garden. But why should they tramp it down? They can be taught garden ways as well as other ways and the ways of a garden are as valuable as many others they are taught as a matter of necessity.

Every garden club ought to have a junior club. There ought to be a committee interested in helping the children of a community to make gardens. If that were done, if children were made to enjoy rearing lovely plants, removing weeds and rubbish, creating beauty spots, things would be easier in the suburbs than now.

Take that dirty place on the highway where the neighbors threw what they did not want. Take a few boys and girls in their teens and plant that spot with iris, or sunflowers, or golden glow, or field-lilies. It can be done. We can train children to create beauty-spots and to love gardens if we wish to do so. It takes just a little work.

That Body of Yours

(By Jas. W. Barton, M.D.)

MAKING AN EXPLORATORY INCISION.

One of the expressions that is not so common now is "exploratory incision." Your doctor will tell you that in former years where there was doubt, the cause of an ailment in the abdomen it was considered quite the proper thing to incise, or make an opening into the abdomen, and explore therein.

If the ailment was a growth, it could be removed, if an infected appendix it was removed, the gall bladder could be drained, and other conditions were helped.

If there was nothing to be found, the abdominal wall was repaired, and most of the patients were no worse for the operation.

However an operation is always an operation, and if it can be avoided, it is a great step forward.

It was therefore a great help to physicians and patients when the use of the barium meal and the X ray made it possible to follow the course of a meal through the stomach and the small and large intestine. Ulcer cancer, and appendix conditions were thus located, and helped to confirm the diagnosis previously made by the physician.

One of the difficult things was to try and show up ailments of the gall bladder and it was not until Dr. E. A. Graham and his associates by the use of a dye made this possible, and there was really any certainty as to the presence of gall bladder conditions.

Formerly there were needless operations performed and cases where operations should have been performed and were not.

Now Dr. Graham points out that death has not followed the use of properly performed injection of dye into the veins in his experience with about 16,000 cases.

When we remember that this test has proven correct from 97 to 98 per cent. of all cases, and that hese thousands of individuals have been spared, an "exploratory incision or operation" and that Dr. Graham's experience is that of his own or referred cases, we should, as a people, be grateful to Dr. Graham or his achievement.

However, Dr. Graham is just one of thousands of research men who are engaged in work for humanity throughout the world.

GARDEN PARTY.

Jolly Event Held Under Auspices of St. John's Church, Ida.

CAVAN, June 21.—(Examiner Correspondence). — St. John's Garden Party, Ida, was a huge success both socially and financially.

An excellent supper was served in the Parish Hall, after which the young people of All Saints' Church, Peterborough, presented their play "The Old Oaken Bucket" which was well received.

It is an excellent play and the parts were extremely well taken. The beautiful and appropriate manner in which the stage was arranged added much to the presenting of the play.

Fashion's Forecast

THE SLENDER WRAP-AROUND

THE STYLE No. 2796 shows the smart preference for wrapped skirt treatment in all-day frock of silk crepe, choice of young smart set. The circular cut at side creates a cascading drape effect. The becoming neckline merely stimulates a closing through applied band finished with jabot frill. Long dart-fitted sleeves have attractive turn-down flared cuffs. Belt marks normal waistline. It is exceedingly chic in dull black silk crepe with applied bands and frill of eggshell shade, lipstick red silk crepe, Royal purple silk crepe, and grass green shantung.

THE PATTERN is offered at cost price 15 cents (stamps or coin) as a service to readers who sew, and is designed in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches, bust. It's very simple to understand, because the construction guide explains everything in pictures. Think of it! It's real fun to follow these Picture Dressmaking Lessons, that result in such a charming dress.

NEW FASHION BOOK containing all the latest styles is 15 cents, but may be obtained for 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

BIRTHDAY CONGRATULATIONS

"Dear Marion:

I did not intend to come again so soon, but a few days ago was thinking it must be about a year since your "Whatnot" first appeared.

Today I see that it started a year ago last Thursday and I wish to compliment you on the success of your page. You touch on so many every day topics and do it in such a wholesome, yet kindly way, that one cannot help but think, if even for a short time.

The chats among unknown neighbors are very interesting and bring out, without illwill, many sides of many questions, and your little notes are to the point, sometimes what is left unsaid counts. So here is to many happy returns of the birthday of your page. I happen to have quite a few old letters. One quite long, written in 1843 in a very fine and beautiful hand by a great-aunt speaks of arriving "in London on the fourth of July, after a delightful passage of one hundred and four days from Calcutta, having had fine weather all the way with the exception of ten days off the Cape of Good Hope."

We would hardly appreciate being over three months on the water would we?

Not a single one of these old letters, whether mailed in Canada, England, Scotland or South Africa has a postage stamp, the amount paid is stamped on the upper right hand corner. Some of them are cross written, some are not in envelopes, but are carefully folded and sealed. Some are very funny, in telling home things. Here is a bit about a very proper young lady and I believe a charming old lady, but she lived unmarried and died when ninety years of age. Young ladies in these days, evidently had different methods of trying to attract young men with whom they had fallen in love. A sister thus describes it in 1845—"came home a few days since. She was looking well when she first arrived, but now she is ill. She says her heart is too large, blames the Northumberland air, but the fact is she wishes to return to Scotland to give half of her enormous heart to either—or—I do not know which." In a later letter she went to "Edinborough with several joyous gowns in which she hoped to be very attractive." Other letters describe some farm doings in Canada. In one farm they had "killed six pigs and a beef critter." Other letters describe some of the leading people of the day.

Sincerly Yours
"Quid Est"

I certainly appreciate your congratulations, "Quid Est", especially when your letter recalls the fact that you are one of my earliest correspondents in this neighborly circle.

"Dear Marion:

Would you please order these patterns for me? I must thank you for the helps I have had and for the pleasant hours spent reading your columns. You have narrowly escaped several letters from me, but being temorary residents of this nice little city, we are leaving soon, and I did not want to form a pleasant connection and then have to leave it.

Thanking you for the patterns and with all good wishes for the success of your page, I am

Yours Sincerely
Mrs. C. A. B."

I'm glad that you liked our column, "Mrs. C. A. B.", and hope you enjoyed your stay here.

"Dear Marion:

Please send me the three-piece baby costume and other helps matched. I am sending a recipe for canned corn in answer to "Tilbe Ilw Bgs". I have used it for twelve years and we consider it delicious and no trouble to do up. I never lose a jar. I am also sending a recipe for Corn Fritters which make a lovely supper dish.

Where are all the neighbors? There are hardly any letters. The songs are just great. I will try to send one next time I write. I am rather busy today as there is another member in our family. The stork visited us on May 23 and left a ten pound baby girl. I certainly enjoyed your Whatnots and the neighbors' letters while in bed. I could always look forward to seeing something different each day. The Saturday Whatnots are good too. I noticed the same one in a Sunday paper and I believe she also writes for a magazine to which I subscribe. Her writings are good and real interesting.

Thanking you for helps received some time ago and for those I am requesting, I am

Yours Sincerely,
"Nelly Bly II"

Congratulations, "Nelly Bly II"!

One really can't expect even good neighbors to write letters these days! It's much too warm. It's nice to know the old songs, etc. are appreciated.

"Dear Marion:

Thanks for the helps I received some little time ago, I was pleased with them. After I sent for some more as per enclosed coupon? I am enjoying the Neighbors' letters, they are like letters from home and all the Old Home Week News. Thanking you,

Yours Sincerely,
"Crocus".

Thank you for your letter, "Crocus" and your appreciation.

40 Convicts Escape From Farm Prison

HOUSTON, Texas, June 20 (C.P.).—Reports received here early to-day said forty convicts had escaped from the Clemens State prison farm, about seventy miles northwest of here, taking three guards with them.

The abducted guards were released about ten miles from the farm. One was forced to change clothes with a convict.

About 150 convicts refused to join in the break, although urged to escape by the ring leaders of the dash for liberty.

NOVEL HAT.

A French hat of sheer, shiny straw, has one half of its crown of straw. The other half open, so Milady's golden hair can show through. On the straw side there is a brim, on the open side merely a bandeau so the side curls can show too.

BEACH PARASOLS.

Glazed chintz makes same of the most colorful little beach parasols one has seen in years. They are small, individual versions of protection from the sun, since one can never, nowadays, assume one's friends want to be protected from the stylish burn.

OLD SONGS

THAT PIECE OF SONG, That old and antique song we heard, last night.

THE MOTHER

(Contributed by "Red Wing")

I am the pillars of the house;
The keystone of the arch am I.
Take me away, and roof and wall
Would fall to ruin utterly.

I am the fire upon the hearth,
I am the light of the good sun,
I am the heat that warms the earth,
Which else were colder than a stone.

At me the children warm their hands;
I am their light of love divine.
Without me cold the hearthstone stands,
Nor could the precious children thrive.

I am the twist that holds together
The children in its sacred ring,
Their knot of love, from whose close tether
No lost child goes awandering.

I am the house from floor to roof,
I deck the walls, the board I spread;
I spin curtains, warp and woof,
And shake the down to be their bed.

I am their wall against all danger,
Their door against the wind and snow.
Thou, whom a woman laid in manger,
Take me not till the children grow.

—Katherine Tynan.

WEDDING BELLS

CORNER—CRAIG.

A very pretty but quiet wedding was solemnized at 7.30 on Wednesday morning in St. John's Church of this city, the Rev. R. C. Blagrave, D.D., officiating, when Frona May Craig, daughter of the late Lewis Craig and Mrs. James Weese, was united in holy bonds of matrimony to William Corner, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Corner, of Western avenue, Peterborough highway.

To the strains of the bridal music, played by the organist, Mr. Mann, the bride, unattended, entered the church on the arm of her uncle, Bruce Patterson, who gave her away.

Her costume was a silk polo ensemble in combination of goya red and cafe au lait with hat, shoes, hose and gloves to match.

A host of friends gathered in the nave of the church and baskets of beautiful flowers placed on the altar testified to the love and esteem in which she was held in St. John's, of which she was a member.

The bride wore the gift of the bridegroom, a beautiful red fox fur.

After breakfast the happy couple left by motor on an extended trip through Toronto, Detroit, Chicago and other cities to Yellowstone Park.

The bride received a great number of beautiful gifts from friends who wish them bon voyage.

The ladies of the C.W.A. of St. John's Church were entertained by Mrs. J. W. Hopwood at her beautiful summer home on the island in Chemong Lake yesterday afternoon After a short business session an afternoon of sport was enjoyed with the service of dainty refreshments. In the evening, bridge was played; the prize winners being Miss Margaret English, Mrs. J. Welch and Mrs. C. D. Hewitt.

A delightful camp party was enjoyed last evening at the Y.W.C.A. by fifty members and friends of the Association. The first item on the program was a swim in the 'Y' pool, with races and stunts. The girls were then divided into groups and enjoyed some camp games, volley ball, table tennis, bean bag and contests. Miss Musa Cox then supplied the music for a camp sing song and several new songs were learned. Members of the Wohelo Club who had spent the past week-end at camp described how pretty and comfortable camp was and what a good time they had enjoyed. Miss Brownscombe outlined camp programs and described some of the trips around camp and good times planned for all who spent a holiday at Y.W.C.A. camp. The second week of July will be junior week, but special arrangements will be made for juniors and seniors any time during July and August. Those who are planning to attend camp were advised to register early so that accommodation may be reserved. Camp evening refreshments, lemonade, sandwiches and cake, were then served and a pleasant evening came to a close with "taps."

The many friends of Mr. Townsend, of 587 Chamberlain street (and De Laval Co.) will be sorry to learn of his sad accident in Toronto on Friday last. While at his work a gasoline torch exploded, enveloping him in flames. Help was quickly at hand, but not before he was badly burned about the chest, face, head and one arm. He was quickly removed in the ambulance to the Western Hospital where he is doing as well as can be expected.

PARIS CONTINUES TO FAVOR INCRUSTRATIONS FOR TRIMMING.

By Mme. Havet of Agnes.

Incrustations continue to be a favorite form of trimming in Paris. I think I have given a new feeling to the mode in this frock, which I have trimmed with rows of scalloped incrustrations carrying out a diagonal on the bodice and outlining the waistline and skirt front. A little cluster of flowers at the waist gives a bright note.

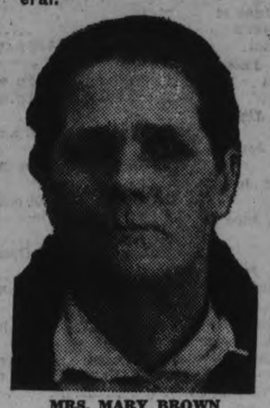
'I NEVER HAD ANYTHING DO ME SO MUCH GOOD'

That is What This Lady Says About "Husky" and the Way It Has Given Her New Strength, a Better Appetite and Improved Health in General.



MRS. MARY BROWN

"I am so much stronger and don't feel nervous now I am using Husky," said Mrs. Mary Brown, of 155 McCall St., Toronto, a well-known resident of that city for 40 years, as she reported her marvelous experience with this medicine.

"For some time I had been very weak and run down," she said, "and then lately I had a bad cold and it seemed that I was too tired and achy to move. For a long time I had been having such bad headaches and was extremely nervous. I was constipated, had no appetite and felt altogether miserable.

"A neighbor of mine spoke so highly of Husky I decided to try it. I never had anything do me so much good in all my life, and in so short a time, too. It has given me so much strength and relieved that nervous feeling. The constipation is gone, I am sleeping fine and don't get tired and achy any more. I am enjoying my food and just feeling fine. I feel like telling everyone about Husky because it has done such wonders for me and helped so many of my friends."

Begin using Husky to-day and note how soon your food tastes better, sleep is more sound and restful and you feel stronger and better in every way. It is marvelous what this medicine will do for you in a few days. Husky can always be obtained at Bond's Drug Store and at other good drug stores everywhere.

Furnishing the new home is always a problem for newly weds, but a problem not unmixed with pleasures. There are many important points to consider, for furniture is not of transient, but of lasting worth if properly selected. Buy little but have that little the best, is a good maxim to follow.

* * * * * *

Avoid extreme styles unless it is the intention to refurnish when styles change, and this requires a long purse. Also it indicates a lack of knowledge of choice furniture and a slavish determination to be smart. Pick out furniture with graceful lines and curves and that which is substantial, not showy.

* * * * * *

This season it is particularly difficult to make wise selections of furniture for the 'new art,' which stresses oddity in line and color is so much in evidence. Any pieces that are bizarre will not fit in with conservative pieces newly bought or acquired from the old home. In a few years the oddities will be 'back numbers' in the furnishing line, and may be as long in returning to any popular favor as the questionable mid-Victorian period furniture.

* * * * * *

Reproductions of handsome pieces are a good choice for any home where the cost of antiques is a barrier to buying them. It must be remembered that these reproductions, if well made, are strong. Antiques require careful handling, and for this reason some homemakers decide upon reproductions.

* * * * * *

Unfinished furniture has its appeal for it costs 20 per cent. less than the finished, and can be had in a wide variety of types. But unless the man or the woman does the 'finishing' the sum spent for this work will make the pieces cost as much as other types. We are assuming that in each instance the furniture is well made.

* * * * * *

Any person who dabbles with paint can put coats of color on to plain wood. This is not giving the furniture a finish, however. To do a good job each coat of paint must be sand-papered until brush strokes are taken out, before another coat of paint is put on. Even the final coat is sand-papered, and then given one or two coats of varnish which may give a high gloss, or a soft wax-like tone. The latter is preferable. When the home decorator takes the requisite pains to haye the finishes perfect he or she can do work to compete favorably with that of experts.

* * * * * *

Be cautious in buying and beware of getting too many sets of furniture. Articles that go together in fine harmony are often preferable to pieces with designs exactly matching. There are of course some pieces that should match as for instance dining room chairs, but these are exceptional. Occasional tables and chairs for living rooms come in a wide selection of styles and these, when well chosen, fill many needs in a new home.

* * * * * *

Another modern trend is shown in the return of color, which was so long absent in the decorative treatment of bathrooms. No longer is it essential to adhere to the more conservative scheme of white and one or two touches of a single color introduced. As many as three or four well blended and selected shades, may contribute to a harmonious effect.

* * * * * *

One home, recently built, with color introduced into the bathrooms has a guest bathroom with orchid tiled walls, black floor also of tile, green organdy curtains, yellow and black shower curtain and white and nickle plumbing. When so many tints are combined it is one of the first essentials that they harmonize.

* * * * * *

A very new feature of bathroom appointments is the fabric cover for the lid to the toilet. This is generally of the colored goods of the kind Turkish towels are made of. Sometimes there is a pattern centred on it. The edges are bound where they band under the lid, and the cover is held in position by means of tapes which can be tied and untied with ease. An elastic run into the binding is preferred by some.

* * * * * *

To be correct, this lid cover should match the color of the bath mat and of the towels, although the initial or monogram does not appear. A pattern in hooked work is in keeping, if there is a rug upon the floor in that style.

* * * * * *

Bath towels show patterned borders of floral variety which offer contrast to the severely plain ones the vogue of a few years ago. What with these and the shining bath crystals which are an element of bathroom decoration, as well as usefulness, there is something more than a little suggestion of a rainbow.

* * * * * *

This continent has given more attention to the number and excellence of bathrooms than any other country in the world,and with matters at such a high state of perfection, both in sanitation and decoration, it is hard to think of any further improvements. It is certain that the homemaker will find some colorful touches which she will like to add if she has lagged behind the vogue for such.

TO RE-ORGANIZE COUNTY POLICE

Attorney-General Seeks Resignation of High County Constable Pearson.

COUNCILLORS PROTEST

That this committee recommends the organization of a Livestock Improvement Committee for the Peterborough County and that the Agricultural Representative, J. B. Nelson, arrange for a preliminary meeting of those interested in livestock in this county for the purpose of organizing such a committee was the unanimous motion passed by the Agricultural Advisory Board of the County Council yesterday morning. This conclusion was reached in a special session of the Agricultural Board at which J. B. Nelson was present and outlined the livestock needs of the county, and it will be submitted to the whole council.

Re-organize Constables.

After a lengthy discussion, and on the request of I. A. Humphrey, K.C. of the Attorney General's Department it was decided by the Council that the resignation of S. R. Pearson from the position of High County Constable be sought. This it was explained by Clerk Edward M. Elliott was following the decision on the part of Attorney General to have a general shake up among the county constables throughout the province. "Mr. Pearson has been doing his work well, but the Department thinks that he is too old for the job," said Mr. Elliott.

"The old constables will be dismissed and younger men appointed by the Department," he added. This met with general disfavor among the councillors and their feeling was expressed by one when he said. "They want us to do the dirty work of dismissing the constable and then they will appoint someone without the slightest advice from us."

It was further explained by Mr. Elliott that the plan of the Attorney's Department is to have the high county constable the key men in each county. He will be in touch with Toronto and will supervise all the constables in the county. "He will have all their phone numbers, and everything will be arranged so compeltely that if a crook steps into the county, he will never get out alive," remarked Mr. Elliott with a smile.

This shake up in the county constables will be extended through the ranks, and if any appear too old or slow they will be displaced and younger and smarter men appointed, it was stated.

"It doesn't look fair to me," said one councillor in voicing the general feeling on the subject, but when it was explained the council's hands were tied and that most of the constable's salary would come from the Department it was moved that Mr. Pearson's resignation be requested.

Affiliate With Workmen's Compensation

That the county affiliate with the Workmen's Compensation was the motion unanimously passed by the council. This question also caused considerable discussion. It was pointed that this step would protect the county from any damage through injuries sustained by employees in road building and repairing. Formerly the county was only protected when a workman was injured in bridge and culvert building, but under the new arrangement this will also include road maintenance.

It was explained by Clerk Elliott that up to date the county's bills for injured workmen had been very slight, but several reeves gave instances where their townships had been forced to bear heavy expenses through injuries to men employed by them.

This arrangement with the Workmen's Compensation Board will only benefit those engaged on the county roads and have no jurisdiction over the workmen working for the townships, it was said.

W. Y. Scollard spoke in glowing terms of a new installation for heating that he claimed would reduce fuel consumption by upwards of fifty per cent. The matter was referred to be discussed later.

Livestock Committee.

The large percentage of those engaged in agriculture in the county derive their greatest income from livestock it was explained to the Agricultural Advisory Board of the Council by J. B. Nelson, who stressed need for a Livestock Improvement Committee in the county.

Because livestock is of such great importance to the average farmer it is necessary that the Department of Agriculture turn a great deal of its attention to this branch and the Deparment is giving it a large part of its work to the improving of livestock, explained Mr. Nelson.

On the formation of the new livestock committee, this committee will have charge of laying out the policies of livestock improvement for the county and it will also make possible the procuring of money grants from the Department. These grants are made for the purpose of aiding farmers in the purchase of pure bred bulls, who do not now own pure bred stock.

"It is probable," stated Mr. Nelson, "that the major project of the local office of the Department of Agriculture will be livestock improvement."

Having pointed out the need and benefits to be derived from the organization of the Livestock Improvement Committee in the county the members of the Advisory Committee voiced their unanimous approval of the plan and passed the resolution for the formation of such a committee.

MOTOR LAUNCH IS DESTROYED

Party Swims Ashore When Boat Takes Fire On Sturgeon Lake.

OSHAWA EXCURSIONISTS.

R. G. Cowan of Toronto, in company with a party of men belonging to Oshawa, narrowly escaped death when the 28-foot motor launch in which they were enjoying a pleasure cruise on a water route leading from Sturgeon Lake, caught fire and within a few moments burned to a crisp. The party thus endangered included Eric Phillips, owner of the launch, and his 9-year-old son, Derek; W. Elliott and R. W. Mellichamp, all of Oshawa.

Few youngsters will be privileged to enjoy an episode so crammed with thrills that would rival many an exciting movie film that proves irresistible to boys in general as that experienced by Derek Phillips and who, according to a member of the party, thought the affair real fun. Derek was the first to discover the blaze.

An effort was made to run the launch ashore, when a sunken log was struck, thus making any chance of landing impossible. Realizing the imminent danger that threatened them, the passengers not daring to risk a moment in trying to save any personal effects, jumped overboard.

Through water which was deep in places, and through mire, the four men swam or waded a distance of forty or fifty yards to shore. The boy, with a great show of pluck, insisted upon wading whenever possible, but more than once the depth of the water made it imperative that he be carried on the shoulders of one of the men.

And while they made their escape, striking out for the unfamiliar shore the launch, flaming like a torch, with its bits of timber sizzling as they fell into the chill water, provided a spectacular picture.

A few moments later charred pieces of the keel alone floated on the water. Drenched and their feet clogged heavily with mud, the four men and boy stumbled along the shore until they discovered a farmhouse. A motor car was secured and the party driven back to Mr. Phillip's summer home at Sturgeon Lake.

The launch, which bore no name, had been the property of Mr. Phillips about one year.

Look It Squarely In the Face

IF more men would make up their minds to look their insurance position squarely in the face there would be fewer widows worrying about how to live and raise a family. Income is the problem. What provision have you made for your own and your family's future? A well-balanced insurance programme provides:

1. Cash for immediate expenses and outstanding obligations.
2. "Carry On" Income by which the home and family will be maintained, interest kept up, mortgage payments met, taxes paid.
3. Education for the children.
4. An income for declining years.

Any recognized Mutual Life agent will be glad to advise you what policies you need for these different purposes, or write this office.

REDUCED PRICE FOR CHILDREN

TICKETS COST 25 CENTS

The reduced price school childrens' ticket sale to the matinee of Sparks Circus stared today at the Examiner business office. If you have not already clipped your coupon, do so today. This coupon, when presented at the Examiner office, will be exchanged for a matinee ticket at 25 cents if the child is under 14, and at 50 cents if the pupil is between the age of 14 and 18. The regular pice of admission to Sparks Circus is 50 cents for children under 12, and 75 cents for those who are more than 12, the latter requiring an adult ticket. Thus it will be seen that many children will be enabled to buy a ticket to the matinee at a saving of 50 cents, while all others will save 25 cents on the price of admission.

The children gaining the greatest advantage under this arrangement will be those between 12 and 14, who will pay only 25 cents for a ticket which otherwise would cost 75 cents. But all will be lucky at any age who buy these special tickets, of which only a limited number will be sold under the time-honored custom of "first come, first served". When these tickets have been exhausted no more will be sold except at the regular price. No tickets at this price will be sold at the grounds or at the down-town place of sale the day of the exhibition.

regiments and Peterborough Militia was changed to the hour of 8.30 on that night. The display given by this famous Toronto regiment has to be performed in the dark, so for this reason the hour was made a little later for the performance.

The meeting also confirmed the previous decision that no eating house license be granted to outside people. "Keep the business to the Peterborough business man," was the slogan; furthermore there would be no such booths or refreshment stands allowed on the streets.

In a parade which will be beyond words to describe, there are already approximately fifty floats which are assured and which will be of a very attractive and beautiful nature. The general route of the parade is to be from the Exhibition grounds, north on George to McDonnel street, then west on McDonnel to Park street where it will turn south to Charlotte and then proceed east to Aylmer, turning south to disband on the wide area by the freight sheds.

The entire route will be policed and kept free from vehicles of every dscription.

F. Fairen announced at the meeting that on Wednesday, July 3rd, the Toronto band that F. O'Connor is bringing with him will be aboard the steamer as it leaves for a trip over the Lift Locks on that day.

On Friday night, July 5th, the Caledonian Club rooms, in the Woodmen of the World Hall will be open for any visiting Caledonian to walk in and to make himself at home. The former Peterborough Caledonians are especially welcome and are heartily asked to drop in.

A. Costello said that there has been some confusion as to the price of the dance tickets for the big dance on Wednesday of Old Home Week. The price is three dollars a couple, not three dollars for each person as it has been misunderstood. Three dollars admits two people, the gentleman and his lady friend.

His Worship Mayor Denne, general chairman of the Old Home Week Committee, was present but the meeting was conducted in an informal manner, each and every member was bubbling over with enthusiasm and with the feeling that success cannot be avoided.

Chicago Increases League Lead Over Pirates

CUBS MAKE IT FOUR STRAIGHT OVER ST. LOUIS CARDINALS BY WINNING FINAL GAME OF SERIES

Hack Wilson and Hornsby Add To National Home Run Standing.

FINAL SCORE 7-6.

Braves Defeat Robins 4-2 To Gain Sixth Place in National League.

CHICAGO, June 21 (Canadian Press). — Chicago made it four in a row over the St. Louis Cardinals and increased its lead over the Pittsburg Pirates by a half game yesterday by trouncing the Cardinals 7 to 6 in the final game of the series.

Hack Wilson hit two home runs to run his total to sixteen, and Hornsby hit for the circuit for his tenth of the year.

Kiki Cuyler stole three bases and boosted his total for the season to 21.

RALLY IN THIRD.

BOSTON, June 21 (Canadian Press). — A rally in the third inning for four runs enabled the Boston Braves to win a close game from Brooklyn here yesterday, 4 to 2.

The victory, the third straight for the home team in the series, enabled the Braves to move into sixth place.

WIN THIRD STRAIGHT.

PHILADELPHIA, June 21 (Canadian Press). — The Giants won their third straight game from the Phillies here yesterday, 11 to 6.

Carroll Hubbell was uncertain at the start, but permitted no runs after the third round except in the ninth when Donald Hurst hit his thirteenth homer.

Leach hit a home run for the Giants in the eighth.

MENIE WINS 11-8 TUSSLE

Stage Garrison Finish To Defeat Petherick's Corners in Softball Fixture.

GOOD FIELDING.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS June 21 —(Examiner Correspondence).—Only by the hardest kind of luck did the local softball squad lose out in Wednesday night's game with Menie. The home team were given no chance in the forecasts and with H. Petherick and Barnum absentees the case looked hopeless. Ted Owens with a sore finger could not catch and Menie looked sure for a walkover. However Kerr went in to pitch one of the best games possible and backed up by almost errorless ball, looked like a sure winner. The story of Menies' win is one of those last minute affairs that are heard of but seldom seen. With the locals leading 6 to 3 in the seventh, two batters gone and two strikes on Hay everything seemed over but the cheering, when the left fielder crashed a hit over short. Then the heavy hitting Rannie drove him home with a double. Next came the break which lost for Pethericks. Rannie tried to steal third. Owens who was now catching ran out and headed him, tagging Rannie out just as he was about to reach second. Umpire Donald's view of the play was almost completely blocked by players around second and he did what he considered fair, called the runner safe. When the smoke cleared away Menie had driven in eight runs while the best the locals could do was two. Maybee pitched part of the first and second innings for Menie and the home batters fattened their averages considerably. Menie were short a player at the start of the game and borrowed Don Watson from Pethericks. He proved himself by making two good catches, engineering a double play and getting a safe hit in two innings, until Frank Little arrived. The latter with his home run twin, Lew Little, were powerless against Kerr's curves. After they had reached second and third in the fifth on successive errors at first and short Ted Owens tagged them out trying to reach home on the most sparkling plays of the evening. Grant Meiklejohn and Gerald Petherick were outstanding in the field for the locals. Anderson was the only Petherick player to get two runs, while Kerr brothers failed to score, though each got two hits. Gerald Petherick and Grenville Meiklejohn were the only locals to get to first on three occasions. Rannie, Eagleson and Hay each got three hits for Menie while Maybee was the only one who failed to score a run, Rannie, Eagleson and F. Little getting two each.

Interest now centres around the Springbrook-Bethel tilt on Friday night. Should Bethel win they will be out in front with three wins and no losses, as the Hoards-Bethel tie replay is indefinitely postponed. Should Springbrook win Menie will be out in front and Pethericks alone in the cellar.

The line-ups:—

Benie.—Eagleson, p.; S. Little, c.; Shillinglaw, 1b.; L. Little, 2b.; Rannie, 3b.; Maybee, s.s.; Hay, l.f.; Whitton, c.f.; F. Little, r.f.; D. Watson, sub.

Pethericks.—G. Kerr, p.; R. Fry, c.; L. Anderson, 1b.; Grant Meiklejohn, 2b.; R. McKeown, 3b.; F. Owens, s.s.; Don. Kerr, l.f.; G. Petherick, c.f.; Grenville Meiklejohn, r.f.

Score by innings:—

Menie ..... 1 1 0 1 0 0 3—11
Pethericks ..... 0 5 0 0 1 0 2— 8

Umpires—Donald and F. Fry.

C. G. E. VS. BRINTON BATTLE FOR POINTS

Kick-off Is Scheduled For Three O'clock On King Edward Park.

On Saturday afternoon, a real soccer game is promised the fans when the Canadian General meets the Brinton eleven in the battle for league points. The kick-off is scheduled for three o'clock and A. Aitkenhead will handle the game.

In the two previous encounters a large crowd witnessed these teams give an excellent exhibition of the code and the Electric boys just squeezed a win and no more after a lively ninety-minute tussle.

The Brinton team will be chosen from W. Curtis, H. Curtis, Lucas, Cherrill, Hawthorne, Creighton, Robertson, James, Jones, Baylis, Sharman and Darling.

Owing to the Canadian General team sustaining so many injuries, the executive were compelled to re-arrange their team and probably the line-up will be as follows: Bolton, goal; Figg and Blowers, full backs; Mann, Robb and Hutton, halves; Burgess, J. McMaster, B. McMaster and Rankin, forwards.

TIGERS WIN FROM INDIANS

Sorrell Registers His 9th Victory of Season By Reason of 8-4 Win.

SENATORS LOSE OUT 6-4.

CLEVELAND, June 21 (Canadian Press). — The Tigers pounded Jimmy Zinn unmercifully to win their second game from the Indians here yesterday, 8 to 4.

Vic Sorrell, on the mound for the Bengals, held the Cleveland tribe to 7 hits, and registered his ninth victory of the season and his sixth in a row.

SOX SWAMP LISKA.

WASHINGTON, June 21 (Canadian Press). — Red Sox bats beat a tattoo upon the underhand slants of Ab Liska in the seventh inning of yesterday's game, and Boston beat Washington 6 to 4.

Danny Macfadyen went the route for the Sox and limited the Senators to eight hits.

WALSH WINS OWN GAME.

ST. LOUIS, June 21 (Canadian Press). — Young Ed Walsh pitched a four-hit game and batted in two runs with a pair of singles in four trips to the plate, as the Chicago White Sox drubbed the Browns, 5 to 3, here yesterday, and evened up the series count at one victory apiece.

Walsh weakened in the ninth when the Browns put across three runs in a belated rally.

130 CASES OF ALE CAPTURED

DUNKIRK, N.Y., June 20.—(Canadian Press).—A motorboat was captured early yesterday by coast guard boat 2263 on Lake Erie off Dunkirk, with 138 cases of alleged Canadian ale and beer on board.

Captain C. A. Halm arrested Sam Anderson of Silver Creek, New York and Roland Rocino of Brocton, Ont., crew of the captured craft.

BISLEY TEAM IS IN ENGLAND

Canadian Representatives Arrive in Fine Condition After Voyage.

TWO GREAT CUPS.

LONDON, June 20.— (Canadian Press Cable)—In fine condition, prepared to battle for the trophies they lost last year, the Canadian team for Bisley arrived in England today. The score or so of expert marksmen are participating in the National Rifle Association's great shooting meet at Bisley Camp, Surrey, opening in two weeks' time.

On the youhful shoulders of Lieut. Desmond T. Burke of the Governor-General's Body Guards, Ottawa, rests the chief Canadian hope of capturing the classic of the meet for individual marksmen, the King's prize. Lieut. Burke won this high award in 1924 and last year was a close second. In 1927 also he lost by just one point.

The two great team prizes, the Kolapore and MacKinnon Cups, are also main objectives of the Canadians, who held them for three years and one year respectively. Last year the old country team took the Kolapore Cup and Australia captpred the Mack Cup.

SEA FLEA RACES ARE SCHEDULD FOR SATURDAY

Season Will Be Opened Up With Bang at South Beach.

DON WOODS ENTERED.

Entry List Includes Many of Provinces Best Outboard Motor Drivers.

Cascades of spume will be kicked up around South Beach, Clear Lake, to-morrow afternoon when the dozen or more premier "sea flea" racing drivers of the province "open her up" and skim the waves in the Outboard Motor Speed events to be held there.

A large list of the fastest and most famous of these demon "flea" racers have sent in their entries and arrangements are all complete to open up the season at South Beach with a bang. Don Wood of this city, who gained recognition and the plaudits of the spectators for his speedy victories in Toronto on May 24 has entered his boat. Wood, although only a youngster of sixteen, is counting on again showing up some of the old masters and he has been practising continually since his trip to Toronto.

The great entry also includes: Bill Landrigan, a keen-eyed driver of Evinrude, who has carved a niche in the Hall of Fame for his recklessness in "sea flea" racing. Ballard, of across-the-lake fame, will also be there. Lou Marsh will have his hand on the throttle of his boat, "Pick-and-Shovel." Gordon Houlding, a famed Toronto speedster, will be on hand. Brainard Carlyle of the Williams Piano Works, Oshawa and W. Campbell of the Johnson Outboard Motor Co., here, are also entries that will make their presence known. Windsor Motors of Windsor have sent a strong competitor, and Lorne Ardiel of Oshawa is sending down his fastest boat, "Viking."

Three Races

The races will be three in number, the "B" class, "C" class, and free-for-all marathon.

The "C" class event will commence at two o'clock Standard Time, and will be decided by three heats of six miles, over a triangular course. The "B" class will get underway at three o'clock and will conists of three heats over a six mile course. At five o'clock the feature event of the day, the Open Marathon race, "will get the gun."

The Challenge Trophies which are being competed for to-morrow are: "Kawartha" Cup for the marathon open event; "Champlain" Cup for the "B" class power boats, and the "Brule" cup for the "C" class boats.

To the Challenge Trophies for the opening day have been added a purse of $40 for the "B" class, $40 for the "C" class, and $45 for the Open Marathon. These amounts will be split among the winners. These purses have been contributed by Mr. Campbell, of the Johnson Motor Company, Peterborough, and others.

On June 29, in the afternoon, an open sailing race is on the card, while on July 6 a repetition of tomorrow's events will be held. Throughout each week-end of the summer season there are various events arranged to stimulate and promote interest and participation in water sports.

STEAMER HITS ICEBERG

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., June 20. — The steamer Cairngowan, bound from Montreal to London with a general cargo, reported to-day that she had struck an iceberg. The extent of the damage to the vessel has not been reported by her commander's message. The vessel is expected to reach this port safely this afternoon.

CHALLENGE TROPHIES

The above is a photograph of the collection of challenge trophies which have been donated for competiton for events—open to all contenders—which will be held at South Beach, Clear Lake, in the Kawartha Lakes district, each Saturday afternoon, commencing at 2.30 (Eastern standard time). LEAFS AGAIN DEFEAT CATS

Powerful Ninth Inning Attack Gives Toronto Second Straight Win.

BY 11-4 SCORE.

JERSEY CITY, June 21.—"Cannonball" Guy Cantrell, Manager Steve O'Neill's big right-handed pitching ace, took matters pretty much into his own hands in the perpetration of yesterday's 11 to 4 victory for the Maple Leafs over Jersey City's subterranean Skeeters at the Westside Avenue ball yard.

Going into the ninth inning, Cantrell and Gordon "Dusty" Rhodes, Yankee farmhand in the points for the home club, were in the throes of a tight pitching battle. The score was tied at 4 to 4, and there was one out when Cantrell came to bat. In each of the three previous turns at the plate, Guy had fanned, so "Dusty" had an idea he should do so again forthwith. He grew a little careless, and threw Guy a high, outside ball, one just to the liking of the Toronto pitcher, who actually isn't such a bad hitter. Cantrell met the horseshoe squarely, and it travelled to the fence on a line between Harvel and Kunesh. The "Cannonball" had perched on second by the time the ball was returned to the infield.

ORIOLES EVEN SERIES

BALTIMORE, June 21 (C.P.).—The Baltimore Orioles evened the series with Buffalo by taking yesterday's game 7 to 3 in 10 innings.

Brower, who had hit a home run in the second inning, broke up the game with another homer into the right-field bleachers with Layne on first and with one out.

Neither starting pitcher, Walter of the Orioles nor Mills of the Bisons finished.

ROYALS WINNERS 1—0

READING, June 21 (C.P.).—Montreal won an abbreviated game from Reading here yesterday, copping a 1 to 0 decision when rain ended the contest in the seventh inning.

Reading had a man on second base with one out in the seventh when a storm ended playing and the score reverted to even innings.

Montreal grouped a double, single and sacrifice in the fourth for its winning run.

NEWARK WINS TRIPLE BILL

NEWARK, June 21 (C.P.).—Newark took both ends of a double-header from Rochester here yesterday to make it three straight from the league-leading Red Wings. The scores were 9 to 6 and 6 to 5.

The local pounded four Rochester hurlers for a total of 25 hits in the two contests.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

Richard Dix's fine voice will be heard for the first time at the Capitol today, in an amusing comedy, "Nothing But the Truth".

The most substantial defiance yet thrown at the scoffers who said the talking motion picture "It will never become as effective as the stage, will be projected on the audible screen at the Capitol today.

"Nothing But the Truth" is the funniest screen play the silversheet has given us in many a long day—and it doesn't depend upon slap-stick for its laughs. It is "Look and Listen" entertainment of the highest type and Richard Dix's voice is an excellent one for the talking screen.

The play deals with a young man who makes a wager of $10,000 that he can tell the truth for 24 hours. The farce situations arising from the bet are seemingly endless. In order to win the bet he finds himself telling his sweetheart that he was in love once before with a weight-lifting woman of the circus, telling his boss that he is an unscrupulous businessman and a "night-life hound," telling a beautiful singer at a house party that he thinks her singing is terrible, and getting himself into all kinds of laugh-evoking jams.

Richard Dix proves to have a superior capacity for the requirements of the role of the truth-teller. He gives a fine comedy portrayal without recourse to buffoonery. Helen Kane as a member of a singing sister-act, is winsome, appealing, and excruciatingly funny. Her baby-talk songs are a big part of the show.

Louis John Bartels, Ned Sparks and Berton Churchill, as the friends who make the wager with Dix, are excellent, as are the others in the cast.

LOOSE FIELDING AND WEAK HITTING ON PART OF LOSERS ACCOUNTS FOR 19 TO 4 DEFEAT

Jones and Kay Hold the South Enders To Four Hits.

HEAVY SLUGGING.

Foley Plays Spectacular Ball For Winners in the Field.

The Canucks absorbed their third defeat at the ends of the Moose in a Juvenile League game at James Stevenson Park last evening, by a score that is identically the same as that of last week's game, 19 to 4. Loose fielding and spasmodic hitting again spelled doom for the Canucks although both teams turned in games that showed marked improvement during the week, both in field work and at bat.

Only four hits were allowed the Canucks by Jones and Kay, who divided the time on the mound for the Moose. Kay pitched an especially steady game, although at times his team mates were required to give him strong support. He handed out two walks in the five innings he twirled. At the same time the Moose bagged eleven hits off the Canuck twirlers, Dennison and McGillen, and received nine walks. The Moose squad lead the heavy hitting end which troubled the Canucks no little bit. Errors were made by the outfield on these long drives and cost the losers many counters.

The fixture opened with some fast and snappy work and promised to be a very close contest. The Canucks managed two runs in the first half of the opening game before they were retired by two clever pick-ups by McCullough at first and a neatly-caught fly deep into the right field by Zimmel Levine, but the Moose retaliated with some nice batting work.

In the second frame, the Canucks scored their last two tallies. The Moose men scoring five in the same frame and continued to trot the circuit with the same regularity throughout the game, as the Canuck battery and field support became weaker.

Foley, in centre field, made some remarkable catches for the winners, and along with McCullough on first sack and Bailey in the right field, did much toward winning the victory. For the Canucks, Dennison's smart work was the feature, although the play of Mesley and Rogers stood out.. The box score:

MACDONALD TO PITCH AGAINST DELORO OUTFIT

IMPORTANT GAME

Teams Are Tied and Both Need Win to Climb.

Deloro and Peterborough, tied in the Central Ontario League standing and needing a victory to get up with the leaders clash at James Stevenson Park Saturday, and the game should be one of the best of the year.

It was Deloro fans will remember, who took the joy out of the local opening by beating the Petes in the first game of the season here, and Manager Swanston's talent are determined to get that one back on Saturday.

Pilot Regan of the Smelters has either Wood or Ibey to throw in against the Petes and both of them turned in smart efforts Wednesday against Oshawa. Wood winning his start and Ibey being unlucky enough to loose after allowing but one hit.

The Petes manager will likely send Angie Macdonald, his left-hander, in against Deloro and the fans will be glad of the change to see the young southpaw perform.

Deloro are playing fast ball and the Petes will need to be at their best to register a win at the expense of the Easterners.

The game is billed for 3 o'clock start and in view of the closeness of the race should attract a real crowd.

RAY ROSE LEADS PETES' HITTERS WITH .379 MARK

Petes' Second Baseman Tops the Local Crew With Willow.

HALL SECOND

Hap Harrison Shows the Way in Batting in Runs.

Ray Rose, vteeran second baseman, and Jimmy Hall, dependable left fielder of the Peterborough Central Ontario League team, are leading the Petes with the willow. Rose who has cracked out eight hits in the last three games, passed Hall on Wednesday and is hitting .379 for the seven games played this season, while Hall is second with at neat .360 average. The two are also tied in leading in runs scored, having crossed the plate five times each in seven games. Fred Ash is the only other regular within the charmed circle, the Petes' outfielder hitting an even .300 in seven games.

Red Hollingsworth, recruit shortstop and Jimmy Hall have had the unique distinction of hitting safely at least once in all seven games played this season.

The honor of driving in the most runs goes to Hap Harrison, who has supplied the punch for six markers in as many games. Following are the averages:

	G.	AB.	R.	H.	P.C.
Rose	7	29	5	11	.379
Hall	7	25	5	9	.360

SHOULD HAVE O.B.A.A. REPRESENTATIVE.

Peterborough should have a representative on the executive of the O.B.A.A. This city is one of the greatest strongholds of amateur baseball in the province and should have a voice in the councils of that body. Guelph is the only other city in Ontario which approaches this city in the number of teams and leagues operating under the rules of the O.B.A.A. The baseball leaders here should begin working on the idea that this city will next year endeavor to have a representative elected to the executive. Someone who knows the game and has the interests of Eastern Ontario at heart, and the backing of this section of the province.

Several of the baseball leaders here are already beginning to see the light, and seeing the necessity of another representative for eastern Ontario. Several names have been suggested, but Tommy Holyman appears to be the one who would best fill all the qualifications.

R. A. Elliott is vice-president of the O.B.A.A., and has the solid backing of the whole province, being recognized as a man of ability, and with the true interests of the game always before him. He is representing Eastern Ontario—and is doing it well.

Next year Mr. Elliott will assuredly be elected president, and after a year or two at the head of the executive will likely pass out of its councils. The east, and Peterborough, especially, as the greatest baseball centre in this part of the province, should be bringing forward a man to place on the executive so that when Mr. Elliott's time is up, this section will continue to have a right to speak.

Peterborough in the past had two men on the executive. Ward Patterson and Jake Solomon each held the post of vice-president, but both refused the president's chair.

It is not too soon to begin talking of this proposition and if a real effort was made, a representative might be appointed to this year's executive. There are four appointments each year, and as yet only two have been made.

SERIES WITH DELORO CLUBS.

Deloro has its eyes on the future and Mr. Elliott and a few loyal lieutenants are working to develop the youngsters in the game. Deloro has a junior team, and a bantam team has just been organized.

Deloro is looking to Peterborough for games for these minor teams Jack Deannard has already been approached and tentative arrangements for a home-and-home series with his Kiwanis Juniors have been made.

Jules Ether is the man who has the Deloro bantam team under his care. He would like to arrange a series with a good bantam team here. Such a series would do both teams a good deal of good, giving them experience. The Grafton team looks to be the one that would best represent this city and, if possible, they should accept the Deloro team's friendly challenge.

NUMEROUS ERRORS IN SOFTBALL GAME.

The hot weather had a disastrous effect on the softball players last evening. The game was far below the usual standard for these games. Errors came thick and fast, and there were only four players among the eighteen who seemed to have any pep. Westclox did not have much difficulty in disposing of the Knights of Columbus, but both teams were equally bad.

Percy Harrison's fast sailing nine invaded Lindsay last night and pulled out with a 7 to 0 win. Lindsay picked the choicest players from their whole league, and they had a speed merchant on the rubber for the game. Harrison has a stalwart crowd.

TRICKY E.P.L. BATTLE HERE NEXT MONDAY.

Ball fans should put a ring around the date of Monday, June 24, because on that evening Crescents and Cogs cross bats in E. P. L. game at Exhibition Park. Cogs and Crescents have always been rivals and this year is only a repetition of many that have gone before. Both are tied for first place in the league, and both are counting on pulling a win Monday.

Crescents have improved greatly since their first game with Cogs in which "Bun" Frost pitched great ball, but his teammates failed him. The work of the outfield and infield is better now and Manager Brioux is confident of a win.

Meanwhile in the Cog camp everything appears to make victory assured. Cogs dropped their last game to Bethany but they are all set to trim Crescents.

"Casey" Masterson and "Bun" Frost will likely be the gunners.

SEA FLEA RACES TO-MORROW.

South Beach to-morrow afternoon should be the mecca of all lovers of water sports, and those who like thrills. Some of the best and most daring "sea flea" racing drivers in the province are going to beat Clear Lake in frothy foam in three big races. Don Wood is entered and he will open the throttle of his Johnston engine to the full to win these races. Lou Marsh is among the speedsters coming from Toronto, and one driver is railing it from Windsor.

South Beach is ideal for such races. There is a clear expanse of water in front to allow a full view of the whole course, and the spectators can sit on the high bank beneath shady trees to watch the races. The lake will not be rough and this fact should aid the racers in getting the greatest speed that their craft will do. Even at that it is not likely that the races will be free of spills.

Anyone who thinks driving, or even riding, in one of these skimming, bucking, skipping and side-stepping little boats easy, should step into one and get the biggest and most sustained thrill possible. It combines all the bumps of the roller-coaster and the speed and fresh-cutting air of an airplane

LAWN BOWLING

G. Coleman and R. Fox provided the feature game on Wednesday evening's play on Brock street bowling greens with Coleman emerging the winner by a single point. Gimblett and Freeman also provided a close contest last night.

Good Brakes
Prevent Accidents

It is the imperative duty of every motorist to keep his brakes in first-class mechanical condition.

At thirty-five miles an hour, four-wheel brakes should be able to stop a car in 72 feet. But at a 50 mile speed, 150 feet are required.

Some day your life or the lives of others will depend upon your braking equipment.

Keep the highways safe for yourself and others by always having good brakes.

CIRCUS BRINGS FAMOUS CLOWNS

Fun-Makers on Sparks' Program This Season Include Well-Known Names of White Tops.

Clowns are not only the delight of children, but their elders as well, for one seldom grows too old to enjoy the pranks and antics of these fun-makers of the white tops, and Sparks has three score of these merry jesters of the saw-dust, all of whom will be seen when the big show exhibits in Peterboorugh Monday, June 24, afternoon and night.

Paul Wenzel, one of the producing clowns with Sparks Circus this season, has originated more stunts that cause hilarity all around the track than any man in the business, and his creations have been widely copied and used by his craft in many other circuses.

Another famous clown with Sparks Circus is Charlie Fortune, a noted French pantomimist, who with his dog, "Tex", causes much merriment in his "walk-arounds."

Among other well known "joeys" are Joe Lewis, Raq Glaum, Lew Hershey, Harvey Spaulding, Pewee Stanley White, Lawrence Smalley, Simon Twins, Midgets, and Sig. Ho Homme.

Sparks Circus is today the largest in the world still giving a daily street parade.

Tickets, both general admission and reserved, may be secured Circus price as at the show grounds.

BIG TURNOVER REPORTED IN ELECTION DEALINGS

Heavy Differences Had to Be Met in Some Cases on London Exchange.

LONDON June 20 (Canadian Press Cable). — It is estimated that between $500,000 and $750,000 changed hands to-day in settlement of the "differences" arising out of dealings in the Stock Exchange "majorities" on the recent general election. Some payments ran into tens of thousands of dollars. Owing to the wide variations between the prices at which dealings took place and the final standing of the parties, especially in the case of the Liberals, some heavy differences had to be met.

The property belonging to the Salvation Army is valued at $100,000,000 of which about $40,000,000 is in the United States and $10,000,000 in Great Britain.

CLOCK MAKERS WIN OUT 16-9

Both Teams Play Listless Ball in Softball League Fixture.

MANY ERRORS.

In a free-hitting, loosely-played game the Westclox nine defeated the Knights of Columbus team 16 to 9 at Central School Grounds last evening. The heat caused the teams to play listlessly and errors came frequently.

"Ab" Delahaye pitched for the winners and except for periodical wildness was most effective. The Knights used four pitchers in all in an attempt to stem back the Alarmers. Darling, Hefferon, W. Bennett and Simmons took turns on the mound. Simmons with a fast delivery had the best success of the quartette.

The Westclox scored in every innings but the eighth, and they grabbed a lead that always kept them safely in front. The Knights had their big innings in the sixth when they chased four runs across.

"Ike" Batten playing short for the winners carried off the fielding honors, covering a large plot of territory. O'Toole in right field for the Knights made sensational catches of all the flies that went to his garden.

The lineups:—

Westclox—Batten, s.s.; Goodson, l.f.; Kitchen, 1b.; Delahaye, p.; Foley, c.; Barry, 2b.; Baptie, r.f.; Field, m.f.; Hayden, 3b.

K. of C.—W. Bennett, s.s.; Griffen, 1b.; Maudsley, 2b.; T. Lebarr, c.; Frank Simmons m.f.; R. Bennett, l.f.; O'Toole, r.f.; Darling p.; Ranger, 3b.; W. Simmons; Hefternon p.

Score by innings:—

Westclox ..... 2 2 2 2 3 1 1 0 3—16
K. of C. .... 0 2 1 0 0 4 2 0 0— 9

Umpires—Weese, at plate; Ranger at bases.

POSTERITY WINS HARDWICKE STAKES

Famous Royal Ascot Week Racing Schedule To Close.

ASCOT, England, June 21 (Canadian Press). — Mrs. Corlette Glorney's three-year-old Posterity won the Hardwicke Stakes at Ascot today.

Posterity is by Son-in-Law, from Hemlok. Mrs. Glorney is an American.

C. Gordon's Haste Away was second, and M. Field's Quarter Sessions was third.

Eight horses ran.

Posterity thundered down the stretch a neck to the good, while there were 1½ lengths between Haste Away and Quarter Sessions.

The betting on the American-owned winner was 5 to 1, while on Haste Away it was 9 to 2, and on Quarter Sessions 4 to 1.

The race was valued at $10,000, with extras, and the distance was 1½ miles.

To-day was the last day of the famous Royal Ascot Week racing schedule.

TORONTO, Ont., June 21. — Ontario Canadian Girls in Training will hold two camps this summer at Beau Rivage, two at Beau Soliel, four at Normandale, one at Vail's, near Owen Sound, and one at White House, Lake Couchiching. Among the courses of study which will supplement recreation at the camps will be budgeting and world friendship. According to a report issued yesterday the provincial organization has 14,000 members out of a Dominion total of 37,000. The movement has spread to Newfoundland, Trinidad, and Bermuda, while in Vancouver there is a troop composed entirely of Japanese girls.

CHOIR PRACTICE AND PICNIC.

The choir of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, between thirty and fifty strong, changed their practice hall last night. The country looked appealing, and filling several cars and a bus, the members hied them to the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Fowler, North Monaghan, about the tea hour. On arrival, and not feeling the pangs of hunger very keenly, the choir, after being received by the host and hostess, divided into baseball groups, and engaged in some very keenly-contested innings. The exercise had the desired effect, and the company departed for the woods, there to enjoy a delightful supper. This concluded, the party were ready for more baseball; and to name any special players would cause jealousy among the others—suffice to say that all did nobly in the field and at bat. Needless to say, there was little or no choir practice. It became a night off. A period of inspection of the farm stock, implements, crops, buildings, and surroundings was enjoyed, and repairing to the home, games were indulged in until the "elder's hours" had arrived, when with cheers and expressions of thanks to the Fowler family, the choristers departed for homes in the city, happy at the outcome of a splendid visit.

IN MEMORIAM.

EASON — In loving memory of Ethel Eason (nee Ethel Walsh) who departed this life June 21, 1926:
In Little Lake cemetery safely sleeping,
Where the gentle breezes wave,
Lies the one we loved so dearly—
The one we could not save.
Just when her days seemed brighter,
Just when her hopes were best,
God called her from amongst us,
To the home of eternal rest.
MOTHER AND SISTERS.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Mary McClure, who passed away June 21st, 1928:
Oh, what would we give to clasp your hand,
Your dear, kind face to see.
Your loving smile, your welcome voice
That meant so much to me;
No one knows the silent heartache,
Only those who have such can tell,
Of the grief that is borne in silence
For the one we loved so well.
—Inserted By Her Daughters, Mrs. W. Perry and Mrs. J. Trennum.

Five Lords Commissioners Will Open British House

RUM BOATS BEATEN

Spanish Aviators Safe On Island of San Miguel

LOCAL MILITIA UNITS MAKE FINE SHOWING

NEW PARLIAMENT WILL ASSEMBLE WITHOUT USUAL STATE OPENING AND CERMONIAL PROCESSION

Tradition of 1900 Will Be Followed When House of Commons Is Opened.

RE-ELECT SPEAKER.

King's Speech is Being Eagerly Awaited By British Nation.

LONDON, June 22 (Canadian Press Cable). — The new Parliament will have the unusual experience of hearing the King's Speech from the Throne without any ceremonial state opening. The last such occasion was in 1900, when the Conservatives were returned triumphant after the "Khaki Election" on the South African War issue, and the formal opening was performed by the Commissioners on behalf of Queen Victoria.

Arrangements for the opening on July 2 are based on the 1900 precedent. There will be no state procession through the streets. The five Lord Commissioners, of whom one will be Lord Sankey, new Lord Chancellor, wearing their ermine robes and cocked hats, will sit in front of the throne in the House of Lords, and then with minimum ceremony will summon the members of the House of Commons to hear the Lord Chancellor read the Speech from the Throne.

When the Commons assembles without the Speaker on June 25, the re-election of Captain the Right Hon. E. A. Fitzroy as Speaker will be moved by G. M. Gillett (Labor, Finsbury). The next day the tedious business of swearing in the new members well started to be concluded by the week-end, when the House will adjourn to the formal opening on July 2.

While the Queen's Speech in 1900 was one of the shortest in the long parliamentary history, consisting of only three sentences, it is expected the King's Speech on July 2 will be one of the longest. In it the new Labor Government will outline the legislative program for the session, reduce the unemployment problem are probably the most interesting of what is altogether an eagerly-awaited speech.

MUST WAIT 35 DAYS.

LONDON, June 22 (Canadian Press Cable).—If Sir William Jowitt, Attorney-General, maintains his decision to resign and offer himself for re-election as a Labor candidate, his resignation would not be effective until the second week of July, owing to the rule that a member just elected at a general election cannot vacate his seat by the traditional method of applying for the chiltern hundreds until 35 days have elapsed.

35 TO-MORROW.

LONDON, June 22 (Canadian Press). — The Prince of Wales will pass another milestone on the age record Sunday when he will be 35 years old.

The Prince will spend his birthday quietly at his country estate at Sunningdale, where he has lived during the past week, and driving over to Ascot daily for the races. No special arrangements have been made for any celebration, but the Prince will motor to Windsor Castle to see the King and Queen.

HUSBAND CONFESSES TO POISONING BRIDE

Placed Poison in Food, He Tells District Attorney—Body is Exhumed

TEXARKANA, Tex., June 22 (C.P.) —Ocie Nix, 22, last night confessed that he gave his 17-year-old bride poison which resulted in her death Tuesday, according to R. G. Waters, District Attorney, here.

Waters said that the young husband admitted planning his wife's death for several days, and finally persuaded her to eat the food in which he had placed poison.

Mrs. Nix died in convulsions. Neighbors present at the time notified the District Attorney, who ordered the young woman's body exhumed for examination to-day.

MEXICO PREPARES TO OPEN HER ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCHES

Action Followed Rapidly Announcement of Peace Between Church and State.

PRISONERS PARDONED.

Religious Stalemate Has Existed in Republic Since August, 1926.

MEXICO CITY, June 22.—(C.P.)—The Mexican government moved quickly to-day to restore to the Roman Catholic hierarchy the nation's churches and other ecclesiastical vestments, preparatory to early resumption of church services throughout Mexico.

There was hope the restoration could proceed quickly enough to permit services in at least some of the churches June 29.

The action followed rapidly announcement yesterday evening of an accord between the Mexican Government and the Roman church, in which the Mexican government permitted a broad interpretation of the religious laws which the Roman church found a satisfactory basis for returning to its former status.

Accord Is Announced.

Announcements of the accord were made in simultaneous statements issued by President Portes Gil at Chapultepec, and by Monsignor Leopoldo Ruiz Y. Flores, Archbishop of Michoacan, who with Bishop Pascual Diaz of Tabasco acted for the Vatican.

In the space of a few hours the wheels of governmental machinery had been set in motion to end the religious stalemate which had marked Mexican national life since August 1, 1926, when the Mexican Episcopate withdrew priests from all churches in protest at what is

Blood Is Transfused From Body Of Dead Person

CLUJ, Rumania, June 22.—(Canadian Press).—Transfusion of blood from a dead person to one on the point of death was accomplished here yesterday, effecting what is believed to be the first successful operation of its kind.

The doctors at a local hospital joined the arm of a girl, Rosa Janou, at the moment she had died of an automobile accident, to the arm of a man, George Morar, who had stabbed himself in his heart and lost most of his blood.

Morar, who was condsidered as dying, is now believed will recover.

DEPUTATIONS SEEK GRANTS FROM COUNCIL

Exhibition Board Asked County Council For Grant of $1,000.

SEEKS AID FOR VILLAGES.

Salvation Army Seeks Increase of Five Per Cent. Over Last Year's Donation.

A great deal of the morning session of the county council which met in the council chambers at the court house yesterday, was taken up in listening to delegations.

Ensign E. Green of the Salvation Army, who heard the discussion on roads and bridges in the council on Tuesday, in his plea for an increase of 5 p.c. in the regular contribution of the council to the Army, compared this organization to a bridge that had been constructed in the last six years, over which people in all walks of life travel. The matter for an increased grant was referred to the Finance committee of the council.

The deputation from the Peterborough Exhibition Board was next heard, when Mayor Denne asked for a $1,000 grant from the council. J. B. Nelson told of the need of a new prize ring for cattle judging, with adequate provision for spectators, so that they could see the competitions to advantage which has been lacking in the past years. Better accommodations also are needed for the judging contests among the boys and girls.

Mr. Knox, of the board, pointed out the special features in the competitions this year and asked for a favorable consideration to be given to the matter. V. Eastwood, Sr., stressed the importance of the exhibition in the agricultural life of the community and said that the work of the fair board was of the highest type. This matter was also left to the finance board to consider.

Ownership Is Disputed.

Mayor Denne also called the attention of the board to the condition of the road from Locks Bridge to J. O'Connor's farm. It was a boundary line and when the city graders approached it some time ago, the engineer asked what they were doing. The Mayor asked that some definite decision be made as to the road and the city would co-operate in any way to make it a better road. Mr. Elliott said that the matter was under investigation along with another road with which the same difficulty is arising.

Evidence Quite True.

J. Edgar reported on his investigation in the Chandos case of the neglected child and found that the evidence given in Toronto was quite true. The school teacher had left her trunk at her boarding house for a period of over two years. The matter as to where the child should be brought was left in the hands of the Finance committee.

The board for the consideration of the Old Age Pensions was explained by the county attorney, F. A. Peck as being a committee of five which shall be appointed at the first council meeting each year and which shall hold office until new members are appointed. A chairman shall be appointed at the first meeting of the committee.

A. Humpheries said that Comstock's bridge hasn't been re-floored in thirty years. The council decided to have new flooring laid here also.

Build Sidewalk Along Bridge

H. P. Parker opened a red hot question when he brought up the question of a walk across the Buckhorn bridge. "It was a matter of safety for the children going to school" he said. The bridge is so narrow that two cars can hardly pass. Mr. Rye said that a walk would not eliminate the danger as there could be no walk on the government swing at the end of the bridge but Mr. Parker said that this

BRIG. ANDERSON WELL PLEASED WITH INSPECTION

Peterborough Rangers and 4th Battery Parade For Annual Review.

UNITS WELL TRAINED.

Long Service Decorations Presented to Major Park and Major Mills.

Brigadier W. B. Anderson, C.M.G., D.S.O., Commanding Military District No. 3, and his inspecting party were highly impressed with the progress made in military activities in the city when they inspected the Peterborough Rangers and the 4th Battery, C.F.A., at Confederation Square last night. They expressed satisfaction in the efficiency of the men and in the gradually increasing interest being taken in the work as indicated by the increased number of recruits this year.

Accompanying Brigadier Anderson were Lt.-Col. W. G. Beaman, D.S.O., Lt.-Col. Goodeve and Col. R. Vanderwater, Commander of the 9th Infantry Brigade. In addition, the Lindsay Regiment was represented by six officers.

The inspection was carried out before a large crowd of spectators, who on many occasions displayed their appreciation of the efforts of the men by rounds of hearty applause. Impressiveness was lent to the scene by the newly erected War Memorial in the background, and the sight of khaki clad ranks along with the military music of the Rangers Band and the Bugle Band of the unit, was reminiscent of the mobilization days of the Great War.

Units Well Trained.

The two inspections showed the units to be well trained with efficient officers and non-commissioned officers and a good type of men in the ranks. They went through their manoeuvres and technical work with enthusiasm and accuracy, obeying promptly the commands of those in charge and showing a good understanding of their work.

At 8 o'clock the Rangers, about 160 in number, were formed up and ready to give a General Salute to the inspecting officer and his party on their arrival a few minutes later. When Brigadier Anderson came on the field the ceremony was carried out with smartness and accuracy. The present arms with fixed bayonets was snappily carried out, the playing of the band enhancing the impressiveness of the ceremony. After Brigadier Anderson had passed along the lines, the march past in column of companies and close column of companies took place. Company drill and platoon drill followed. Q.-M.-S.-I. T. Thomas, the instructor of these men, was commended on the manner in which these manoeuvres were carried out.

The Rangers were in command of Major M. H. Park, V.D., with Major G. G. Winterbottom, M.C., D.C., second in command. Company commanders were: Major A. B. Mills, V.D.; Capt. G. Monkman, Capt. E. E. Nichols, M.C., D.C.M., and Capt. J. Dunkerley Among the other officers are: Lt. R. J. Bolton, Adjutant; Capt. W. J. Munro, Paymaster, and Capt. H. M. Yelland, M.O.

Men Are Commended

After the muster parade Brigadier Anderson addressed the regiment and commended the men on their fine showing. He congratulated the Rangers on having an excellent brass band and bugle band. He remarked on the fact that there were forty more recruits and stressed the need for more at the same time lamenting the fact that the provisions of the government for the work were so meagre. He closed his address making presentation of two long service decorations to Major Park and Major A. B. Mills, called the "Colonial Force Auxiliary Officer's Decoration." These men have completed twenty years military service.

Following the inspection of the Rangers on Confederation Square, the 4th Field Battery of the Canadian Artillery Brigade paraded in the Armouries for inspection under the command of Lt.-Col. D. J. Laurie. The battery was small but was composed of men of fine physique who appeared to have a knowledge of the techique of their work. With rapidity and precision they went through a drill of gun technique under the direction of Serg.-Major E. Sutherland. Their work was done with an alacrity that was astonishing in view of the fact that they have spent comparatively little time in preparation. In charge of the guns were Serg. J. Weyer, Serg. W. Summan Serg. J. Parsons and Bombardiers T. O'Brien and J. Walton.

The Battery then formed up and were inspected by Brigadier Anderson and his party. After muster parade the inspecting officer addressed the men, complimenting

Only One White Congressman Attends Musicale Of Wife Of Negro Representative

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 22. (By Kenneth S. Clark, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.) — Representative Oscar De Priest and Mrs. De Priest, gave a musicale last night for the Republican Members of Congress, but only one of the members was there. He was Representative Yates, former Governor of Illinois. Representative De Priest is the negro member whose wife was recently entertained at tea at the White House.

When the invitations to the musicale went out Representative Shaffer, (Republican, Va.) made public his regrets with a letter in which he told De Priest that he did not think he was acting in the interests of his race.

About three thousand attended the De Priest musicale but only about a score of those present were members of the white race.

The entertainment of Mrs. De Priest at the White House has been the subject of discussion in the Senate. Two State Legislatures passed resolutions disapproving of the entertainment of negroes in the White House. Twenty years ago Theodore Roosevelt was criticized for having Booker T. Washington, the famous negro educator, as his guests at dinner.

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS HOLD FIRST ANNUAL FIELD DAY

Representatives of Five Counties Gather At Farm of C. A. Brethen.

INSPECT HERDS.

Organization Vital Step in Improvement of Livestock, Says C. Houch.

"I believe as a Holstein breeder that we have possibly the best prospects for success in our business that we have ever had, even including the high price period of the war" said James Caskey of Madoc, at the field day of the Peterborough District Holstein Breeders' Club, which was held on Friday at G. A. Brethen's farm north of Norwood.

Mr. Caskey's optimism was the prevailing spirit of the addresses during the afternoon.

"The present demand is normal and natural, and so are the prices" he continued, "whereas in the years of the war the prices were inflated. The United States is outgrowing its production of agricultural and dairy products, and the people of that country must look elsewhere. Canada is their nearest neighbor, and for their supplies and new stock they must look to us."

Mr. Caskey referred to the commendations of Mr. Brethen's enthusiasm as a Holstein breeder, and said he was in a small measure a participant in this praise because he sold Mr. Brethen his first Holstein cattle years ago.

This first field day of the new club amply realized the plans of the executive. Members and prospective members with their wives and children were present; Holstein breeders attended from five counties, Hastings, Northumberland, Durham Victoria and Peterborough, a comprehensive representation, and the guests included Fred Field, of Field Lodge Farm, Rice Lake, a breeder of Jerseys, and Col. R. Birdsall and his son Col. Everett Birdsall of Asphodel whose Herefords have for years been prize winners in this district.

Some of Those Present

Mr. Brethen is president of the new Holstein Club, W. A. Anderson, M.L.A., is vice-president, and Chas. E. Moore is secretary. All three were present yesterday. Other visitors were Thos. Mark and W. A. Greenbank of Norwood, James Seymour and his sons, Harry and Carmen of Cavan township; P. B. Nelson of Campbellford, president of the Northumberland Holstein Breeders Club; Bruce McNevin of Reaboro, president of the U.F.O., Joseph Mann, Fred Mann, James McGregor and his son Gordon of Smith township; all these men are Holstein breeders.

ELECTRIC STORM STRIKES KEENE

At six o'clock last evening, a spectacular lightning storm at Keene caused considerable damage in the village.

The [illegible] planing mill owned by William Plunkett was struck and caught on fire. Through the efforts of about sixty men who formed a bucket brigade and carried water in pails over a distance of sixty feet, the fire was confined to the gable end of the roof. The loss is covered by insurance.

A flag-pole at the residence of J. A. Fletcher was shattered at the same time, and Mr. Fletcher was struck by the flying particles.

A chimney on the house of Hugh Renwick was the third casualty, being smashed by the lightning.

French Cabinet Refuses Protest Parade Of Veterans

PARIS, June 22 (Canadian Press). — The French Cabinet has refused to sanction a plan of the war veterans' organizations to present to the Government tomorrow a protest against ratification of the war debt agreements.

It limited the demonstration to a parade along part of the Champs Elysees to the Arc de Triomphe where a wreath will be placed on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. It was explained that to permit a big public protest to the Government itself would constitute undue pressure in a matter that was for Parliament to decide.

DOCTORS ATTEND MEDICAL MEET

Dr. A. Moir Represented Peterborough Association at Medical Convention.

HELD IN MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, June 22 (Special to The Examiner). — Representation from Peterborough and district at the convention of the Canadian Medical Association held at the Windsor Hotel, Montreal, and concluding yesterday, was comprised of the following: Dr. A. Moir, Peterborough; Dr. A. A. Fraser, Lakefield, Dr. A. C. Locke, Tweed, and Dr. H. H. Alger, Stirling. Dr. Emma Connor, Belleville, was one of the comparatively few lady physicians in attendance.

The outstanding event of the convention was the description of the latest contribution to the fight of the medical profession against cancer, given to the delegates by Doctors Gustave Archambeault and Alberic Marin of Notre Dame Hospital, Montreal. Dr. Marin, who delivered the address on behalf of himself and colleague, explained the method consisting of cauterization by high frequency currents. Out of fifty-three patients treated by the two doctors, thirty-two have been cured by this electric treatment; the remaining twenty-one were given X-rays with equally successful results. The cauterization takes about the same time as the X-ray treatment, and the cosmetic results are nearly similar.

Dr. A. G. Nicholls, associate editor of The Canadian Medical Journel, in outlining the progress of the war on cancer, drew attention to the fact that Canada has neither a special cancer hospital nor a supply of radium sufficient for its needs.

Dinner Pail a Menace

"The dinner pail is a menace. It is a daily affront to the stomach," declared Dr. O. A. Cannon of the Steel Company of Canada in an address to the Public Health section of the association. Dr. Cannon, who is in charge of the medical work at a plant where 2,500 men are employed, emphasized the advantage of well-cook meals eaten at leisure. "Industrial workers die too young because of preventable conditions," he declared. "They represent a valuable investment to the company employing them, and it is an investment which must be protected. Information on health supplied to workmen goes a long way because many of them are heads of families and they spread the knowledge when they get back home."

Demonstrating the value of the counsel given, Dr. Cannon comment-

TRANS-ATLANTIC FLYERS LAND IN AZORES ON FLIGHT TO COAST OF UNITED STATES

News Is Received in Madrid With Great Enthusiasm—Feared Lost.

CONTINUE ON SUNDAY.

Big Preparation Had Been Made at Horta to Welcome Airmen.

HORTA, Island of Nayal, the Azores, June 22.—(Canadian Press) —The Spanish trans-Atlantic airplane of Major Ramon Franco and his three companions was reported here late this afternoon to have landed on the Island of San Miguel this morning.

San Miguel is the eastern most of the Azores Islands. The Spanish plane was at first said to have flown over San Miguel early this morning.

News trickled in slowly from San Miguel to Horta, where preparations for refueling Major Franco's plane and for a great reception of the aviators had been completed for hours.

A first report that the aviators had landed in the Azores came earlier to-day from Lisbon where it had been relayed by the Portuguese warship Vasco Da Cama.

There had been consideration perplexity here whether Major Franco could attempt a non-stop flight to New York due to the absence of definite information. His plans called for refuelling and rest in the Azores.

MADRID, June 22. — (Canadian Press).—After a morning passed in anxiety as to the safety of the Spanish trans-Atlantic flight under Major Ramon Franco, word reached Madrid shortly before noon to-day that the airmen had arrived in the Azores this morning.

The news was received with great enthusiasm at the Cutro Vientros airfield and at the Aero Club where a crowd had gathered in anticipation of word from the airmen.

King Alfonso had left instructions to be notified as soon as anything definite was heard and the government and royal palace were among the first to be notified.

J. H. Stark Is Awarded Ayrshire Certificate

MONTREAL, June 22 (Special to The Examiner).—J. H. Stark of Peterborough has received his fully accredited herd certificate for his Ayrshire cattle, reports Frank Napier, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association of Canada. Mr. Stark's herd is headed by Avonsyde General, a son of Alta Militant, and from Avonsyde Jean, two names familiar in all Ayrshire circles. Avonsyde Jean has a two-year-old record of almost eight thousand pounds milk testing 4.02 per cent.

FOUR RUNNERS FORCED BACK BY U. S. GUARD

Two or Three Craft Believed To Have Succeeded in Running Blockade.

BATTLE REPORTED.

Chicago Gangsters Are Attempting To Gain Control At Detroit.

WINDSOR, Ont., June 22 (C.P.).—Four rum boats were driven back into Amherstburg early to-day by the coastguard cutters operating in Lake Erie, they reported from their Trenton, Mich., headquarters. They suspected, however, that two or three smuggling craft had slipped through the blockade when the engine died in one of the government boats. No seizures and no arrests were made by the coastguard, they said. They had no report on the battle said to have developed yesterday off Grosse Ile when about fifty shots were fired.

Discovery of men from Chicago among those rum runners who were searched at the export docks here yesterday by Provincial Police, under Deputy Commissioner Alfred L. Cuddy and Arthur Moss, corroborates earlier reports by Canadian Press that Chicago gangsters are attempting to wrest control of the Detriot River liquor business from the Detroit racketeers. There is a persistent report, in fact that henchmen of "Bugs"

C. S. Browne Delivers Address At Weekly Kiwanis Luncheon.

VALUED MEMBER LEAVING.

Club Expresses Regret At Departure of John R. Heron From City.

"What everybody knows" was the subject of C. S. Browne's most interesting and informative address on the mind and moral development of children before the Kiwanis Club at their luncheon in the Empress Hotel at noon yesterday. Mr. Browne is the mathematictal master at the Peterborough Collegiate Institute and he is first vice-president of the Kiwanis Club.

The development of useful habits, exalted ideals, and the correct use of leisure hours were held by the speaker to be the basic factors entering the life of the adolescent boy or girl. These were upheld by Mr. Browne to be the true principles of education and preparation for future success in life.

Lieutenant-Governor I. P. McNabb announced that the club was losing the services and comradeship of John R. Heron, who is leaving the city within a few days to take a position of importance on the editorial staff of the Toronto Star. Mr. McNabb expressed the deepest appreciation of the club for Mr. Heron's great and unselfish services during the past three years as secretary of the Kiwanis Club.

"We are losing one of our most valued members, and one who with his brilliance, ideas and effort has done this club invaluable service," said Mr. McNabb.

J. A. McKone also spoke in regret of Mr. Heron's departure and expressed appreciation of his work for Kiwanis, as did also President J. J. Turner, Arthur Reynolds and Jack McCannan.

That we, with extreme regret, learn of the departure of John R. Heron from our club and express to him our thanks for the many services that he has rendered to Kiwanis, extending him best wishes for success in his new field, was the resolution passed.

Jack Marshall expressed the congratulations of the club to Charles

Airmen Set Record In North

Ontario Forest Fires Said To Be Worst in History.

MEAGRE INFORMATION.

Special Report Being Sent To Minister, Who Is In England.

TORONTO, Ont., June 22 (Canadian Press). — An army of 2,000 men is now engaged in the fight which the provincial air and land fire ranging services are waging against the scores of fires which have broken out in the heat-dried forests of Northern Ontario. The customary reports have not been made to the Government here because the land crews have been kept so busy in the wilds of the Patricia, Kenora, and Rainy River districts. From meagre information received officials here are convinced that long weeks of drought have produced the worst season for haazrd ever encountered in Ontario. A special report is being forwarded to Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests, who is in England.

Several flying records have been broken by the airmen in the Ontario service in their efforts to cope with the fire menace. Pilot A. K. Murray flew 15 hours 5 minutes on June 13 to break the single day's flying record of 14 hours 30 minutes set last August by Pilot Alexander Harvey. The Red Lake District where the fire hazard is extremely high at the present time was the scene of his achievement. The force record for combined hours of flying in one week have also been broken, the best to date being 500 hours.

HAILEYBURY, Ont., June 22 (C.P.).—Nearly 6 months after the drowning of Baden Powel Welsh, young engineer, at Rouyn, his body has been recovered from Osisko Lake. Welsh was drowned November 16 last when the canoe in which he was crossing the lake, upset.

NEW AIR SERVICE

TORONTO, Ont., June 22 (C.P.)—Air passenger service between Toronto and Los Angeles in conjuction with the C.P.R. and the C.N.R. and the Santa Fe Railway was announced by the Western Air Express last night. The air service will reduce the regular train time by more than 40 hours, covering the 2,380 miles in 37 hours. If there is a further demand the service will be an all-air one. FOUR INJURED FOLLOWING BREAKDOWN AMUSEMENT WHEEL

Tossed From Seats on "Whoopee Wheel" On To Picket Fence Below.

AT SUNNYSIDE PARK.

John Kempthorne In Serious Condition As Result of Internal Injuries.

TORONTO, Ont., June 22.— (By the Canadian Press.)—Four persons were seriously injured, one probably fatally, last night, when they were tossed out of their seats on a "whoopee wheel," an adaptation of the old Ferris wheel, upon a picket fence 15 feet below at Sunnyside Amusement Park.

At St. Joseph's Hospital to-day it was stated John Kempthorne, aged 42, of Paris, Ont., who suffered internal injuries when impaled on the fence, is in a very serious condition and not much hope is held out for his recovery. His sister, Elizabeth Balne, who received a fractured skull and broken pelvis, is slightly improved. The condition of Frank Balne, aged 40, and Jack Balne, aged 15, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Balne, was reported as fairly good.

Other Passengers Removed.

Fourteen other persons riding on the amusement device were removed safely, after the assident, which S. Solman, proprietor of the concession, said was due to a broken steel cotter pin on the shaft that controls the movement of the device.

The machinery stopped suddenly, the cars on top of the wheel remaining there. While the operator of the device made several swift movements, two cars coming over the crest disgorged their passengers, and four persons came hurling from the cars on to the fence.

Ladders were brought and the remainder of the passengers brought down to the loading platform. Panic prevailed among the thousands who crowded the concession and police were forced to fight the crowds away.

The safety bars in both cars occupied by the injured party were unfastened as the wheel swung backward and when it turned forward again there was nothing to support the four in their seats. Al Case, the mechanic in charge, said there would have been no danger had the safety bars not been unfastened by somebody in the cars.

The cars of the device travel in the grooves of a huge oblong wheel. When a car travels across the top of the wheel it swings with a sudden dip and then travels across the bottom and up the other side again.

Americans Blamed For Border Shooting

WINDSOR, June 22.—(Canadian Press).—Following his investigations yesterday, Alfred Cuddy, Deputy Provincial Police Commissioner, declared here last night that shooting in the recent border rum battle had been done by Americans, and that no Canadians had been involved. "I am sure that our people are not mixed up in this" the Commissioner stated. "The people who are doing the shooting are from the other side, and they are mighty hard to catch with arms on their person when they are over here."

TORY LEADER IS IN OWEN SOUND

Hon. R. B. Bennett Continuing Tour Emphasizes Need of Protection in Canada.

INDEPENDENT NATION.

OWEN SOUND, Ont., June 22 (C.P.)—After skirting the shores of Lake Erie, Lake Huron, and Georgian Bay and touching various places in between in the course of his Ontario tour, Hon. R. B. Bennett is to-day addressing two meetings along the border of Lake Ontario. This afternoon he speaks at Oakville and this evening at Port Credit. Yesterday afternoon the Conservative leader spoke at Kincardine on the shore of Lake Huron and then motored across the Bruce peninsula to address an evening meeting in Owen Sound.

Tis message to the electors of Bruce and Grey Counties was one of protection for Canadian industries, agriculture as well as manufacturing —protection which would ensure that all those things which might be produced in Canada, particularly the necessaries of life, should be produced here. Unless this condition was made to prevail Canada would be a dependent country economically and, said Mr. Bennett, "economic dependence means slavery."

"This country," he said, "could not remain politically independent and a part of the British Empire unless it established its independence in economical matters.

Liberals Have Failed

The present Liberal government, he charged, had failed in its duty to Canada in not providing an adequate tariff and in doing nothing in the face of the increasing tolls levied on Canadian goods by the United States. The Congress of that country, legislating in the interests of the people of the United States, was more and more shutting out Canadian products from their markets. The thing for Canada to do, Mr. Bennett, urged, was to follow the example of that country and protect its own people.

By raising the tariff the loss of the United States market for agricultural products could be repaired by the establishment of home industries which would provide employment for more people and in this way markets for Canadian farmers.

This announcement does not mean that his Majesty will undertake the fatigue of personally opening Parliament, although he will be in London at the time of the State opening on July 2.

According to arrangements now made, he will spend a week here, the first period in London since last November during which he has enjoyed good health. Both the King and Queen will attend the thanksgiving service at the Abbey, and on the following day will travel to Sandringham, where they will spend at least a month.

King's Thoughtful Wish.

It was at the personal desire of the King that the plan was made, weather permitting, to change from the closed car in which he will travel from Windsor, to an open landau with outriders and postilions, so that as many persons as possible may have the opportunity of seeing him after his long illness.

The change will probably be made in London, at Kensington Palace, whence the Royal procession will continue by way of Kensington, High Street, Knightsbridge and Constitutional Hill to Buckingham Palace.

RELIGIOUS DISPUTE SETTLED MEXICAN PRESIDENT ANNOUNCES

Hierarchy Will Name Priests For Registration and Instruction.

THREE MAIN POINTS.

Religious Instruction Will Not Be Permitted in Schools.

MEXICO CITY, June 22 (Canadian Press).—Settlement of the controversy between the Roman Catholic Church and Mexico was announced by President Portes Gil at the Presidential palace late yesterday.

The basis of the religious agreement is as follows, the President promising three things:

(1) The Mexican Government will allow the Catholic hierarchy to designate those priests who are to register in compliance with Mexican laws.

(2) Religious instruction, while not permitted in the school (which is specified in the constitution), will be permitted within the churches.

(3) The right is reserved to Mexican Catholic prelates to apply for moderation of the constitution any time in the future, which is the same right granted all Mexican citizens.

The President's statement said it was not the purpose of the constitution or the Government to destroy the identity of the Catholic or any other church, or interfere in any way with their spiritual functions.

With references to "provisions of the law which have been misunderstood," the President set forth three points:

20 MINUTES

That's all. Twenty minutes after taking a ZUTOO tablet your headache will be gone.

One of these little tablets—safe, reliable and harmless as soda—will stop any headache in 20 minutes.

Or, better still, taken when you feel the headache coming on, a ZUTOO tablet will ward it off—nip it in the bud.

No Headache

1. That the law requiring registration of the priests doesn't mean this government can register those who have not been named for that purpose by the church authorities.

2. While the constitution prohibits religious instruction in public and private schools, it does not prevent such instruction within the church confines.

3. Members of any church resident in Mexico may at any time avail themselves of the constitutional privilege of petitioning for amendment, repeal or passage of any law.

Up with the leaders and not yet a year old

Why is it you see so many De Soto Sixes on the streets? Why is this car such a favorite? Not yet a year old, and already it ranks among the best sellers!

The reason for this swift rise to leadership and universal acceptance is obvious. De Soto Six fills a hitherto unsatisfied demand for a perfectly-styled, smart and beautiful car that combines a brilliant appearance with power, speed, easy-riding qualities, dependability and safety, insured by positive-acting weatherproof 4-wheel hydraulic brakes.

Because it is Chrysler-built, it is in every sense an individualistic creation, unlike every other car in smooth flow of power, in freshness of line and color—in effortless eagerness to eat up the highway, and in ease and economy of operation.

Already there is abundant proof that De Soto Six, after many thousands of miles, retains its good looks, its alert power and its exceptional comfort.

Let us place a De Soto Six at your disposal—so that you can observe for yourself its many superiorities.

MUSINGS AT A MANSE WINDOW

THERE are some proverbs, not found in the Bible, which may be true, but I prefer to take them with a grain of salt! As my name might suggest, I was born in Scotland. And if you knew my age you would know that I came into this world before it was the custom to put the clocks forward and live under daylight saving time. We did not need any such device to give us a long day or a short night. It was clear until ten and eleven o'clock. Indeed, at times it did not seem to get dark at all. Of course, we children did not want to retire. It was too light for sleep, and too soon to go to bed. In fact, till this day, I cannot sleep well unless the place is dark where I am sleeping. I have thought of this when meditating on Ephesians 5:14. There the apostle says, "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light." Their sleepy state was due, no doubt, to the spiritual darkness that was all about them.

To Bed Early!

In trying to coax or compel us to go to bed they would say to us, "Early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise." That might be true in relation to men! But who wanted to be a man at our time of life Or, where would we put any more wisdom than we already had? The truth was, as we saw it, we knew a great deal more than we got credited with knowing. And as far as health was concerned you had just to see us at meal times to know that our only trouble was "consumption." We only had one meal and that lasted all day. A Consumers' League seemed to have been formed, and we were all active members!

The Love For Mystery Tales.

I didn't go to bed early last night. The night was too hot and there seemed small prospect of sleep. Moreover, I had been given an interesting book—a mystery tale! And I confess to having a weakness for such tales! I will not tell you the name of this book because it might keep you up when you ought to be in bed. I read it far into the night and have no qualms of conscience this morning. It will be nice when the day is done and all duties attended to and I can go on to the end of the mystery.

In spite of short hours in slumberland I am glad to say that I am healthy. About my wisdom, either as to its quality or quantity, modesty forbids that I say anything. That's a story of another style; and I will leave the telling of it to others. Those who are my friends will tell it in one way, while those who are not in that class will give a more critical version.

No Early Worms!

I have been up early this morning, but have failed to find my worm yet. Perhaps my worm is not on daylight saving time; or it may have rheumatism and be confined to its room. In any case I have not made its acquaintance yet. My mind is acting like a butterfly in an old-fashioned garden, flitting from one thing to another; not staying more than a moment anywhere, and apparently not able to find what it wants in any part of the garden.

In Great Company.

As I sit and muse there arises before me, like the work of some old master, a scene from "Dreamthorp." It has given me pleasure in many a rare hour. It goes along in this interesting and refreshing way: In my garden I spend my days: in my library I spend my nights. My interests are divided between my geraniums and my books. With the flower I am in the present; with the book I am in the past. I go into my library, and all history unrolls before me. I breathe the morning air of the world, while the scent of Eden's roses yet lingered in it, while it vibrated only to the world's first breed of nightingales, and to the laugh of Eve. I see the Pyramids building: I hear the shoutings of the armies of Alexander: I feel the ground shake beneath the march of Cambyses. I sit in a theatre,—the stage is time, the play is the play of the world. What a spectacle it is! What kingly pomp, what processions file past, what cities burn to heaven, what crowds of captives are dragged at the chariot-wheels of conquerors! I hiss, or cry, "Bravo," when the great actors come on the shaking stage. I am a Roman emperor when I look at a Roman coin. I lift Homer, and I shout with Achilles in the trenches. The silence of the unpeopled Syrian plains, the out-comings and in-goings of the Patriarchs, Abraham and Ishmael, Isaac in the fields at eventide, Rebekah at the well, Jacob's guile, Esau's face reddened by desert sun-heat, Joseph's splendid funeral procession,—all these things I find within the boards of my Old Testament.

Across Bawling Centuries.

What a silence in those old books as of a half-peopled world; what bleating of flocks; what green pastoral rest; what indubitable human existence! Across bawling centuries of blood and war I hear the bleating of Abraham's flocks, the tinkling of the bells of Rebekah's camels. O men and women so far separated yet so near, so strange yet so well known, by what miraculous power do I know ye all! Books are the true Elysian fields, where the spirits of the dead converse; and into these fields a mortal may venture unappalled. What king's court can boast such company? What school of philosophy such wisdom? The wit of the ancient world is glancing and flashing there. There is Pan's pipe, there are the songs of Apollo. Seated in my library at night, and looking on the silent faces of my books, I am occasionally visited by a strange sense of the supernatural.

What My Books Mean To Me.

They are not collections of printed pages, they are ghosts. I take one down, and it speaks with me in a tongue not now heard on earth, and of men and things of which it alone possesses knowledge. I call myself solitary, but sometimes I think I mis-apply the term. No man sees more company than I do. I travel with mightier cohorts around me than ever did Timour or Genghis Khan on their fiery marches. I am a sovereign in my library, but it is the dead, not the living, that attend my levees.

Thank God For Our Gardens.

It is quite different when I am in my garden. In his famous essay on gardens, Francis Bacon began: "God Almightie first Planted a Garden. And indeed, it is the purest of Humane pleasures. It is the Greatest Refreshment to the Spirits of Man; Without which Buildings and Pallaces are but Grosse Handy-works."

"A Garden is a lovesome thing, God wot!
Rose plot,
Fringed pool,
Ferned grot—
The veriest school
Of peace; and yet the fool
Contends that God is not—
Not God! in gardens! when the eve is cool?
Nay, but I have a sign;
'Tis very sure God walks in mine."

It is well known to every Bible student that the three most stupendous events in the history of the world took place in a garden. The temptation and fall of man took place in the Garden of Eden; the awful Agony of our Lord was identified with Gethsemane; while His resurrection also was associated with a garden. Revelation, as found in Genesis, begins with a garden and ends, as found in the last book in the New Testament, with a garden-city, the New Jerusalem.

Preaching once about some of these things, I was led to quote at length Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar," which, as you doubtless remember, closes with these words:

"I hope to see my Pilot face to face,
When I have crost the bar."

Afterwards there came to me the following lines which are not intended, in my sense, as a criticism of Tennyson's matchless lines:

"Why should I wait for evening star—
Why should I wait to cross the bar,
And death's dissolving hand to trace
The outlines of my Pilot's face?

Must my frail barque be driven and tossed
By wind and waves—be wrecked and lost
Upon life's strange and storm-swept sea,
Because my Pilot's far from me?

No, not alone my way I trace,
Each wave gives back my Pilot's face;
To every sin and fear and ill,
To every storm He says 'Be still.'

I need no longer vex my soul
With longings for that distant goal;
My Pilot sitteth at the prow,
And heaven's within, and here, and now."

—Allan Fairbairn.

The Minister Remarks--

—The mere fact that you are feeling blue is no reason why you should make a song about it.

—If you are looking for trouble you are not likely to suffer from eye strain.

—The man who carries his loose change in a pocket-book never does much for the collection, even if he is not Scotch.

—If we can't have both in the same head I think most people would prefer a civil tongue to a highly developed brain.

—Because some people are too modest to talk about themselves is no proof that they are not as smart as you.

—Revenge may be sweet to some palates, but don't serve it for the other fellow's desert. —A. F.

Expressing an Opinion

GENTLE READER, if your kind has not become extinct in this picture-loving and radioized age, it may happen one of these days that you will be asked to express an opinion or register a vote on some church or civic work or worker. Belonging, as you do, to the Anglo-Saxon race, you want to play the game according to all the rules of fair-play. You want to speak wisely and well. You don't want to waste your vote; nor do you want to injure a worth-while work or worker by speaking or voting unadvisedly. For that you deserve to be complimented.

May I offer you some advice and still retain your friendship? Since it is not possible to learn your mind on the matter, I am willing to take all risks and make certain suggestions in the hope that they may not be unacceptable or without value.

Before permitting yourself to speak or vote be sure that you have good judgment. An opinion or vote not based on such is foolish if not indeed dangerous.

Don't base your judgment on fancies or feelings but on facts.

Don't get cross or allow yourself to be too much disappointed if everybody doesn't think or vote as you do. You may be right and they may be wrong—but getting cross or peeved will not help matters.

It is hard for some natures to wait when work should be done. And it is not easy to be patient with the indolent, the indifferent or the ignorant. But what cannot be cured must just be endured. At such times, let us adopt the pace of Nature; her secret is patience!

Perhaps you are not justified in thinking that every one should think and vote as you do. None of us has a corner on wisdom. God may lead others where He has not led us. Let us keep our mind open for more light as we repeat to ourselves the words of the Psalmist: "For with Thee is the fountain of life: in Thy light shall we see light." It is still true that, "Light is sown for the righteous, and gladness for the upright in heart."

Having said as much, let me close by warning you against the folly of spending all your life voting. Such folly is all too common to-day. Use some of your time and talent in helping to execute the plan. And don't lose your faith! —A. F.

When I Forget

When sunny skies shall smile no more,
When waves no longer woo the shore;
When every sweet voiced bird has fled,
When every summer rose is dead;
When stars forsake the evening sky,
When hearts with love shall cease to sigh;
When silvery mists desert the glen,
I may, perhaps, forget you then.
—M. Hathway.

The Pharisee standing in the temple did not pray, he purred, stroking himself down.

Jesus took away religion from the experts and put it into the hands of ordinary people.

How It's Done

I learned to swim in boyhood, but it was only this summer that I achieved complete mastery of myself in the water. For thirty years I had assumed that I must constantly put forth effort to keep from sinking.

One day an expert swimmer watched me for a few minutes and then cried: "Stop fighting the water and trust it to hold you up. Use your strength to get somewhere."

Under his direction a few moments sufficed to convince me he was right. I lay flat in the water without moving hands or feet and to my delight it held me up. Then I struck out, using my strength to forge ahead. What a revelation! Why did not some one tell me that years ago?

A TRUST THAT TRIUMPHS

JESUS once said, "If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say . . . . and nothing shall be impossible unto you." In the light of this one scripture, the importance of faith cannot be overestimated. It is all right to build a ship; to believe that the river runs to the sea, and that the sea is large enough to sustain your ship—but, if you never launch your ship, all your faith in the ocean goes for nothing. The ship may be a monument to your scientific belief, but it is also a testimony to your practical infidelity. —A. F.

Children's Corner — TELL US A STORY

IT is said of one who came to great distinction in the British House of Commons, that the first occasion of his speaking in that assembly was when, as quite a young man, he rose and gave prompt expression to his views on some question before the House. He sat down, feeling nervous and afraid he had made a blunder. In a few minutes a little piece of paper was handed to him with two words written upon it by the greatest statesman of the day. The words were, "You'll do." The incident yielded him so much stimulus and encouragement that he retained the scrap of paper as one of his greatest treasures; it was preserved as an heirloom in the family; and I believe it may still be seen in the hall of his mansion, handsomely mounted and framed, pointing the lesson to all young men who enter, to be prompt, decisive and courageous.

Always At School

LORD, let me make this rule
To think of life as school,
And try my best
To stand each test,
And do my work
And nothing shirk

If weary with my book,
I cast a wistful look
Where posies grow,
O let me know
That flowers within
Are best to win.

These lessons Thou doest give
To teach me how to live,
To do, to bear,
To get and share,
To work and play
And trust alway.

Some day the bell will sound,
Some day my heart will bound
As with a shout
That school is out;
And lessons done
I homeward run.

SALE IN HOTELS.

With the campaign to bring back the hotels of the Province into the liquor selling business, The Examiner has no sympathy.

It is doubtless true that the present system represents inconvenience, annoyance and often monetary loss to hotel proprietors, but they can rid themselves of the nuisance by accepting the Premier's offer to have their establishments declared "dry" areas.

In any case there is no strong pressure of public opinion in favor of the restoration of old bar-room day conditions, and The Examiner is satisfied that a plebiscite on the question would show an overwhelming majority against a proposal to permit hotels to sell intoxicating beverages.

The present system of Government control is as far as the people of Ontario are prepared to go in the direction of liquor sales, and it is to be surmised that Premier Ferguson is too shrewd an estimator of public opinion to be influenced by any attempt to stampede him into proposing further relaxation.

Ontario is getting along very nicely without barrooms, and it would be a very foolish politician who would try to foist such a thing upon people who do not want the evils of a discarded system restored.

DRUNKEN DRIVERS.

The Whitby police magistrate complains that the penalty for drunken drivers is not sufficiently severe and that courts should be given more latitude in dealing with cases of that type.

Many people will agree with him.

At present the maximum penalty for driving a car while under the influence of liquor is thirty days in jail.

The punishment does not in this case fit the crime.

Under traffic conditions as they are to-day drivers must be in full possession of all their faculties every moment they are at the wheel if accidents are to be averted, and the man who attempts to handle a car when his brain is befuddled by drink is, as one magistrate has pointed out, a potential murderer.

There is no excuse for him because he chooses to risk the penalty as well as the possible consequences of his foolishness rather than forego the pleasure of indulging his appetite.

The person who knows that he is going to be called upon to drive a car in a short time should leave drink alone.

If he refuses to do so the law should step in and make it impossible for men of his calibre to endanger the public safety by driving automobiles.

JUST A WEEK AWAY.

With Old Home Week just a week away and visitors already arriving in town, the success of Peterborough's great celebration, the biggest re-union of its kind ever held here, would seem to be assured.

It is a toss-up as to which is displaying the greater enthusiasm, the people of Peterborough who are to act as hosts or the former residents who are to be guests upon this historic occasion.

Certainly there will be no lack of warmth in the welcome that will be tendered the visitors, nor is there any reluctance on the part of old boys and girls in accepting the city's invitation.

They're delighted to come, Peterborough is delighted to have them, and the combination should produce one of the happiest and most enjoyable weeks in the annals of this community.

All that remains is to put the finishing touches upon the preparations.

Citizens everywhere are urged to do their part in giving the city a gala appearance by decorating their places of business and their homes.

Let flags and bunting on every street tell their story of a hearty welcome to the returning sons and daughters of Peterborough.

OLD AGE PENSIONS.

There are frequent enquiries as to what qualifications are necessary to render persons eligible to participate in the Ontario old age pensions scheme.

These qualifications are set forth in the Dominion Old Age Pensions Act, which controls the administration of the Ontario measure, and declare that to qualify for relief under the Act an applicant must satisfy the following conditions:

(2) Is a British subject or being a widow who is not a British subject was such before her marriage.

(b) Has attained the age of seventy years.

(c) Has resided in Canada for twenty years.

(d) Has resided in Ontario for five years.

(e) Is not an Indian as defined by the Indian Act.

(f) Is not in receipt of an income as much as $365 a year.

(g) Has not made any voluntary assignment or transfer of property for the purpose of qualifying for a pension.

The maximum pension payable is $240 a year, which shall be subject to reduction by the amount of the income of the pensioner in excess of $125 a year.

Where a man and wife can both qualify each is entitled to a pension, it should be understood.

TO STEM VERBOSITY.

The offer of Mr. R. C. Matthews, Conservative member of the House of Commons, of a cup to be presented each year to the member of Parliament who displays greatest zeal in condensing his speeches is not likely to be accepted by Ottawa. It has served a good purpose, however, in directing attention to the needless verbosity that is too often the outstanding characteristic of many of the orations delivered in the House. The inauguration of the forty-minute rule in Parliament has done something to curtail the flow of words, but much still remains to be done. The vast majority of the lengthy perorations delivered during the session could, with advantage to both speaker and public, be condensed into ten minutes, with gain to the force and effectiveness of the speeches. As a matter of fact the ordinary parliamentarian would gain more readers and prestige if he condensed his remarks into a five or ten-minute speech, rather than lengthening out what he has to say to the full limit of his time. The pity is that not more can be brought to realize this.

But verbosity is not limited to the speeches of members. It pervades many departments of the Government service, and is no doubt a concession to human pride and weakness. If a member asks a question of a Minister, the latter may reply that "the information requested by the honorable member for Brown's Corners is not in my possession at the present moment," and the "honorable member" is no doubt satisfied. If he were told in plain English "I don't know," he would feel quite hurt and aggrieved. Disraeli described Gladstone as being "inebriated with the exuberance of his own verbosity," and such intemperance did not pass away with the passing of the Grand Old Man. Mr. Matthews is making a commendable effort to spare the long-suffering public and stem the flow of words.—The Globe.

FAKE ADVERTISING.

Congratulations are due the Federal Trade Commission of the United States on its campaign to clear fraudulent advertising out of the columns of magazines. A special attack is being launched on the publicity of quack doctors, probably one of the greatest banes to the welfare of any people.

One is sometimes inclined to withhold sympathy from the persons who are simply mulcted of money through some get-rich-quick scheme which is set forth by fraudulent concerns. The quack doctor, however, is a type to which no quarter should be shown. He preys on the most excusably gullible class, the person in ill-health, often driven to desperation, and ripe to try any so-called "cure" of which he hears. One cannot blame such unfortunates for "falling for" the claims of these people who flaunt their "cancer cures" and other attractions before the eyes of an all too innocent public.

One of the pleasing features of the campaign is the announcement that, without exception, publishers have promised their whole-hearted co-operation to the movement. After all, however, this is not surprising. Proprietors of periodicals realize that they suffer through a falling off of public confidence, if they accept fraudulent advertising. They do their best to keep it out of their columns. The public does not realize that thousands of dollars' worth of business is rejected every year by these men. They are not always in a position, however, to judge all the advertising offered them. It was only to be expected that they would welcome and aid the sweeping investigation which the authorities have launched across the line.—Border Cities Star.

ADVERTISING CANADA.

In the House the other day an additional appropriation of $425,000 was given to the Minister of Trade and Commerce, that his department might extend the publicity campaign which has been carried on in the British Isles and on the continent by Canada during recent years. Some discussion took place as to the wisdom of having the advertisements signed by the Minister in charge, rather than in an impersonal way by the department, since it was thought that confusion might arise by the occasional change in the name. This contention may not be altogether without reason, but it is a minor point after all. The important matter is that members of Parliament should agree that, if the Government wishes to sell Canada to the people of Great Britain and those of the continent as well, it must follow the most approved methods of the great enterprises of the day by adopting the use of well-directed and intelligent advertising. In the past there is no doubt that Canadian publicity has been poorly directed, has not followed any well-defined plan, and has for the most part been in charge of amateurs rather than those specially trained in the handling of newspaper and magazine advertising. The Canadian Daily Newspapers' Association, working quite independently, has spent a great deal of money in various kinds of advertising in England, with a view to encouraging the manufacturers of that country to pay more attention to the Canadian market, as a result of which a large number of inquiries were received, many of them revealing the most appalling ignorance of marketing conditions in this country. American manufacturers, on the other hand, are familiar with the tastes and habits of the Canadian people, and it is not surprising that they have built up such a large business here. The Britisher, sticking to tradition, seems to be slow to adapt his product to the conditions of a new country, but it is gratifying to know that during recent months there is evidence of a decided change in the policy of English business men, a very large number of them having had representatives in Canada looking for sites to locate Canadian branches, as has been done in such large measure by American industry.—Brantford Expositor.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Now is the time for all good men to decorate for Old Home Week.

Anyway Premier Gardiner will not be able to say that he was not warned oft en enough to resign.

Toronto public schools are to close two days early, or on Wednesday next, on account of the hot weather. Local school authorities please take notice.

Sea-flea races at South Beach will do much to keep Clear Lake and the Kawarthas generally on the map.

Peterborough is determined to look her prettiest for Old Home Week, and the efforts of the citizens in this respect are worthy of special commendation.

Parents of Peterborough's boys should remember Skookum, the Rotary camp, as an ideal place for a summer holiday that will entail small expense.

There is natural wonder as to what kept the police courts busy before the advent of the motor car.

Canada's national wealth increased in one year by nearly a billion dollars. Did you get your share?

It is now learned that the reports stating Sir Esme Howard had banned liquor in the British Embassy at Washington were untrue. It's just as well. We'd hate to see the British Embassy become unpopular in Washington.—Toronto Saturday Night.

The Tule Marsh Murder

By NANCY BARR MAVITY

Story of a Missing Actress and the Taxing of Wits to Explain Her Fate

THE STORY THUS FAR:

Don Ellsworth's wife, formerly the famous actress Sheila O'Shay, disappears, leaving no trace. Dr. Cavanaugh, the great criminal psychologist learns that their married life has been very unhappy.

Peter Piper a reporter on the Herald tries to get an interview with Dr. Cavanaugh. Instead he meets Barbara Cavanaugh, the attractive daughter, and finds that she was engaged to Don Ellsworth before his marriage.

An unidentified body is found in the tule marsh outside the city. It has been burned by a fire in the marsh until it is entirely unrecognizable except for the fact that it is a woman. Dr. Cavanaugh is called in to help with the identification.

He has only a small piece of scalp from the body to work on. Don Ellsworth refuses to give him a hair of Sheila O'Shay's, but he secures one unknown and after examination tells Peter Piper that the body found in the marsh is that of Sheila O'Shay. Barbara, in whom Piper has become interested, faints when she hears this. Peter who is already half in love with her, is torn between his feeling and his suspicion that she knows something about the murder. Mrs. Kane, Sheila O'Shay's waiting woman is arrested in the case, and Peter is sent to interview her. He learns that Sheila O'Shay forced Don Ellsworth to marry her by threatening a breach of promise suit. Peter makes a social call on Barbara Cavanaugh. He is convinced that she knows something about the murder and his instinct is to protect her. Peter, watching the Ellsworth house, sees Dr. Cavanaugh go in. He climbs up the porch to see what is going on and finds Dr. Cavanaugh in Sheila O'Shay's boudoir. Dr. Cavanaugh discovers him and invites him in. They find that the breach of promise papers with which Sheila O'Shay forced Ellsworth to marry her, have been taken from the safe.

CHAPTER 26.

"Whew!" Peter exhaled his pent breath in a long, whistling sigh. "So Ellsworth's made off with the evidence that his marriage wasn't precisely a love match. Not that I blame him for disliking the lady. I think I'd have disliked her considerably, myself."

"It looks that way." Dr. Cavanaugh stared gloomily into the empty cavity. "I'm sorry. It doesn't prove anything, of course."

"Well, it's rather an indication, isn't it? It shows that Ellsworth thought the information contained in those papers was dangerous—and it wouldn't be dangerous unless it led to something he wanted to hide. He wasn't aware that the Kane woman knew about it, of course."

"Precisely," Dr. Cavanaugh agreed wearily. His face with its deeply graven lines looked suddenly older. "I wish he'd thought of that. It's the mistake so many people make—the mistake of not realizing that concealment, whatever the motive, is bound to be taken as you've taken it. And it makes it impossible for me to help him. If he hadn't already taken these paper, I was going to warn him for heaven's sake to leave them alone, I've known him, a long while, you know. I wanted to prevent his doing a foolish thing—if I could. But now it's out of my hands. I can't go to a man who's possibly guilty and tell him the way he ought to proceed to establish the appearance of innocence."

Peter, his hands thrust deep in his pockets, strode to the window and stared out into the darkness. Warning? The doctor had meant to warn Ellsworth.

Had he been warned already—warned that the papers revealing his forced marriage still existed and were likely to be found unless he got them out of the way? Who could have warned him—except Barbara? Barbara, who fainted when she learned that Sheila O'Shay's body had been found—Barbara, who had once been, and perhaps still was, in love with Ellsworth—Barbara, whom Peter himself had told of the breach of promise threat—Barbara, with the candid brow and the shining eyes of a child, Barbara with that wary, withdrawn look that defied interpretation.

Peter's shoulders drooped dejectedly. He felt an irrational indignation against Sheila O'Shay for getting herself murdered and dragging Barbara into it. The sharp sound of the safe door closing recalled him.

"We'd better see what else there is while we're here," the doctor said with a slight shrug of his shoulders, as if he were shaking off an intangible weight. We'll leave Don out of it for the present, and concentrate on Mrs. Ellsworth. She seems a person who might have left considerable traces behind her."

"I don't like her," Peter announced with great definiteness. "Too much fussiness." He thought suddenly of a girl whose clothes were slim and straight in a room full of firelight and orange marigolds. "I wouldn't have married her if she'd bluffed me with a dozen breach of promise suits.

"Nevertheless, several men did."

"Did——?"

"Marry her. She was a woman of very devastating charm, and if she had no conspicuous force of intellect, she had an unusual force of will. She always got what she wanted—until, poor lady, in the end some one rebelled and gave her what she wanted least of all. I did not know her very well, but you hardly needed to know her well to see that."

"But a woman who kept all that junk!" Peter's voice vibrated with youthful and uncompromising distaste. He waved a hand toward the dressing table mirror, whose edges were completely bordered with old invitation cards, dance favors, dinner place-cards, even the stubs of theater tickets.

"Precisely," the doctor said drily. "Nothing beclouds the judgement like moral disapproval. If you're interested in finding out who murdered Sheila O'Shay, it's just possible that you ought to be grateful for her passion for hoarding souvenirs."

He bent forward across the dressing table, made a quick and thorough survey of the various bits of paper at the mirror's edge, and turned to the small ornate desk with a drop leaf lid which stood against the wall.

As he lowered the flap which, when opened, formed a shelf for writing, a veritable avalanche of letters, bills, envelopes and programs cascaded from the bulging interior.

"I rather thought she was like that," the doctor mused with a glance at the crammed pigeon holes, "when Mrs. Kane mentioned that she had saved the breach of promise papers. That was a rather motiveless thing to do, except for the not uncommon type of person who has a sort of collectors' mania for preserving every memento of her past life. And in that case, there may be other significant mementos. I think we'll have to look them over. Rifling a lady's desk is not a very nice occupation; but then, we're investigating the lady's murder, and murder is not a very nice occupation either. I hardly think we can afford to stand on etiquette."

Peter sat astride the dressing table chair, his long legs twisted about the rungs, his folded arms resting across its low back, and watched the doctor's deft fingers rapidly unfold sheet after sheet of folded or crumpled paper and toss them in a mounting pile on the floor at his feet.

"By the way, where's Ellsworth?" he asked after an interval. 'Or am I interrupting?"

"Not a bit. A glance is quite enough for all of this stuff, so far. I'll tell you if I find anything." Dr. Cavanaugh's hands did not hesitate in their task of extracting and casting aside the contents of the desk. "Don is engaged in a very quiet poker session in a private room at his club, I unofficially escorted him there myself, although he did not know it."

"With the whole countryside moving heaven and earth to find his wife's murderer? Well, I thought I was beyond being surprised at anything!" Peter's capacity for astonishment was obviously not entirely exhausted.

"Not the whole countryside, young man. Only a few policemen and reporters and people like that. And Don Ellsworth, when faced with a disagreeable situation does not sit down and contemplate it, even when that is precisely what he needs to do. All his life he has sought distraction—escape. Always he has found it easily enough. You needn't be too hard on him. With his upbringing, it was almost inevitable. Probably Sheila O'Shay, in the beginning, was one of those distractions. He may not find his diversion so easily this time, but the impulse to seek it was the most natural thing in the world for him. You might be grateful for that, too. He won't be in until the small hours of the morning—which gives us this very opportune leisure."

"He didn't know you were coming, then?"

"No. He's an irascible young man, and I didn't want to upset him unnecessarily."

"Yes," Peter agreed with a grin, "I've noticed the irascibility."

"I told you I was a house-breaker, too, you know. I owe my presence in the house to Ethel. I'm rather elderly for pergolas—and perhaps just a shade too conventional."

"Ethel?" Peter rested his chin on the chair-back and grinned an impudent question at the doctor's imperturable back.

"The maid you saw in the door. I feel rather sorry for her—she'd have enjoyed this so immensely. She's a hero-worshipper, and steeped in the traditions of Sherlock Holmes. Perhaps it's just as well she didn't stay to be disappointed. She rather fancies me as a sleuth.

"No power on earth could persuade her that I'm not, of course. Besides, she has a moth-and-star sort of devotion to Ellsworth. It is quite true that I thought my visit here might be of benefit to him. She relished the notion of the great investigator saving her master form unjust suspicion. In fact she fairly gloated over the whole performance, and her own connection with it. Well, it looks as if everybody's hopes—yours and mine and Ethel's—are pretty well blighted. The net result of all this is nothing at all."

As he spoke, Dr. Cavanaugh stopped, gathered the heap of papers into an armload, and thrust them back into the desk.

From the chair where Peter straddled, came the sound of a low whistled tune, a lugubrious wailing minor.

"By jove!" he murmured; and again, "By jove—I wonder now!"

He had been staring straight before him with his chin on his folded arms, his eyes fixed on vacancy. But suddenly he realized what he had been looking at, all along.

With a bound that tipped the chair over behind him, he sprang to the telephone table and seized the directory. For fifteen minutes he had been gazing absently at a narrow projection which marred the smooth line at the edge of the pages along the top; and then, in a flash, that little projection had taken on meaning.

He fluttered the pages in fingers that trembled, and drew out a letter. Then, with the single sheet half removed from the jagged tear by which the envelope had been opened, he paused.

It might be anything—it might be nothing. But the doctor had opened the window to him. Whatever it was, it belonged to the doctor.

"Here," he said in a rather faint voice, holding out the fluttering slip of paper to Dr. Cavanaugh, who had calmly righted the chair behind him. "What do you make of this?"

(To be continued.)

"I see where there is an increasing number of auto accidents due to drivers going to sleep at the wheel," says sophisticated Sophia. "But maybe they only seem to be asleep because so many chaps kiss a girl with their eyes shut." By Gettier.

DIGNITY OF NATURE

Let us not undervalue the dignity of human nature. Man although fallen, still retains some traces of his primeval glory and excellence—broken columns of a celestial temple, magnificent, even in its ruins.—John McC. Holmes.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

SOME RAIN.

Rain never frets me
When it wets me,
I rather like the rain——
To just go sloshing
And goloshing
Some street, some country lane.
A sky too sunny,
Like too much money,
And life gets rather stale,
So, altogether,
I like my weather
To have some rain and hail.

Luck never matters
When it splatters,
The way the raindrops do.
I think that fighting
Is quite inviting
A lot of times, don't you?
I may be funny,
But too much money
And life gets rather flat,
For, altogether,
I like my weather
To have some rain, at that.

AMERICAN OSTEOPATHS OPEN BIG CONVENTION

All Movements Required in Writing Should Come from Shoulder, Doctor Says

DES MOINES, Ia., June 22 (By C.P.).—Writers' cramp is usually an indication of a tendency toward neurasthenia, Dr. C. W. Carruthers, Toronto, Ont., said yesterday in an address before the 35rd annual convention of the American Osteopathic Association.

"Writers' cramp is usually a local manifestation of neurasthenia and should be investigated," Dr. Carruthers warned.

There is less evidence of writers' cramp to-day than formerly because of the typewriter and other mechanical writing devices, Dr. Carruthers said, but the demand for speed on these machines still brings the disease to the fore. For the person who uses pens and pencils, Dr. Carruthers suggested using what is known as "free hand" writing, and sitting in a rather high chair before a low table, so that the elbow swings free.

"There must not be any movement of the fingers or the muscles of the forearm," he said. "All movements required for writing must be accomplished from the shoulder."

Chicago Grain Gains After Early Setback

CHICAGO, Ills., June 22 (Canadian Press).—With reports that the Kansas-Oklahoma wheat crop outlook suggested a calamity, wheat prices here advanced to-day after an early setback. Some rain in Canada, together with Liverpool quotations lower than looked for, made the wheat market here weaken early. Opening at ½ to 11 1-8c off, Chicago wheat afterward rose suddenly to well above yesterday's finish. Corn also was strengthened, starting ¼ to 1¼c down and later scoring all around gains.

Oats were easy. Provisions kept about steady.

PROVINCIAL CONSTABLES RAID KITCHENER HOTEL

Drive Is Started on Illegal Liquor Interests in Western Ontario City.

KITCHENER, Ont., June 22 (Canadian Press). — A determined drive against illegal liquor interests in Kitchener was ushered in to-day when Provincial Constables Kennedy and McCoy smashed a hide at the American House, confiscating 19 quarts of rye whisky and 35 bottles of beer. The hide was located in the hotel office, the door of which was smashed down when the lessee, John Sebir did not produce a key for the office. Sebir was arrested on a charge of keeping for sale.

In preparation for the drive, two new constables have been added to the force. A third will arrive here early next week, bringing the total strength at the Kitchener office to ten men.

WALKERS SAGS HEAVY SELLING

General List Inclined Upward, Although Trading On Small Margin.

NICKEL IN DEMAND.

TORONTO, Ont., June 22.—(C.P.)—Steady buying of International Nickel during the latter part of the session and some liquidation of Hiram Walkers were about the only developments of interest during the brief session on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. Reflecting the lack of interest on the part of the speculative public the list of stocks traded in continued narrow and price movements were generally fractional though inclined upward.

International Nickel was traded in to the extent of more than 6,000 shares. It opened firm and rose to a high of 51 to recede slightly at the close to 50 for a gain of 1-4.

Walkers slipped back 1- to 16 1-2 with more than 1,000 shares changing hands. Ontario Equity Rights registered the widest gain by advancing 20 points to 300.

Bell Telephone was a strong spot, selling up 1 1-8 to 162 5-8. Brazilian firmed 1-4 to 57 1-2, while Ford Motors "A" dropped 1-2 at the close to 45 1-2. Ajax Oil featured the oil stocks with a jump of 5 to 172 in active trading. The balance of this group was firm.

Bank of Toronto climbed 3 to 264 but other bank stocks were weak.

FLYING MAKES APPEAL TO UNIVERSITY STUDENTS

Minister Receives More Applications Than He Has Facilities to Accommodate

OTTAWA, Ont., June 22.—(Canadian Press).—The great appeal flying has for university students resulted in the Department of National Defence receiving more applications for its course which starts next Monday at Camp Borden than it has facilities to accommodate. The new class will have forty students.

The course is for students in Applied Science, the plan being that they train each vacation during their university term and when they graduate they will be efficient flying officers for the air force. Although the three big universities, McGill, University of Toronto and Queens are supplying the greater proportion of the class, there is a good representation from the other universities. In addition to the new class, the classes which started last year and the year before are also training.

The question of whether the flying camp will be moved to Trenton or Deseronto is not yet decided. Hon. J. A. Ralston and a number of his staff visited both sites this week and it is expected further visits will be made before a decision will be finally reached.

The Weather

METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, Toronto, Ont, June 22 (C.P.).—A depression is centered over Northern Manitoba with a trough of low extending southward through the Central States while pressure is high on the Pacific Coast. Local showers have occurred in Manitoba. The weather has been mostly fair elsewhere with a tendency towards lower temperature in the Western Provinces.

AJAX OIL AND ABANA LEADS CURB TRADING

List Fairly Broad With Total Sales Amounting To 500,000 Shares.

NICKEL ADVANCES.

Wainwell and Associated Oils Suffer Light Setback in Active Trading.

TORONTO, Ont., June 22 (Canadian Press).—Led by Ajax Oil, International Nickel and Abana stocks on the Standard Mining Exchange today turned definitely upward. The list was fairly broad and the volume of business good for a Saturday session, the total sales amounting to more than 500,000 shares.

Ajax Oil, which had been heavily liquidated the last few days, was in constant demand, and with more than 100,000 shares changing hands, it leaped 26 points higher to 189. Nickel jumped to 60.50 in heavy trading, while Abana was 8 points better at 170.

Wainwell Oil continued its activity but was slightly weaker at 44, down ½. Associated Gas and Oil dropped 10 to 430, which was the widest loss registered on the board.

Newbec experienced considerable demand after its recent weakness and with more than 85,000 shares changing hands, it improved its position by 5½ to 47.

Favorable Aspects Shown O f Canadian Business and Financial Position

The invisible favorable balance in trade of Canada last year was almost as large as the visible balance. Proceeds from tourist travel estimated at $147,256,000, compared with a favorable trade balance of $151,812,281. In 1927 the favorable visible trade balance was $151,664,074 and the invisible trade balance due to tourist travel was $111,981,000. In 1926, the visible favorable balance was $275,597,557 against proceeds from tourist travel estimated at $96,098,000.

Industry has been on the upgrade this year. Total shipments of United States and Canadian mills for the first five months of 1929 were approximately 8½ per cent. higher than in 1928, against an increase of about 6 for the first five months of 1928 over the corresponding period of 1927.

The increase in rate of interest in call loans in Canada from p per cent. to 6½ per cent, which has become general in the past few weeks, appears to be attracting larger supplies of money for the market. Whether these offerings foreshadow an appreciably easier money situation it is difficult to say as the most recent data on the banking situation shows a more or less stationary position. The data in question, however, were compiled as of April 30, the bank statement for that month having been issued only in the last few days, and it is not improbable that in the interval there has been some seasonal release of credit tied up over the winter months.

The April bank statement in itself gave no indications of impending ease. Current, call and municipal loans in the aggregate increased 25 millions in the month, and the ratio of deposits in Canada to the principal loans of the banks plus investments at 99 9 was close to the lowest level in some five years.

Attention may well be drawn once more to the fact that the Canadian security market has given evidence of a solid foundation in the way in which it has adjusted itself to the change in credit conditions which developed a year ago. Although the market has had to absorb frequent new issues of shares running into many millions of dollars, call loans in Canada at 262 millions in April were no higher than they were in July of last year and were some 7 millions lower than at the peak reached in May, 1928.

Financial News and Briefs

A Special Service to the Examiner

FINANCIAL BRIEFS.

If Imperial Oil Ltd. can utilize the vast volume of gas produced in the Turner Valley, and going to waste, by piping it to consuming centres outside of Alberta, through Saskatchewan, and even to Winnipeg, an important wasted asset should be turned to a profit. Most of the 12 billion cubic feet of gas produced in the valley is going to waste.

Due to the increase of 50 per cent. in sales of Brading Breweries Ltd, in the first six months of the current year profits for the period are estimated at more than $2 per share on the stock or at the rate of over $4 per annum. This is against the annual dividend rate of $2.

Every time National Breweies shares show signs of strength the stock split rumor is revived. The company is known to be doing a large business with profits running at a high rate. The best season for the breweries is still to come.

All damage from smelter fumes will be eliminated by plans of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., if its project to harness the Lois River power site and build a smelter there goes through. The Powell River Co. is a rival for the site and want to build a pulp mill, if they have their way. It is probable that the government will make its decision this summer.

Demand for nickel is holding up well, according to J. L. Agnew, the vice-president of International Nickel Company of Canada. While pushing development at all speed at the Frood at various levels between 1600 and 3000 feet, with 1400 men employed, the new electrolytic copper smelter is being constructed without interruption, while the new stack is rearing itself skyward. The Levack Mine is being put in shape for larger output, the shaft having been deepened another 300 feet. The company is installing three new electrolytic units at the Port Colborne plant.

The completion of the new shaft at Noranda recently is an important event, because it is from this shaft that the company will raise additional ore from the "H" ore body and adjacent deposits necessary to maintain two smelter units at capacity, making for over 2,000 tons daily. Possibly Noranda directors will delay dividend action until this shaft begins to hoist ore.

OIL GOSSIP.

GREAT WEST OILS

Great West Oils just completing rotary derrick on ground adjoining New Black Diamond and will sink two wells on this ground, and second derrick is to be proceded with.

HOME OIL.

Calgary advices Monday suggest that Home Oil's June disbursement of 20 cents a share may become a regular monthly fixture. This would mean $2.40 yearly per share of $2,116,800. Home earnings are now around $1,800,000 and face an immediate increase when well No. 2 production steps up. Some time in July a third producer is expected and No. 4 should be ready for drilling into production by time No. 3 is ready. By early fall, Home will be more than earning 20 cents per share.

TURNER VALLEY DIVIDENDS

Home and Royalite are paying dividends from production. Home's first declaration was 20 cents or $176,000. Royalite this year paid 25c or $100,000, and United Oils distributed $4 per share bonus, or $1,000,000. From now on dividend total of Valley should pile up rapidly.

ACCUMULATING OILS

Evidence is not lacking that steady accumulation of good oils is going on. This will make these already scarce scrips more so. Floating supply of majority of these issues is quite small with the result that accumulation is certain to raise the market up steadily from bottom. Money is quite free, but when public quit market cold, prices sagged. Now public are dwindling back attracted by good news from both oils and mines.

CONSOLIDATED SMELTERS

Directors Consolidated Mining and Smelting declared regular $1.25 dividend and bonus of $5 payable July 15th to shareholders of record June 29.

BIDGOOD

Bidgood shareholders approved capital increase to 6,000,000 shares and purchase of adjoining Cambro ground for 1,000,000 shares of Bidgood stock, practically pooled for six months.

SPOONER OILS

No. 3 well Spooner Oils will be drilled on Section 24 is about 1½ miles north west of Royalite 4. Dalhousie owns much of ground in between.

HOME 2

McLEOD

McLeod No. 4 gas pressure increased yesterday sufficiently to increase production 20 barrels daily. Now producing 100 barrels. Increase not measured and while encouraging, is not great. Drilling halted until nearby Royalite waste flame removed further back.

COMMONWEALTH

A. P. Con.

If Home Oil declares dividends of 20 cents per share per month, it will mean $30,000 per month or $1,000 per day revenue for A. P. Con. on 150,000 Home shares held, or roughly 5 per cent on A. P. Con. stock at $4 per share.

INTERESTS INVADE CANADIAN OIL FIELD

Lucrative Possibilities of Field Have Attracted Big Companies to This Market.

One of the most notable developments of the past year in the Canadian oil products industry has been the invasion of the Dominion distributing field by leading United States companies. The lucrative possibilities of this have attracted the big companies to this market.

The latest American company to announce their intention to enter Canada is Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation, which will start operation in Ontario by means of a distributing agreement with Thayer's Limited.

Not long ago negotiations were reported to be well forward whereby, the Shell Company would distribute its products through McColl Frontenac Oil Co. The Shell Company has been operating in an important way in Canada for some years, but such an arrangement with McColl Frontenac would strengthen their position in this country materially. Both companies sell similar products, having the same processes.

Earlier this year the announcement was made that Tide Water Oil Company would distribute its Tydol gasoline in Canada, and an agreement was entered into with Crown Dominion Oil Company as the distributing medium. Crown Dominion previously handled Tide Water Oil Company's Oil products, exclusive of gasoline. Crown Dominion has been distributing Tydol gasoline for some time.

First to establish itself in the Canadian field, many years ago was Standard Oil of N. J., through its big subsidiary, Imperial Oil. Imperial Oil has grown with the country, has made its money in this country, and has invested millions in Canada, and it is so well entrenched as to be able to meet competition advantageously. This company has not only the largest distributing system in the country, but operates eight refineries, strategically located to serve its distributing systems in all territories of the Dominion. Part of its crude supplies come from the United States and part from concessions in South America of its Canadian subsidiary, International Petroleum Company. Furthermore, Imperial Oil is building an important Canadian producing field in Alberta, thus assuring an increasing supply of crude oil and naptha within the country.

The matter of import tariffs has a bearing on the Canadian and refining and distributing business. There is no import duty on crude oil. Gasoline is divided into two main classes, light and heavy. Light gasoline comes into Canada free of duty, while on heavy grades a duty exists of 1 cent per gallon.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 22.—Increase of some 800 head in the supply of cattle at the Union Stock Yards market this week as compared with last, together with hot weather conditions, failed to bring any sign of weakness in the demand for killers. On the other hand, good butcher steers and heifers sold a shade to a quarter higher for the bulk, and heavies shared in the advance.

Good cows were firm, and other grades steady, quality considered, prices that were lower in spots indicating grass cows, with the understood lower dressing percentage than occurs in stall feds. A few steers at below 10 cents per pound also sold a shade lower than last week, due also to their having absorbed a fair amount of grass. The situation with regard to finished heavy steers has changed in the past fortnight as a result of the increasing tourist traffic and increased demand for choice heavy beef at high class hotels.

Baby beeves were not extremely active, and the range of price was narrower at 10 to 14½ cents per pound, some 300 crossing the scales during the week.

The bulk of supply of handiweight steers sold at from 10 to 13¼ cents per pound; some of the choice weighty butchers made 12¾ cents, and three heavy steers averaging close to 1,500 pounds apiece made an outside top of 13 cents. Butcher cows, including some off grass at the low, sold from 7 to 9½ cents, with a few heiferish cows at 9¾ and the odd kosher killer as high as 10 cents. Butcher bulls were steady at 8 to 9 cents per pound with bolognas an active trade at 7 to 7¾ cents. The store cattle supply was light, and ran chiefly to light stockers which sold steady at a range of 8 to 10 cents, while small lots of feeders made up to 10½ cents per pound.

Milker and springer trade was again slow, with prices about steady at last week's decline. Backward rather than forward springers were wanted, but not very greatly, and the top for these was $125 each. Fresh cows sold at $90 to $100 for the best. Quality in the bulk of this butcher cattle run was good to choice, the market attracting what is generally considered to be about the final volume offerings of stable-feds. Grass cattle are due to show volume increase next week.

Calf supply was a few hundred head lighter than last week, and quality showed no falling off. Trade was brisker on Monday and Tuesday, but in response to easier markets throughout the American circuit the feeling was easier on Wednesday.

Sheep and lamb supply was more than 1,000 head heavier than last week, with runs this month showing about even with a year ago. The increase brought an easier feeling with regard to lambs.

Hog prices held steady on an offering practically even with that of a week ago, though packers bid a quarter easier at each day's opening.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, June 22. — The cheese market continued inactive here yesterday, with no changes in price. No quotations were given by dealers yesterday until the various County Cheese Board meetings are concluded, and something like a definite price established for the present unsettled market. Receipts were 5,496 boxes, compared with 5,753 boxes for the same day last week.

Wholesale butter prices were higher on the local market yesterday. Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized sold at 37¼c, down to 37c per pound. Retail prices continued at 38c per pound for solids and 39c per pound for prints. Receipts were 2,395 boxes compared with 3,619 boxes for the same day a week ago.

The egg market was steady yesterday. Ontario fresh eggs, f.o.b. Ontario, sold at 30c per dozen for extras, 25c per dozen for firsts, and 23c per dozen for extras, 26½c for fresh eggs, f.o.b. Manitoba, sold at 28c pe rdozen for extras, 26½c for firsts, and 22 c for seconds. British Columbia fresh eggs, f.o.b. Vancouver, were 27c for extras and 25c for firsts.

Potatoes were steady, being 45c per 90 pounds bulk, for New Brunswick Green Mountains, with new potatoes from Virginia at $5.50 for No. 1 quality. $4.00 for No. 2, and $3.25 for culls.

The poultry market was steady, with prices unchanged.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 22.—Assertions that crop damage reports from the southwest may prove to be exaggerated led to heavy selling to realize profits in the wheat market yesterday. Fresh advances in price which had been scored were thus offset, despite announcement that exporters had purchased 2,000,000 bushels of North American wheat, almost altogether from Canada, but including some domestic wheat at the Gulf of Mexico ¼c to ½c under the cost of Chicago July delivery.

Closing quotations on wheat were irregular, ½c lower to ½c higher than Thursday's finish. Corn closed at ⅜c to ⅝c net decline; oats, ⅛c off to ¼c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10c.

New upturns in wheat values yesterday came early, hand in hand with enlarged buying, together with an authoritative estimate that world wheat production for the 1929-1930 season be 5 per cent, smaller than for 1928-1929. This setimate was taken to imply that as a result the 1928-1929 carryover of wheat would be more than counterbalanced. It was also noted that the Liverpool wheat market yesterday closed 2d to 2½d up, an advance which exceeds predictions based on gains this side of the Atlantic.

Adverse crop reports from domestic winter wheat terrtiory southwest were meanwhile unabated, and brought complaints from spring wheat sections northwest which were even more pronounced than heretofore.

In the late dealings the wheat market felt the weight of big profit-sales. Early gains were then about eliminated, but in view of the tremendous total of wheat sold the market was regarded by many traders as having given a good account of itself from the standpoint of friends of higher prices.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 22.—Liberal offerings which followed a strong bullish movement cut down gains of 1 3-4c. to 1 7-8c., recorded shortly after the opening of yesterday's wheat market, and final quotations revealed advances of only 7-8c to 1-2c over Thursday's close. Trading was heavy yesterday, short covering, commission house buying and heavy buying of October and December, featuring the session. Exporters bought a fair amount of our wheat yesterday.

Cash wheat trading sprang into activity, local shippers purchasing large quantities of Grades No. 2 Northern to No. 4 wheat. Prices for these grades held firm, but the lower grades eased 1-4c to 1-2c. Cash wheat was in good demand for exporters, more than 5,000,000 bushels of wheat reported sold for export overnight.

Oats future prices held unchanged to 1-4c. higher in a fairly active trade. Barley moved ahead about 3-4c. and rye advanced 1 1-2c. in sympathy with wheat. Flax held firm.

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS HOLD FIRST ANNUAL FIELD DAY

president of the Holstein Association of Canada, a young farmer who is internationally known as a breeder of "black and white cattle"; R. M. Holtby of Port Perry, field man of the Ontario Holstein interests and H. B. Cowan, managaing editor of "Farm and Dairy" were conspicuous guests, together with E. A. Peck, M.P. and the following representatives of the Peterborough Exhibition directorate: Mayor Denne, George B. Nicholls, Wm. Steinkrauss, Thos. Cruickshanks and C. H. Westlake.

In the morning the club members visited the dairy farms of Thos. Mark and W. A. Greenbank, and after luncheon an hour or more was given up to addresses by Mr. Houck and others, concluding with Mr. Holtby's object lesson in judging ,using some of Mr. Brethen's herd to demonstrate the desirable Holstein characteristics.

J. B. Nelson, district representative of the Depsriment of Agriculture, was chairman.

Grateful to Mr. Brethen

Mayor Denne said he was interested in Arthur Brethen's projects because Mr. Brethen had been a loyal friend of the Peterborough Exhibition. "Whenever we asked him to act as judge, he was always willing to help. The dairy industry is a great industry, and that was why we of the Exhibition Board have tried to encourage the breeding of all kinds of stock. It is our duty as citizens to help the man on the land. But don't think the people in town haven't plenty of troubles of their own. They have."

Mayor Denne said he hoped the Holstein club would enjoy the fullest prosperity.

In his address, the feature of the program, Mr. Houck dwelt upon the need of co-operation among Holstein breeders, and also the winning of the confidence of the consumer by selling a superior product. The dairy business was probably the only one in which the phenomenon of two opposites existed at the same time, namely a surplus and a shortage. It was often found that the middleman dealer would tell the producer that there was a surplus of milk and prices should go down, and he could tell the consumer there was a shortage and prices should go up.

Organization was a vital step toward the improvement of the livestock and the protection of the dairy industry. When President Hoover became food controller in the United States during the war he was visited by streams of men seeking exemption or concessions for their affected industries, "but the man who did not go near him and who most needed his special consideration was the farmer. He was the only one who was unorganized."

Should Label Product

In addition to marketing a product of superior quality, milkmen should correctly label their product, Mr. Houck suggested.

"If you are putting out Holstein milk, it should be just what you call it, and should not be mixed with other milk. There is also the factor of advertising. You do not realize what the cigarette 'ads' are going to do to milk consumption. You see the 'ad'—'When I am hungry I reach for a Lucky.' Makers of chocolate candy are investigating the effect of such advertising, and dairy men are interested because milk is largely used in chocolate products."

Mr. Houck asserted that the Holstein breeders had nothing to fear. Records for milk production and also for fat production with one or two exceptions were held by Holsteins, and a few weeks ago in Michigan a Holstein in seven years of continuous production of butter fat had come within nine pounds of the record which a Jersey had made for nine years.

"We will never see the day when there will be too many good cattle. In Wisconsin 83,000 head of dairy cattle had been shipped in twelve months, and this year our association has issued 1,500 transfers for cattle going to the United States. The one place where we fall down is in organization.

Purpose of the Club

W. A. Anderson said the purpose of the club was to help the Holstein breeders and the average farmer. Years ago milk used to be peddled around in tin cans and dipped out, and cheese brought eight cents a pound and sometimes less. To-day we are consuming a large percentage of our milk, and last winter we had to import some millions of pounds of butter because we didn't make enough.

I heard Hon. Mr. Martin, Minister of Agriculture, say in the Legislature that the Holstein was the dairy cow. He seemed to forget the other breeds. We should try to establish prizes for breeders in this county, and however desirable it is to bring in outside breeders to our exhibition, something should be done to bring out the local herds to compete against their neighbors.

Mr. Anderson specially advocated the testng of milk production as a stimulus of keener and more intelligent interest in dairying.

E. A. Peck, M. P.

Mr. Peck gratefully acknowledged the invitation from the club.

"I should like to have the opportunity of attending other meetings of this kind for the purpose of hearing from the people what is in their minds as to what should be done. At Ottawa there is a general disposition of all the House to assist all branches of farm industry. We have the Experimental farm there and twenty-one experimental stations throughout Canada."

"The Big Jersey Man."

Fred Field said: "I'm delighted to be at this picnic, and after looking around Mr. Brethen's place I suppose I should conclude that I probably made a mistake by going into Jerseys. I don't think you could have picked for President a better man than Arthur Brethen. I don't know any better judge of dairy cattle than the same Mr. Brethen. I like the idea of a breeders' show. We should get our heads together and try to have it, at Peterborough. I have been showing there six years, and they treated me the last day just as well as the first, and that's more than I can say of many other places in Ontario and Quebec. This year we will show in Peterborough the same cattle we took to the National Exhibition, and I've heard of two other dairy breeders and three beef cattle breeders who intend to do the same. I congratulate the Holstein Club on having a man like Mr. Bethen for president. We'd be proud to have him as president of the Jersey Breeders' Association."

Other speakers were Rev. William Edgar, Mr. McNevin, J. B. Nelson, H. B. Cowan, Rev. F. Stillman of Norwood and C. E. Moore.

A vote of thanks for their hospitality was expressed to Mr. and Mrs. Brethen, on a motion by C. Seymour, seconded by J. Mann.

was so short people could get out of the way of cars at that end. Mr. Rye then said that it would be establishing a wrong precedent if this was done and all the rest of the townships would be after walks on their bridges. Mr. Smitheson believed that it was not this at all but that a start had to be made somewhere and a sidewalk should be placed where life is endangered.

This led to the condition of the bridge itself and it was found that the road bed was low in spots and held the water and dirt. However, Mr. Parker said that it was kept clean as possible.

A motion was put before the council that the sidewalk be built but Mr. Rye made an amendment that no action be taken. The amentment was lost and the motion was carried by one vote.

A committee was named to confer with the city and the government in regards to the condition of the Lock's bridge and to confer with the counties of Northumberland and Durham about the condition of the Bensford bridge. The personnel of the committee is the Warden; J. J. Heahy; H. B. Rye; J. Hawthorne; M. Smithson; J. Clark and F. D. McIntyre

A. Caldwell was granted $250 by the council to help repair the washouts on the Loon Lake Road and on the road near Deer River.

Mr. Windsor put up a spectacular battle for a concrete bridge in Burleigh and Anstruther to replace the present McColl bridge.

The question arose that the other bridges in that township which had been built of concrete had not stood up because of the amount of mica in the gravel which is found in the district. The matter was left in the hands of a committee comprised of the Warden, Messrs. Coons, Leahey, Smithson and Clark, to investigate the bridge and the type of a bridge to be built.

In view of the amount of work being done on the bridges this year, E. Elliott, county treasurer, suggested that ½ mill be used in the current bridge expenditures. Mr. Smithson made the motion, which was seconded by Mr. Sanderson, and was carried by the Council.

Seek Grant to Villages.

R. Sanderson threw a bombshell into the Council when he asked for $300 be granted to each incorporated village for local improvement. Mr. Tanner substantiated the statement and brought in the cost of oiling the roads. This led to a discussion which turned out that the reeves of the villages were seeking money to help maintain the county roads in their communities.

Mr. Rye pointed out that 100 per cent. refund had been granted these municipalities at the January session in regard to the upkeep of the roads in the villages. The county pays back what is paid on the highways, known as connecting links, in these centres. Mr. Tanner claimed that the refund does not near pay for the upkeep and that the cost of the road in Lakefield amounted to about $1,700. Mr. Elliott asked if that were possible for a twenty-foot road and if the villages were not keeping the extra width of the highways in shape and wanted the rural men to pay for it.

Mr. Rye moved that no grant be given to the three villages in question: Lakefield, Norwood and Havelock. This motion was carried by one vote.

Mr. Cavanaugh asked the Council if they had received any word as to what the Government intended to do with the re-building or the repairing of the Chemong Bridge, and the answer that he received was that nothing had yet been received.

Reply to Warden's Address

The council then resumed with Warden J F. Breckenrideg in the chair. Mr. Turner read the committee's report on the Warden's address.

'We congratulate the Warden upon his recovery from the long illness from which he suffered earlier in the year, and are glad that the Council is able to have the full benefit of his advice and assistance in the management of the affairs of the County, and assure him of our hearty support in fulfilling the duties of his office.

"It is gratifying that though the Spring was somewhat backward, warm weather and rain have brought us the promise of the abundant crops which our county usually enjoys.

"The Old Home Week inaugurated by the Mayor and Council of the City of Peterborough, will, no doubt bring us in the County as well as to the city, many old friends, whom we shall be very glad to see again, and we appreciate the motive which has actuated our city friends in the work of reunion which they have undertaken.

"In addition to the many responsibilities which this council has to assume, there is now placed upon the Council the duty of supervising the administration of funds appropriate for the payment of old age pensions, under the Act of the Legislature adopted during the last session. In accordance with Federal Legislation, the payment of the pensions will be borne equally by the Dominion and the Province, and a portion of the burden is passed on by the Province to the Counties and cities respectively in which the pensioners reside. The duty therefore falls upon the council at this present session, to appoint a committee for the administration of the work in the County.

"We join with the Warden in congratulating the Council and the County upon the very low debenture debt which the county has to bear, as compared with those of other counties. In spite of the heavy expenses which have been undertaken in recent years for the improvement of highways and in connection with the additions to County Buildings, our debenture debt is, we believe, the smallest of any county in the older portions of Ontario.

"The matter of the injuries to the road by the truck and other traffic in the Spring of the year, is, we agree with the Warden, a matter entitled to primary consideration from the Government and the various municipalities interested, and we trust that some further steps can be undertaken to prevent the heavy loss incurred by the improper use of our highways at that season.

"The management of the House of Refuge under the efficient direction of the committee, deserves the commendation of the council. Mr. and Mrs. Fry have proved to be very efficient in promoting the comfort and happiness of the inmates of that institution, and we are glad to bear record to the good work they are doing in that respect."

Seek Grant For Humane Society

A deputation then was heard from the Humane society asking for a grant to help them carry on their work. This was referred to the committe on finances.

Mr. Peck was not able to be present at the meeting but sent a communication which was read by the Warden, advising the whole council to act as a committee for the Old Age Pension act. This was adopted on the motion of Messrs. Smitheson and Sanderson. It was also advised by Mr. Peck that the Howlett child, a matter which has been discussed in regards to a neglected baby several times before be brought to Peterborough. The council, as Mr. Edgar had pointed out in the morning felt that a great deal of money would be saved if the infant were brought here. It was decided by the members to take this step.

County Constable Pearson's resignation was read and accepted and his request that he be paid his year's salary amounting to $200 be paid was granted.

Communications from J. B. Nelson, regarding the county scholarships at the Ontario Agricultural College and the school fairs were read to the council and the matter referred to the finance committee. One from F. H. Dawson for the poultry association was also turned over to this committee for consideration.

Taken Into County System

The Reeves decided that a by-law be passed making the highway from Park street, straight east through Lansdowne street to the county road at Lock's bridge, through to the eastern city limits be a county road. This is to include the famous no mans' land strip from the bridge up to about J. O'Connor's residence.

Mr. Parker also disturbed the feelings of the council when he told of a bill before parliament which would decrease assessment non-residents of a district who are now assessed for only six months in the year. It was felt that this was a step too much in favor of the cottager who uses the road a great deal in the summer time so the council decided to write a letter to the Department and to all the other counties saying that the Peterborough council desire that no action be taken to decrease the assessment of non-resident cottages who are assessed for only six months of the year. The general feeling was that this was one of the worst slams that could be given the county councils.

PLANE CRASH INVESTIGATED

Jury Returns Verdict of Accidental Death at Montreal Inquest.

TWO BODIES FOUND.

MONTREAL, Que., June 21 (Canadian Press).—Accidental death was the verdict returned by a coroner's jury here to-day over the bodies of Captain the Hon. J. C. C. Jervis, M.C., and Dr. William D. Morris, two of the victims of yesterday's seaplane crash into the St. Lawrence River. The body of the third victim, Pilot Colon Caldwell, who was at the controls when the seaplane, which was being tested for the first time, struck power wires and plunged into the river, has not been recovered. The plane, however, has been brought to the surface.

The jury found that Dr. Morris suffered a "crushed skull," that being the cause of his death, while a verdict of death through "immersion" was returned in the case of Hon. Mr. Jervis.

Evidence at the inquest tended to show that the seaplane, a Fokker Universal, built by Canadian Vickers, Limited, was in perfect condition before the hop-off yesterday afternoon. A Vickers mechanic testified that the machine had been thoroughly examined and found to be in excellent order.

EVIDENCE HEARD IN MOTOR TRIAL

Judge O'Connor Reserves Judgment in Car Accident Case.

OCCURRED LAST NOVEMBER.

His Honour Judge O'Connor tried a case without a jury yesterday, in which William T. Cresswell, of Peterborough, was the plaintiff and Frederick Mawson, of Toronto, who runs a vulcanizing business there, was the defendant.

It appears, that on the 12th. of November last, when Mr. Cresswell was coming to Peterborough from Toronto, accompanied by his wife and relatives, in his automobile, an automobile driven by William Gould of Toronto, with a number of friends who had been duck hunting, struck an automobile parked on the Provincial highway without lights, which caused him to collide with Mr. Cresswell's automobile.

Almost immediately after Mr. Mawson, who was driving directly behind Mr. Gould's car, turned to the left to avoid what he though was an accident, when the Gould car collided with the automobile parked on the side of the Provincial highway, and the Cresswell and Mawson cars collided head on, injuring Mr. Cresswell and causing some injury to Mrs. Mawson.

Mr. Cresswell brought an action against Mr. Mawson for the damages occasioned him and his automobile and Mr. Mawson counter claimed for damages occasioned he alleged were caused to him by Mr. Cresswell.

The trial occupied all day, with a large number of witnesses examined, and at the conclusion His Honour Judge O'Connor stated that while he could give judgement, he preferred to look over some of the exhibits that were put in and would give judgment in a brief time.

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., appeared for Mr. W. T. Cresswell and A Cameron MacNaughton, of Toronto, appeared for Mr. Mawson.

MORE POWER IS CONSUMED

Comparisons Show Greater Electricity Used As Result of Lower Rates.

REVENUE DECREASED.

Peterborough people are using more electricity as a result of the decrease in rates, a comparison of the figures for May of last year and May of this year show. At a meeting of the Utilities Commission yesterday afternoon, it was reported by Howard Clegg, accountant of the Commission, that consumption had increased for May of this year over May, 1928, both in the commercial and domestic distribution. At the same time the revenue has decreased.

In May of 1928, the commercial consumption was 192,750 kilowatt hours against 250,000 for the same month of this year. The revenue from the commercial distribution for May of last year was $4,893.00 and shows a slight decrease to $4,884.00 for this May. The consumption was increased by about 800 horse-power. In the domestic distribution the consumption has increased from 294,000 kilowatt hours to 330,000, the figures for the two corresponding months show. Revenue for May last year in this division was $8,500.00 against $8,375.00 in May, 1929.

Manager Ross Dobbin reported that much interest is being occasioned by the color-lighted fountain that has been in operation now for several weeks at the filtration plant. The time during which these lights are to be operated at night was discussed and it was decided that the period between 9 o'clock and 11.30 would be most suitable. Mr. Dobbin suggested that a parking problem might arise due to the attraction of the fountain as sometimes as many as thirty cars are to be seen parked at that point of the highway outside the filtration park property. Signs will be erected to help prevent such congestion.

The Utilities Commission is awaiting a statement from the Hydro Commission covering the operation of the gas plant from November of last year to this June, in order to know their exact position financially. An audit was completed last Thursday, but the results are not yet at hand.

A type of group insurance for its employees that is being made available to all the public utilities in Ontario was discussed by the Commission yesterday. Fuller information and reports are being secured on this matter.

STOP USING A TRUSS

Free Demonstration

Stuart's Plapao-Pads are different from the truss, being mechanico-chemico applicators made self-adhesive purposely to keep the herbal muscle-tonic called "PLAPAO" continuously applied to the affected parts, and to minimize danger of slipping and painful friction. The fabric is soft as velvet, and being adhesive, it clings to the body, without straps, buckles or springs. Easy to apply — comfortable—inexpensive. The epidermatic absorption of the "PLAPAO" and the utilization of "plaster therapy," tend toward a natural process of recovery, after which no further use for a truss. During 23 years, thousands have successfully treated their ruptures at home, without delay from work. Awarded Gold Medal, Rome; Grand Prix, Paris; Honorable Mention, San Francisco, etc.

SOCIETY MEETS.

Mrs. J. W. Hopwood Hostess To Members of St. John's' Church Society.

The regular meeting of the C.W.A. of St. John's church took the form of a picnic, the members turning out in large numbers, meeting at the summer home of Mrs. J. W. Hopwood on the island in Chemong lake.

A short business session was held and discussion of activties for the autumn work. It was decided to hold a congregational high tea in the autumn, also to hold the regular meeting of the C.W.A. at 3 o'clock instead of 3.30.

At the conclusion of the meeting the ladies played games and enjoyed swimming and then a delicious supper was served to which all did ample justice.

In the evening bridge was played, prizes being won by Miss Margaret English, Mrs. J. Welch and Mrs. Hewett.

HOME LUNCH OPENS MONDAY

Beautifully Decorated Upstairs Will Be Ready For Business Circus Day.

CAPACITY DOUBLED.

An unsuspected pleasure awaits those who will dine at the Home Lunch Grill Room. This new grill-room above the Home Lunch will open on Monday and will bring in conditions long desired by those who dine downtown.

William Hum, the proprietor of the cafe, has spared no expense in making of his establishment the last word in dining-rooms. The decorations and panelling are not garish but done in discreet, rich and pleasing colors and designs.

The grill room takes up the whole floor above the cafe, and the capacity of the Home Lunch is easily doubled. A kitchen to the rear of the grill room will insure rapid service; something that has always been the watchword of Mr. Hum's restaurant.

The stairs leading to the grill room are entered directly from George Street. And immediatelp on reaching the grill room the pleasant, cool quietness of the surroundings is striking. One feature of the arrangement of the stalls will add greatly to the popularity of this superior restaurant. The partitions are on hinges and may easily be swung back to form a banquet room of any size desired.

The lights are softly shaded in varying colours which adds to the richness of the woodwork and wall decorations.

Such a grill room as the Home Lunch has built has long been desired by Peterborough diners and the tasteful manner in which the work has been done will bring it into instant popularity. Mr. Hum made special efforts to have it fully completed for Old Home Week so that visitors might be privileged to dine amid perfect surroundings.

DOCTORS ATTEND MEDICAL MEET

ed on the fact that industry takes an eight years' toll of a worker's life, and eight days per year through sickness. The losses he summarized as being due to five main contributory factors —accidents, tuberculosis, pneumonia, heart diseases and occupational diseases. "In the matter of health the interests of the wage earner and the wage payer are identical," he concluded.

Vitamins.

According to Dr. Charles H. Best, Professor of Physiology at the University of Toronto, Vitamins are not a recent discovery. They were used as a cure for scurvy in Quebec, he said, in 1533. Cartier lost a third of his crew from the disease on his second voyage until the Indians came to the rescue with spruce tea or white pine tea, a natural remedy rich in Vitamin C, and still employed in Labrador, stated the professor.

Dr. Norman M. Harris, chief of the laboratory of hygiene in the Department of Pensions and National Health at Ottawa, demolished a widely held theory when he said: "The idea still lingers very widely among the laity, and even I believe among some of the profession, that decaying refuse and dirt are prolific sources for many epidemic diseases. The truth is such such diseases as influenza, scarlet fever, measles and smallpox, are spread directly from the sick to the well."

Four distinguished physicians from overseas attended the convention and took part in the deliberations: Sir St. Clair Thompson and J. A. Cairns-Forsyth of London, Professor G. B. Roatta, Florence, Italy, and Dr. P. F. Aymand Det Lilles of Paris.

Pasteurization.

The importance of pasteurization of milk and also of bacteriological analysis of milk at regular and frequent intervals, was stressed by speakers at the Public Health sessions. Frequent and regular analyses of samples of milk was especially recommended.

In the historical section, Dr. J. H. Elliott of Toronto, gave interesting information about the first licensed doctor in Upper Canada, who was also a lumberman, and politician, besides other activities to occupy his spare time. A copy of this doctor's license was produced, Dr. Elliott pointing out that the precious document was preserved by the wisdom of the daughter of the doctor's coachman, who found it lying about, and sent it on to the medical association.

pressed his gratification at their presence here, and hoped that their deliberations would result in renewed success for their organization. Fred J. Dempsey of Boston, Massachusetts, the official representative of the International Alliance, spoke briefly also, as did the second vice president, W. P. Covert of Toronto, who recorded the progress made during the year in the various local units.

The report of the Credentials committee was received and the delegates were seated.

The report of the Credentials committee was received and the delegates were seated.

A communication was read from the International president, William F. Canavan of New York City, expressing his regret at not being able to attend the meeting, owing to press of business duties, and assuring the delegates of the interest taken by the parent organization and of their willingness to lend assistance to the units at any time.

The delegates enjoyed a tour of the city by motor and returned later to the Hotel for dinner. Short addresses were given by W. P. Covert of Toronto, P. J. Ryan of Montreal, secretary of the organization, and Charles Dentelbeck of Toronto.

In the evening, through the kindness of Manager Stewart of the Capitol Theatre, the delegates attended the talkies and had an enjoyable time.

Today, when the sessions were presided over by F. J. Dempsey of Boston, the representative of the International president, matters of interest to the members were discussed.

Reports showed that the finances of the organization are in excellent shape and that the membership has increased during the past year. Owing to the demand for operators caused by the talkie innovation in pictures, employment is on the up grade.

A number of local members attended the meeting and representatives from out of town incluude: Fred J. Dempsey of Boston, Mass., W. P. Covert of oTronto, P. J. Ryan of Montreal, Chas. Dentelbeck of Toronto, Chas. A. Gallegher of Toronto, D. Rehder of London, Ontario, A. E. Andrews of Ottawa, Walter Hoffman of Montreal, Fred Ward of Hamilton, J. Protect Own Citizens

TORONTO, Ont., June 22 (C.P.).—While the Ontario Provincial Police will take any steps necessary to protect citizens within its borders from danger incidental to rum-running activities on the United States-Ontario border, the entry of armed rum-runners into Canadian waters is a matter for the Dominion government. This was the statement of Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, to-day. "I do not propose to have anybody say it is primarily our responsibility to cope with an international frontier in keeping undesirable people out," he said.

The Attorney-General has not yet received a report from Alfred Cuddy, Deputy Commissioner of Provincial Police, who is at Windsor investigating conditions. "When I receive a report I will be guided by what he says," Mr. Price added.

"I think things are well in hand so far as we are concerned. All we can do is to protect our own citizens within our borders. The immigration and customs are in the hands of Dominion authorities and it is in their power to check up those who come and go out, and therefore there is ample means under their supervision to keep undesirable persons out of the country. If they do not keep them out when they land here, then we will do our best to cope with them."

CHURCH PICNIC IS BIG SUCCESS; HONOR MINISTER

Over 1,000 Attend Annual Outing of George Street United Church.

FINE PROGRAM OF EVENTS.

Rev. J. E. Todd Is Presented With a Purse of Gold By Congregation.

One of the largest crowds that ever assembled at Nicholls Oval, gathered there Wednesday afternoon for the congregational annual picnic of George Street United Church. It was estimated that over one thousand people were present, marking new history for numbers of the many well attended picnics George Street is noted for.

The weather man was kind for despite the threatening clouds which gathered early in the afternoon perfect weather was given, the sun shining in full brilliance. A splendid program had been arranged by the committees which included tennis, horse shoe games, race for both children and adults, baseball tournament for seniors and intermediates and a student band composed of the orchestra augmented by several other musicians added greatly to the pleasure of the outing.

A bountiful supper was served from 5.30 to 6.30 in community style. This was handled in a very capable manner by a committee of ladies composed of Miss Mary Elliott (convenor), Mrs. P. Hetherington (assistant) and Mrs. G. Robertson, Mrs. Buck, Mrs. T. Mark, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Strong, Mrs. C. E. Smith, Miss Higgins and Miss Miller.

Presentation Made.

After supper G. F. H. Wallace, who was appointed master of ceremonies, called everyone to gather around the orchestra. Community singing was enjoyed and then Mr. Wallace asked Rev. J E. Todd to come forward. Mrs. G. C. Staples read the following address, and Mr B. F. Ackerman preesnted him with a purse of gold on behalf of the congregation of George street United church.

Dear Mr. Todd:

In a very informal way, but in the spirit of deepest sincerity we take this opportunity of conveying to you the esteem in which you are held in the hearts of your George street people.

When you came to us, four years ago, you came as a stranger in our midst, but very soon we realized that in you we had a real leader in all things moral and spiritual.

Your work here speaks for itself. Every department of the church has grown and is pervaded by a spirit of love and harmony. Your work both in the pulpit and outside of it has left its impression on us all and for our good.

Some of us may forget many of the helpful things that you have tried to impress upon us, but none of us will ever forget the influence of your personality which, in the last analysis is but the expression of your Christian character. For your messages and your influence we are deeply thankful. And now you have been called to an even wider sphere of usefulness. We shall follow you and yours with our prayers and best wishes, confidently believing that you will be greatly used of Him who has called you to further His work in the great Canadian West.

We ask you to accept this little gift as a slight remembrance of your George street friends.

Signed on behalf of the congregation—George C. Carruthers, J. F. H. Wallace, G. C. Staples.

Mr. Todd replied briefly thanking the people for their kind words and gift and expressing his love and affection for George street people.

OLD PEOPLE ENTERTAINED

Roy Locksley and His Canadians Play at County Old People's Home.

SEVERAL ADDRESSES GIVEN.

Roy Locksley and His Canadians, the orchestra from Rye's Pavilion, gave a very entertaining concert at the County's Old People's Home Thursday afternoon. Mayor Denne of the city, Warden Breckenbridge of the County Council, and the members of the council were present at the concert.

At the close of two hours of very enjoyable music by the orchestra, Lewis Fry, the superintendent of the House of Refuge assured the visitors that the old people certainly appreciated the thoughtfulness of all who were present and the fine program of music.

"The visit can be evidence," he said, "that the representatives wanted the old people to feel that they are an important factor in the county, and that the efforts that they had put forth in former days were being repaid.

The matron of the home, Mrs. Fry, said that such a concert was an encouragement to continue the work that they had entered into a contract to do for the county.

Warden Breckenridge next spoke and agreed with all that had been said by the previous speakers. The county also owed them a debt and the house provided for them was earned by the old pioneers and the debt owed them could only be paid in part. He hoped that the superintendent and the matron would continue the good work that they had been doing.

Mayor Denne spoke and said that he was more than pleased to receive an invitation to the concert. It was his first visit to the House of Refuge he stated and that it was certainly a surprise to him to find such an up-to-date place with so many old people happy. The work should surely be gratifying to the county council. He also said that he hoped he would receive other invitations to visit the people more frequently in the future.

Mr. Rye, the owner of the pavilion where the orchestra plays, referred to the courtesy of the leader and his staff of musicians who so generously used their own cars to come to the house and to supply the music for such an enjoyable program.

The program of the orchestra was not the entire feature of the entertainment for the afternoon. One of the older men gave a step dance to the lively music that was a credit to him and which, according to those present, would shame many of the younger dancers, it was so artful.

Treasury Department Will Turn Report Over to Secretary of State

DETROIT, June 21 (C.P.).—Complete details of the shooting incident in the Detroit River early Wednesday in which run runners disabled a customs border patrol speedboat, were forwarded to Washington last night by customs officials. The treasury department, which will receive the report will turn it over to the State Department in compliance with a request yesterday by Secretary of State Hepry L. Stimson.

Detroit customs authorities refused to reveal the nature of the report. It was understood, however, they did not dwell heavily on the significance of the shooting affair as an outstanding event in the enforcement situation here.

WHEN GENERATIONS MEET

Two generations met on George street yesterday and for such a meeting the atmosphere was rather tense. An ancient buggy and an automobile side-swiped each other. The occupants of both vehicles climbed out and proceeded to tell each other what they thought. The argument ended in a deadlock, as the owner of the horse-drawn vehicle told the auto owner that this was no place for a car, while the other driver claimed that buggies were too old fashioned for Peterborough's streets. They were still arguing when last seen.

PEONIES IN FULL BLOOM

J. H. Callander's gorgeous peony garden on Weller street is in its annual blossomtime. This year, perhaps owing to the fickle temperature and present extreme heat, all the flowers have taken a notion to view the world at once, and peonies of the early, mid-season and late variety are all blooming at once. That means a superb mass of blossoms, of a short life. Among these lovely flowers is an outstanding example that is called Le Cygne (The Swan), and is the high score peony of the world. Its shape, which is that of a perfect rose, gave it the high scoring and it is pure white shading on opening to a creamy tinge.

CLEAN OUT BARBERRY

A drive is being made this year by the Ontario Department of Agriculture to clean out the common barberry from Ontario. Educational matter has been propagated for some time, and a bill was passed in the last session to back up its efforts.

The common barberry is a shrub that harbors the fungi of stem rust in grain. Two stages of the growth of the fungi is on the grain and in that time the spores reproduce themselves four times. The third stage of the growth is on the leaves of the common barberry. In this stage the spores reproduce themselves four times. The third stage of the growth is on the leaves of the common barberry. In this stage the spores multiply by the millions.

The bill passed in the last session causes the common barberry to be listed as a noxious weed. Farmers, in planting barberry on their properties for decoration must be careful to use the Japanese barberry, which is harmless.

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

Monday, June 24, 1929.
(Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syn.)

Benefic aspects rule to-day, according to astrology which reads in the stars many fair promises.

It is a day for pushing business and professional matters, and should bring large returns for hard work.

It is a lucky day for starting new enterprises, especially those of big scope and novel aim.

While initiative is encouraged, the seers foretell that financial support may be difficult to obtain while this rule prevails.

Banks and bankers will be conservative in their policies at this time, if the stars are rightly read, but later will be helpful.....

At this time there may be new temptation to speculate, and warning is given that the slow, sure method will be wisest under this month's aspects.

One of the good promises seen in the stars is that there will be a more general regard for truth and honesty and a dimin ishing of deceit and false representation.

This should be an auspicious day for lawyers and those who consult them on legal matters.

Danger of trouble between Italy and Germany again is prognosticated. Peace programs may be retarded seriously before the end of the summer.

According to ancient lore, this should be a fairly lucky day for fishing or for sea trips.

Sudden journeys and happy returns are presaged for many Americans who will girdle the globe.

Neptune and Mars are in aspects that are supposed to cause American diplomacy to be subject to many cross purposes.

Persons whose birthdate it is, have the augury of a prosperous year in which they will make new friends who are helpful.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly clever and really intellectual. The subjects of this sign have the urge to attain high positions of various sorts.

Henry Ward Beecher, noted preacher, was born on this day, 1813. Others who have claimed it as a birthday were Empress Josephine, 1763; Eugene Blaas, painter, 1843; and Suyvesant Fish, financier, 1851.

Sunday, June 23, 1929.

Astrologers read this as a fortunate day, making for serene attitudes of mind and peaceful pursuits.

There is an auspicious sign for philanthropic and charitable enterprises. Hospitals should benefit.

Although there is an aspect supposed to encourage doubt and scepticism the churches should find the rule on the whole favorable.

All the signs seem to indicate for the clergy increase in reform efforts and expansion of their fields of work.

This is read as a day most favorable to courtship or even to friendly association between girls and their suitors.

It is a day for sober reflection and communion with nature as well as for romance in any form.

Amusements that partake of an artistic theme should profit under this planetary government. Musicians will benefit.

The evening may be disappointing to persons who seek to gain business counsel or other advantages of a mundane interest.

According to ancient lore this is an auspicious day for wearing new garments. The week-end wardrobe should be especially effective.

Beauty again will be much discussed and cosmetics will probably be temporarily in disfavor, it is foretold, but nature's coat of tan will be regretted, if the stars are rightly read.

With the reactionary tendency of fashions and customs, a return to the complexion standards that once made the sun-bonnet acceptable is prognosticated.

Under this rule of the stars the human voice will become a subject of new interest, astrologers forecast, and beautiful tones will be cultivated as never before.

Persons whose birthdate it is, may have a year of small vexations. They will gain through the love of friendship of persons of opposite sex.

Children born on this day, probably will be strong in body and active in mind. The subjects of this sign always enjoy the best that life offers.

The Prince of Wales was born on this date, 1894. Others who have had it as a birthday were Fanny Elsler, famous dancer, 1810; and Felix O. C. Darley, noted artist, 1822.

DR. SHIELDS IS CHOSEN HEAD OF DES MOINES UNIVERSITY

Board Decides To Add Graduate Theological Seminary To Institution.

NAMES INSTIGATORS.

Recent Upheaval Is Believed To Be Providential Order of Events, Trustees State.

DES MOINES, June 22 (Canadian Press): — A belief that the administrative upheaval at Des Moines University will in the end be seen to be a providential ordering of events that the university should be made, and then kept, wholeheartedly true to the faith once for all delivered to the saints, was expressed last night by the Board of Trustees following a reorganization meeting. Chosen as acting president, Dr. T. T. Shields, of Toronto, Ont., chairman of the board, to-day prepared to assemble a faculty to replace the professors ousted by the trustees in May. The board said a large number of applications have been received. Miss Edith M. Rebman was re-elected secretary of the Board and treasurer of the university, and Dr. O. W. Van Osdel, of Grand Rapids, Mich., was re-elected vice-president. Dr. H. C. Wayman, deposed president, and Rev. Minor Stevens ,of Des Moines, were not re-elected as trustees, the board declaring they "were the chief instigators of the recent disturbance in the university."

Board Members Elected.

New board members are the Rev. Charles Fredman, of La Salle, Ill., the Rev. Howard C. Fulton, of Buffalo, N.Y., R. C. Alderson, of Austin, Minn., and Rev. Ham Rust, of Guthrie Centre, Iowa.

A graduate theological seminary will be added next year, the board decided, "in order that the university may more fully meet the needs of the churches from which it derives its support."

Although expressing regret at the recent occurrences at the university which included a student attack on trustees with books and eggs and obtaining by under-graduates of a court injunction to keep the school open despite Dr. Shields' order, the trustees called them a "providential ordering of events."

"The board is already in receipt of evidence that multitudes of people have been stirred to interest in the university," the trustees said.

MISS NEW YORK LEAVES ON TRIP TO TORONTO

Second of Taxi-Boats for Toronto Transportation Commission Leave Local Yards.

The Miss York, the second of the two taxi-boats built by the Peterborough Canoe Company, for the Toronto Transportation Commission, for service in Toronto Harbor, left yesterday on its long journey by water around to Toronto. It was piloted by the same crew that delivered the first boat.

The trip will be run on the same schedule as the first delivery, making Hastings the first night, Trenton the second, and Toronto sometime the third day. The pilots experienced little difficulty in delivering the first boat with the exception of a slight delay when it was necessary to put in at Cobourg during the progress of a storm on Lake Ontario.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright,
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet,
Or dims the radiant light,
No unkind word our lips shall pass,
No envy sour the mind,
But each shall seek the common weal,
The good of all mankind.

MILLBROOK

The local branch of the Women's Institute has had the signs, which it erected two years ago at the four main roads leading into the village, repainted during the past week, the improvement being most noticeable. On one side, facing the visitor entering the municipality, is the word, Millbrook, and on the reverse side, giving the impression of extending the 'glad hand' of welcome, are the words, "Come Again."

A number of branches in the East Durham Institute have financed the erection of these tourist guide signs at the municipal limits, and see to their being properly kept in repair from year to year.

More and more, throughout the province, it is evident that the Agricultural Representatives in the various counties are giving their testimony that the Women's Institutes are 'right behind me in many of the undertakings which the Department of Agriculture is trying to carry through, and it is largely due to them that we were so successful with our judging competitions, our poultry culling demonstrations, our short courses, etc.' And, on the other hand, the Institutes are just as enthusiastically stating that the 'District Rep' is right behind the W. I., the secretary in the office of the Department being also a helper, in many instances, as frequently she is a mine of information, knows the county thoroughly, and is just as anxious as her chief to assist in all sorts of ways.

A branch in Oxford county has provided a ladies' rest room in its nearest community centre, and in order to combine instruction with the comfort which the chintz covered wicker chairs and the table well supplied with magazines seem to suggest, the walls were hung with colored charts, obtained from the government, showing how to cut a beef, for instance, with pictures of the cuts themselves, and the proper names below. The rest room costs over two hundred dollars a year, and a committee is responsible for its management.

"Providing a president has the faculty of appreciation, and an aptitude for seeing the gifts which others possess, she will always be assured of willing workers, and a successful term as the chief executive officer", writes a departmental officer, giving incidents from personal experience of just such leaders with whom she has come in contact in her travels over the province in the course of a year's work. "There's a good deal in management, but there is also much in giving praise where praise is due, and in speaking the encouraging word when effort has been made, even if the full success it was hoped for has not been quite reached."

Supporting a ward in the hospital of the county town is an activity which several branches carry out successfully from year to year; the initial cost may be approximately three hundred dollars, and the upkeep yearly will probably be twenty-five dollars and upwards; but the work is worthwhile and any branch may be proud to assume.

Helping under-privileged children in the community is another responsibility which Institutes have been carrying on; one branch tells of a little girls in a poor home, who had to be operated on for adenoids, and tonsils, and the Institute bore the expense, it also tided a widow over, financially, until she received the government allowance for mothers; blankets and other necessities were supplied a family burned out with heavy loss; all this makes a fine showing when the annual reports are prepared, and most assuredly proves that this great organization is an asset of national value.

AT WARSAW

Miss Appelbe gave a very forceful address at the last Warsaw Women's Institute meeting, on the need of keeping in mind the old stories and traditions, and of treasuring heirlooms be they ever so apparently insignificant.

Warsaw Institute has taken quite an interest, and the people in the community have also. The greater part of Women's Institute members are either themselves or their husbands are descendants of early settlers. Some are not of those who came in 1831, but of others who came within the next four or five years. Several Institute members are from Douro and both they and their husbands, or their parents belong to early families. At the gathering Miss Appelbe addressed only one lady present was neither herself of an early family nor was her husband: three others were wives of early settlers descendants. At the Toronto Exhibition last fall, there was a collection of pioneers' household articles. A Warsaw woman happened to mention it to Miss Alexander that Warsaw could produce as good an exhibit. From what she had seen she agreed. The exhibition was in the Women's Institute tent. There are work baskets over one hundred years old, books and furniture as old. Some beautiful old pieces of luster ware are treasured. Hand woven linen is in some homes. Many stories are still told, and some of these have been published. The remains of some of the earliest buildings are still seen. The earliest settlers came in 1831 and perhaps there may be a re-union in 1931, and a complete history of the Township secured.

CAVAN.

Our Institutes could not do better during the fall and winter months than to make a study of our Canadian writers and their works.

Many of us are not aware of the great number of Canadian writers or what a variety of topics their works cover.

Canadian literature has for Canadians certain values, certain messages which can be conveyed by no other literature. We have an existing body of Canadian writers who have endeavored, and who are endeavoring, to be the articulate voice of the nation. The work of these writers is distinctly Canadian in so far as it depicts Canadian scenes, tone, sentiment, local conditions and local atmosphere, in so far as it portrays the life, the work the feelings, the thoughts, the aspirations of the people of Canada.

One big thing that Canadian writers can do is to promote knowledge and understanding between the various racial elements that must contribute to the making of a unified and solidified Canadian nation.

The value of the work of the late Dr. William Henry Drummond is in his sympathetic presentation of all phases of the life of the French-Canadian habitant. His many little studies of child life show the tender relation existing between parents and children in French-Canadian homes. Incidents of the lives of the older folk are sketched with tenderness and reverence. Character sketches of cure, country doctor, and others gives an insight into the fortitude tenderness, the devotion to duty and the simple but lofty ideals of these people.

Since few of us know the language of our French-Canadian countrymen, and many of us come very little into contact with them, we must look to our writers to provide contact through literature.

In "Maria Chapdelaine," by Louis Hemon, we have a crystal-clear picture of the habitant of the hinterland of Quebec. "Canadian Folk Songs," translated by John Murray Gibbon, is another valuable work in this class.

In "The Songs of Ukraina," Florence Randal Livesay brings us closer to the ideals and traditions of the immigrant races from South-Central Europe. Pauline Johnson, herself daughter of a Mohawk chief and an Englishwoman, presents the Indian's viewpoint of his relations with the white man and his wrongs. Duncan Campbell Scott has many fine poems which show Indian life from the white man's point of view. Indian legends and traditions gathered from tribes from coast to coast are found in Mabel Burkholder's "Before the White Man Came." Tradition and history are combined in the "True Story of Hiawatha," by A. Leon. Hatzan.

The special problems of the West are written down for us in the novels of Ralph Connor, Robert Stead, Nellie McClung and others. Canadians young and old should be familiar with the life and work of such men as Sir John A. McDonald, Sir Wilfred Laurier, Lord Strathcona, Father Lacombe, Bishop Bompas, Dr. James Robertson and many others.

Along with Canadian biography should go Canadian history. Our history is full of exploits that are more romantic than was ever the wanderings of Ulysses.

The author of "The Men of Kildonan" relates a story of courage and romance which any Canadian should be proud to read. Few knew anything of the facts on which it was founded until the author pieced it together from dry records and made it a living picture.

There are more interesting and fascinating Canadian tales than space will allow us to name, but don't forget Charles G. D. Roberts' novels of early Acadia, histories of the war of 1812, the rebellion of 1837 and other events in the development and growth of Canada.

Robert Stead is the poet of the prairies; Robert W. Service the poet of the Yukon; Helen M. Egerton and Ethelwyn Wetherald delight chiefly in singing of bird life, and Jean Blewett is the poet of the home.

These are only a few of the Canadian writers, whose works we might use in developing the educational side of our institutes.

The department, on application, will supply helps along these lines.

Let us, during the coming winter, make more use of our own writers' works in providing programs for the regular meetings of the Women's Institute.

SO often in later life, women come back to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to keep them well and healthy. They find that these world-famous pills are just as efficacious in middle age as in girlhood. Mrs. J. A. Dutton, of Salford, Ont., is one of them.

"When I was a girl in my teens," she writes, "I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia. The relief they gave me was wonderful and my health was of the best for years. Last Spring I noticed I was going down hill again so began their use once more. Today I am as well as ever I was, and for all this good health I thank Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

MARION'S MAIL

Address correspondence to Marion at The Examiner Office.

"Dear Marion:

Much is written about Empire buying, and it seems to be the reasonable thing to do — purchase goods manufactured and grown in our own country or some part of the British Empire, and help provide employment for our own countrymen. I quite agree with the slogan Empire buyers are Empire builders.

But just now it does not seem as though this is being carried out very well along some lines. Outside of the grocery stores are seen bushel baskets of imported potatoes, while bushels of last year's potato crop remains on the hands of the producers.

Farmers are urged to purchaes implements, while potatoes and other things are brought in from the U. S.A., leaving Canadian products unsold.

The United States has raised the tariff against cream, eggs, and other Canadian farm products, and yet their potatoes, tomatoes, etc., are brought in here.

Last year was an extremely hard year on farmers, so much of the crop being damaged by rain. Again this spring the weather has been unfavorable for farm work.

When country folk come to town and find it hard to dispose of their surplus potatoes and see United States potatoes being offered for sale, it almost makes them feel as though they should not purchase anything that is not positively necessary. We believe that we could get along without the town or city better than they could get along without us. After all, if we went about it in a systematic way, it would surprise ourselves and the storekeepers also, to find how many of our usual purchases could be gotten along nicely without, and still give our families good, healthy board.

I would like to hear what other ruralites think of this matter.

We are having splendid growing weather just now, and the country is rapidly putting on a different appearance. The pasture is good and the spring crops are coming along well. We may be favored with a longer season, warmer weather in the fall, and all will be well.

Farmers are an optimistic bunch When they have a poor crop or poor prices prevail, they do not give up—merely go on and prepare for the next season's crop, hoping for better luck next time.

We notice one church in Peterborough is preparing to provide a rest room during Old Home Week. That will be a very important factor for the comfort of your guests, particularly those who motor in for the day. For older people or those with children, it is decidedly inconvenient to have no place in which to rest.

I hope you may be favored with good weather during the re-union week.

Yours sincerely,
Ruralite."

As usual, "Ruralite," your letter is thought - provoking and decidedly worth while. This would be an interesting subject for discussion, and might bring forth fruit in the way of a workable compromise.

"Dear Marion:

Where are all the neighbors? Busy of course.

I was in Peterborough a short time ago, and there certainly is a big improvement in the looks of the city. I would hardly know it if it wasn't quite familiar.

Marion, I would like to get some notepaper with my monogram on it, if I could, and I think The Examiner is the only place I could get it. Would you see and let me know about it, also the price?

Sincerely,
Milly."

I sent you a price list, "Milly," which I obtained from the Job Deparment. Peterborough is looking spruce for Old Home Week. Are you coming to join us?

"Dear Marion:

There is an old saying "bad pennies always turn up." Well, maybe that does not exactly suit my case, but it seems as if I only write when I need some help. So as usual I am writing for some helps again, so I am posting a coupon with a two-cent stamp. I feel selfish, as I have not helped your page very much yet.

However, I may be able to return the compliment some time.

Yours sincerely,
Mrs. C. J."

I'm always willing to help, "Mrs. C. J." Come again.

The Whatnot

A Column for Little Bits of Everything of Interest to Women Readers

Conducted by Marion (Copyright)

By Kathleen Norris.

Looking the whole situation over, it seems to me that money is at the very source of the modern problem of marriage.

* * *

A divorce lawyer told me the other day that he handled a hundred divorces every year that, in his own words, "could be prevented by some dear old aunt somewhere leaving husband or wife ten thousand dollars!"

* * *

This is a horrible thought, and yet the thousands of letters that I get from disillusioned, disconted husbands and wives seem to bear it out. When either partner to a marriage has no experience, knowledge or interest in the family expenditures, trouble is sure to follow.

Take the girls and boys who are madly in love with each other to-day, and going to be married in a few months time. How many of them know just what the mate-to-be expects or plans in regard to the family finances?

A man who signs himself merely "Disgusted," wrote me his phase of the problem, a few weeks ago. Disgusted has been married for 12 years, and he wants to get free.

* * *

His income is $75 a week, and a good income, too, for the teller in a country bank. He and his wife ought to have everything in the world to make them happy; they have a boy and a girl, their own home their and own car, a garden and fruit trees,—all the things that make living in a prosperous American village so happy and so worth while.

* * *

But Lina, the wife, is no manager. She spent all the money she has on the first thing that she fancies, and when the money gives out she charges. They are over nine thousand dollars in debt to grocer and doctor and garage, they owe small bills everywhere. Lina does not worry; she asks her husband for pity's sake to stop TALKING MONEY; everything will get paid someday. Everything always does.

* * *

The disgusted husband kept some books on the latter last year and some of the statistics amazed him, although they didn't even interest his wife.

* * *

Interest on house and mortgage, table supplies at $15 a week, gas, telephone, laundry, insurance and service, automobile and cleaner come to $140 per month. The man takes $5 weekly for his personal expenses. This leaves at least $140, and some months more than $200 over. Lina spends that, and as much more—on nothing.

* * *

She is the kind of woman who "falls in love" with an expensive hat, who buys sets of books that nobody r3ads, who spends mornings in beauty parlors and invests in expensive creams, whose bedroom is littered with heavy, illustrated magazines, who taxis everywhere, who sits transfixed before a picture, wishing she had the money to buy it, or wastes whole mornings studying dresses in the shops,—usually ending by impulsively charging some costume perfectly adapted to Buckingham Palace or Palm Beach.

* * *

"It makes me mad," writes "Disgusted," "to think that if I had a thrifty, sensible wife, I would have several thousand dollars invested by this time instead of being that much behind. I could borrow money on the house and pay up all my bills to-morrow, but what good would it do? Lina would go right downtown and order home a complete dinner service in amber glass!"

* * *

And it does seem strange that there is no way in which a man can find out, before his marriage, whether his bride has had any training at all in domestic economy, or has even been taught to see that such a thing exists.

* * *

Often the shoe is on the other foot Thousands of wives work hard, at that thankless, unending domestic household work that is like pouring water into sand, thousands of them save money, watch expenses, look forward toward a day when life will be prettier and easier, with comfort and dignity assured for old age. And all the time the husband is cheating; keeping money back, buying $3 cravats at the same hour that the wife is bargaining for a fifteen cent cauliflower.

* * *

Most women can stand poverty, a real fight from bad times to better times. But it takes an extraordinary woman to bear in patience and silence the utter injustice of doing all the work, carrying all the burden of a small income, only to discover that the man of the family is entertaining his friends at hotels, buying theatre tickets, sitting in poker games, and spending, on the unnecessary new overcoat, three times the money she has managed to save on laundry, service and table.

* * *

Money is an accursed thing anyway, and we shall never have the Kingdom Come until we manage to do without it. Too much of it is as bad as too little; anxiety about it, pondering about it, resenting the situation it creates, causes a sort of madness in the brain.

* * *

When a woman's thoughts are running upon tapioca pudding because it is cheaper than chocolate; splitting and re-sewing the old sheets to double their wear; walking four blocks to Factory street to take advantage of the canned groceries sale, it exasperates her beyond bearing to hear her husband say breezily:

* * *

"I need some more of that shaving cream,—tell the kid to get two tubes By the way, I'm short this week, that fender is going to cost me twenty. I sent some roses up to the Jenkins with our compliments. Happened to meet her, and she said it was their anniversary. Did I tell you I got stung last night? I drew no Kings and eights, and filled——"

* * *

This sort of thing embitters the wife—and with resaon. How can she possibly take any satisfaction in her carefully balanced budget, when the other half of the family is wasting the dollars she saves in cents?

* * *

If some of the young couples who are pulling at the bit of marriage to-day, some of the men who are vaguely discontented, some of the wives who are burning with resentment all the time, would sit down quietly with a pencil and paper, and estimate in cold figures just where their income goes, and just what extravagances in each one most distress the other, they would take a long step toward dispelling the divorce cloud that has been hanging over the household of late.

* * *

When, out of an income of $300 a month, or thereabout, the table expenses for four run to $100 and there are other items for movies, ice-cream cones, silk stockings, bridge debts, lunches and prizes, cosmetics and beauty parlors, chocolates and hats that account for $50 more, then a man has every right in the world to feel that he is unjustly treated. The table expenses in such a family ought not to be more than $70 and the others about $25 and the remaining money would look very well written down in nice clean blue ink, in a nice clean little brown bank book.

* * *

On the other hand, when a man refuses to give his wife a regular sum for household and personal expenses, when he shies away from any talk of budget like a scared horse, when he promises a lot next month, and forgets this month completely, then the wife is struggling with a situation out of which she cannot possibly emerge successfully.

* * *

Years ago that was the customary thing. Mama waited, every morning, or every other morning, until Papa had had his coffee, and felt good-natured, and then asked in a timid rush for Annie's wages, money for Willie's shoes and Edith's hair-ribbons, and something for the grocer.

* * *

Papa, in those simple days, had no more idea of a budget than Mama did. He immediately said, "Good Heavens!" or even something stronger, in a tone of annoyance.

* * *

" Will ten do you?" he then asked ungraciously. Ten dollars, for shoes, servant, dry goods shopping and household supplies. Sometimes Mama timidly suggested that she had only had a little money that week——

* * *

Papa then took two more dollars out of his pocket, and shoved them across the table with the greenback, asking in a martyred tone, "Make that go as far as you can, won't you, dear?"

* * *

Times have changed. Any girl who has been recently married, or who is going to get married this year, has a perfect right to-day to face this situation with her young man. She can tell from conversation exactly how seriously he is going to take it; she ought to know then whether he is going to regard the whole money question as a joke, or whether he is going to co-operate with her in a sensible adjustment and outlay.

* * *

It may sound very practical and cold-blooded to the ecstatic lovers. But it is one of those things, like a good digestion, that makes a difference of one hundred percent. in the happiness of married life.

And if we are ever to slay the dragons that destroy marriage we have to begin with the most terrible of them all—the money question.

That Body of Yours

(By Jas. W. Barton, M.D.)

FIRST SYMPTOM OF LIVER AILMENTS.

I speak frequently about the distention of gas in the stomach, and of how bending and twisting exercises will help to dislodge it and give relief.

However, if you are bothered regularly by this distention it is worth your while to try and find out what is causing it.

I have tried to show that insufficient chewing of the food was a frequent cause, also eating in a hurry or when tired.

However, there is no question but that one of the most frequent causes is because the liver is not doing its work properly.

Unfortunately the patient doesn't suspect the liver, because his trouble is all in his stomach.

He gets an X-ray examination of stomach and as it show no cancer or ulcer, attributes his trouble perhaps to nervous indigestion.

In this connection Dr. G. A. Dowling is of the opinion that trouble in the gall bladder should be the first thought when there is any stomach disturbance.

Thus gas distention, belching, inability to eat certain foods, sour stomach, heart burn, bilious attcks, nausea, vomiting, dizziness, headaches, and constipation is about the order in which the symptoms occur.

Starvation gives more relief than taking food.

However, as eating is necessary patients are advised to take small meals, and to avoid roughage in the shape of raw fruits and tough meats, also fats, pastries, greasy gravies, too much pepper, salt, mustard, sauces, and alcohol.

Now as you may have this gas distension and have no other symptoms it is likely that you are just overeating or perhaps under exercise.

Watching the food intake, following the above suggestions regarding food, and chewing the food well, should not only relieve you from this distress of gas distension, but keep you free from any inflammatory condition of the liver and gall bladder.

If you are willing to go a step farther and do the old fashioned "liver squeezer" exercise regularly, you should be able to keep ahead of "liver" conditions.

This exercise is simply bending from side to side, extending the right arm down to the right side as far as possible, with knees straight, curling the left under the arm pit, Twenty times each side, night and morning, should be sufficient.

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

HIS BROTHER.

"There you go again. Now your brother would never do a thing like that? Why do you do it?"

A mother cannot help feeling that all her children should be like the one she thinks is the best, usually the one that gives the least trouble. She is right in picking the best one at that, but we will all have to remember that if the child had had any choice in the matter he would have been as good and better than the best. When nature formed his core she gave him no choice. She reached into her storehouse and took up a handful of life-dust and that was the new child. Just an experiment, maybe better than the one before, maybe not as good. But there he is.

That need not frighten us. There is enough good, enough power, enough talent in every normal child born into the world to make him useful and happy and successful. The thing is to develop that good to the place where it becomes carrying power.

That isn't done by reproaching the pesky child with comparisons as to other noble children. Comparisons that are not favorable to a child make him uncomfortable and whenever he is uncomfortable he is irritable and cross. He resents the pattern child and instead of following in his footsteps he avoids doing so.

And then he cannot be like his brother. He is like himself. The fact that he has the same father and mother, does not necessarily mean that he is to be like his brothers and sisters. No two are alike and we have to find what each needs to perfect his growth and see that as far as it is humanly possible, he gets it.

One child wants to learn to play a cornet and does well at it, but his brother cannot tell one note from the other. One likes to be in company and shines when there, while another member of the family hides or becomes sulky in the presence of visitors. One child does well in school while the other never gets a rating above the middle or lower group.

Work with the child that you have and guard against making him hate his brothers and sisters by comparing his achievements with theirs. It is unfair to both sides. The good child is not good because of his own effort. It costs him little to be good. The pesky child has to struggle against his original set of body and mind to meet your standard. Anything he does that is good ought then to be heralded with the blasts of trumpets. He is to be raised mightily for his good deeds so that he will feel repaid for his effort.

One successful effort sets the stage for the next. Time is better spent in drawing the child forward toward a success than in comparing him with his good brother or sister or friend. That way trouble lies and plenty of it.

CLERKS WIN FROM MILLERS

Counter Hoppers in Tie With Churchmen For League Lead.

TAKE EARLY LEAD.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 22 (Examiner Staff Correspodence).—Gaining a seven-run lead in the first innings, the Clerks forged steadily forward to a victory of twenty-four to four over the Mill. The win for the Counter-hoppers puts them on an even footing with the Churchmen for the top of the league. Each have won three and lost one. Last night the Clerks had the edge of the play all the way through. In the first innings, they slammed out seven runs, but failed to count at all the next time up. Then for four frams in succession, they averaged three runs and in the final session, collected five more for a grand total of two dozen. The only homer of the game was hit in the third innings by Denike, the Clerks' first basemen.

The Clothmakers struggled hard, but the odds were against them and they had to work hard for their four counters. The only man to reach a base in the first innings was Reynolds, and he was walked. Before he managed to get another lap on his journey they caught him napping between first and second. In the third, the Mill got three runs. Beatty, the first man up, scored a round trip. Sanders was tagged between second and third. Dennis got a run in. Lambert followed suit. Reynolds was left on third. Cochrane got caught between first and second, and Montgomery went down on an infield out. In the fifth innings, Sanders was the first man up and he got the fourth and final run for the Mill. They did not count again during the remaining four frames. Reynolds started the game pitching for the Mill, but Cochrane relieved him after the first two innings. There was one home run, three three-base hits and seven double baggers. Maybee walked two and fanned one. Scott replaced Sanders at centre field after the third innings.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Miseter Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, this has been a warm week, but from a local baseball viewpoint not so hot either, seeing that Mister Swanston's lads has dropped themselves a coupla ball games since last I took my pen in hand to drop you a line. Here last Sat. Mister Sutton's young fellows from Oshawa did the trick, largely because Mister Hardill detoured around a coupla bunts and Mister Harrison, up 3 times with friends on the safety islands, couldn't get anything that looked like a hit. The customers in the stands and on the bridge give Mister Harrison the well-known rass. The big 1st sacker of the Petes has earned better treatment than that, for Sat. was about the only time this season that he ain't kicked in with a hit to drive in a run or 2. In fact, Mister Harrison has cuffed in more runs than anybody else in the Petes' line-up, though you never woulda thought it listening to them grandstand managers last week. Anyway Oshawa win the ball game, and they deserved the honors, two, as I see it, for they got smart pitching from Mister Matthews and moved round nicely behind his neat heaving.

Wed. the boys took the trail to Belleville with a kinda "Here's our meat" look in their eyes as they figgered on laying Mister Peeney Mills and his pals like a carpet. The Petes has beat Belleville so often they sorta felt that they'd be world champs if the Nationals was all the opposition they had to beat. Wed., however, Mister Gerow's lads failed to curl up as usual and the Petes, looking like they was suffering from lack of sleep owing to daylight saving mebbe, collapsed like a concertina themselves. Honest, Mac, you could of pushed a wheelbarrow round the bases faster than the Petes moved on the paths Wed. They didn't think quick and they didn't run quick, and the result was Mister Utronki, all prepared for another dent in his record, weathered the game and turned in his 1st win of the year over Mister Swanston's athaletes. Mister Hap Harrison unlimbered his heavy artillery and smote the longest 4-base sock I ever glimpsed. The ball took 1 hop over the fence round the race-track in deep centre field and rolled right to the horse stables. They was nobody on the runways at the time unluckily. If Mister Harrison could of chucked that hit into last Sat.'s pastime it woulda pretty near meant the ball game for the Petes.

This Central race is sure a tight affair. Right now you could cover the whole 4 teams with a blanket and nobody ain't likely to make any runaway affair outo the hunt for the pennant. So far the Petes is the only team to beat Belleville, it's true, but Mister Gerow's boys ain't played Oshawa this season yet, and until them two teams tie into each other a coupla times it's kinda difficult to get the dope right. Apparently the Nationals only got to toss their gloves out in the field to beat Deloro, and if they has the same luck as last year trimming Oshawa, it will be a case of look out for Belleville, if Mister Utronki gets enough help from Mister Jack Shea to stand up to the strain. Anyway it's a grand race, and they ain't 1 of the 4 teams that can be counted out at this stage. In fact, they're practically all even Stephen, and they'll be more fireworks than Old Home Week will produce before Prexy Elliott's league declares a winner.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

PIRATES AGAIN AT LEAGUE HEAD

Cubs Forced To Vacate Under 14-3 Defeat—Robins Win Long Game.

VICTORY FOR GIANTS.

CHICAGO, June 22. — Pittsburg regained first place in the National League by defeatng the Cubs 14 to 3 yesterday. Burleigh Grimes went the route for the winners, gaining his eleventh victory of the season.

The Pirates got off to a four run start in the first innings when Wilson dropped a fly and Cvengros was hit hard. Jonnard stopped them until the seventh when Grantham sent a home run into the right-field bleachers with the bases filled. Wilson hit a home run in the third, his seventeenth of the season.

WON IN FIFTEENTH.

BOSTON, June 22. — Johnny Cooney weakened in the fifteenth inning here yesterday and the Robins scored four runs to win their first game of the season in Boston 7 to 3. The Robins previously had been Rube Bressler's home run into the left Rube Bressle's home run into the left field bleachers, with two on base, capped the winning rally.

Cooney should have won 1 to 0 in union hours but an error by Lester Bell permitted the Robins to score. The visitors got two in the twelfth, only to have the home team tie it up in the last half of the inning.

GIANTS MOVE MERRILY ALONG

PHILADELPHIA, June 22. — The Giants made it four straight by defeating the Phillies here by 11 to 5. Whitney and Fred Leach were the home run hitters to-day.

Bob McGram, starting pitcher, was knocked out, and Elmer Miller, a new southpaw from Battle Creek, Mich., received a trial. After pitching smart ball for several rounds the youth weakened in the ninth, when four runs were scored against him. Miller passed six.

Bill Walker pitched good ball for the Giants.

SIGNS NEW PLAYERS

KITCHENER, Ont., June 22 (C.P.). —Springfield of the American League has signed Ehrhardt Heler and Siebert, stars of the Twin City junior team which went to the O.H.A. final last winter. Their salary is said to be in excess of many paid in the Can-pro league.

HE SAILS HIS OWN

Before the Great War John Dick did not have many thoughts of sailing on the deep blue sea, but when he crashed in the air with another aeroplane and came out of the wreck without one leg, he bought a boat. Nine months in hospital failed to heal the stump he was left with so he bought a ten-ton sloop and sailed and swam about Dorset, England. He was soon O. K. and despite the missing leg was right at home on the deck of his heeling ship.

Soon after the close of the war Mr. Dick went to Victoria and joined the Royal Victoria Yacht Club. He became one of its most active members and this year he was elected commodore of the club. He sails the sloop Asthore, which is a very handy craft and has won many races in Pacific Coast waters. He is proving one of the best yachtsmen on the coast. Four years ago he flew the burgee of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club at the famous Cowes regatta. It was the first time that the burgee of the Victoria Club had been seen there.

PEDEN WINS AGAIN

TORONTO, Ont., June 22 (C.P.).—His third successive victory in three starts in professional company was scored here last night by Torchy Peden, former Vancouver amateur bicyclist. Paired with Sammy Gastman, New York, he won the 25-mile test.

RUTH ACCOUNTS FOR SEVEN RUNS

Home Run King Hits Two Circuit Clouts—Yanks and Athletics Split.

SENATORS WIN OUT.

NEW YORK, June 22. — "Babe" Ruth was just a ball player in the first game of the series of doubleheaders between the Yankees and the Athletics, and the A's won, 11 to 1. In the second he was "Babe" Ruth in person, not a convalescent invalid, and the Yankees squared the day's play, 8 to 3. With two home runs and a single, the big fellow accounted for seven of the Yankees' eight runs.

The two games and Ruth attracted a crowd of 66,145.

The big Babe went to the bat six times before he reached first base, but thereafter he was very much in evidence. He singled the drive in a run on his seventh appearance and on his eighth and ninth chances he drove the ball far into the right-field bleachers.

The league leaders, who retained a 7½-game advantage over the Yankees through the even break, made enough home runs to win the first game, Simmons cracking out two and Haas one.

SENATORS WIN IN EIGHTH.

WASHINGTON, June 22. — Rallying against Charlie Ruffing in the eighth inning for three runs, the Washington Senators took yesterday's game from Boston, 5 to 4, and evened the series.

Todt hit a home run over the right-field wall in the second inning.

It means something definite when thousands of people who formerly owned and drove far more expensive cars are now driving Chryslers by preference.

Today there is a general recognition of the fact that Chrysler has obsoleted old traditions.

By scientific distribution of car weight, by new utilization of fuel, by advanced carburetion and correctly applied thermo-dynamics, Chrysler engineering has created a new efficiency, a new performance.

A perfectly-balanced chassis, with buoyant vanadium springs anchored in moulded blocks of live rubber instead of ordinary metal shackles, supplemented by hydraulic shock absorbers, means delightful comfort.

Similarly, feature after feature transcends all customary practice and contributes to the thrill and the pride that make every Chrysler owner a Chrysler enthusiast.

"TRIAL OF MARY DUGAN' 'TREMENDOUS STAGE HIT. ALL TALKING WITH NORMA SHEARER OPENS AT THE CAPITOL MONDAY.

The first presentation in Peterborough of "The Trial of Mary Dugan," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer all-talking screen version of Bayard Veiller's melodramatic stage hit, will take place at the Capitol Monday.

"Mary Dugan' 'ran for more than a full season at the National Theatre iin New York City, concluding its engagement on Broadway last summer. Before the end of its run, however, four domestic road companies had been organized and the success of the play outside of New York was fully as striking as its Broadway popularity. At the present time there are four road companies still touring the United States, with two in England, four in Holland, two in Norway and Sweden and one in France.

Mr. Veiller, whose earlier dramatic successes include "Within the Law' 'and "The Thirteenth Chair" signed a contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to direct personally the all-dialogue film version of his play. This was by no means his first cinema experience, since he had been director-general of the old Metro Company for three years. It was his first encounter with the "talkies,' 'however, and he returned to New York, from Holywood an enthusiastic advocate of the new entertainment medium.

A cast combining screen and stage talent, with Norma Shearer in the title role, was selected by Mr. Veiller, in conference with M-G-M, for the picturization of the play. Miss Shearer had never appeared before the microphone, or had any talking film experience, yet her voice was said to be one of the best so far discoveerd among Hollywood's erstwhile silent players.

Raymond Hackett, who succeeded the late Rex Cherryman in the role of Mary's brother on the stage, has the same part in the picture, while other important roles are played by H. B. Warner, Lewis Stone, Olive Tell, Lilyan Tashman, DeWitt Jennings, Mary Doran, Adrienne D'Ambricourt, Wilfrid North, Landers Stevens, Mary Dorne, Myra Hampton, Westcott Clarke, Charles Moore and Claude Allister.

In transcribing his murder mystery to the screen Mr. Veiller followed the form and dramatic treatment laid down in the original play. Enough dialogue was eliminated to bring the new product within an hour and three-quarters' approach and in content with the play. The courtroom setting is retained throughout the telling of the story.

Becky Gardiner prepared the continuity for the screen version.

When the film had its premier at the Embassy Theatre in New York City, unanimity of opinion pervaded among the critics that it was the outstanding, all-taling film of its kind. It duplicated in melodramatic guise the smashing success of the all-talking musical, "The Broadway Melody."

"The most expert piece of work that has been delivered to the talking screen," commented the Morning Telegraph, New York's theatrical newspaper, and other newspapers expressed a similar opinion with equal force.

Special praise was voiced by reviewers for Norma Shearer's splendid recording voice and for the sterling work of Lewis Stone, H. B. Warner and Raymond Hackett.

RICHARD DIX IN "NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH"

There are plenty of laughs in the comedy feature, "Nothing But the Truth," in which Richard Dix is appearing to-night at the Capitol Theatre. The very likeable actor whose mannerisms endeared him to the silent movie public is just as attractive as ever in the talkies, even though his voice is not quite as clear as some of his minor companions in the production.

Dix is Bob Bennett, hero of a hilarious mix-up in which the story centers about a bet with three men friends, that he will tell nothing but the truth for the next twenty-four hours. One of the men happens to be Bob's prospective father-in-law. Bennett tells the truth heroically, at all costs, even when he brings tears to the eyes of a lady who wishes to sing, even when Nature has set a ban on her vocal organs. He tells her the song is "terrible" and her hat is "awful" and he informs a customer in his stock-broking office that a certain stock is no good, just after his father-in-law has made the deal good. Then the older man gets entangled with a couple of gold-seeking vaudeville girls, who put on their act in a night club and want him to finance their show. One of these, Mabel Riley, played by Helen Kane, is the scream of the piece. She is a doll-faced brunette with a taking way and a dolly voice and the manner in which this voice adds to the effect of her part is a great advertisement for the talking movies.

The complications gradually unwind themselves, after much laughter from the audience has punctuated the action of the piece, and the ending is perfectly satisfactory for the harassed, handsome hero and his lady love, if not for the trio who have to pay him $10,000 for winning his bet.

The comedy, "The Right Bed," is an outstanding example of the manner in which the words add to the effect. Without the conversation, this would be a banal bit of picturization but speech turns it into a spicy bit of fun. Oddly enough, as noted in other instances, the conversation in these short films lacks the gargling touch that is so noticeable in the long features.—Jeanette.

Medal play, 18 holes; Stymies are not to be played.

St. Andrew's rules govern the competition.

The figures following each name represents that player's handicap; (sc., for scratch). Players playing from scratch do so by virtue of neglecting to turn in score cards in order that they might be handicapped.

Cards for all matches in the Stratton Trophy must be turned in to the Pro. Otherwise the match will be considered unplayed and both names dropped from the next round.

Players are asked to confirm their handicap by checking the above with the handicap list.

Please report any corrections or omissions to the Match and Handicap committee: B. D. Hall (chairman), Dr. J. C. Green and L. S. Killaly.

PICTORIAL GOLF

Socketing the iron shot is a fault that comes to nearly all of us in our golf days. Some get the habit and have never found a cure, or have passed looking for relief. Socketing or shanking, is caused by pushing the club outward. The body is permitted to come into the swing too soon. The tendency is to fall forward on the toes.

We get the habit of hitting from the inside out and overdo it at times extending the club too far. To cure this temporarily, at least, one should take sure that the club comes onto the ball from a line straight behind. This prevents shoving into ball.

LEO LARSEN GRANTED TRANSFER

The annual June conclave of the executive committee of the O.H.A. was held in Toronto on Thursday evening Percy Bond, the second vice-president, representing this district. The big business of the meeting was considering the applications for transfer, and forty-three were granted, while three were held up for further information.

The only application that this city had was that of Leo Larsen, from Nashua, New Hampsire, and it was granted without question. Leo, if all reports are true, will be a decided asset to the Petes when winter comes around.

OLD TIMERS WILL BE HERE.

The sport clan will be here for Old Home Week. P. J. Mulqueen, chairman of the Olympic Committee, assured Percy Bond on Thursday that he was coming here for the celebration. Mr. Mulqueen considers himself a Peterborough Old Boy, since he played on lacrosse teams here. The ever-popular Jake Solomon wrote a member of the ball club last week saying emphatically that he would be here.

When all the old sportsmen get back, and their names are legion, and stand on the pinnacle of fame, there will be the swapping of yarns far into the morning. Old names will be recalled and replayed and friendships that have lapsed through the years will be solidly renewed.

LIKELY TO BE ONE-SIDED FIGHT.

There has been a cloud-burst of bally-ho about this Jackie Johnson-Kid Chocolate scrap, to be held in Toronto, on Monday night. The frenzied writers keep dinning away at how smart Johnson is, and it won't be their fault if the attendance is small. But even on top of the glowing reports on Johnson, a short glance at Kid Chocolate's record during the past six months will tell the story. It is likely to be a one-sided fight.

SMART BALL IN MINOR LEAGUES.

The men who have worked early and late to develop the minor teams in the city are well pleased with results. In every series, Junior, Juvenile and Bantam, teams are operating. Although it is early yet to prophesy, several of the teams have all the appearances of being real champions, and it is being forecast that one or more Ontario champions as a reason of the City League's activities, will be brought to Peterborough

It would be well for the fans to drop down to the parks and see for themselves the smart brand of ball these lads are playing.

TIDY BATTLE PREDICTED FOR MONDAY

All is hazy over the result of Monday night's Crescent-Cogs game, and although both camps are confident, no one outside will venture a prediction on the outcome With "Bun" Frost and "Casey" Masterson being reported as in great form, this game will certainly be another memorable struggle.

* * * * * *

There will be three teams in there fighting for the E.P.L. championship this season. Bethany is the other team. Doc Hamilton's boys, strengthened by several local players, have showed great improvement on every appearance, and they are compelling recognition.

DECRAW TURNS IN CARD OF 73.

Orlie DeGraw turned in a card of 73 at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club yesterday. He was playing Bob Abbott and both were hitting along at top form. Abbott did the first nine holes in par. DeGraw, doing the last nine alone, completed the eighteen holes in 73, just three above par for the course.

ALL READY FOR THE CROWN HUNT

The little town of Midland, Ontario, has been converted from a peaceful community to a wild go-getting fight centre by Jackie Johnson's training camp, which has been established there for the past few weeks.

If appearances mean anything, the town will be well represented, when the fight between Johnston and Kid Chocolate, the Cuban fistic sensation who has 48 consecutive wins to his credit, is pulled off in Toronto.

This fight provides a chance for a 100 per cent. Canadian to knock the Chocolate Kid's crown flying. Johnston is in better condition than ever before and a visit to his training camp at Little Lake thoroughly impresses you with the power he is getting into his punches.

Billy Ayrton of Winnipeg, and Artie McCann are providing lots of slugging at close quarters for Johnston.

The bout will be staged at the Maple Leaf Stadium, Toronto, and matchmaker Playfair Brown says he fully expects to establish a new Canadian attendance record for a fight.

Everyone knows these two chaps. They left here some years ago. When they lived in Peterborough they always had an argument when they met, and as they are coming back for Old Home Week, there is no doubt but that they will take up where they left off, the old argument as to the right of the poor man's cow to be pastured on the streets of the city; an election plank of the late John McNaughton, which secured his election as alderman.

LAWN BOWLING

The Mens Bowling Club had a good turnout at their regular Friday night tournament last evening with twelve rinks playing. The final scores were very close, Routley and Gimblett's rinks each having a plus of 11 points and Bredin, Freeman and Fitzpatrick's rinks with a score of eight. The prizes consisted of pyrex pie plates and were won by Routley and Gimblett's rinks, the last three having the eight score drew for third and fourth. Fitzpatrick and Freeman's rinks winning on the draw.

The following are the scores:—

1. Routley, 11; 2. Gimblett, 11; 3. Freeman, 8; 4; Fitzpatrick, 8; 5. Bredin, 8; 6. Chenhall, 6; 7. Bacon, 7; 10. Allen 5; 9. Seymour 5; 8. Johnson, 5; 12. Fox, 0; 11. Coleman, 5.

Salient Points of Bidding

Auction: South, with normal Spade support, passes his partner's Spade take-out.

Contract: South, holding normal strength in Spades and distributional support, assists his partner's Spade bid. North, however instead of following with three Spades, bids three Clubs, thus showing his partner that the Spade suit is one of but four cards and that his hand is of the suit type of distribution. If South's holding is also of the suit type then the hand should be played at a suit bid, but North can well conceive that his partner's hand may be of the No Trump type, but with a weak suit that prevents his bidding No Trump. Should South's weakness be in Clubs, then North's showing of that suit may enable South to go to No Trump, at which bid game may be more probable than at Spades, with but seven cards of the Spade suit in the two hands. South's hand, however, is also of the suit type and this he shows by now bidding four Clubs, at the same time showing length in the Club suit. North, supplied with the information desired, then bids for game four Spades, leaving to his partner the choice as between four Spades and five Clubs.

The Play

East leads the King of Diamonds which is taken by Dummy's singleton Ace. A trump finesse wins. North leads the 8 of Clubs to effect or at least to start the establishment of the suit, and plays Dummy's 9 on the 8 in order to lead another trump from Dummy should the trick hold. West comes up with the Ace and returns his remaining Club hoping that his partner may hold the King and win with it, returning a Club for a ruff. Declarer, however, takes the trick and leads a Diamond for Dummy to ruff. A second trump finesse is taken and both adversaries following, Declarer leads his Ace of trumps to capture the king, if the adverse trumps are evenly split. Such proving to be the case, Declarer takes his two remaining Club tricks and the Ace of Hearts, losing two Diamond tricks at the end, but scoring game on the hand.

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—and drug store.

In Police Court

A battle of tongues was waged in police court this morning when Tony Matello, a Hungarian, appeared before Magistrate Langley on a charge of being intoxicated in a public place. The accused said "He no spik English," so Frank Obik, a friend of his was called in and claimed he understood both languages but all that he could get from the prisoner was that all the money he had was $17.50.

An S.O.S. call was sent for I. Lowe, who acted as interpreter and finally explained the charge to the man, who admitted he was drunk. He was fined $10.00 and $3.00 costs. His friends paid the fine.

Howard McMaster pleaded guilty on the second offence of being intoxicated in a public place and was fined $75.00 and $4.50 costs, to be paid at once or the option of spending one month in jail.

A resident from Young's Point was accused of illegal fishing and was fined $10.00 and $7.50 costs.

KIWANIS LEAVE FOR CONVENTION

Delegates From 41 Clubs in Eastern Canada On Way To Milwaukee.

13TH INTERNATIONAL

HAMILTON, Ont., June 22.—(By The Canadian Press)—Kiwanis delegates from the 41 clubs in the Ontario-Quebec-Maritime Kiwanis district are enroute today to Milwaukee to attend the 13th annual convention of Kiwanis International. Andrew G. Gaul, of Hamilton, governor of the Ontario-Quebec-Maritime Kiwanis district, is in charge of the special delegation.

"Every Kiwanis club in Ontario-Quebec-Maritime district will meet next Monday night," said Mr. Gaul. "Also every one of the 1800 clubs from the Atlantic to the Pacific in Canada and the United States will gather at this same hour for a simultaneous meeting. The 101,000 members will unite for an expression of tribute to the unselfish service of Kiwanians in their social and civic undertakings."

A message to the membership from O. S. Cummings, of Dallas, president of Kiwanis International, has been received by the Kiwanians in this part of Canada:

"Kiwanis exists primarily for giving service to society. Business and professional men finding Kiwanis an organization which applies those principles that once seemed theoretical and impractical and apart from the realties of human experience. A Kiwanis club is a laboratory in the field of human experience. For 14 years our work has been with the underprivileged child, citizenship, and other activities. With pride in the accomplishments of the past, let us press forward in our assistance to communities and broad service to humanity."

An estimated attendance of 6000 will be present at the convention. A musicale will be held on Sunday evening and business sessions will start on Monday morning.

On Tuesday evening the annual Ontario-Quebec-Maritime Kiwanis district dinner will be held in Milwaukee, at the Schroeder Hotel. This dinner will bring together all Kiwanians and former residents of Canada.

CLUB HONORS MRS. R FRENCH

Presentation Made At Gathering of Members of Lawn Bowling Club.

HOLD TOURNAMENT.

The ladies of the local Lawn Bowling Club met yesterday afternoon at the Brock street greens for a friendly game in honor of Mrs. R. French, who is moving to St. Catharines next week.

Mrs. French has been a favorite member of the club since the ladies joined the ranks of the bowlers over five years ago and a short tournament was arranged so that all might have an opportunity of meeting her and play one more game with her before her departure.

Some close games were played, with the rink skipped by Mrs. Miller, with Mrs. Wylie (vice), Mrs. Deyman (second) and Mrs. McLeish (lead) winning the prize with a plus of 8 points. The prizes were presented to the winning rink by Mrs. G. A. Borland, convenor of the Social committee.

After the game the ladies were entertained at the home of Mrs. Yeotes, Stewart street. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Borland. Miss Lottie Allen read the following address to Mrs. French and Mrs. Yeotes, on behalf of the club, presented her with a beautiful silver flower basket filled with rose and white peonies. Mrs. French thanked the ladies for their kind words and gift and said she would never forget her pleasant associations with the bowlers.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Yeotes for her hospitality, voiced by Mrs. Devey and seconded by Mrs. Henry:

Dear Mrs. French,—We, the members of the Peterborough Ladies' Lawn Bowling Club have learned with regret that you are soon to make your home in another city.

During the four years of association with you, on the Brock street greens we have esteemed you very highly and our sincere wish is that you will in the future enjoy bowling as you have in the past.

We ask you to accept this token of our admiration and as you look at it, may you think of the happy times we've spent together.

SISTER OF VICE-PRESIDENT MAINTAINS HER RANK

First Dinner at British Embassy After Recent Confusion Comes Off Very Nicely Report Says.

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 26. (Canadian Press).—The first dinner at the British Embassy for the vice-president's sister, Mrs Edward Everett Gann, since the discussion of her social precedence last winter, apparently has been concluded without confusion

She dined as the guest of honor of the Ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, last evening. She was accompanied to the affair by vice-president Curtis and her husband.

The dinner, it was said, was wet, and it was asserted to-day by an attache at the embassy that Sir Esme is "not dry, nor has he ever said he was."

The ambassador declared merely," it was added, "that he would cease to import liquors.

The dinner was attended by diplomats, senators and representatives.

CANNOT TAKE MIDDLE COURSE.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—The writer, always interested in local news, has been a constant reader of The Examiner since it became an independent publication. I am pleased to congratulate you on the high standard of your editorials on local and Dominion wide subjects. On the liquor question, while one is impressed with the fact that you wish to be fair to both sides of public opinion you intimate that it is best to support the L.C.A., but I submit that on this question there cannot be no middle course. Take the City of Peterborough. When before did you receiving large sums of public money you are refused a statement as to the quantity of liquor sold or the value of same. Why this? Can there be any good reason for this secrecy, for if the matter was made public the good citizens of Peterborough might have sufficient evidence to prove that this store is a menace to your city and show cause for its removal.

Its attraction will never be of any real benefit to either city or county. This will be self evident when you can publish a statement of receipts which are greater than that for any other commodity. Thanking you,

Yours, etc.,
J. F. LILLIORAP.
Lakefield, June 22, 1929.

report such a large number of police court cases; chiefly, in fact nearly all, from B.L.C.A. Some time ago fourteen in one day and from your account, one day lately was not sufficient to deal with all the cases. Surely the county magistrate is getting more than a reasonable amount of work, in dealing with what your liquor store and the L.C.A. has brought on your fair city. There are a number of Justices of the Peace in the county who are quite capable of adjudicating on B.L.C.A. Then why pile all this work on one police magistrate? Peterborough city, or the liquor store must be the cause for all the B.L.C.A. you report from day to day, as we never have a case in Lakefield. In the past year and a half not a dollar, has been collected for B.L.C.A. in this municipality, while the Peterborough municipal treasury is enriched. Your much heralded liquor store is protected by the government regulation and although

OSTEOPATHS AND COMPENSATION CASES IN COLORADO.

The chairman of the State Industrial Commission in Colorado, addressed a letter to the Attorney General relative to the eligibility of Osteopaths under the Compensation Act, to which the Attorney General replied in part:

"As all allopathic, homeopathic, eclectic and osteopathic physicians are required to take the same course with the same number of hours per course before they can take the medical examination, and inasmuch as the examinations are the same for all four schools of medicine, and the medical licenses issued are the same and give each school the same rights and privileges, it is our opinion under section 4455, Compiled Laws, discrimination against osteopathic physicians in compensation cases is not proper.'

"Yours very truly,
Robert E. Winbourne,
Attorney General."

Workmen have been busy for for the past few days re-shingling the roof of the city buildings.

TECO STORES DECORATED

Both Teco stores to-day are a blaze of glory. Flags, penants, streamers of all colors adorn the two departmental stores from top to bottom making a very effective display and give the people some idea what the city will look like when all the merchants have there stores decked out in a festive fashion.

REPAIRS TO BRIDGE.

A motorist who has recently travelled across the Gannon's Narrows floating bridge reports that a new flooring is being laid on this structure. Also that a number of fish have died for some unknown reason, and have washed up on the bridge.

TRAVELLING REPAIR SHOP.

The day when each automobile was a travelling repair shop is not entirely passed. An old Ford of an ancient make, belonging to a visitor from Dummer, was seen to be in distress on lower George Street yesterday. The seats and hood had been removed and tools lay scattered all around the car. Contentedly smoking as he sat on the running-board, the owner was performing a delicate operation on the commutator of one of the coils, which he had extracted from the insides of his trusty chariot.

Although Scottish people are slower to marry than either English or Welsh, they have, on the average, larger families and are better patrons of the divorce courts.

RT. HON. WILLIAM S. FIELDING IS DEAD

GREAT STATE SMAN PASSES

Right Hon. W. S. Fielding, former Minister of Finance in the Laurier and King Governments, and former Premier of Nova Scotia, who died at his home in Ottawa yesterday, in his 81st year. He is here seen sitting at his desk in the study of his Ottawa home.

GLOWING TRIBUTES ARE PAID TO FORMER FINANCE MINISTER

Funeral of Late Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding Will Be Held On Wednesday.

FLAGS AT HALF MAST.

"Great Public Servant," States Hon. P. C. Larkin in London.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 24.—(By the Canadian Press.)— Following a conference of relatives an intimate friends to-day it was decided that Right Hon. W. S. Fielding, would be buried in Ottawa. The funeral will be held on Wednesday at 3 p.m. No decision has been reached as to whether it will be a state funeral.

Announcement as to that will probably be made later in the day.

The death of the great statesman which occurred last night, has cast a gloom over the city where he had lived through so many years of his political activity. The flags are flying at half mast and tributes to his life and work are many.

Great Public Servant.

LONDON, June 24. — (Canadian Press Cable.)—"He was a great public servant, and I am afraid that people who devote their lives to the public service gain but little reward; or even the approbation of their fellows to a lasting extent," said Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner in London, to the Canadian Press today, apying tribute to Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding, former Canadian Minister of Finance who died yesterday.

Alluding to the statesman's long illness, Mr. Larkin quoted from King Lear:

"Let him pass. He hates him,
That would upon the rack of this touch world,
Stretch him out longer."

BROCKVILLE, Ont., June 24. — (Canadian Press).—Speaking of the death of the Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding, a former cabinet colleague, Rt. Hon. George P. Graham today said: "He was more of a statesman than a politician. In the art of winning elections he was not a success, but his great ability and undying integrity made it comparatively easy for his friends to win elections for him. His as a journalist was brilliant, but as a matter of fact he had been a public figure all his life. Coming from Nova Scotia into the Laurier Administration of Premier's, he at once became very prominent, even among those brilliant men and until the day he was stricken, Fielding's name was one to conjure with all over Canada and in Europe and the United States as well.

"He had an uncanny way of sizing up financial situations and was exceedingly jealous of the national treasury. He loved Canada, only a little less than he did Nova Scotia and all his tariff arrangements or changes intimate friends could detect his devotion to his native pro-

Australian Rabbits Not Wanted in Canada

VICTORIA, B.C., June 24.—(Canadian Press).—British Columbia will have none of Australia's rabbits, Hon. R. N. Pooley, Attorney-General, ruled on Saturday after further investigation of Sydney, N.S.W., despatches that a British Columbia order for one thousand live members of the Antipodes' pests had been received and would be filled "with pleasure."

The despatches said the rabbits were to be used to start a fur and carcass industry.

SPARKS CIRCUS ARRIVES IN CITY

Thousands View Big Street Parade This Morning.

GREATTRAVELLING SHOW.

"The circus!—The circus! — The throb of the drums.
And the blare of the horns, as the bandwagon comes;
The clash and the clang of the cymbals that beat,
As the glittering pageant winds down the long street!"
James Whitcomb Riley.

There was pink lemonade, red bananas, and ice cream galore at the circus grounds to-day as Spark's Circus, one of the greatest of the travelling shows in the country presented its wonderful performance.

Funny clowns performed their antics this afternoon while acrobats hurled one another through space for the applause of the vast audience. Horses, elephants, tigers polar bears and representatives from all over the animal kindom were on hand to thrill the children and give the older folks a chance to enjoy a holiday.

For there are not many of the older people who do not remember the days when they got the thrill of their lives when the circus came to town and hung around the big wagons to watch the unloading of the so many cars of mystery.

Then there was the big top itself. Like a castle of fairy land the tents that housed the wonders of a dozen continents unfolded themselves in story form as the performance went along.

The circus arrived in Peterborough on Saturday so not as many children as usual were on hand to seek the work that leads to a free entrance to the enchanted land but never the less there were a few present.

Guards On The Bulgarian Frontier Stage Battle With Jugoslavians

VIENNA, June 24 (C.P.).—A Sofia despatch to Newes Wiener Tageblatt to-day said great indignation and agitation had been aroused in Bulgaria as a consequence of the shooting by Jugoslavian guards of three Burgarians two of them women, whom the Bulgarians insisted carried regular passports.

Six Bulgarian soldiers, the despatch adds, were fired upon by Jugoslavian guards, the Bulgarians still being on their own soil. A corporal was wounded seriously. It was said also that Jugoslavian authorities had interned more than six hundred natives in camps along the frontier.

The Sofia government was said to be preparing an energetic note to the Belgrade government in protest at the incidents.

SIX LIVES LOST IN STORM

Convent Is Total Loss

Severe Electrical Storm Strikes Montreal and District Yesterday.

BOATS ARE SWAMPED.

Educational Centre At Sault Au Recollect, Near Montreal, Destroyed.

MONTREAL, Que., June 24.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Montreal and vicinity as well as the mountainous Laurentian district to the north and the eastern townships to the south to-day began counting the cost of damage done when an electrical storm, which at times assumed cyclonic proportions, swept down from the north late yesterday, and for about an hour spread death and destruction in its path. Six lives were lost, according to available reports early early to-day. The death toll may be higher when communication with outlying points is restored and final reports of the storm damage reach the city. Property damage will run well into the millions, a loss of $1,000,000 0alone being sustained at Sault Au Recollect, near here, where the convent of the Sacred Heart was totally destroyed by fire which was started by a bolt of lighting.

Boats Are Swamped.

The six fatalities known of at present all occurred through boats being swamped and upset by the fury of the storm. Three women were drowned at Ste Anne De Bellevue, one of whom was Miss Mabel Price, lecturer in history at Macdonald College, the agricultural and household science department of McGill University.

Two men were drowned at St. Anne De Vaudreuil, a summer resort, while another lost his life on Missisquoi Bay, near Clarenceville, in the eastern townships, in a similar accident. At St. Ann De Vaudreuil, two companions of the drowned men were saved.

Communications between Montreal and the outlying districts was cut off soon after the storm started, and at an early hour to-day was still in a disrupted state, with the result that news of the storm's' wrath outside of the island was scarce.

MONTREAL, Que., June 24 (C.P.) —All that was left of the Convent Sacred Heart at Sault au Recollet, near here, to-day, was a smouldering mass of ruins, charred stones and timbers. The famed institution of learning which drew pupils from all parts of the American continent, was totally destroyed by fire Sunday. The blaze started when the building was struck by a bolt of lightning. The loss is estimated at close to $1,000,000 while insurance coverage amounted to only $200,000.

Four firemen were injured in fighting the fire, one of them seriously. Lieutenant Couturier, of a Montreal station, to-day lies in Notre Dame Hospital here suffering from the effects of almost total asphyxiation and other injuries. The others received only minor hurts, and were allowed to proceed to their homes after first aid treatment.

Closed for Summer

The convent school had been closed for the summer holidays some time ago and only the nuns remained. All inmates, including twenty-two convalescent nuns, however, were saved, as well as many valuable painting and decorations, which were carried out of the burning structure by volunteer citizen workers. The blessed Sacrament was also saved from the flames.

The fire started around five o'clock in the afternoon, and raged until well past midnight. The roof, floors and then the walls crashed down successively as the valiant fight of the fire fighters drawn from Montreal and districts close to Sault au Recollet, failed to check the onrush of the leaping flames. Dense smoke hampered the efforts of the firemen from the start.

Rum-Runners Transfer Scene Of Operations To Town Of Goderich

WINDSOR, Ont., June 24 (Canadian Press). — Several of the Detroit River rum crews are operating out of Goderich on Lake Huron, it was learned to-day, conclusive evidence to the United States prohibition on enforcement agencies that their current offensive here is reaping results.

Two boats, each containing 300 cases of liquor, left Goderich during the night with Detroit as their destination, according to a wire received this morning by Walter S. Petty, acting collector of customs at Detroit. This announcement substantiates a report from London last week that Goderich had been picked as one of the new exporting centres for Detroit River and Lake Erie rum boats.

Eight seizures of contraband liquor were made by the American customs patrol over the week-end, including an alleged fishing party off the Ecorse Light.

ROSS L. DOBBIN HEADS ROTARY

His Election As President of Service Club Is Announced To-day.

SPLENDID ADDRESS.

Rev. Dr. Blagrave Refers To Canada's Relations With the United States.

Ross L. Dobbin will be the president of the Peterborough Rotary Club for the next year, retiring president W. R. Morris announced at to-day's luncheon of the club in his valedictory address Rotarian Dobbin, who was vice-president of the organization last year, has been elected by the directors to head the club for the ensuing twelve months

In relinquishing his office President Morris said that it had been a source of great satisfaction to him, although he regretted that he had not accomplished as much as he would have liked to do He had striven throughout the year to stress the international aspect of Rotary, which he regarded as of the greatest importance. President Morris expressed his appreciation of the splendid support accorded him by members of the club.

Rotarian Ensign Green of the Salvation Army, who is leaving to take a position at army headquarters in Toronto, thanked the Rotarians for the assistance rendered by them to the work of the army and voiced his gratification of the comradeship that had existed in the club.

To-day's meeting was featured by a splendid address upon Canada, particularly in its relationship with the United States, by Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave of St. John's church, who struck a new note in his remarks, which were followed with close attention

Dwelling upon the desirability of the two countries living in the closest harmony, Rev Dr. Blagrave pointed out that one thing was most essential, and that was that the people of the United States and Canada should have an accurate understanding of the history of the two countries — something that was difficult to obtain because history was usually biased and colored and not international in its tendencies

Canada's position, a country of large area and small population, stretching for 3000 miles alongside another country of large population, and great capacity for organization, had its advantages and disadvantages. Most of what Canadians read was prepared in the United States, and again the radio brought to us American ideas of politics and culture. In the face of this it was difficult for Canadians to attain a distinctly Canadian spirit, the speaker pointed out. Rev Dr. Blagrave touched upon the economic aspect of the question, especially the tariff problem, and asked his hearers to regard the United States action in raising her tariff as a political expedient and purely a domestic matter, even if it had international aspects He was satisfied that the people of the United States were sportsmen enough to regard Canada's action in regard to marketing her products as also a domestic question.

The speaker warned Canadians against being boastful He would like to see more restraint on the utterances of some of our public men. Similarly Rev. Dr. Blagrave stressed the danger of being too materialistic in viewpoint, of putting too much emphasis upon wealth and pleasure forgetting the self sacrifice and thrift that had won Canada's heritage.

Rotarian S. R Armstrong expressed the thanks of the club to the speaker.

Among the visitors to-day was Rotarion Herb Brown of Porto Rica, who is again spending the summer at Gull Lake and who was given a hearty welcome.

The first printing press in North America was set up at Cambridge, Mass., under the charge of Stephen Daye. It was mainly the gift of Rev. Jesse Glover, nonconformist minister.

GENERAL BOOTH IS LAID TO REST

One-quarter of London's Mighty Traffic is Stilled or Diverted Into Other Channels.

Thousands View Procession.

LONDON, June 24. (By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.) — One quarter of London's mighty traffic was stilled or diverted into other channels to-day, when the remains of General Bramwell Booth were taken to lie beside those of his father and mother at Abney Park cemetery, North London.

Overnight the body of the great Salvation Army leader had rested at the army headquarters in the centre of the city. The towers and steeples of the old city churches and great commercial buildings which almost engulf these churches, bore flags at halfmast. At the general headquarters of the Salvation Army, however, the "blood and fire" ensign remained at the masthead.

General Booth has gone to his glory; it has all along been gently insisted by those who were closest to him; so there is no cause for repining. The same sprit was shown in the arrangements for the great procession, marshalled on the Thames embankment. It spread nearly for a whole mile, the length of the sweep of riverside.

The only change from the sober conventional dress of the Salvation Army's men and women participants were little clusters here and there of flags of the army drawn from all nations, and all bearing white streamers. Following each bevy of flags was a band. For the most part the musicians chose tunes which in the best sense of the word may be termed Catholic. There were such airs as "Hark, Hark, my Soul," "A Few More Years shall Roll by," and "Abide with Me." Some bands occasionally played tunes which probably were unfamiliar outside of army meetings but these were not many.

An immense concourse of people gathered to watch the procession, drawn for a space from the work in office and market, in those rabbit warrens of finance and commerce of which the Bank of England and the Royal Exchange form the centre. They beheld the procession with most respectful interest.

It was a remarkable pageant in the honor of one man and was all the more impressive in that there was nothing obtrusively emotional.

Draped With Flags.

The General's casket was draped with flags of the Salvation Army, and on the back was a large shield bearing the inscription: "Bramwell Booth, General of the Salvation Army, born 1856, died 1929, born of the Spirit of 1863, a servant of all."

On both sides of the funeral car was the motto, "In action faithful, in honor clear."

General Booth's wife and daughter, both in deep mourning, together with high Army officials, took their places immediately behind the body of the leader, and the cortege moved on to Bishop's Gate, then past the Shoreditch Church to the cemetery, where burial took place.

One woman fainted as the body was carried out of Army headquarters, and she had just been removed in an ambulance when a man fainted. The poor themselves, who had been the especial object of General Booth's labors during his lifetime, were predominant in the crowds who gathered to pay him the last tribute. Women of all ages were there, many in threadbare clothing, women who had stood silently for hours with babies in their arms.

BOYS ARE WANTED FOR MONSTER PARADE

MAY OPPOSE RE-ELECTION OF SPEAKER

TOOK OFFICE LAST YEAR.

Captain Fitzroy Is a Descendant of Charles II—Fine War Record.

LONDON, June 24 (By Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Public expression has been given to the inclination of some of the "left-wing" members of the Labor Party to oppose the re-election of Captain the Rt. Hon. E. A. Fitzroy as Speaker of the House of Commons when the new Parliament opens tomorrow. Despite the long tradition of the British Parliament that a Speaker, when once installed, should receive re-election by acclamation on the formation of new parliaments, granted he has the ability and willingness to continue in office, some of the Independent Labor Party members are complaining.

David Kirkwood, Labor member for Dumbarton, speaking at Glasgow yesterday, referred to the appointment and asked, "Who is the Speaker? A Tory." He continued: "What are his credentials? He was a page boy in the Royal house and was then promoted to the British Army. That is the pedigree of the man whom Labor will elect as Speaker."

Kirkwood's brief resume of Captain Fitzroy's career is accurate, so far as it goes. He was a page to Queen Victoria, and will be 60 years of age next month . Despite his age, he served gallantly throughout the war, and was wounded in the first battle of Ypres and later. It is interesting also to remember that he is a descendant of Charles II., who was the last monarch to take exception to the choice of a Speaker by the House of Commons.

There is no likelihood that the main body of Laborites will object to Captain Fitzroy's re-election, however, especially in view of his commendable record as Speaker since he succeeded Rt. Hon. J. H. Whitley last year. The Labor Party had been consulted by the Conservatives before Captain Fitzroy, then chairman of committees, was called to the Speaker's chair.

STEAMER FINDS WRECKED PLANE

Believed To Be That of Missing Spanish Airmen.

NO PERSON ABOARD.

MADRDID, June 24 (Canadian Press).—Alarmed by the disappearance of Major Ramon Franco and three companions on a flight to New York by way of the Azores, the Spanish authorities to-day despatched destroyers and airplanes to scour the sea between the Spanish coast and the Azores.

The Spanish Government was particularly eager to run down a report from the British merchant ship Grelden, stating that this ship saw airplane wreckage floating in the sea about 100 miles off the Azores. There were no persons aboard.

As soon as this report was received the Ministry of the Navy despatched five destroyers from Ferrol with orders to patrol the district north-east of the Azores, in the hope of finding this wreckage, whose identity was not established definitely by the Grelden.

It was believed here the wreckage was that of the Dornier-Wahl plane of Major Ramon Franco, and his three companions, which has been missing since sometime Friday night, disappearing between the Portuguese coast and the Azores on the first leg of a round trip trans-Atlantic flight.

The report has been received in some quarters with reserve.

A communique issued by the military radio gave the information that it had picked up at 11.40 a.m. (5.40 a.m. eastern standard time), a message from a Spanish merchantship, the "Magallanes," said it had received a wireless message from the British merchantship "Grelden" saying that the Grelden at lititude 29 north and longitude 33 west, about 100 miles off the Azores, saw an airplane wreckage floating in the water. There were no persons aboard.

The precise location and other details were not given but the government radio was pressing for a renewal of communication with the ship.

Great Canadian Gave Forty Years Of Public Service

Able Statesman, a Masterly Parliamentarian, a Skilled Leader and Above All, a Modest, Straightforward and Trustworthy Citizen Is Lost To Canada.

40 YEARS OF LIFE SPENT IN SERVICE OF CANADA AS PROVINCIAL PREMIER, THEN AS FEDERAL MINISTER

Stroke Three Days Ago Projected Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding Into State of Coma From Which He Never Regained Consciousness.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 24 (Canadian Press). — The Dominion of Canada was last night bereft of one of her most distinguished statesmen when following a stroke which three days ago projected him into a state of coma, the Right Hon. William Stevens Fielding, lost his long-drawn-out battle, waged for the past five years, and died at 10.25 o'clock.

Beside him when the life of Canada's great public servant flickered out were his four children; his wife predeceased him about ten months ago. On Friday, Mr. Fielding, who had been bedridden for the past half decade, sustained a stroke, and it was then seen that the end could not be far off. His eyesight had failed, he was bereft of speech, and the family which gathered around him in his Charlotte Street home felt that it would only be a matter of hours until the life of the aged statesmen would pass. Little hope was held out by Dr. G. S. McCarthy, the family physician, and when the end came it did so following a gradual and visible enfeeblement that portrayed death.

40 Years in Service for Canada.

Mr. Fielding had long passed the allotted span of life and was in his 81st year. Forty years of that life were spent in the service of Canada, first in the Provincial arena of Nova Scotia, and from 1896 until his withdrawal from public activities in 1924, in the Federal field.

He left public life as he entered it —poor in pocket, but rich in ideals and rich in a record of honorable, upright, and self-sacrificing service to his country.

The nation saw to it, however, that the days left to its distinguished son should be free from financial cares, and sought in some measure to express tangibly its appreciation of the eminent services he had rendered. Following his retirement from public life, Parliament voted Mr. Fielding a pension of $10,000 per annum, one vote at least to which no voice was raised in opposition.

Suffered Many Strokes.

In the five years during which he was a total invalid, Mr. Fielding suffered many strokes. With extraordinary tenacity, however, he survived them, although each left him weaker than before. Not until his final seizure was there indication of his heart giving out. He became unconscious, and within the last 24 hours signs were not wanting that a complete breaking down was near. The end came peacefully and with no return to consciousness.

No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral.

Leaves Unique Record Behind

For fifteen consecutive years, Minister of Finance of the Dominion of Canada, and for the twelve preceding years Premier of his native province of Nova Scotia, the Right Honorable William Stevens Fielding, patriot and statesmen, left a record that is perhaps unique in the political history of Canada.

When Sir Wilfrid Laurier gathered together his cabinet of provincial premiers, following his elevation to power at the head of the Liberal party in 1896, his choice for the finance department fell to the lot of the Prime Minister of Nova Scotia. That the selection was a most happy one is best demonstrated, perhaps, by the fact that when twenty-five years later Sir Wilfrid's successor in the leadership of the Liberal party was charged with the responsibilities of office, following an opposition period of ten years, Mr. Fielding was again called upon to head the Ministry of Finance.

The quarter century involved had proved the most important period in all that had made for the political

GERMAN LEADER DEFENDS POLICY

Reparation Agreement Is Ably Defended By Dr. Gustav Stresemann.

SHOULD LAST 10 YEARS.

BERLIN, June 24 (C.P.).—Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German Foreign Minister, made a vigorous defense of the German government's foreign policy, particularly with reference to the reparations problem, in an address before the Reichstag to-day answering bitter criticism by Count Westarp, leader of the Nationalists.

The Foreign Minister declared that the newly drawn up Young plan was a definite improvement over the Dawes' plan from the viewpoint of the burden on Germany. As to its future, he said: "Nobody in the world can give an absolute guarantee as to its workability. The experts themselves stated that the maximum forecast can be for only ten years."

Dr. Stresemann's only reference to the United States, which, however, he did not mention directly, was his answer to the Nationalist charge that Germany was becoming a colony of France and England.

"No, we are not a colony of Frenchmen and Englishmen," he said. "To me it seems doubtful whether all Europe is not in danger of becoming a colony of those who are luckier than we. The fact that the colonies sat down together to work out amelioration for each other because others did not give them amelioration —that is something that cannot be removed from the history of the Paris negotiations."

Receives Bag Of Brass Shavings In Exchange For Sum Of $2,500

TORONTO, Ont., June 24. — (Canadian Press).—The maxim, "all is not gold," has a new meaning to-day for Antonio Roussia, Whitby hotel proprietor, at whose complaint Isaac Sheub was arrested in Sturgeon Falls, Ont., and his wife, Tilly Sheub, was arrested in Toronto, on a charge of securing money by false pretences. His story is that, meeting the Sheubs in his hotel, he was told that they came from Timmins, where they had accumulated considerable gold from prospectors. They were so good as to offer it to Roussia for $2,500, according to the story. He came to Toronto to make the first payment of $500, and was presented with a bag of brass shavings mixed with earth, being warned at the same time not to open it until he got back to Whitby. After he had had the treasure examined he communicated with police

HIDING IN SWAMP.

All Available Police in County Are Called To Search For Desperadoes.

PERTH, June 24.— (C.P.) —Successfully dodging a fusilade of shots from police revolvers in a chase early last evening, two escaped inmates of the Lanark county jail, Fred Mitchell, aged 21, and James Smith, aged 20, both of Smiths Falls, were believed to be cornered last night in a thick swamp near Maberly, 20 miles from here.

With Frank O'Connell, aged 21, and John Kennedy, aged 20, Smith and Mitchell last night effected one of the most sensational jail escapes ever made in Eastern Ontario and unwittingly paved the way for a fifth prisoner, E. Sliger, to make himself the hero of the jail.

Releases Turnkey.

Sliger, whom jail officials yesterday fed the best of fare and who will be recommended for a pardon, not only refused to join the jail break plot but afterwards by a remarkable manoeuvre released the turnkey, James Palmer, when he and the latter were bound, gagged and locked together by the desperadoes.

Early last evening Smith and Mitchell were seen by County Constables Palmer and Duffy who, firing their revolvers, chased the fugitives into the sfam where they are now thought to lie. All the available police in the county, joined by several volunteer posses, surrounded the swamp last night and resolved to keep watch without break until morning when the cordon plans to close in and, it is hoped, capture the desperadoes. Turnkey Palmer, minus two teeth as a result of his struggle with the fugitives, is one of the watchers.

SASKATOON, June 24 (C.P.).—Open "rebellion" by young pupils of Pike Lake, Sask., near here, culminated Friday when classes were stopped and the children sent home.

Of some days' duration, the demonstration reached its height when a 12-year-old boy lowered his head and three times butted the teacher, Miss Eilleen Fields; cries of "Down with the English," were raised by the school children during the course of the uprising, and at one time an American flag, torn from a school library book was stuck on the blackboard. NEW SYSTEM INAUGURATED

Inter-correspondence Between Dominion Schools and Those of Distant Empire.

OF EDUCATIONAL VALUE.

KINGSTON, June 22 (Special to The Examiner).—F. P. Smith, Public School Inspector of this city has inaugurated a system of inter-correspondence between the pupils of the schools here and those of schools in far distant parts of the British Empire. The thought that has prompted such correspondence is that it would be of inestimable value to all concerned from an educational point of view. Scores of children correspond with children in South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, England, Scotland, and India. The majority of the letters are checked and overlooked by the teachers. Mr. Smith has the co-operation of the Department of Education, while the teachers of the Kingston schools enter wholeheartedly into the plan. In their letters the children are encouraged to give information regarding conditions as they exist here, the seasons of the year, plants and flowers, as they come into season together with crops and fruits, activities that take place in the community and other matters of which there is apparently lamentable ignorance in other parts of the Empire. The children from far distant points reciprocate with similar information.

During May, the Empire Day booklet, issued this year by the Department of Education, has been broadcasted far and wide throughout the British Empire by Mr. Smith's flock of sturdy correspondents.

COUNTY COUNCIL GRANTS $800.00 TO FAIR BOARD

Deputation From Norwood Seeks Grant For Exhibition.

REPORTS ARE PASSED.

Council Protests Against Laying Trap Dust On Highways To Road Commission.

The June session of the Council for Peterborough County, closed at the Court House Saturday afternoon after a very busy and important session.

The morning was given over to the consideration of money grants and the hearing of deputations.

Colonel Richard Birdsall and Everett Birdsall in asking for the regular grant to the Norwood Fair explained the interest that the whole county has in this fair, because the school championships are held there. They stated further that considerable money had been spent in repairs and improvements.

A motion was passed authorizing the County Clerk to write a letter of condolence to the family of the late R. C. Strickland, the oldest warden of the county who recently passed away.

The following grants were made:—Peterborough Poultry Association, $25; County championship school fair at Norwood, $100; Peterborough county scholarship, at O.A.C., $50; Canadian Legion, Peterborough Branch, $150; Lakefield Branch, $100; Salvation Army Maternity Hospital, $150; Dr. Morgan's salary as jail physician was increased $50, half of the increase asked; to the upkeep of Victoria Park $100.

Grants to Exhibitions.

When the grants for the four exhibitions came up for discussion Reeve Rye made a motion setting the grant for Peterborough at $1000, and each of the others with a slight decrease.

Reeve Tanner moved an amendment setting Peterborough's grant at $500, and the other three at the same amout as last year. An amendment to the amendment was passed and then unanimously fixing all the grants at the same amounts as last year. The grants will be as follows: Peterborough, $800; Norwood, $250; Lakefield, $150; Apsley, $100, and Galway $100.

A grant of $250 was made to the Red Cross Hospital at Apsley, and the Humane Society was granted $50.

The report of the Equalization of Assessment Committee was adopted as read.

Because of the difficulties that have arisen with insurance companies in insuring the county from damages to vehicular taffic over county roads it was moved that the Globe Indemnity Company be asked for a statement in writing as to what indemnities on roads and bridges they desire in connection with last year's policy.

Following this a motion was passed to abandon at the next council meeting all indemnity road insurance because of dissatisfaction with the arrangements as found between the two companies dealt with.

A bylaw was passed giving the council power to borrow money to pay the Council's share in building the caretaker's new home at the court house.

Bylaws were also passed to assess, levy and collect certain revenues and taxes for all county schools and administration; for the maintenance of the county road system, and for the House of Refuge.

Lansdowne street, running easterly from Park street across the locks bridge to lot 19 in Otonabee, was added to the county roads' system.

The report of the standing committee on roads and bridges was confirmed.

That this council respectfully draws the attention of the Road Commission to the fact, that there are miles of main travelled roads under their supervision with not more than ten feet of driveway proper, with thin metal surface, while some of their roads have from 20 to 24 feet driveway, recently top surfaced with a heavy dressing of crushed gravel and

FEDERAL MINISTER ANSWERS TORY LEADER

Hon. J. C. Elliott Claims Decrease in Dairy Cows in States 12 Times Great as in Canada.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., June 22. (C. P.) — "It would be just as unfair to attribute the decline in American exports to the tariff changes in the United States as to attempt to attribute changes which took place in Canadian prices to American tariff action," declared Hon. J. C. Elliott, Minister of Public Works in the Dominion Government, in a speech here last night.

He ridiculed the statements of R. B. Bennett, that the decline in the number of Canadian cows was due to the Australian treaty, arguing that the decline was 12 times as great in the United States in the same period, although the States have no treaty with Australia. Other speakers included D. M. Ross, M.P.P., the Hon. Nelson Parliament and Dr. D. J. Sinclair, ex-M.P.

17 CONSTABLES ARE APPOINTED

New Act Comes Into Force Today—Co-operation Assured.

TO SPEED JUSTICE.

TORONTO, Ont., June 24 (Canadian Press).—Following more than two months' negotiations with county officials throughout Old Ontario, the Constables' Act passed at the last session of the Legislature to effect a province-wide reorganization of the rural police came into effect to-day. Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, announced the appointment of 17 acting high constables in counties which have had no definite police executive heretofore.

Negotiations will proceed with 15 counties in which the present head of the police force is a purely nominal appointee. In eight other counties where full time high constables are functioning control will be assumed by Brig.-Gen. V. A. S. Williams who takes over the disciplinary powers over the police executives formerly held by I. A. Humphries, K.C., inspector of legal offices.

Co-operation Is Needed.

Co-operation with the county police forces was the object of the Attorney-General's department in making the change, stated Mr. Price. He explained that while the power of appointing county police remains with the General Sessions of the Peace, discipilnary effectiveness will be secured making police responsible to the high constables and the high constables responsible to the Provincial Police Commissioner.

The counties in which there are now full time high constables are: Brant, Carleton, Elgin, Kent, Middleton, Oxford, Wentworth, and York. The 15 counties in which police forces will eventually be brought under the control of the provincial police are: Bruce, Essex, Hastings, Huron, Lambton, Lanark, Lincoln, Ontario, Perth, Peterborough, Renfrew, Simcoe, Waterloo, Welland and Wellington.

Constable H. Storey has been appointed High County Constable for Northumberland and Durham, and Constable F. Wetherall for Victoria County.

CIRCUS ARRIVES EARLY SUNDAY

Everything Was Quiet When The Examiner Visited Tent City This Morning.

COOK TENT BUSY.

A spirit of peace and quietness prevailed over the circus at the Exhibition grounds this morning. Instead of the usual shouting and hammering, the place was marked by sleeping darkies and by an atmosphere that was entirely strange to what is expected when a big show arrives in the city.

However, the secret lies in the fact, which disappointed many small boys who were on hand early this morning to greet the elephants and clowns, that Sparks' show arrived in Peterborough about five o'clock on Sunday morning and before noon came had most of the tents up and so the employees are afforded a day off.

Only the ragging of "The St. Louis Blues" by a side show jazz band disturbed the peaceful elephants and the employees who were engaged in the age-old game of African golf. Even the hot dogs being cooked on a red hot griddle seemed to sizzle a slumber song.

Young Peterborough was on hand, but in slim numbers; one local lad was noticed in a pair of white plus fours, carrying water and hay to the animals. Among the drab dress of the other employees who were shuffling around he seemed much out of place in his summer dress and by the alertness that he was carrying out his work.

Smoke was lazily issuing from the steam calliope as it received coal preparatory to steaming up for the street parade. Things began to liven up shortly after ten o'clock when the big wagons began to line up for the street parade.

The busiest spot on the grounds was the cook tent when the ever-endless task of getting meals was taking place. Pounds upon pounds of meat and bushels of potatoes were being prepared to feed the army of workers.

Clean Bill Of Health Given Border Exporters

WINDSOR, June 24.—(Canadian Press).—A clean bill of health was given the Essex border exporters yesterday by Alfred E. Cuddy, Deputy Commissioner of the Ontario police.

"Short-circuiting" of liquor in this district has been reduced to an appreciable minimum, "there is probably a little of it but certainly not much," he asserted.

After another check of the export docks of the immediate Windsor area Saturday afternoon, the deputy commissioner reiterated his belief that there is no gun toting in or around the Canadian docks by American rum runners or their henchmen.

HAND OF COUNCIL IS FORCED IN DEMAND FOR REVALUATION

Rural Reeves Protest Against Equalized Assessment in United Counties.

WARNING HAD BEEN GIVEN.

Reeves of Cavan, South Monaghan and Cartwright Lead in Attack.

Cobourg June 24.—(By Staff Reporter).— Reeve George Hooton, of Cavan, forced the hand of the Counties Council in the closing session in his demand for a revaluation of the property in Northumberland and Durham for the purpose of a new equalization of assessment, and incidentally he discovered that he was calling the bluff of inaction and "standing pat."

He gave notice that Cavan township appealed against the refusal of the council to increase or decrease the valuation of any of the municipalities, and also that Cavan was willing to have the final equalization made by the County Judge.

Reeve J. S. Perrin of South Monaghan, and Reeve F. A. Hyland of Cartwright, indicated the extent of rural insurance by laying identical notices on the council table.

Had Given Warning.

Mr. Hooton had mentioned this subject late last year and in January of this year he would not consent to further evasion of the statute requiring revaluation at least every ten years. Last week he waited and watched for the fulfilment of the promises that the members would themselves try to readjust the equalized assessment on a satisfactory basis, but when the final day of the session opened with no signs of meeting Mr. Hooton's demand he tossed in his notice of appeal.

As W. F. Rickard, of Newcastle, admitted—"We took a chance that the appeal would not be made."

Reeve Murphy of Cramahe, said no effort had been made to change the assessment on which the county tax rate is levied.

Cause of Discontent.

The cause of the rural dissatisfaction, as emphasized by Reeve Hyland, is found in the following assessment examples:: the local assessment in Cava.. is $1,666,505 and the equalized assesment for county tax purposes is $1,931,765; and by contrast Cobourg's local assessment is $2,940,046, but its equalized assessment is only $1,660,729.

South Monaghan's local is $672,810 and its equalized is $766,150; ;but Port Hope's local is $2,516,282 and its equalized is $1,370,618. .. ..

Cartwright's local is $1,030,562 and its eualized is $1,156,874.

Council's Precaution.

The three appeals required action within twenty days, otherwise the township council apply to the provincial secretary, who might appoint an outside Judge to preside over the revaluation proceedings.

Warden Wood made this course clear during the discussion. To obviate that expensive expedient, as the council apprehended it, Reeve Bygott moved, seconded by Reeve Holman, that, if other efforts at equalization failed, the council was willing to have it done by the County Judge.

..Then to forestall that course, if possible, Reeve Rickard moved that the reeves and one other representative from each municipality be a committee to try to equalize the assessment by a revision that would be generally satisfactory. Reeve Fred Gray seconded it.

Warden Wood's comment was that he had no confidence in a conference of members of the council.

Preliminary suggestions during the debate were as follows:

W. H. Nelson, Reeve of Percy township—"We might ask the Warden to call the December session one day earlier, and let us try among ourselves to work out an arrangement on an equitable basis. If we were all unselfish I think we could do this and avoid expense that might be $15,000 or more. It would not cost more than $200 for that extra day's pay.

L. C. Murphy (Cramahe)—"I don't blame Mr. Hooton. He wanted something done, and he gave us warning last January, but no attempt has been made to do anything.

Consider Expense

W. F. Rickard (Newcastle)—"If the Warden would call the reeves together within twenty days after this session as required by the statute we could try to equalize the assessments ourselves. We might have our clerks meet us. It would be a big mistake to go ahead and spend fifteen or twenty thousand dollars by engaging the judge, but if there is no other way I'd say let it go before him.

Dr. Wilson (Hastings)—"Does this upset our present assessment?

Warden Wood—"No."

J. M. Bygott (Campbellford)—"We might appoint a member from each council and one other representative of the municipality whether the clerk, or any one who may be familiar with local facts and conditions and can supply the information. I agree that we should try to keep down the expense, whatever action we take.

George Van Volkenburg (Seymour)—"I favor Mr. Hooton's plan of appointing valuators, rather than refer the assessment to the county judge.

Mr. Hooton—"The only way is to appoint valuators. They ap. point three every ten years in Victoria county, which is a little smaller than these two, and it costs them only $1,500 for each valuator. The cost in Halton that Mr. Elliott told us about was due to the fact that the appeal by Trafalgar townships went to the Provincial Secretary and he appointed an outside Judge.

Council Might Not Agree

O. C. Morgan (Brighton township)—"If this is left to the reeves I think we will land just where we

FIRE COMMITTEE MEETS AT WARSAW

Will Ask Fire Chief Allan Clark To Give Engine Demonstration.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARSAW, June 24. — The fire committee, composed of Messrs Geo. Taylor, G. Clements, Rufus Payne, H. B. Herrington, Alec Rose and David Miller, met on Thursday evening. The two large chemical fire extinguishers are ordered and will be in Warsaw soon.

It was decided to ask Allan Clark, fire chief of Lakefield, to come to Warsaw when the engines arrive and give a demonstration.

About $500 has been subscribed and between $300 and $400 paid in. The committee would like the subscriptions paid in if possible by the time the extinguishers arrive.

It was decided to send the engines anywhere, within reach, whenever a fire call comes in, whether the people who gave the call had subscribed or not.

As part of Douro is very near Warsaw, that part will be asked if they wish to join the Warsaw people.

Many in the village and in the community have the hand chemical fire extinguishers, and have had them for some years.

Notice will be given when the engines arrive and any one who cares to do so is cordially invited to see the demonstration.

NORHAM, June 24 (Examiner Correspondence).—On Wednesday evening, Miss Edna Evans entertained the members of the Young People's Sunday school class at her home.

A very enjoyable evening was spent playing games on the lawn, which was brightly lighted with electricity. Later, a very dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Evans. Before dispersing, Edward Huycke voiced the appreciation of the class to Mr. and Mrs. Huycke and Miss Edna for a most enjoyable evening.

On Thursday night after ball practice, some of the young people enjoyed a marshmallow roast on the ball field.

added to that a dressing of trap rock screenings; and this council emphatically declare that the commissions would be well advised to use the limited amount of money placed at their disposal in bringing as many of the roads as possible to a safe width and good surface before using up money on dust laying material on roads that are now of good width and well surfaced this season. Dust laying expense might be tolerated where such roads pass through villages or hamlets but under no consideration at present with the funds available, elsewhere.

This motion was passed by the council on the motion of Reeve Tanner of Lakefield, and Reeve H. B. Rye of North Monaghan.

GREAT CANADIAN GAVE FORTY YEARS OF PUBLIC SERVICE

and economic growth of the country William Stevens Fielding had played a most conspicuous role.

Future historians will probably point to the introduction of the British Preferential Tariff, in 1897, as the outstanding achievement of Mr. Fielding's career. It gave fresh impetus to Canada's growing trade, and in its amplication, a year or two later, provided new bonds for the unification of the rapidly growing British Commonwealth, a problem that was already regarded as pressing for solution among the academically inclined. Moreover it inspired Rudyard Kipling to write one of his best known poems:

A Nation spoke to a Nation,
A Queen sent word to a Throne:
"Daughter am I in my mother's house
But Mistress in my own.
The gates are mine to open,
As the gates are mine to close,
And I set my house in order,"
Said Our Lady of the Snows.

But as epoch making as was undoubtedly the introduction of the British Preferential Tariff, it is unquestionably true that Mr. Fielding himself regarded the negotiations of a treaty of reciprocity with the United States in 1911 as his greatest contribution to Canadian statesmanship, and this despite the fact that it was subsequently rejected by the Canadian people in a manner so decisive as to carry with it the downfall of the government led by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Indeed, when the smoke of battle had cleared away, it was found that Mr. Fielding himself was among the slain.

His Great Dream of Life

A reciprocal trade agreement with the United States had been the dream of the great Nova Scotian's life. Believing that the best interests of his native province would not be served by a confederation with the rest of Canada, he had opposed negotiations leading up to the British North America Act of 1867. Nova Scotia needed wider markets for her products and Mr. Fielding was far-sighted enough to see that Ontario and Quebec could not provide these on account of their geographical position. As late as 1886, therefore, he was to be found working for the repeal of the legislation, winning a provincial election in that year on the promise to advocate a return, if need be, to the status quo ante. And ten years later, when he was called to Ottawa, the economic problems confronting Nova Scotia were perhaps uppermost in his mind. But it was not until 1911 that he was able to actually negotiate a treaty. In the course of the political campaign that followed he told a group of Canadian manufacturers and financial leaders in Montreal that if they brought about the defeat of the measure, they would live to see in the West and in the Maritime Provinces movements of unrest, born of the conditions reciprocity was calculated to remove, and it was typical of the man that with the breaking away of the west from the straight line parties in the election of 1921 and the demand for a review of the Confederation agreement in Nova Scotia in the spring of 1923, it was not recorded that he took to himself any credit for his prophetic words.

The outbreak of the World War in 1914 found Mr. Fielding without a seat in the House of Commons. But this did not prevent him from rendering valiant service in the Allied cause, and when in 1917 a Union Government of Conservatives and Liberals, headed by the Conservative Prime Minister, Sir Robert Borden, appealed to the country with a policy of conscription for the better prosecution of the war, the former finance minister promptly arrayed himself on the side of the conscriptionists, and was elected by acclamation in his old constituency of Queen's Shelburne. He did not become a member, however, of the administration, and when the war was won he was among the first to return to the ranks of the Opposition.

Lost Leadership of Liberals

Nevertheless it is generally agreed that his action in supporting conscription cost him the leadership of the Liberal party, following the death of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The opposition to conscription had centred in the Province of Quebec and it was the action of the Quebec delegates which determined that the mantle of the great French-Canadian should be worn by William Lyon Mckenzie King. But the convention was unable to take from the aging statesman the de facto leadership of the party. From the time he returned to the post of Finance Minister in the administration of Mr. King in 1922 down to his last illness he stood dominant on the Government side of the House and the Prime Minister has never lost an opportunity of paying tribute to the invaluable help he received from his first lieutenant during the early years of his premiership.

Like many men who have risen to high rank in the world of politics, the beginnings of William Stevens Felding's career were redolent with the smell of printer's inn. Entering the employ of the Halifax Morning Chronicle, a paper which up to that time had provided Nova Scotia with two Premiers in its founder Joseph Howe and a subsequent editor, William Annand, Mr. Fielding passed the formative years of his life in an atmosphere of politics, rarefied by a high tradition of fine achievement. The stately Province Building in which the brilliant former editor Joseph Howe had won his fight for responsible government was just across the way from the dingy building housing the Chronicle. It is to be surmised that the youthful Fielding frequently looked up from his case to contemplate the historic pile and possibly to dream of the time when he should follow in the footsteps of his predecessors. But the fact is that by studied industry he rapidly won promotion and at an early age even in those days of personal journalism was playing a leading part in shaping the policies of the government of the province.

From that time onward his star continued to increase in magnitude. In 1882 he contested his first election, standing for one of the Halifax seats in the Provincial elections of that year. For a time following the election issue was in doubt, but it was finally determined that the budding Premier had squeezed in by a very small margin. A few months later he became a member of the Legislature without portfolio and continually gaining in influence was shortly thereafter the undisputed leader of the Government headed by Hon. W. T. Pipes. Mr. Pipes was a brilliant young lawyer but he had no particular flair for politics and spent a good deal of his time endeavoring to induce Mr. Fielding to take over the reins of office in name as well as in fact. But the young editor was just as obdurate in insisting that he lacked experience on the floor of the House and that Pipes should carry on. In 1884 however Premier Pipes took the situation in his own hands and tendered his resignation to the governor with the request that he call upon Mr. Fielding to form a government. Then he walked down to the Chronicle and informed Mr. Fielding of what he had done. Tradition has it that he handed his resignation in to the editor of the Chronicle instead of the Governor, but unfortunately this cannot be borne out by the records.

But while Mr. Pipes adhered strictly to the constitutional practice, some of his colleagues were apparently not so inclined and when Mr. Fielding called at the Province Building several of the members of the defunct Pipes administration insisted there was no need of any other member of the government resigning and that Mr. Fielding should merely assume the vacant chair at the head of the table. But like his predecessor the young Premier was a sticker for form and winning his point drew up a slate which failed to include all his colleagues in the previous administration.

Chief among Mr Fielding's achievments as Premier of Nova Scotia was the introduction of coal mining legislation which paved the way for the formation of the Dominion Coal Company and an ensuing very substantial increase in coal royalties. The state of the provincial revenues was of necessity his chief concern. It was this which prompted the demand for a revision of the terms of Conferation and it was probably due to the successful way in which he addressed himself to the problem that he laid the foundations for his long career as finance minister in the wider field of the federal affairs.

Wanted No Honors

Perhaps the most striking characteristic of William Stevens Fielding was his disinterestedness. Any honor within attainment of a Canadian certainly was his but he stoutly eschewed all and in the days when his countrymen were not adverse to knighthoods, he preferred to remain plain Mr. Fielding. It was only in 1923 that he became a "Right Honorable" by being made a member of the Imperial Privy Council. Nor was he interested in the accumulation of wealth. When he stepped down from the office of Minister of Finance in 1911 he found it incumbent upon himself to still work for a living. He promptly returned to his first love, journalism, and first with the Montreal Daily Telegraph and subsequently with the Journal of Commerce continued to exert an important influence on Canadian affairs, until called upon to resume the responsibilities of a Minister of the Crown.

Mr. Fielding was not an orator in the strict sense of the term, but he was a consummate master of debate and a most efective campaign speaker. He possessed a rapid fire delivery which carried his aduidience with him, usually at a high pitch of enthusiasm. Always considerate of the rights of others he made few, if any, personal enemies. Perhaps his one obsession was the man who was indifferent to politics. He often said that he was proud of the fact that Nova Scotians took their politics seriously and contender that Nova Scotia's remarkable contribution to the public life of the Dominion was largely due to the nightly discussion of the affairs of state about the stoves of the country stores throughout the province. Mr. Fielding was the recipient of a remarkable tribute on the occasion of his seventy-fifth birthday anniversary when in the heat of an election campaing the citizens of his native city of Halifax, irrespective of politics, united to do homage to one who had given them a life of self-sacrificing service.

Mr. Fielding was born at Halifax N.S., on Nov. 24 ,1848. He was a son of Charles Fielding and Sarah (Ellis) Fielding, both being of English descent. He was educated in Halifax, and married in 1876 to Hester, daughter of the late Thomas A. Rankine of St. John, N.B.

He was President of the St. George's society in his native city for some years. Mr. Fielding was a Baptist and member of the Rideau Club, Ottawa; Ottawa Golf Club, Ottawa Country Club, the Halifax Club and the City Club, of Halifax.

COUNCIL'S HAND FORCED BY REEVES

are now. If the assessments of some municipalities were raised the reeves would kick; if some were lowered, others might kick; and if no change were made we'd have the objections that are now being raised.

Warden Wood said he had no confidence in the plan of leaving equalization to the reeves .

J. N. Stone (Campbellford) agreed with the Warden. His town had no appeals against the local assessing, an evidence that the ratepayers considered it fair, but it was a different matter to undertake to tell another municipality what its assessments should be.

Mr. Hooton's notice was drafted to invoke the legal machinery of the statute. The method of appointing valuators was in the discretion of the council but was not generally favored.

Mr. Hyland's objection was directed at the discrepancy between the urban local assessments and their equalized assessments.

Mr. Hooton gave the assurance that Cavan would not appeal against a judicial revaluation.

MASONS ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE

Brethren From Campbellford Lodges Attend Services in St. Andrew's Church.

SPECIAL SPEAKER

CAMPBELLFORD, June 24 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — Approximately one hundred members of Golden Rule Lodge, No. 126, A.F. and A.M., G.R.C., and visiting brethren from lodges in the district, attended church yesterday afternoon at three o'clock in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. The speaker for the service was Rev. Bro. D. A. MacKenzie, of Burnbrae Presbyterian Church. His sermon was particularly adapted to the occasion, and was received with a great degree of interest by the members of the Order.

Before announcing his text, Rev. Mr. MacKenzie expressed his appreciation to his brethren of the lodge for the honor they had conferred upon him in asking him to preach to them on this occasion. He also deemed it an honor to be invited to preach on such a comprehensive subject as Masonry. As a basis for his sermon, Mr. MacKenzie selected the eighteenth verse of the fifth chapter of I. Kings: "And Solomon's Builders and Hiram's builders did hew them. and the stone squarers ;so they prepared timber and stones to build the house." "The history of Masonry," he said, "was older than the British Empire. The present organization dated back to the middle ages, but Masonry itself was known two or three thousand years before Solomon's temple. Masonry was the oldest and most honored of fraternal orders."

During the course of his sermon Mr. MacKenzie dealt with the four words—ancient, free, and accepted Masons. His sermon also dealt with the architecture of Solomon's temple. particularly the phases of it which were particularly significant to the Masonic Order. In those days, he said, the triangle had been generally accepted as symbolic of the Holy Trinity, Father, Son, and Holy Ghost. The square was a token for four square lives.

Special Music.

For the occasion there was special music. Harold Fudge, of New York City, was the soloist. He sang "It Is Enough" from Mendelssohn's "Elijah." The organ prelude, "Be Not Afraid," was from the same composition. The offertory was "The Minster March" from "Lohengrin" (Wagner), and the postlude, "Gloria in Excelsis" from Mozart's Twelfth Mass.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM McILMOYLE.

APSLEY, June 24 (Examiner Correspondence). — Death came with startling suddenness to William McIlmoyle, a well-known resident of Burleigh, on Friday evening, just as he was starting for home after working all day with the stone crusher on Burleigh Road. He had been in his usual good health, and was about to enter his car when he dropped unconscious.

Dr. Shepherd was telephoned for, and on arrival found just a flicker of life, but in a few minutes, in spite of every effort it was extinguished.

It is probable the extreme heat and over-exertion caused the heart failure which resulted in death. The news came as a great shock to the community, and to the men who had been working with him.

Mr. McIlmoyle was about 65 years of age, active and hard-working, and leaves a wife and family.

CAPTAIN B. M. EDEN.

The last rites for Captain B. M. Eden, aged 83, of 177 West Cordova Street, Vancouver, who died on Monday, June 10, were held at 4.30 p.m. on Thursday in the Mount Pleasant Undertaking Company's chapel. Burial was made in the Masonic Cemetery, Burnaby.

Captain Eden was Port Captain in Vancouver for the Union Steamship Company, Limited, in 1904. His wife, who was formerly Miss Laura Beatty, of Lakefield, Ontario, predeceased him some years ago. He is survived by one daughter, Miss Muriel EJen, of Portland, and three sons, S. B. and F. A. of the Cariboo, and R. B. Eden of Quesnel, B.C.

REV. G. LANDSBURY.

MADOC, June 24 (Examiner Correspondence). — The funeral of the late Rev. G. Landsbury took place in Hillier on Thursday. Rev. Mr. Landsbury, who had been in ill-health for some time, was taken seriously ill last week, and was taken to Toronto Hospital. News of his death reached Madoc on Tuesday night.

The Church of St. John the Baptist (Anglican) mourns the loss of a faithful and beloved pastor.

CATHERINE CAMPBELL.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 24 (Examiner Staff Correspondence).—Following an illness of several weeks, the death occurred early this morning of Catherine Campbell. The late Miss Campbell was seventy-three years of age and was born in Glasgow, Scotland. Two and one-half years ago she came to this country, and since then has resided with her brother, Peter Campbell, Lot 10, Concession 10, Seymour West. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dugald Campbell, of Glasgow, Scotland. She is survived by one brother, Peter Campbell, Seymour West, and one sister, Mrs. Isabella Duchemin, Toronto. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church. The funeral services will be held from the home of her brother on Tuesday afternoon. Interment will be in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

"HUSKY" ENABLES RAILWAY MAN TO WORK REGULARLY

"The Rheumatism, That Made Me Ache All Over and Kept Me Off the Job So Much, Yielded to This Medicine Right Away," Says Welder.

WILLIAM ROBINSON.

"Husky" is not only saving me from a lot of suffering, but it is saving me much time and money too,'" says William Robinson, of 238 McCall street, Toronto, an expert welder in Toronto railroad shops for years.

"I actually ached all over from rheumatism before I started "Husky," said Mr. Robinson, "and I was particularly sore in my back and arms. Much of the time I was so bad I could not work and these lay-offs were costing me money. I rested very poorly at night and I didn't feel like eating. I was worried because I felt I couldn't stand the suffering much longer and then I knew I couldn't keep missing time from work.

"A friend told me about Husky and while I have been using it only a short time I am wonderfully improved. I never miss a day from work now and have been on the job all the time since I took my first doses of Husky. The soreness and aching have about left me and I sleep well and eat hearty meals. I never used anything that did me as much good as Husky is doing me now. I am getting along fine every day and I cannot say too much for this medicine."

Begin using Husky to-day and note how soon you get relief, how food tastes better, sleep is more sound and restful and you feel stronger and better in every way. It is marvelous what this medicine will do for you in a short time. Husky can always be obtained at Bond's Drug Store and at other good drug stores everywhere.

"It's your turn to have Mother"

"HONOUR thy father and thy mother." Most of us remember the commandment but in later life when we become fathers and mothers ourselves we are apt to consider the responsibility for our own parents' upkeep a bit of a burden.

Cases are not rare when family quarrels have arisen because children don't want mother or father unloaded on them for so many months each year.

Well, do you, yourself, want to be in this position when you will have become old?

Certainly not! Then prevent it so far as lies in your power by setting aside part of your earnings now, so that when the time comes, you will not need to sacrifice your self-respect by becoming a burden to your children. THE FILTRATION PARK.

The electric fountain at the filtration plant, the first of its kind in Canada, is well worth a visit from citizens of Peterborough and should be listed as among the attractions that Old Home Week guests should be taken to see.

Incidentally, the Utilities Commission and their staff are to be congratulated upon the beautiful park they have created at the filtration plant; the immaculately kept grounds and splendid trees make this one of the real beauty spots of the district.

The park, it should be noted, is at the service of the citizens of Peterborough, who are its owners and who are invited to make use of it for picnic purposes whenever they desire to do so.

Unofficially, among Utilities employees the filtration park is known as Moore Park, the name being given in honor of the late W. H. Moore, K.C., the first member of the original commission to pass on.

Would it not be a gracious and well-deserved tribute to the public service rendered by Mr. Moore to have this name officially accepted and to have this beauty spot publicly known henceforth as Moore Park?

CIRCUS DAY.

The public taste in the matter of entertainment rapidly changes.

The moving picture in its silent form, after dealing a body blow to the legitimate stage, is giving way to the talking screen just as the phonograph declines in popularity before the attraction of the radio.

One form of entertainment never seems to lose its appeal, however.

The circus remains supreme in its field—the one amusement enterprise of yesteryear that still exercises its old-time fascination.

The gilt and tinsel, the horses, the music, the glimpses at strange animals in menagerie wagons, the clowns, the calliope, the lady riders, the smell of the sawdust, the pinkness of circus lemonade—the whole atmosphere of the circus lot lose none of their power to attract as the years pass.

No boy is too young, no man too old to be immune from the thrill of circus day.

True, the adults merely go "for the sake of the children"—but there is a gleam in their eyes that gives them away, a gleam of excitement and exhileration that tells its own story.

Long live the circus; if it ever dies out there will be a lot of color and romance missing.

THE SLOW DRIVER AGAIN.

An Examiner reader protests that in criticising motorists who drive at a loafing pace on provincial highways when traffic is heavy The Examiner is encouraging the speeder and the reckless driver, and he intimates that our attitude in this respect is dictated by a desire to serve the automobile industry as heavy advertisers.

The second part of this complaint is sheer nonsense.

Few papers in Canada have devoted so much space to articles on safe and sane driving as The Examiner has done in recent years.

We have urged a more rigid examination of drivers, a persistent check-up on holders of operators' licenses, heavier penalties for drunken drivers, shorter working hours for truck and bus drivers, the punishment of speeders both on city streets and on the highways, the permanent cancelling of the right to drive in cases when motorists have been repeatedly found guilty of recklessness, and many other steps likely to bring about safer conditions.

Right in line with these suggestions is The Examiner's contention that loafing on highways by which traffic congestion is occasioned and traffic hazards increased is a dangerous practice that the courts are rightly taking notice of and punishing.

A PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

In approaching the County Council for a grant, the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition Board, by reason of the emphasis that has always been placed upon agriculture in the Exhibition's programs, had no difficulty in presenting a strong case.

The Peterborough Exhibition, while increasing its amusement and entertainment features steadily, has never made the mistake of neglecting the agricultural industry.

The agricultural departments of the big fair have kept pace with other departments in expansion and progress.

The accommodation of live stock and agricultural entries generally has been steadily enlarged, the prize money paid out has rapidly increased.

This year a much needed improvement is to be taken care of in the form of a new prize ring for cattle judging with ample accommodation for spectators—a feature that will be of decided benefit to farmers generally and a progressive step that shows what a large part agriculture plays in the activities of the Fair Board.

The educational value of the Exhibition, the impetus it gives to strive for better stock and better products generally, makes a county grant to the institution a case of a sound and safe investment with dividends guaranteed.

THE BLIND AND PENSIONS.

We heartily agree with the Victoria, B. C., Times that it ought to be possible to widen the scope of the old age pensions legislation to include benefits for those blind persons who are unable to support themselves by their own efforts. Or, if it be not possible to link up blindness and old age in a general pension scheme, then it seems to us there should be a special pension act passed to provide and care for blind people. Our own opinion is that a decade from now the people of that period will look back with surprise and, indeed, with indignation upon the fact that we were so callous and indifferent in our time toward the helpless blind that we made no provision whatever for them governmentally, although we know that they are in a sense really the most helpless and pathetic people in the world despite their every effort to better themselves.

When one thinks of the money that is spent in other directions—some of it to good purpose and some of it to bad—it is amazing to realize that as yet not a single legislative effort has been made in Canada to look after our helpless blind and to care for them. The sooner such a condition is relieved the better. The humanitarian idea in legislation is growing and it should certainly reach out to include the blind.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

WALL STREET, WASHINGTON AND CANADA.

A Journal representative who recently sampled opinions on Wall Street and in American financial circles generally, discovered two opinions as to the duration of the present high money period. Right on Wall Street one heard the statement that liquidation has already relieved the situation to such an exent that the worst is over. Those who take this view point to the unprecedentedly encouraging news from the steel industry and other industries for May and June. They look for a dull summer market and another strong upward movement in the late autumn—a movement to which Mr. Hoover's Farm Relief measure may contribute. Another fact to be remembered is that the 500,000 American stock market investors of fifteen years ago have grown to 15,000,000. This thirty-fourfold increase in the number of those who buy stocks and bonds accounts for the vastly enlarged absorbing capacity of the market.

Further away from the stock exchange, critical individuals insist that as long as time money holds up, as it still does, nobody should be bullish on security prices—especially as between June and October there will be increased demands on the banks for the wherewithal to finance the year's incoming crops. Incidentally, two views still exist as to the action of the Federal Reserve Board in trying to dragoon Wall Street. To those who champion the Board, its critics reply that the Board presumes too far when it attempts to say whether stocks and bonds are too high or too low. What amounts to government interference in private business is denounced as bad, unjustified, and as less likely to bring good results than the course of letting the markets find their own level on natural economic grounds—that is in response to the law of supply and demand.

The temporary money stringency does not close the eyes of New York financiers to the growing importance of Canada as a country of promising investments. Today as never before, New York and other American capitalists are looking with confidence upon the Dominion. They distinguish it from other foreign countries because of its proximity to the United States, because of its stable British institutions, and because of the similarity of Canadians to Americans in language and in their general outlook on life. In short, looking across an imaginary boundary line they do not regard this country as a foreign country at all—except perhaps, in the matter of imports and import duties. There is nothing startlingly new about the facts upon which they base their present attitude, but the money-making opportunities afforded by this vast Dominion still largely in its pioneer stage and by its vast natural resources have come home to their consciousness as never before. One is surprised to find how many Americans and even how many Wall Street men have holdings of Canadian bank stocks, Canadian Pacific Railway, Sun Life, Imperial Oil, Montreal Power, Consumers' Gas, Consolidated Smelters, and other high-class Canadian issues. The phenomenal advances of the past two years in some of these stocks, in International Nickel, in the Lindsley issues and other securities have helped to perfect the education of United States investors as to the financial potentialities of this country.

We believe that large as has already been the movement of American capital northward, it has only begun. Far-seeing men south of the boundary line recognise in the Canada of to-day a country that is in the same position materially as was the Republic fifty or sixty years or even longer ago. They estimate that in the next few decades the Dominion is to duplicate the industrial and economic development of the United States. That is why they want to be "in on it." That is why Canadians have had to fight for control of some of their most important financial and industrial enterprises. That is why other similar battles for control loom on the horizon. That is why anyone who is persistently a bear on Canada will certainly go broke. That is why Canadian capital should be kept at home and why more British capital should be brought in to share in the great forward development that is now well under way.

If one journeys from Wall Street to Washington, listens to the casual debates in Congress, and mingles with the politicians and newspaper men congregated at the Capital, he will find them eager and profoundly interested not only in Canada as a field for profitable investment but as a unit of the far-flung British Empire. From President Hoover down, prominent men at Washington appear to base profound hopes on the progress of the present pacific negotiations between Great Britain and the United States. Commingling economic aspirations, and high tariff convictions and pride in their navy, with a certain idealism, they have watched General Dawes' reception by the King and Premier MacDonald with the liveliest concern. For them the whole movement is the most significant kind of romantic drama with enormous practical results as the prospective denouement. A prominent American journalist was visibly moved as he portrayed to the writer what great things could come from the play that is now only in its first or second act. This influential Washington editor declared that if Great Britain and Canada and the United States really settled their differences, the world-wide British Empire and the American Republic, linking their policies and their forces, would be immune from anxiety regarding other nations and so could lead the whole world forward to more splendid stages of security and prosperous development.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Circus to-day, holidays start Friday, Old Home Week gets under way Saturday, the water's fine—who wouldn't be a school boy?

Anyway a circus parade gives the urban children of to-day a chance to see what a horse looks like.

According to Inspector Cuddy, the border rum war is more shouting than shooting. In short, a talkie rather than an action picture.

Correct this sentence: A politician made a speech the other day and did not mention the tariff.

The old boys may not recognize the old town next week, but they will have no difficulty in recognizing the warmth of their welcome.

Waists are to be higher, say the modistes. What do we care! We shall find them just the same.—Reynold's Illustrated News.

Story of a Missing Actress and the Taxing of Wits to Explain Her Fate

THE STORY THUS FAR:

Don Ellsworth's wife, formerly the famous actress Sheila O'Shay, disappears, leaving no trace. Dr. Cavanaugh, the great criminal psychologist learns that their married life has been very unhappy.

Peter Piper a reporter on the Herald, tries to get an interview with Dr. Cavanaugh. Instead he meets Barbara Cavanaugh, the attractive daughter, and finds that she was engaged to Don Ellsworth before his marriage.

An unidentified body is found in the tule marsh outside the city. It has been burned by a fire in the marsh until it is entirely unrecognizable, except for the fact that it is a woman. Dr. Cavanaugh is called in to help with the identification.

He has only a small piece of scalp from the body to work on. Don Ellsworth refuses to give him a hair of Sheila O'Shays, but he secures one unknown and after examination tells Peter Piper that the body found in the marsh is that of Sheila O'Shay. Barbara, in whom Peter has become interested, faints when she hears this. Peter who is already half in love with her, is torn between his feeling and his suspision that she knows something about the murder, Mrs. Kane, Sheila O'Shay's waiting woman is arrested in the case and Peter is sent to interview her. He learns that Sheila O'Shay forced Don Ellsworth to marry her by threatening a breach of promise suit. Peter makes a social call on Barbara Cavanaugh. He is convinced that she knows something about the murder and his instinct is to protect her. Peter, watching the Ellsworth house sees Dr. Cavanaugh go in. He climbs up the porch to see what is going on and finds Dr. Cavanaugh in Sheila O'Shay's boudoir. Dr. Cavanaugh discovers him and invites him in. They find that the breach of promise papers with which Sheila O'Shay forced Ellsworth to marry her, have been taken from the safe. But they find something else.

CHAPTER 27.

Dr. Cavanaugh finished his righting of the overturned chair. Then he reached deliberately for the sheet of paper, holding it gingerly by the edges.

"No use gumming up the finger-prints," he observed. Camberwell's very fond of nice fingerprints."

He laid the sheet of paper face upward on the dressing table, securing each corner with one of the toilet articles for a paperweight.

"It's your find young man. Come and have a look."

"Dear Sheila," it read, "I've found you out. You sentenced me to a sojourn in hell, such, as you would neither understand nor care about. Did you ever in all your life, I wonder, care about anything but your own desires? You've attained them every time, those desires, riding roughshod over all who opposed you. You've used everything you have—your beauty, your terrible charm (yes, it is terrible, Sheila; even I, who know you will enough to hate you, feel it even yet)—for your own purposes, destroying others along the way. But you, who have destroyed others, may yet be destroyed by the very forces you have raised. There are things that not even you can manage. I have come to myself at last, and you have me to reckon with. You'd better arrange to see me at the earliest opportunity.

DAVID ORME'

"Hm!" the doctor's deep bumble-bee hum broke the silence as he straightened from his leaning position over the dressing table. "What do you think of that Peter?"

"It's a brand new angle—thank heaven!" Peter exclaimed.

"You needed a new angle?"

"I did." Peter agreed emphatically. A new angle—and one with which Barbara, at least, had nothing to do! "It's a threat, obviously. Who's David Orme?"

"Precisely. Who is David Orme? It's going to be somebody's business to find that out."

"It might be an alias, of course," Peter suggested.

"I hardly think so. The writer of that letter expected Sheila O'Shay to know who he was."

"Yes," Peter broke in eagerly, "and that handwriting doesn't look as if it were disguised, does it? It's a bit shaky, but quite natural and flowing."

"I'm not a handwriting expert, but I'm inclined to think you're right. Camberwell, of course, can tell. Taking it at face value, it's the writing of an educated man—the letters are very small, for one thing, and there's the Greek 'e' and the final 'd's'. While an educated man might try to imitate the handwriting of one who was almost illiterate, the reverse would hardly be feasible."

"There's the choice of words, too. 'Attained your desires.' Nothing roughneck about that—and yet it's not exactly stilted, as if her were trying to talk big. Gee, this begins to look good!" Peter was rocking back and forth on his toes with suppressed excitement.

The doctor reached absentmindedly for a cigar, and then regretfully thrust it back into his case.

"Too bad,' he murmured "but we can't leave a lot of smoke about. I'll have to tell you again, young man, that you've a good mind for seizing significant points. Perhaps you noticed also the choice of ideas. That is a threatening letter, yes; but it goes in for what are called glittering generalities. The writer was thinking more about his own feelings than about any definite plan of action. He's what we psychologistis call an introvert. There's the double parenthesis, too—correctly punctuated, by the way. His mind wound in and out among his emotions. He couldn't resist that bit about her 'terrible charm.' Unfortunately, though we know all this about his insides, there's not much of a clue by which to pick him out on the street."

"What about the envelope?"

Peter grovelled a moment on hands and knees and retrieved the envelope where it had fallen under the telephone stand. This time he was careful to touch it only at the edges. "It wasn't posted at all," he said disappointedly. "Delivered by hand. Still, this is sort of funny, isn't it?"

The envelope, which he laid on the table beside the letter, was addressed in a single line: "Sheila O'Shay (Ellsworth)."

"A regular demon for parenthesis, that bird. Now what do you suppose he put that one in for?"

"If I were being facetious, I'd say he was imitating the newspapers. You wouldn't say, now, that this letter was written by a newspaper reporter gone wrong?"

Peter looked as startled as if a gun had suddenly been pointed at him, barrel foremost.

"I certainly wouldn't," he said sharply.

"There! You see how careful we must be not to jump to conclusions. Even you, who had nothing whatever to do with it, looked momentarily guilty when confronted with a suggestion which seemed to come home to you. You are not David Orme, but you remembered that you had expressed a rather extreme dislike for the lady in the case."

"I never saw her in my life!" Peter protested.

"I know you didn't." Dr. Cavanaugh said soothingly. "But I wanted to warn you to be very cautious about theorizing. The race is not always to the swift—they sometimes race in the wrong direction. By the way, did you happen to notice the pages of the directory where the letter was thrust?"

"I'm afraid I didn't," Peter admitted. "I ought to have told you and let you take it out yourself. I just didn't think! It was somewhere near the front of the book that's all I remember."

"Well, don't worry. It can't be helped. It just gives the police a chance to exercise their own wits instead of ours."

"I'm sure it wasn't as far back as the TO's'," Peter said dejectedly. "And yet it was stuck in with the edge just a little beyond the margin, as if to mark the place. I don't think she had any idea of hiding it there."

"No. She wasn't hiding it. Mr. Orme, whoever, he may be wouldn't be in the telephone book anyhow. If he were, he'd have telephoned probably instead of writing—and he wouldn't have 'found her out' at this late day if he were living in the same town with her. She was rather a public character, you know. But she might have known how to get in touch with him through someone else. They may have met since that letter was written, for all we know."

"I'm awfully sorry," said the crestfallen Peter. "I've made an awful foozle of it."

"On the contrary, you found the letter, which may be important evidence, and is certainly well worth looking into. It is your.....er, scoop."

'You mean I can have it for the office?" Peter beamed.

"Hardly that—you forget Mr. Camberwell's penchant for fingerprints. Besides, your enterprise in getting it at all might not be appreciated by the police department. But I see no objection to your making a copy, if you think your editor would like it—you've certainly earned that much."

"Like it!" Peter was already scribbling frantically with a stubby black pencil on a sheet of copy paper snatched from his coat pocket. "I'll say he'll like it!"

"I shall tell Camberwell that you assisted me in my unofficial inquiry,' the doctor said. "That will allay his curiosity—and there's no reason that I can see why we should try to keep the letter secret. If it was written by the criminal, he'll expect it to be found sooner or later. And when the police begin to look for him, he'll be a very poor criminal indeed if he isn't aware of their efforts. I'm beginning to take a personal interest in the news-gathering projects of the 'Herald.'"

"It'll make the 'city' edition," Peter sighed happily. Suddenly his pencil paused in mid air. "Here's another thing," he said. "That letter was written on cheap paper—almost as poor as this stuff in my pocket. It would hardly take the ink. And yet it was written with a good smooth pen point. It must have been fountain pen ink, or it would have blurred more than it did. Unless the paper is a blind—and the only apparent blind about the whole business—this Orme person carries an excellent fountain pen, but is reduced to the cheapest possible kind of paper. Gee, I'm beginning to find him interesting!"

"So am I," said Dr. Cavanaugh.

A Thought

LIFE

We live for the full fruit of our years. And no man lives well who must for all of his days be led about by the nose. That man is most successful, happiest, ablest, most necessary, who can take from the instructions of his leaders those things that fit him and help him, mold them into his own personality, and from the mixture produce results, which is all that is required of any of us.

Don't truckle. Listen to those who can teach you, but don't toss the to the discard those qualities and capacities that, when you have learned how to use them, will make your success so much more satisfying because it will be an expression of your own self and not a washed out copy of some other man.

What To-day Means To You.

JUNE 24TH "Cancer".

If June 24th is your birthday, the successful hours for you on this date are from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m., from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m., and from 9:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 7 a.m. to 8 a.m., and from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.

The astrological signs for this day are negative in character, and there will be little effort to change the natural sequence of events. Very little active opposition will be encountered in any work attempted, and there will be an absence of stimulation.

Children born on June 24th will have interesting characters. They will be vivacious, original and fun-loving—at the same time they will be found ambitious and dependable. They will be very affectionate, very loyal, and very sincere.

You are quick-tempered and ready to defend your opinions whenever they are opposed or criticised. There is nothing you love more than an argument, in which you are inclined to resort to sarcasm—the keenness of your words is often the sword which cuts the bond of a friendship. You entirely forget that the same weapons which hurt you, are equally painful to another. There is too much suspicion in your heart to permit a friendly attitude toward the world—and the acts of others are often misinterpreted.

A good deal of travel is marked out for you, and this more than anything else, is liable to broaden your outlook, and render you less self-centered, more cosmopolitan, less individual. It is augured by the astrological signs that, from a material point of view your career will be successful but your life will miss that warmth of color which only sincere friendship and self-sacrificingand companionship can give. All those born on this date, regardless of sex, should not marry until such time as they have acquired the experience which comes from loss and disappointment—influences that should mellow, without embittering.

Your aggressiveness and self-confidence are two factors in your make-up which will cut your way through to success. Your determination is not easily downed.

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner Office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

THE WEED CONTROL ACT.

The Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—The main object of the Weed Control Act is to afford a means whereby the farmers and the authorities may co-operate to control the menace of weeds. Its principal clauses are:

Every occupant of land, or if the land is unoccupied, the owner, shall destroy all weeds designated noxious by the regulations, as often in every year as is sufficient to prevent the ripening of their seeds.

The Council of every city, town, village and township shall appoint at least one ipsnector to enforce the provisions of this Act in the municipality, and fix the amount of the remuneration, fees or charges he is to receive for the performance of his duties, and if a vacancy occurs in the office the Council shall fill the same forthwith.

It shall be the duty of every road authority to see that all weeds growing upon streets or highways under its jurisdiction are cut down or destroyed at the proper time to prevent the ripening of their seed and to appoint such officers as may be necessary for that purpose.

Any owner or occupant of land who contravenes any of the provisions of this Act or who refuses or neglects to obey any lawful order of the inspector given under this Act shall incur a penalty of not less than $20.00 nor more than $50.00 for every such offence.

In the absence of any owner or occupier or upon refusal after notice to comply with the requirements of this Act, the inspector may cause weeds coming under this Act to be cut down and destroyed and may charge the cost of such work against the property to be collected in the same manner as taxes.

While the farmer probably suffers the most due to the prevalence of weeds the co-operation of everyone must be enlisted in the campaign. An inspector has been appointed in your municipality; co-operate with him in a general clean-up. Secure a copy of the Act from him or write direct to the Provincial Weed Inspector, Parliament Buildings, Toronto. It is necessary that everyone have a knowledge of weeds in order that we may know how best to eradicate them. Secure your bulletin, "Weeds of Ontario," Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto. Know your weeds, do not let them go to seed. Get them before they get your farm.

ROSENEATH, June 24 (Examiner Correspondence).—An urgent invitation is extended to all who are interested in Merrill's Cemetery to come on Thursday afternoon, June 27, to help with the annual cleaning. This also takes the form of a social picnic, when the ladies provide lunch and a short service is held. Year after year the crowd gathers together on a certain day to do honor to their loved ones who are buried at Merrill's.

Any contributions for the upkeep of the cemetery will be gratefully received by William Arnold.

Women's Missionary Society of Westwood Church Holds Monthly Meeting.

GOOD PROGRAM.

WESTWOOD, June 22 (Examiner Correspondence).—On Sunday morning the attention of the people of Westwood was arrested by the unusually close proximity of an airplane. Circling the village several times, it finally landed in a field on the farm owned by James Sharp. The passenger proved to be William Gillott, of Millbrook, who called on Mrs. Gillott and friends at "Welbeck," the home of W. C. Brackenridge.

Wheat Prices Soar Under Fresh Buying

fields in the harvest region southwest and dearth of moisture in the drought district northwest led to a sharp new upturn of wheat values to-day. A general rush to buy wheat was witnessed, and the consequent rise of values was shared by corn. Starting with 7-8 to 2 cent gain, wheat reacted a little but afterwards averaged higher than before. Corn opened 5-8 to 7-8 up, and kept near to the initial figures. Oats were easy. Provisions held steady.

Shop Early In Week Is Advice of Mayor

Mayor Denne is depending upon the co-operation of every citizen in the little details which will aid immeasurably in making Old Home Week the great success that has been planned. The Mayor requests the housewives of the city to do their shopping early this week. In this way it is hoped that some of the unavoidable confusion and congestion that is bound to occur toward the end of the week will be averted. There will be many visitors coming to the city on Friday and Saturday, and all of them will want to shop in Peterborough stores. If the citizens do their shopping early, the Mayor hopes that much of the crush and hurry will be avoided.

11 Years After the War Veteran Returns To Canada

MONTREAL, Que., June 22. — (Canadian Press).—Eleven years after the war ended, the last member of the Canadian Expeditionary Force to be repatriated returned to Canada yesterday on board the S.S. Calgaric of the White Star Line.

Major J. N. Gillies, Regina, has spent the last 11 years in England undergoing plastic-surgical operations to "rebuild" his lower jaw which was shot away. "Canadian soil feels like a haven of rest to me," Major Gillies said on arrival. "I would not have had that gratification if it were not for the wonderful surgical treatment rendered me in an hour of need, by a namesake, Major H. D. Gillies, M.C." The English surgeon ranks as one of the greatest plastic surgeons of the day.

LIST STRONGER ON MINE MARKET

Noranda, International Nickel and Lake Shore Register Gains of 50 Points.

PENNY STOCKS LOWER.

TORONTO, Ont., June 24 (Canadian Press).—High-priced issues took a definite turn for the better on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day, investors apparently being unafraid of a scarcity of money due to higher rates. Such issues as Noranda, International Nickel and Lake Shore registered gains of 50 points while some of the lesser stocks also moved up in sympathy. Penny stocks were inclined to be soft, with little interest being shown by speculators in this section.

Noranda, with approximately 5,000 shares being bought, jumped 50 to 55.50. It opened strong at 55.75, moved up to 55.80, and eased back slightly at noon. Lake Shore was in demand all morning and sold 50 higher at 25.75. Nickel held well at 51.00, which was a gain of 50.

South-West Petroleum jumped 25 to 5.50, while Sudbury Basin sold 15 higher at 8.25. Falconbridge was firm at 12.50, while Foothills was 10 better at 8.00.

The strike resulted in a drastic tie-up of building operations and its ramifications spread through over construction trades.

UNOFFICIAL LABOR PARTY WILL OPPOSE JOWITT

Dissension within ranks will cause Attorney-General to Fight by-election.

PRESTON, Eng. June 24. (C.P.) — Hon. Sir William Jowitt, the attorney-general will not gain re-election by acclamation if he decides to offer himself for re-election in Preston as a Labor candidate, now that he has joined the Labor party. He was elected as a Liberal and because of this there is some possibility he may resign though the Preston Liberals have disassociated themselves from the attacks made upon him.

The chairman of the Preston "Progressive Labor Party," a local body of little political importance announced to-day they would nominate S. M. Holden as a candidate against Sir William if a by-election was held in Preston. Aided By Rain and Efficientt Airplane Patrols, Fire Fighters Have Mastered Situation.

Citizens Must Cut Weeds Is Order of Police Deparment

Property owners had better get busy with scythe and sickle and cut down the weeds on their lots or they will get into difficulties with the police, was the information given The Examiner at the police headquarters to-day. "The city has a squad of thirty men out cutting the weeds off the city property, and we have orders to compel citizens to get rid of this evil from private property," the sergeant said. "The city officials are making every endeavor to have everything spick and span for Old Home Week, and it is up to private individuals to do their part."

"The weeds in some parts are a disgrace," he continued, "and we have full authority to compel action."

Mr. Guggenheim is a member of the family whose vast fortune was made in the copper industry.

GLOWING TRIBUTES.

vince. As a speaker, Mr. Fielding was not only eloquent but convincing and sincerity ran out in his every utterance. As a member of the government, he was bluntly candid and expressed his views fearlessly, whether they were in agreement with his colleagues or not. Mr. Fielding dearly loved a joke and with his friends was a most loveable companion. Canada has yet produced few little grey men equal to W. S. Fielding."

In Police Court

Albert Quinlan was sentenced to two months in the common jail when he pleaded guilty to a charge of criminal negligence in Police Court this morning. Quinlan was the driver of the car which hit and seriously injured Mrs. Stanley Delorme at the corner of Perry and George Streets on the night of June 7. His counsel, J. A. O'Brien, made a strong plea of leniency for the youth, nineteen years of age, stating that, except for a previous conviction on an O.L.A. charge, he had led a normal boyish life. Quinlan's sentence will keep him in jail until August 8, since he has already been in jail since June 8.

Harold Cavanaugh, the owner of the car, appeared charged as an accessory after the fact to criminal negligence. He was remanded until July 3 at the request of the Crown.

Leo Pilow, on remand on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences, was again remanded without pleading on request of his counsel, W. F. Huycke. It was stated that Pilow has taken steps to make retribution.

The names of two men who had been found drunk on Saturday night rang through the court-room, but there was no answer and the men failed to appear. "That's the last time I'll ever let drunks out. They will sweat it out in jail after this," promised Chief Newhall. Warrants were sworn out for the arrest of these unappreciative imbibers.

A girl pleaded guilty to the charge of perjury. It was stated that she was deeply in love with a young man, and being under age, had sworn falsely that she was eighteen past. "It was a laudable purpose, since she was very much in love and wanted to marry the young man," her counsel told the bench. Crown Attorney McElderry consented to suspended sentence. The girl was bonded for $1,000 to keep the peace for two years, and she will be under the supervision of her father in a neighboring county for six months, during which time she may only enter this city on consent by the Chief of Police.

In County Police Court three local men pleaded guilty to being drunk and paid over the usual $10 and costs.

WOULD CANCEL ALL TAG DAYS

Mayor Denne Gives Notice of Motion at Brief Meeting of Police Commission.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE GRANTED

Mayor Denne gave notice at a brief meeting of the Police Commissioners held this morning that at the next meeting he would enter a motion that no more tag days be allowed. Permission was granted to the Orange Hall Building Fund to hold a tag day on Saturday, July 6.

Leave of absence was granted to Chief Newhall to attend the convention of Police Constables Association to be held in Calgary.

A letter was received in which the formation of a Juvenile traffic squad to aid in controlling motor traffic during Old Home Week was suggested by Angus W. Bradley, a youthful enthusiast residing at 58 Monaghan Road. This youth said that he already had a bicycle club of twelve members who would act in the capacity of mounted traffic constables. The only difficulties he foresaw was supplying his cycling troupers with uniforms.

SPARKS CIRCUS ARRIVES IN CITY

Big Street Parade

About eleven-thirty the blaring of many horns, and the loud musical notes of the distant calliope announced that the street parade had started. The streets were agog with excitment and the windows were filled with interested spectators as the long pageant wound up George street, to King, up Water to McDonnel and then over to George again down to the Circus grounds.

The street parade is always a feature of the circus. Animals from the four corners of the earth were caged up in order that little boys and girls as well as the grown up could get a good close look at them. Clowns all dolled up to the minute with varigated colored paints skipped here and there through the pageant—monkeys jumped up and down, lions roared, bands blared and the elephants and camels loped along. The comic artists performed in a peculiar manner upon the highest pinacles of the band wagons as tricksters and funners hurled humerous anecodotes at their audience.

The management of the circus must be possessed of divinely human disposition. Children are a mainstay of the show and filled many of the seats in the big top this afternoon upon whom the big hearted manager has beamed with approval and touched with human goodness will pass out complimentaries like water.

It is a gala day. The circus grounds are a heart for the pleasure of the community this afternoon and tonight, the great heart will throb to its last beat until the circus becomes a memory once more.

* * *

"In the circus parade there is glory clean down
From the first spangled horse to the mule and the clown.
With the gleam and the glint and the glamour and glare.
Of the days of enchantment all glimmering there!"

CANADIANS ARE TRAINING HARD

Intense Competition Predicted For Royal Henley Regatta On July 3.

MARLOW PRIZE WINNERS.

LONDON, June 24 (C.P. Cable).—Intense competition at the Royal Henley regatta, opening on July 3, is promised, judging by the Marlow regatta held on Saturday when some of the Henley entrants took the opportunity of a "full-dress workout." Sixteen of the races were won by margins of less than a boat length and there were verdicts of victory by a foot, two feet and on two occasions by barely a yard. Twice crews deadheated for second place.

Of the trophy holders only London, in the senior fours, and H. R. A. Edwards in the senior singles sculls, retained possession of their honors.

Contrary to expectations, the Canadians here for the Foyal Henley—Joe Wright, Jr., holder of the Diamond Sculls; Jack Guest, and the Argonaut club eight, all of Toronto—did not take part in the Marlow Regatta. They are working hard at Henley in preparation for the all-important series there, which will not be climaxed this year by any Olympic Games, as last year.

The English spectators displayed tremendous enthusiasm when Columbia Unicersity of New York captured the Marlow Eights Cup in 4 minutes and 20 seconds for the seven-eights of a mile against Twickeneham. This is the first Marlow trophy to go to America. Judging by their display, the Columbia crew will be favorites for the Grand Challenge Cup at Henley.

Thames Rowing Club for the third successive week failed to win a trophy, losing the Challenge Cup, which they had held for seven consecutive years, to London Rowing club, who won easily in 4.12.

"We are bringing four new rides, shows of the highest class and about 30 concessions, and it is a pleasure for me to be able to assure the people of Peterborough that every member of our organization is either personally known to me, or comes to us bearing unquestionable recommendations. I have personally reviewed every show before opening and offer them to the public with a feeling of confidence, for I know them to be shows of merit and absolutely clean. We extend a special invitation to the women and children to visit us. Our employes are acquainted with our policy of courteous and respectful treatment, and have been instructed accordingly. When asked about the concessions carried this year, Mr. Lottridge said, "We are carrying a number of them new to Ontario, and for this reason I wish to point out that each and every one of them has been carefully examined by us, and that the police department in every city we play is invited to examine any concession we carry. We have nothing which is looked upon with disfavor by the most conscientious critic and gambling devices have no place on our grounds at the Peterborough Park. The shows are here for Old Home Week.

STOP USING A TRUSS

Free Demonstration

Stuart's Plapao-Pads are different from the truss, being mechanico-chemico applicators made self-adhesive purposely to keep the herbal muscle-tonic called "PLAPAO" continuously applied to the affected parts, and to minimize danger of slipping and painful friction. The fabric is soft as velvet, and being adhesive, it clings to the body, without straps, buckles or springs. Easy to apply — comfortable—inexpensive. The epidermatic absorption of the "PLAPAO" and the utilization of "plaster therapy," tend toward a natural process of recovery, after which no further use for a truss. During 23 years, thousands have successfully treated their ruptures at home, without delay from work. Awarded Gold Medal, Rome; Grand Prix, Paris; Honorable Mention, San Francisco, etc.

FAST FIXTURE ON WEDNESDAY

Port Hope Meets Raybestos Crew in Lakeshore Loop Tilt.

PORTS LEAD LEAGUE.

Ball fans are promised another torrid game on Wednesday evening at Exhibition Park, when the fast-travelling Port Hope team comes here to play the Raybestos nine in a Lakeshore League fixture. Port Hope has a youthful club, composed almost entirely of High School boys seasoned by Boyd at first and "Shinny" Moise, the old Bowmanville star, at second. This team has come along fast and now stands at the top of the League.

The Port Hopers trimmed the Rays by a close score when the teams met in their first encounter at Port Hope, and the lakeshore crew continued a long string of triumphs against Cobourg and Oshawa.

Manager Art Primeau has had his team hard at work in preparation for this important struggle. The whole team, from the bat boy up, are determined to take a fall out of the League leaders. "Sailor" Maudsley is all groomed for the encounter, and he reports that his arm was never in better shape. With the "Sailor" portsiding them around the corners, the Port Hope huskies will have difficulties. Maudsley was shoved into the game in Port Hope in the final stages and turned back the Hopers in fine style.

The game will get away at 6 o'clock and there will be no charge at the gate, the Rays depending upon the generosity of the fans when the hat is passed.

RT. HON. W. S. FIELDING PASSES, REVERED BY ALL FOR HIS INTEGRITY AND STATESMANSHIP

ALL EMPIRE WILL MOURN PASSING OF MR. FIELDING

Revered by All for His Statesmanlike Qualities, Integrity, Sincerity of Purpose, and Nobility of Character—Few Can Equal His Years of Service

CAPABLE, COURTEOUS, AND INCORRUPTIBLE

The passing of the Right Hon. W S. Fielding will be regretted, not only in Canada and throughout the British Empire, but also in many other countries where he was respected and revered for his statesmanlike qualities, his integrity, his sincerity of purpose and his nobility of character. Through his death Canada loses a distinguished son and one of the most outstanding political giants of modern times.

For length of political service, eminence of office and discharge of heavy burdens, there is no living public man to match him, except Sir Geo. E. Foster. To his party friends he was practically faultless, in the eyes of his political opponents he had no serious imperfections other than being on the "wrong side," to Canadians generally he was an exemplary type of what a public man should be—capable, courteous, incorruptible and clean. While his support of the Union government during the war years cost him the leadership of the Liberal party after Sir Wilfrid Laurier's death, it did not lose him the respect of those from whom he had been temporarily estranged.

A Man of the People

Mr. Fielding was a man of the people. A party man of the best type, and a vigorous and skilful fighter, he was singularly free from bitterness and narrowness. One who had traveled with him and had been intimately associated with him in a confidential capacity for many years, declared he had never known him, either in public or in private, to speak harshly or unkindly of any person, but that numerous instances could be related of his thoughtfulness for old friends, his modesty and his sincerity. In charge of a department that required not only parliamentary skill, business acumen and political sagacity, but command of masses of detail and a comprehensive view of the whole financial, industrial and commercial situation of Canada, Mr. Fielding remained alert and vigorous in spite of his advanced age. All Canada mourns the death of "the little grey man" who in 1921 staged the most striking "come back" in the history of Canadian politics.

In 1922 Mr. Fielding celebrated the fortieth anniversary of his entry into the legislative field. He was the last of the prominent men whose recollections preceded pre-confederation days. Joining the staff of the Halifax Chronicle in 1864 and ultimately becoming its managing editor, he had fifty-nine years of public service to his credit—three years more than Canada's life as a dominion.

His earlier years as legislator and administrator were devoted to his native province of Nova Scotia. From the time he entered the legislature of that province in 1882 as member for Halifax, he made rapid advancement and for twelve years he served his province as prime minister. In 1896 he was called by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to serve in a wider field as minister of finance for the dominion, and his continuance in that office for a period of fifteen years constitutes a record in the British Empire.

Established British Preference

His first budget—the most notable since the introduction of the national policy in 1879—established British preference, enlarged the free list, reduced duties on numerous articles and in a large measure replaced specific by ad valorem duties, thereby reducing taxation on lower price goods. During Mr. Fielding's regime surpluses took the place of deficits, and instead of depression the country enjoyed an era of progress and abundant prosperity. His handling of the tariff gave an impetus to industry, and suited Canada's purpose so well that there was no tariff issue in the elections of 1901, 1904 and 1908.

He was one of the plenipotentiaries of His Majesty for the negotiation of the Franco-Canadian commercial treaty, 1907, and the supplementary treaty, 1909. He negotiated commercial arrangements with Germany, the United States, Italy and Belgium, 1909-10, and with Japan, 1911, and was a member of the British Royal Commission on Canada-West Indies trade, 1909-10. Mr. Fielding conducted for Canada the negotiations with President Taft and the United States government in 1910, and was one of the Canadian commissioners who negotiated the reciprocity agreement with the government of the United States in 1911.

In conjunction with the late Hon. William Paterson, Mr Fielding negotiated the reciprocity agreement with the United States in 1910-11. While a few years previously it would have been enthusiastically accepted, the need for it did not then appear so apparent as before, and the very prosperity with which Mr. Fielding had been so long identified militated against the bill. Eastern Canada thought it could dispense with it, and the influence in the west was weaker than it is now. Conservatives opposed the measure because it was Liberal, and manufacturers feared that in course of time it might have the effect of undermining the protectionist structure. The cry went forth that Canadian nationalism and British connection would be weakened. In his desire to resist American opposition, President Taft made some indiscreet utterances, which only increased hostility to the measure in Canada. The agreement, which was the issue in the general election in 1911, was defeated.

Supported Conscription

Mr. Fielding returned to the House of Commons as a Liberal, supporting conscription in 1917, and continued to support the Union government until its purpose was fulfilled, when he returned to the Liberal ranks. He came prominently to the front in the contest for leadership of the Liberal party at the Ottawa convention in 1919, when Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King was chosen. Mr. Fielding accepted the decision gracefully and cheerfully. With the return to power of the Liberals in 1921, he again became minister of finance.
